IN WOMAN'S REALM

FADS OF THE MOMENT.

The Slim Silhouette Is Still Greatly Favored.

Many smart women are wearing scarfs of heavy black ecru lace and black velvet.

Fur appears on every garment, and the most expensive varieties are used with extravagance.

The grace of the slim silhouette seems to have found renewed favor. Skirts continue rather scant and clinging, but there are many innovations in line and trimming.

Ribbed velvet in tones of black and gray was used for a stunning coat suit. The skirt, slightly draped at the left side, was caught in place with a flat ornament of plain black velvet. The coat was longer than finger length and had a shawl collar, turned back cuffs and buttons of black velvet.

Deep chenille fringe from twelve to eighteen inches in width is extensively used to trim evening gowns.

Square buttons of pearl or ivory are used on street frocks of velvet and cloth.

Jewel spangled flowers of black tulle and girdles of black velvet with long sash ends appear on many smart models.

The pretty blouse shown here with open neck and wide collar is full below the yoke. It is finished with two box plaits in front, and when a particularly dressy effect is desired frills can be slipped under the plaits.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7705, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME CHRISTMAS PIES.

MINCE PIES are considered the proper kind for Christmas, though individual taste has much to do with this choice.

Owing to their richness the mince pie should have a crust as flaky and palatable as the pastry maker's art can achieve.

Make the pastry in as cool a place as possible. Use flour of good quality, also good sweet butter, lard or dripping.

Procure water as cold as possible. Everything should be chilly except the oven, which must be heated to a high degree.

Do not use too much flour on the board and rolling pin and avoid heavy and uneven rolling.

Manipulating the Paste.

Avoid rubbing or rolling the butter into the flour heavily and adding too much water.

Add the water freely to the flour when beginning the mixing, but with great caution at the end.

If the pastry contains baking powder put it in the oven as soon as possible after mixing it.

After baking avoid putting the pastry into a cold place. It should gradually cool.

Always use a clean, smoothly grained pastry board and rolling pin.

See that the fire is made up in good time, so that the oven is very hot.

Mince Pie.

Old Fashioned Mince Pie.—Take one pound of suet, one pound of raisins, one pound of tenderloin of beef or pork boiled until done, one pound of citron, one pound of apples that have been peeled and cored. Chop these together. Add one pound of currants, one pound of sugar, half an ounce of mace and allspice each, a tablespoonful of cloves, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, one grated nutmeg and one quart of cider. Bake in puff paste in a deep pan, two inches deep at least. Line the pan with pastry and put on a top crust. Serve hot.

Raisin Pie.

Take one cupful of raisins chopped quite fine, one cupful of sugar, the juice of one good sized lemon and one cupful of boiling water. Place this mixture on the fire; let it come to a boil; then add four heaping tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with a little cold water. After it boils again put in a small piece of butter and a little grated nutmeg. Bake between two crusts.

Mock Mince Pie.—Take one and a half cupfuls of raisins chopped very fine, put through a food chopper if possible; two eggs, one cupful of sweet or sour cream, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of vinegar. Bake between two crusts. This tastes like a mince pie and is not so indigestible.

SCOOP IS SOME CRITIC

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

SLOW GAME WAS WON BY P. H. S. PLAYERS

Annex Another Victory Over the Somerville H. S. Five on Somerville Court.

Putting up an indifferent exhibition of basketball on the Somerville High School team's court yesterday afternoon, the local High School players barely nosed out a victory over the Somerset county aggregation. Although the final score was 30 to 21 the home team was dangerous up until the last few minutes of play. Repeated fouling on the part of the Somervillians, much of which went unpenalized, made the game a particularly slow one to watch. Both teams displayed a woeful weakness in shooting, although the condition of the goals had much to do in the case of the latter all important deficiency.

Unusually close guarding on the part of the home team's guards, resulted in the Plainfield forwards being held to a single field goal, which was made from a spectacular angle by Grisley, after he was put in the game in the second half. Acting Captain Woodhull, of the P. H. S. five, attempted to break up the monontony of the contest in the latter part of the second half, when he pushed part of his anatomy through a window frame in the gym. He came through the shower of glass without a scratch, however, and ended up his afternoon's work by caging five successive fouls after the window smashing incident.

PADDLE WIELDERS WANT BASKETBALL GAMES

The Tuscarora Canoe Club basketball team, of Newark, which is composed of former Newark Y. M. C. A. and High School athletes who divert their attention in the winter time from the water-craft to engage in the popular indoor sport, are anxious to arrange games with local quintets in this vicinity, having home courts. Teams comparing with the Ajax, Company K, Scotch Plains Parish House and Hope Chapel aggregations are preferred. Games can be arranged by addressing C. W. Zelliff, 75 Wakeman avenue, Newark, stating inducements, or by telephoning 946-W Branch Brook.

N. P. H. S. ARE WINNERS IN FIRST CITY GAME

Borough Quintet Defeated Leals' School Five by Score of 30 to 24.

Rough house played a conspicuous role in the first of the Interscholastic League games staged on the Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon, when North Plainfield High School managed to nose out the Leal's contingent by a 30 to 24 margin. The score, as it appears in black and white, separated by three field goals, appears to be one savoring of fast and close playing, but in the game yesterday, these interesting points were conspicuous by their absence. When the game began, the N. P. H. S. players looked upon the Leal's contingent as a secondary consideration in the championship race, but before the contest went far the Boroughites were acquainted with the seriousness of the situation and had to fight like demons for every tally they annexed.

Foul tactics crippled the ranks of the Boroughites before the game closed and had there been a few more minutes to play the private school basket cagers might have been able to push their colors to the fore. The second game of the school league will be played Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. between P. H. S. and Leal's.

SPARKS BY "SKID"

With Jack Horner leading the way many members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club will visit the auto show in the Grand Central Palace, New York, today.

William Entwistle was elected president of the Newark Motor Cycle Club January 4.

By winning the eighteen-mile race for the "Jones Trophy," a massive silver cup, for the third successive time, J. B. Hawkins, of Brooklyn, who has ridden in several races conducted by the local clubs, becomes the permanent owner of the prize. His time was excellent the "clocks" catching him in 1:40:0, over a difficult course.

R. Lewis, who won the Olympic cycle race around Lake Malar in connection with the last Olympiad at Stockholm, has been made much of in his native land, South Africa, and the populace down in that part of the world have pensioned him for life.

100 miles on a motorcycle in 68 minutes is going some. This performance took place January 7 in Los Angeles.

Five motorcycle vans have been purchased for the city of Cleveland's parcel post delivery and ten others may be placed in service.

The January entertainment of the Plainfield Cycling Club will be held on Thursday, January 16. The host of the evening will be Harry Weiss, of the borough, who will also celebrate his 21st birthday on that date. "Bud" Kline has started fasting in anticipation.

James Neal, the new president, will attend also as will the perpetual recording secretary.

The preliminary arrangements for the Decoration Day twenty-five mile race will be made at the next meeting of the local club.

Ernest Mantz says he expects to go to work this year.

George Adams, of the P. C. C., is on a bicycle ride through North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. He left Raleigh, N. C., on January 14. George is one of the young men who rode from Plainfield to San Francisco in 1910. His companion on that trip was S. C. Haberle, of 29 Elm place this city.

Raymond Mantz, of the P. C. C., expects an Indian motorcycle for a birthday present.

"MAC" SAYS

Now that the basketball season is going satisfactorily, and the time when coal grows cheap is getting near, it is proper that someone offer dope on the National game. Ernie Dorflinger dropped in the other day and announced that he would have a speedy nine to place in the field once again. 'Nuf sed, we will have baseball.

Although Carrol Taylor, of the N. P. H. S. five, was the one who really started the Interscholastic League on its 1913 trip, little appreciation of his work was evidenced on the part of Leal's yesterday afternoon. On the other hand, the borough crew received a little crippling.

Some idea as to the relative strength of the two High School teams can be secured when Leal's lines up against P. H. S. Thursday afternoon in its second league game.

But when and where will Plainfield and North Plainfield really meet to settle the question? P. H. S. players claim that Saengerbund Hall is too far from home, while the Boroughites claim that the Y. M. C. A. is too much like home for the local boys. Therefore it seems to be a question either just merely getting lost or staying lost.

E. C. Ostlin has announced that the Y. M. C. A. first team will play its first game of the season Saturday night. Although rather late in starting those interested have promised great things from now on.

Because they have been putting up such a remarkable exhibition of basketball, the Nonpareil girls are experiencing great difficulty in booking games. All of the local teams appear to acknowledge them as city champions.

When the subject of basketball was broached to a native of Scotch Plains this time last season, the inhabitant would have been shocked at the thought of such a rough and tumble sport invading the little village, but today everybody in Scotch Plains is actually daffy over the game. As many as five quintets have been organized at the Parish House and all are flourishing.

TITLE HOLDER'S WOES.

Johnny Kilbane Finds Being Champion Has Many Unpleasant Turns.

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

Some sage who may have been on speaking terms with royalty or who cultivated his powers of observation years ago penned that line, little dreaming that his words some day might be applied to gentlemen who wore robes of a different texture than the monarchs of Europe. There are crowned heads in different lines that feel the strain of ruling. Champion Johnny Kilbane is one of them. As boss of the featherweight dynasty he has come to learn all about the worries of being supreme.

It's no cinch maintaining a title, according to Jimmy Dunn, Kilbane's manager.

"That old money looks easy, and, in fact, it is easy, but there's plenty of worry attached. Ten years ago champions flitted in and out of barrooms. They drank themselves out of condition and observed no regular hours. Today the social status of a champion is a great improvement over other days, but it has its drawbacks the way I look at it.

JOHNNY KILBANE, FEATHERWEIGHT CHAMPION.

"Johnny Kilbane is too popular. He is well known, and his friends are prominent socially. He is being invited here and there all the time, and he does some entertaining himself. As a consequence the food he eats at parties and gatherings is not exactly wholesome for a champion. But he can't refuse it.

"Johnny is made so much of by his friends that any boy would be inclined to grow a bit lax in his fighting. He trains just as hard, but does not take his opponents seriously enough. That is the way with all champions. I don't think Johnny quite realizes his position as yet, but he will come to it."

Kilbane's next big battle will be with Johnny Dundee of New York at Vernon, Cal., next April. As Dundee is a tough customer, Kilbane must be in good shape or he will lose his title.

Flynn May Become an Umpire.

Jim Flynn, the boxer, may become an umpire in the Western league. He probably will delay the games by insisting on counting nine before he declares anybody out. Moreover he may raise his hand, stop the contest and declare one team the winner on a foul.

GOTCH AGREES TO GRAPPLE ZBYSCO

But Champion Wrestler Says Pole Must Defeat All Comers.

PAIR MAY MEET IN APRIL.

If Foreign Mat Artist Is Successful In All Coming Bouts He Will Be Given Chance to Tackle Holder of World's Title.

Frank Gotch, champion wrestler, will come out of retirement before many weeks have passed. Gotch gave up the heavyweight championship because there was no worthy opponent to contest his honors.

The combined lure of fame and money has caused the big farmer to hanker for one more bout. Gotch has finally decided that he will meet Zbysco the last week in April, provided the giant Pole in the meantime disposes of all the other big fellows who have been bowling for a chance at Gotch ever since the latter sought seclusion.

FRANK GOTCH.

If the championship bout between Gotch and Zbysco materializes it is likely to be held either in Salt Lake City or Indianapolis. Both cities have offered a purse of $30,000 for the battle. If the contest is held in Indianapolis it will probably be staged in the open on Memorial day.

TO REWARD ITS ATHLETES.

South African Association Indorses Plan to Pension McArthur and Lewis.

The executive committee of the South African Amateur Athletic and Cycling association has indorsed the recommendation of the chairman, Henry Nourse, to purchase annuities for McArthur and Lewis as a reward for their successes in the Olympic games at Stockholm last July.

This is to take the form of a pension of $10 a month. The prevailing impression when the last mail left Cape Town was that the various centers of the South African association would decline to support the executive proposal.

Basketball will once more be the main attraction at the Scotch Plains Parish House tonight, where a double program of the indoor game has been arranged by Director Brodziak. In the preliminary game, the Scotch Plains girls will lineup against the Nonpareil five, of this city, and the main attraction will be in charge of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax and the Parish House first team.

LOCAL ELKS AT RUTHERFORD.

Captain Blatz and his herd of antlered bowlers will go to Rutherford tonight to engage in a three-game series with the Elks team of that place. Tonight's games are contests scheduled in the Elks bowling league and the Queen City delegation are hot on the trail of three victories to boost their team average.

JACK JOHNSON PINCHED; WAS ON HIS WAY TO CANADA

BattleCreek, Mich., Jan. 14.—Jack Johnson was taken off a train here early today by the local police and is being held pending the arrival of Chicago authorities, who requested his detention. The pugilist was accompanied by his wife and two negro friends. Acording to local officers he admitted that he was on his way to Toronto. Johnson is being detained at the home of a negro friend.

Rich Witness Dodges Congress and Takes "Silent Treatment"

WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER, the Standard Oil millionaire, brother of John D., after having baffled the best efforts of many federal sleuths for a week, recently fell behind the oddest excuse ever offered by a notable person to avoid the witness stand. If the statements made by his physicians were true Mr. Rockefeller not only could not talk on the witness stand, but should never speak again for the rest of his life.

The possessor of millions almost equaling the assets of his brother, he was in hiding from the arm of the law effectually, while a score of sleuths blockaded his New York and Tarrytown homes and others kept the telegraph wires hot. In the end the millionaire, then on his way to Honduras, sent word that he would accept the service through the medium of his attorney from those who sought him.

The quest for Mr. Rockefeller engaged the attention of the entire country.

He was wanted as a witness before the Pujo congressional committee, investigating money trust conditions. His testimony, it has been declared, would go a long way toward showing the true cause of the panic of 1907 and would also throw much light on a recent copper syndicate scandal.

The manner in which federal sleuths conducted their search for Mr. Rockefeller formed a national comedy. Swarms of them infested the neighborhood of Mr. Rockefeller's Fifty-fourth street mansion in New York, keeping sentinels in front and rear of a half dozen residences thereabouts. The Hawkshaws candidly suspected the millionaire's neighbors of having secret passages connecting their places with Mr. Rockefeller's. At one time they seriously contemplated obtaining the right to break in the Rockefeller house doors. Then, to their chagrin, it was discovered that the quarry was on a ship headed for Honduras.

The "silent treatment" was the excuse presented by physicians as a reason why Mr. Rockefeller should not be forced to testify. To talk, it was declared, would greatly inflame the millionaire's larynx and aggravate the illness with which he was afflicted.

Dr. Walter F. Chappell of New York, one of Mr. Rockefeller's physicians, startled the country by declaring that his millionaire patient must refrain from speech for the rest of his life.

Any effort on his part to converse, said Dr. Chappell, would cause a laryngeal spasm and might bring immediate painful death. It was explained that Mr. Rockefeller's larynx was covered with a number of little knoblike protuberations. His nervous condition is such that even in writing his thoughts on a pad, the millionaire is greatly hampered. He is unable to write more than three or four words at a time legibly, it is declared.

He was a pretty sick looking man when he reached Key West to embark for Honduras. He took no visible pleasure in the fact he had outwitted all the sleuths of the government and had been calmly resting on Jekyl island, off the Georgia coast, while they were surrounding his various homes in the north and predicting his "capture" every hour or so.

News of the special train which had headed south from Jacksonville reached Key West quickly, and there were many persons waiting to meet it when it arrived. An aged, gray haired man, who looked very feeble, was helped out of one of its parlor cars.

"Yes, I am Mr. Rockefeller," he said, when correspondents addressed him. When asked where he was going he replied in a faint voice he was not on his way to Bermuda or to Cuba—as had been reported—but was going to Honduras for the sake of his health.

Soon after the Rockefeller party arrived a yacht which had anchored out in the harbor was seen to get in motion. Almost at the same time the steamer Halifax for Havana, Cuba, got under way. Since small boats had taken parties out to each, it was impossible to tell which craft the long missing witness had boarded. But the Halifax soon wirelessed back that he wasn't aboard, while the yacht refused to reply to messages.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

the state will always look back with approval and pride. We have accomplished for New Jersey many things of high consequence which for many a long year had waited and cried out to be done. Our pride in their accomplishment has no touch of boastfulness in it, but only the deep gratification of having been privileged to do so much that was for the common benefit. The legislative session of 1911 will, I venture to say, long remain remarkable in the annals of the state for the number and importance of the reforms enacted, and those of us who were associated in the work of that notable session will so long as we live have the happiness of looking back upon it as upon one of the most satisfactory experiences of our public service. Certainly I shall never forget it, and I cannot turn away from the great office in which I have enjoyed such satisfactions without avowing the pride I have taken in it and the deep obligation I feel to the fine public spirited men who stood with me in the days of doubt and struggle. I am happy to have had a part in such things along with such men.

More to Be Done.

But not all that waited to be done was done by the legislature of 1911. It was impossible that everything should be accomplished in a single session. The rapidly changing circumstances of the time, moreover, both in the political and in the industrial world, render it necessary that a constant process of adjustment should go on. It is my duty to call your attention to the further changes in our law which seem to be most immediately necessary.

The corporation laws of the state notoriously stand in need of alteration. They are manifestly inconsistent with the policy of the federal government and with the interests of the people in the all important matter of monopoly, to which the attention of the whole nation is now so earnestly directed. The laws of New Jersey as they stand, so far from checking monopoly, actually encourage it. They explicitly permit every corporation formed in New Jersey, for example, to purchase, hold, assign and dispose of as it pleases the securities of any and all other corporations of this or any other state and to exercise at pleasure the full rights of ownership in them, including the right to vote as stockholders. This is nothing less than an explicit license of holding companies. This is the very method of forming vast combinations and creating monopoly, against which the whole country has set its face, and I am sure that the people of New Jersey do not dissent from the common judgment that our law must prevent these things and prevent them very effectually.

It is our duty and our present opportunity to amend the statutes of the state in this matter not only, but also in such a way as to provide some responsible official supervision of the whole process of incorporation and provide, in addition, salutary checks upon unwarranted and fictitious increases of capital and the issuance of securities not based upon actual bona fide valuation. The honesty and soundness of business alike depend upon such safeguards. No legitimate business will be injured or harmfully restricted by them. These are matters which affect the honor and good faith of the state. We should act upon them at once and with clear purpose.

Need Protection.

The people of the state are at present, moreover, at the mercy of investment companies of every kind. Securities of any and every sort can be sold in New Jersey by irresponsible persons and the purchasers must depend upon their own investigations to ascertain whether they are bogus or based upon good business. They should have the protection of the law. Investment companies should be put under inspection and regulation by the state, and no one should be allowed to sell securities in New Jersey without public license issued from the department exercising the rights of inspection and regulation. New Jersey is very late indeed in affording her people this protection.

There is another matter that cries out for reform and has long cried out for it. Why has no legislature ever seriously and earnestly set itself to correct it? The drawing of grand juries, and even upon occasion the drawing of petit juries, is notoriously subject to political influence and control in this state, of whose processes of justice we are so proud and whose honor we are in most cases so quick to defend against question or slander. This can and should be remedied. You can not neglect it without seeming indifferent to justice and fair play in matters which are matters of life and death and reputation and honor and which cut to the very quick of human rights. The free, prompt, unbiased administration of criminal justice has been time out of mind at the very center of the fight for individual right and liberty. It is to be hoped that the commission now investigating the various methods of governing this all important matter will presently submit a thorough and conclusive report.

As to Taxes.

Another matter no less central, no less vital to the rights and opportunities of individuals and communities, is the method by which taxes are assessed and collected. New Jersey has suffered herself to drift into practices in this fundamental matter which might lead a critical outsider who knew nothing of the history and accidents of her legal development in this case to question both her fairness and her public sense. Her arrangements in respect of this, as of so many other interests and functions, are the result of mere patchwork and lack system and coherence altogether. It is not necessary to have both a board of assessors and a board of taxation and it is ineffectual to have either if they are to have no administrative control over local assessors and collectors. The most extraordinary variety alike of rule and of practice obtains in the different counties and communities of the state, with this result among many others, that in many localities small property owners pay much heavier taxes in proportion to their holdings than large property owners pay and are practically without redress. Fortunately this legislature will have the benefit of a report from a commission specially appointed to make thorough investigation of these inequalities and this lack of system. I hope that its recommendations will point out a wise and practicable way of reform.

There is an additional grant of power to the board of public utility commissioners which seems to me of capital importance and of pressing necessity. The many, almost innumerable, railway crossings at grade, which make travel on most of our country roads so hazardous and the movement of traffic in so many of our town and city streets so dangerous and difficult, ought, of course, to be done away with as rapidly as possible, beginning with the most dangerous and proceeding without interruption from the more to the less dangerous until absolutely none is left. This cannot be done by the hard and fast precise terms of such a bill as passed the houses during the last session and was prevented from becoming a law by my veto. No invariable rule can be laid down which will not lead to all sorts of impossible situations and the eventual interference of the courts. The proper solution of this very difficult matter is to empower the board of public utility commissioners to order the abolition of such grade crossings in such ways and at such a rate as will adjust their orders to each particular case and set of circumstances. The act conferring the power can and should make of that power a legal duty imposed upon the commission, the discretion of the commissioners to exist only in respect of their right to guide, direct and adjust the processes of elimination in a thoroughly practical fashion. I cannot too strongly urge this matter upon your attention.

Urges Full Crew Bill.

And while I am speaking of railways, permit me to urge another piece of legislation upon you which seems to me essential both to the safety of travel on the railways and to the fair protection of certain classes of railway employees. I refer to the so called Full Crew bill, whose failure to pass the last legislature was so much deplored by all who had noted its introduction and its significance. It is of the highest consequence that railway trains which pass through the state should be manned by adequate crews, and to me, for one, it is a matter of chagrin that they should now carry smaller crews through New Jersey than through Pennsylvania, with whom we are linked by so many important lines of railway. This is a matter which we cannot afford to neglect. If it cannot be satisfactorily handled in an act it might also very well be put in the hands of the public utility commissioners by addition to their powers.

The legislature of 1911 went a long way toward recognizing the right of full self government on the part of the municipalities of the state when it passed the excellent bill permitting the towns and cities of the state to adopt the commission form of government at their pleasure. That was a great step in advance. It has been distinctly to the disadvantage of the cities and towns of New Jersey that the legislature has undertaken to regulate their affairs and their powers so minutely from Trenton. Only the fullest and freest rights of self government will stimulate them to serve their citizens as they should be served. The path of reform in that field is unquestionably the path of greater freedom. The question of municipal government is perhaps the most serious question concerning the organization of methods of government that now confronts us as a nation. I covet for New Jersey the honor of showing the way of liberty and self respecting reorganization. We should set our municipalities free to organize their lives and exercise the functions of self government with less dependence upon the legislature of the state.

System of Accounting.

At the same time there are matters in which uniform state regulation can be made of immense assistance to the municipalities. For example, it seems to me imperative that a uniform system and method of accounting and of public financial reports should be prescribed by statute for the financial authorities of our towns and cities. I hope that this legislature will be able to formulate and pass such a measure. The information and materials are at hand. In this matter, more perhaps than in any other, students of municipal affairs have come to a substantial agreement, both as to methods and as to the practical advantages to be gained.

While the legislature should give over its attempt to govern the cities from Trenton, there are other things to which it can turn its attention in which we are beginning to see a new and immensely beneficial function for the state. The farmer has not been served as he might be and should be. We have set up and subsidized agricultural schools, horticultural schools, schools of poultry breeding and the rest, and they have done excellent work. Our support of them should be hearty and generous. But a more effective way still has been found by which the farmer can be served. Lectures and schools and experimental farms attached to schools like laboratories are excellent, but they do not and cannot of themselves push their work home.

Carry School Work to Farms.

The thing that tells is demonstration work. The knowledge of the schools should be carried out to the farms themselves. Dr. Seaman A. Knapp found the way when he was sent into the south to fight the boll weevil. Choosing a good farm and a good farmer here and there, he showed the farmer how to cultivate part of a field, gave him simple fundamental directions, brought him selected seed and made frequent visits afterward to see that his directions were carried out. Of course the neighbors promptly took notice and the next season did the same things, with the same results—good crops, earlier crops, crops that the weevil was no match for. And fighting the weevil was only an incident. The work grew in every direction, not work in the schools, but work suggested and directed by men sent out from the schools to take science to the farm, until the agricultural department could not supply the men called for from every direction. The countryman began once more to come into his own. When the farmer does fully take science into partnership and become his own master and fortune builder the day will be gone once for all when the townsman can tax him and ignore him and absorb unto himself the powers of government at his pleasure.

This is the way also to attack the problem of forest preservation and renewal — demonstration work done throughout the state by way of example until it is demonstrated not only how the forests can be preserved and renewed, but also how profitable they can be made without waste—at once one of the most profitable and one of the most permanent sources of wealth, a permanent crop devoted to a thousand uses.

It is by such means that the people come to understand themselves and their own interests and assume their real sovereignty. Discussion of public questions becomes a very vital thing for them when the functions of government touch their daily lives and there is something of immediate consequence to them to discuss. Discussions must constantly clear the air and drive everything hidden from its covert. We ought, therefore, to afford the people every facility for discussion. Convenient and inexpensive meeting places ought to be supplied at the public expense. It ought not to be necessary to hire a hall whenever it is desired to have a public meeting. The owners of halls charge high prices when they can and are often partisans and will not let their halls at all to those whom they wish to defeat or embarrass. Every community has its schoolhouses. They should be available for every kind of proper neighborhood meeting out of school hours. If local school boards are illiberal or partisan or unreasonable they ought to be commanded in their duty in this matter by statute. I recommend such legislation to you very heartily.

Town's Social Center Movement.

A great movement has sprung up in this country in recent years which centers around the schoolhouse as a place of neighborhood conference in all matters affecting the public or any local part of it. It is known as the social center movement. It has the force and momentum of a great idea in it. Secret forces, corrupt forces, forces of evil of every kind, are against it, are afraid of it. They fear neighborhood discussion. They do not wish to have local and neighborhood matters canvassed too much out loud. It is our duty as public servants to lend full and effectual aid to this movement. We can do it by giving public spirited men and women everywhere free use of the schoolhouses. A very simple statute will accomplish the desired result. The free forces of society will do the rest.

If such forces had been accustomed to act freely and thoroughly clear the air in New Jersey during the last twelve months, we could have settled some questions regarding the conservation of our natural resources which we have so far failed to settle. It would not have been possible, for example, for individual selfish influences at Lake Hopatcong and local influences in the city of Newark to block and defeat the prompt and reasonable settlement of the question of the abandonment of the Morris canal. If a few men here and there had spoken out what they knew last session the bill proposed for the settlement of that question would have passed, and they would have spoken out had there been the habit and place of local discussion. The use and conservation of our natural resources is a matter to which we must constantly devote ourselves and watchful public opinion is always our best guide.

Pressure of Intelligent Opinion.

The pressure of intelligent opinion will soon be upon us in irresistible fashion concerning the business methods of the state also. I suggest that we do not wait for the pressure. The business of the state (I mean its administrative business) is conducted with a wastefulness, a duplication of effort, a confusion and conflict of function, which no business enterprise could survive for six months. There is an extraordinary multiplicity of boards, departments, commissions and miscellaneous offices, overlapping, connected without being co-ordinated, independent of one another and yet naturally belonging to a single systematic whole which ought to be drawn together, simplified, brought into their proper relations, pruned and put upon a footing of efficiency which will also be a footing of economy and quick responsibility. A commission is now inquiring into this very matter by direction of the last legislature.

We have lagged far behind other states in these matters. We are wasting the public moneys and are not getting the results good business methods would get. This has not been by deliberation. Our administrative methods have been developed piecemeal and at haphazard, but they are none the less worthy of condemnation and reform on that account, and we shall not have proved ourselves faithful and disinterested public servants until we correct them.

There are other things we have outgrown. The constitution of the state needs reconsideration in a score of parts, some of them of the first consequence. No doubt its provisions were considered wise and suitable at the time of its adoption, but that was quite two generations ago, and the circumstances of our life have altered fundamentally within that time, politically, socially, economically. I urge upon you very earnestly indeed the need and demand for a constitutional convention. The powers of corrupt control have an enormous and abiding advantage under our constitutional arrangements as they stand. We shall not be free from them until we get a different system of representation and a different system of official responsibility. I hope that this question will be taken up by the legislature at once and a constitutional convention arranged for without delay, in which the new forces of our day may speak and may have a chance to establish their ascendancy over the rule of machines and bosses.

Power to Levy Taxes.

Two great amendments to the constitution of the United States await ratification by New Jersey, the amendment conferring upon the congress of the United States in unmistakable terms the power to levy taxes on incomes, and the amendment providing for the election of senators of the United States by the direct vote of the people. I cannot too strongly urge upon the legislature the ratification of both these amendments. We cannot keep our place among the progressive states of the Union and reject them. Indeed, we shall be in a very small minority if we do reject them.

There are many other subjects I should like to dwell upon—the extension and systematization of the powers of the state board of health, the establishment by statute of an intelligent and thoroughgoing policy of road building and the great interests involved in the prosecution of the plan for a ship canal across the state, part of a great inland waterway, which is of vital importance to our shipping and commercial development. But these are things which speak for themselves. I have dwelt upon matters not yet enough considered which I deemed it my duty to press upon your consideration and which I shall deem it my further duty to keep before your attention until they are acted on. They involve both party and public obligations.

Praise For Fielder.

May I not in closing express the satisfaction I feel in the knowledge that when I lay down the duties of governor I shall leave them in the hands of Senator Fielder, a man of proved character, capacity, fidelity and devotion to the public service, a man of a type to which the people of the state desire their public men to conform. I look back with the greatest admiration to that fine group of men in the houses whose names all the state knows and honors, who set the pace in the days when the state was to be redeemed. It is men like these who have rendered the policies and reforms of the last two years possible. It is men like these who will carry them forward, and the people of the state will sustain them. They will sustain no others. Woe betide the individuals or the party groups that turn away from that path! The future is with those who serve and who serve without secret or selfish purpose. A free people has come to know its own mind and its own friends.

WOODROW WILSON, Governor.

ALLEGED BURGLAR IS SENT TO JAIL

Jas. McMann Held for Grand Jury After Being Impertinent to Recorder.

James McMann, the alleged housebreaker, who was arrested by Marshal Davenport, of Dunellen, yesterday morning, was sent to the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick, yesterday by Recorder Campbell, of Dunellen, to await the action of the Middlesex county grand jury. When asked by Recorder Campbell as to his whereabout at 3:15 o'clock Sunday morning, the prisoner, recently released from the Reformatory, said that it was none of the recorder's business. At this reply the court said it would put McMann in a place where the authorities had a way of finding out whether it was any of their business or not.

McMann was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Miss Ethel Clumm, of Lincoln avenue, who claims that at about 3 o'clock on Sunday morning she was awakened by a noise in her bedroom and woke up just in time to see McMann's face which could be seen by the light of a match which he had just lighted to find his way through her room. The young woman shouted to her father and a struggle resulted in the escape of McMann and the cutting of Clumm's foot on a piece of broken bric-a-brac which had been knocked over while the tussle was going on. Although the burglar got away, Miss Clumm recognized in McMann the man who was in her room and she caused his arrest. Marshal Davenport took him into custody yesterday morning about 11 o'clock.

TO THE VOTERS OF PLAINFIELD:

Have you ever stopped to think that one of the arguments which has appealed most strongly to many of our best citizens of all classes to make Plainfield their home city is the fact that an unwritten law has led the Honorable Members of our City Council to grant no additional liquor licenses either inside or outside the so-called "Tyler License Zone."

Do you realize that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the Council to grant new additional licenses and to renew others heretofore canceled, also to enlarge the "License Zone" further into the residential districts?

Every voter who is opposed to the granting of such licenses and the enlarging of the zone is urged to sign at once the following blank and forward promptly to Wm. T. Schmittman, Secretary, 208 Madison avenue.

SAY FAREWELL TO MISSIONARY

Crescent Ave. Church Men's Club Dinner in Honor of Rev. Gilbert Lovell.

TRIBUTES TO HIS WORK

Rev. Dr. Zelie, Dr. E. W. Hedges, Henry L. DeForest and W. D. Murray Among the Speakers—S. T. Carter Toastmaster.

On the eve of his return to China as the foreign missionary of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. Gilbert Lovell was the guest of honor at a farewell dinner given by the Men's Club last night in the church parlors. Dinner was served at 6:45. Among the speakers were Samuel T. Carter, Jr., president of the club; Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the pastor; Dr. E. W. Hedges, Henry L. DeForest; Rev. James B. Cochran, also a missionary to China; Rev. F. L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel; William D. Murray, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, and Mr. Lovell.

Mr. Carter acted as toastmaster and assured Mr. Lovell of the utmost support from the local organization in his work.

Dr. Zelie spoke of the great value Mr. Lovell has been to the local church during his stay here. He said that there was a time when anybody going to China was thought to be bound for the end of the earth, but that now ideas of travel have changed and the Oriental country seems not far off. The past year, said the pastor, had been a life of many changes. He spoke of the $6,000 which was given last Sunday by the church for the help of aged and disabled ministers and their families as an illustration of one of the good things that the last twelve months had brought. The pastor asserted that the members of the church owed in great part the success of the missionary efforts to the Men's Club. While not pretentious, he said, it has accomplished a great work. He expressed his appreciation of President Carter for the untiring efforts of the club leader for the betterment of the organization and the enlargement of its scope of endeavor.

Mr. DeForest, who is chairman of the missionary committee, said that his board in a way acts as a clearing house between Mr. Lovell and the church. Dr. Hedges spoke of the great need for medical missionaries in China. A few years ago, he said, the Chinese physicians were given a salary to keep the people well and that as soon as the patients became ill the payments stopped. The medical commission which was sent to China from this country a short time ago found that there was very little medicine and that the Chinese knew nothing of surgery. When the medical missionaries wrought cures, wonderful to the heathen, they were held in great reverence and the Chinese gradually came to believe in them and their teachings. Dr. Hedges referred to Jesus and Moses as the great medical missionaries of the world and declared that the medical missionaries of the present day come nearer to imitating the life of the Master than any others can.

Mr. Murray asserted that the missionaries are determining the future of China and will make of her one of the greatest nations on earth. Rev. Cochran told of Mr. Lovell's work in the Orient, and the important things which have been accomplished there by the missionaries.

Mr. Lovell thanked the members of the club for the support which they have given to him and although he said that his stay in this country had been enjoyable he was anxious to return to his work. Eight years ago it seemed as if he were passing into the land of the unknown, he said, but now his Chinese friends await his return and he is glad to go to them.

Mr. Lovell with his wife is in charge of one of the largest secondary schools in China. The boys and girls in the school are separated by a high wall and in their chapel exercises a great curtain is drawn between them.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Lovel was presented with a purse of $109 by the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the church, which was raised to help defray the expense of a chemical cabinet for his school.

"Gil," as he was affectionately spoken of last night, has served in the province of Hunan during his seven years' stay. Just previous to his departure from this country in 1905 the young man was married and with his wife went into what he then considered "the land of the unknown."

Total Amount for Union Co. $351,257.70—Distributed Today.

Elizabeth, Jan. 15.—Plainfield's share of the State school tax, checks for which were mailed today by County Superintendent of Schools J. J. Savitz, to the various school districts, amounts to $56,558.58. This is the apportioned 90 per cent. appropriation of State school funds. The law provides that this money shall be sent to the schools in each municipality by January 23 of each year and the fact that it is being sent out previous to that date will doubtless be appreciated by the school authorities.

The total amount apportioned to Union county, $351,257.70, is the largest received from the State for this purpose. The school districts in the county will receive checks for amounts as follows:

Clark Township, $627.68; Cranford Township, $14,678; Fanwood, $5,651.04; Garwood, $4,244.22; Kenilworth, $2,535.49; Linden, $8,682.91; Mountainside, $911.31; New Providence Borough, $4,170.25; New Providence Township, $2,816.38; Plainfield, $56,558.58; Rahway, $27,312.06; Roselle, $12,047.16; Roselle Park, $13,420.34; Springfield, $4,725.24; Summit, $19,198.23; Union, $11,713.35; Westfield, $26,519.64.

YOUNG WOMAN SAVES TWO IN A RUNAWAY

Miss Anna Baima Brings a Pony to a Halt After a Mad Dash.

Miss Anna Baima, 19 years old, of 143 East Second street, this morning risked serious injury to stop a runaway pony attached to a buggy containing Paul and Vivian Brunnett, children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brunnett, of Plainfield avenue.

The Brunett children, Paul and Vivian, twelve and ten years old, respectively, were following their daily custom this morning in taking a drive around the city, when at the intersection of Park avenue and West Fifth street, the animal became frightened at a passing automobile and ran down Park avenue in the direction of Muhlenberg Hospital.

Miss Baima, walking along East Fifth street, spied the runaway and the children standing in the cart yelling for help. Throwing off her coat she started in pursuit and succeeded in catching up to the frightened pony at West Eighth street. Climbing into the cart she reached out and gathered in the reins from the animal's back and managed to bring it under control just before the hospital was reached.

The young heroine when seen at Kresge's store in West Front street, where she is employed repeated that she wanted no reward and added that when living in Brooklyn she had stopped several runaway horses. Mrs. Brunett said, "Miss Baima probably saved my children from being killed and she will be handsomely repaid in a way which will make it impossible for her to refuse."

Burt, of this city, sued the Cunningham Piano Company, of Philadelphia, in the District Court this morning for the recovery of the value of a piano which the defendants refuse to return to him. The plaintiff sued for the value of the old piano and a jury awarded him $250.

THOMPSON FOR TAX BOARD JOB

Former Assemblyman Would Accept Pollard's Place on Union County Board.

OTHERS ARE ASPIRANTS

Two Progressives Out for the Place and Pollard is a Candidate to Succeed Himelf—Vacancy Occurs in April.

Doubts existing as to the candidacy of former Assemblyman Lloyd Thompson for appointment to the county tax board were set at rest yesterday, when the Westfield lawyer practically admitted that he aspired to the position. "I have not been actively a candidate," he said in answer to a question, "but I understand that my name is under consideration. Of course, I would not refuse if the place were offered me."

The naming of a county tax commissioner will be done by the Governor some time during the session of the Legislature. The vacancy occurs in April, when the term of Caleb C. Pollard, of Elizabeth, expires. Mr. Pollard is a candidate to succeed himself, and is the only known Republican aspirant besides Mr. Thompson.

The Progressives have two candidates. According to the findings of the State Board of Election Canvassers the Progressives have not usurped the Republican party's standing as the leading organization next to the Democracy. It is therefore a question whether the G. O. P. will be deprived of representation on the county tax board.

Mulford M. Scudder, president of the county board, resides in the outskirts of Westfield. Calvin E. Brodhead, the third member, lives in Plainfield. Mr. Scudder's term expires in 1914, and it is said that some Democrats in Elizabeth would not object to seeing Mr. Pollard defeated because such a contingency would pave the way for the selecting of an Elizabeth Democrat to take the former's place. It would be a question, of course, if Mr. Scudder could be vanquished next year, but Elizabeth's aspirants would at least willingly make the attempt if a Democratic Governor should be elected in the fall.

The law provides that county tax boards must be bi-partisan, and explains why Governor Wilson cannot choose a Democrat to succeed Mr. Pollard. A Republican Governor in 1914 could depose Mr. Scudder for a Republican, however, because Mr. Brodhead would remain as a minority representative until 1915.

Edward A. Leach and Elwood W. Phares are the Progressive candidates to succeed Mr. Pollard. Both live in Elizabeth and are engaged in the real estate business. Mr. Leach has the endorsement of the Tenth Ward Progressive Club, of Elizabeth. Mr. Phares was voted the support of the executive committee of the Progressive county league at a meeting which Mr. Leach's supporters said was not representative of the entire committee.

Lloyd Thompson was one of the Republican candidate for Assembly last fall. He was a candidate for the State Senate nomination in 1911 but was defeated by Carlton B. Pierce. He served in the 1910 and 1911 Legislatures as an Assemblyman, and during the latter year won Governor Wilson's admiration. In the 1911 campaign, the Governor in a public address in Westfield voiced his appreciation of Mr. Thompson's services.

This is viewed as enhancing Mr Thompson's chances, but whether or not it can counterbalance the argument that Elizabeth should have a member on the county tax board only future happenings can reveal.

MR. SANDFORD'S ESTATE LEFT TO HIS FAMILY

The will of William M. Sandford, who died at his home on East Front street, December 13 last, was offered for probate in the office of Surrogate George T. Parrot, Elizabeth, yesterday, by William R. Codington. The will was made on October 8, 1908, by the terms of which the entire estate is left to the immediate family, comprising Mrs. Sandford, the widow, two sons, William M. Sandford, Jr., of this city, and Charles W. Sandford, of Clapham, New Mexico, and one daughter, Mrs. Pauline May Sandford Yule, who are named as executors.

The value of the estate is not given and no inventory was filed in court. Mr. Sandford made no public bequests of any kind. Both Mrs. Yule, of Vancouver, and her brother, Charles W. Sandford, of New Mexico, who came to Plainfield prior to their father's death, are still here and will probably remain in the city for some time.

POOL PARLOR OWNERS WARNED BY THE COURT

They Must Stop Harboring Boys Late at Night Who Earn But Little.

Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning to have sentence passed upon him for an alleged violation of a city ordinance against gambling, Amos Stites, proprietor of a pool parlor in West Frontstreet, received a suspended sentence of $50 fine or 30 days in the county jail. He was arrested Friday by Sergeant Flynn and tried in the City Court Monday morning. Harry C. Runyon acted as his counsel. In the complaint Stites was specifically charged with allowing youths to play "dead man's" or rotation pool in his place.

In passing sentence Judge DeMeza said: "Stites, there is no question in my mind as to your guilt. I have had numerous complaints come to me from the mothers of boys of tender years, who say you harbor their sons in your establishment until 11 and 12 o'clock every night. I have investigated and found this to be true. This thing must stop, not only in your place but I will see to it that every poolroom keeper in Plainfield eliminates this practice of entertaining young boys, the majority of whom earn but $4 or $5 per week, until so late at night. I have notified the police to have this rule strictly enforced and I do not want you brought before me again."

SMALL BOARDS UNITE TO OUST 'RUMP' ONES

Quo Warranto Proceedings to Be Brought by Four Bodies in as Many Counties.

For the purpose of securing an early decision in the freeholder muddle affecting Union, Bergen, Morris and Mercer counties, it was learned today that the four small boards had decided to bring quo warranto proceedings. It was expected that an application for a writ would be made yesterday in the Supreme Court at Trenton compelling the old board to show cause why it should not be ousted from office, but it was stated that the matter was laid over for a day or two to give the four boards an opportunity to get together.

In the meantime, it is planned to have the Legislature pass a bill which will remove any doubt as to the small board being the legally constituted body in the four counties named. John K. English and William R. Wilson, of counsel for the small board of Union county, are busy co-operating with the legal representatives of the other counties in preparing the case to be brought up in court.

WILL LEAVE MT. BETHEL

Grand Jury Now in Session to Consider His Case—Ministers Who Refused to Believe Him Guilty Are Now Convinced.

Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, who was formerly pastor of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale M. E. churches, and whose arrest several months ago followed charges preferred by Mrs. Amelia Mason, a member of the Mt. Horeb church, on behalf of her daughter, Miss Gertrude Nelson, has not only resigned from both charges, but has severed all connection with the Newark Conference of which he was a member. He is no longer connected with the denomination. Mr. MacRorie and his family still reside at Mt. Horeb, but it is understood that they will leave that place within a short time.

The annual session of the Newark Conference will be held in Newark in the near future and it is expected that official action will be taken upon the recommendation of Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, District superintendent, declaring Mr. MacRorie no longer a member of the conference. At that time Bishop Wilson, who is to preside, will appoint a minister to act as supply for the Mt. Horeb and Springdale churches.

Dana Townsend, chairman of the entertainment committee, reported that an entertainment was being planned for February 28, and Ray T. LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

At last "Bunty" is coming to Plainfield. She has succeeded in setting London, New York and Chicago and the Canadian provinces topsy-turvy with "Buntyitis" and will spread the fever to this city when "Bunty Pulls the Strings" appears at the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and evening. The story is the acme of simplicity—just a simple chronicle of a Highland family, whose daily life is closely allied with the church. "Bunty Pulls the Strings" to adjust the matrimonial affairs of her father, her brother and herself. Her father, years before, left his bride-to-be on the morning of what was to have been his wedding day, proceeded to a neighboring village, changed his name, made a sucess in business, and became a pillar of the church. Thirty years later he is found by the "girl" whom he left "waiting at the church." She arrives just as he is being forced into a disagreeable marriage with a sour old maid to whom he owes money, whose ultimatum is "pay or go to jail for debt." Then "Bunty" pulls the strings asd gets him out of his unpleasant predicament, arranges for his marriage to his old sweetheart, also smoothes out her brother Rab's love affairs, and finally marries herself to "Weelum" Sprunt, the man of her choice.

Plainfield Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Plainfield citizen:

A. C. Lazzi, 44 Elm place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I still endorse Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity and I confirm all I said in their praise when I publicly recommended them some years ago. You are at liberty to continue using my statement, for this excellent medicine cannot be given too much praise. For several years I was annoyed by a distressing backache, together with pains through my kidneys. My head also ached severely and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. I went to several physicians and also took so-called kidney cures, but it did not seem as though I could get relief. As time passed and I did not improve, I became discouraged. When suffering intensely I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a supply at Randolph drug store. As if by magic my pains and aches disappeared and my condition improved in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills deserve the entire credit for restoring me to good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

STYLE SR RELIABILITY.

Just a Little More Than Seems Necessary in Return for Your Dollar

Two thousand years ago Dioenes appointed himself a committee of one to find an honest man.

He died without having fulfilled his desire!

The world has progressed in these 2,000 years. I don't know of a better policy for success today than honesty.

It's the policy I'm using, and I'll stick to it until I find a better one!

If the time ever comes when deceit and deception are necessary to consummate a sale, I'll retire from business!

The quality and character of the clothes I lend my name to, and the way I price them is a fitting example of how I'm giving the BEST possible merchandise at the LOWEST possible prices.

3 BROTHERS GAIN RESPITE.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 15.—Instead of hanging on the gallows today, in accordance with the sentence originally pronounced on them, the three Graves brothers spent the day in unusually good spirts thankful that a respite had given them a new lease of life and hopeful that another trial will enable them to escape the extreme penalty of the law. Their case has attracted an extraordinary amount of attention throughout this section, chiefly because it furnishes the first instance on record in which three brothers have been condemned to death in eastern Canada. The crime of which they were convicted was the murder of Kenneth Lea, at Kentville in June last. The three brothers in an intoxicated condition, called at the victim's house at night with the purpose of visiting a domestic in Lea's employ, and whom the latter had forbidden them to see. In a scuffle that ensued Lea was shot and died two days later. In the trial it was brought out that one of the brothers had previously threatened to kill Lea.

FORTY THOUSAND STRIKING GARMENT WORKERS PARADE IN NEW YORK AND THEN HOLD BIG MASS MEETING IN UNION SQUARE

New York, Jan. 15.—Between 35,000 and 40,000 striking garment workers made a show of strength under the eyes of their employers by a great parade through the manufacturing district, which ended in a mass meeting that overflowed Union Square. Though some of the speeches delivered by orators in three languages sizzled with condemnation of the clothing manufacturers and the conditions which the garment workers are protesting against, there was no violence during the whole course of the parade and ensuing mass meeting, and by order of the union heads red flags were barred. Benjamin Schweitzer and, Max Pine, leaders of the stike, made speeches.

UNCLE SAM DELIVERS BUTTER VERY PROMPTLY

The Parcels Post System has demonstrated its efficiency in matter of delivering of household commodities in a most satisfactory manner. Samuel Ehnis, of 101 Wilsey street, Newark, ordered five pounds of Elgin creamery from the Newark branch of this concern which was opened at 7 Lafayette street, Newark, immediately after the postal co adopted the Parcels Post delivery system. Mr. Ehnis ordered his goods to be sent by Parcels Post as an experiment, and the promptness of delivery has made him enthusiastic over the new order of things. The five pounds of Elgin creamery was mailed at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the package was delivered to him at 6 o'clock the same evening, which demonstrates that the new branch of Uncle Sam's postal department is not only reliable but speedy. Since the Parcels Post went into operation the first of the year, the Elgin creamery and a number of other large business concerns who previously conducted their business through brokers and wholesalers, are now opening their own branch houses in every State, for the purpose of dealing direct with the people.

Under the old order of things this was made prohibitive on account of the expensive cost of delivery. The modern idea among all large producers in lines today is to sell direct to the consumer, giving him the benefit of the profits that have been heretofore going to the wholesaler.

The new system of postal delivery not only insures a saving to the consumer, but it assures him fresher goods. At the same time it offers the suburbanite and residents of the smaller country towns the same advantages in the matter of prompt delivery enjoyed by those living in the large cities.

A NEWSPAPER DID IT.

As Senator Root characterized his offenses, for "high crimes and misdemeanors," all committed within a perid of twelve months, the notorious Scranton, Pa., politician, Judge Robert W. Archbald, has been found guilty in the impeachment proceedings against him in the United States Senate and is forever debarred from holding any office under the Government. That he has been punished at last for the flagrant abuse of his high judicial office may cause little surprise now though it would have five or six years ago when the United States Senate was controlled by venial interests, whose hirelings have since been driven back into private life by an aroused public conscience.

As far as this corrupt judge's exposure is concerned, however, that is nothing new. President Taft was fully aware of this rascal's reputation when he appointed him a member of the Commerce Court. Archbald's public life was first laid bare by the Philadelphia North American, a fearless independent newspaper that hounds the criminal public servants. The damning accusations against the Scranton jurist were published in detail and were brought to the attention of President Taft, a statesman who has ever been the victim of crafty and crooked politicians posing as his friends and advisers. The whole story is best told by the North American which says today:

"Archbald, having been made an additional circuit court judge by President Taft in 1910, was appointed by him on February 1, 1911, to the newly formed commerce court. This was less than two years ago. He had been in that office less than a year when the charges resulting in his expulsion were filed against him. Thus all those acts which caused his impeachment, and which Senator Root characterized as 'high crimes and misdemeanors," were committed during the short space of twelve months. While an offense to justice and to public decency, the appointment of this man to the post he held was not inappropriate. The commerce court, created at the insistence of the Taft administration, stripped the interstate commerce commission of power to enforce its decrees, and was criticized from its inception as a refuge for law-defying transportation interests. The selection of Archbald as a member of it thickened the cloud of scandal about the court.

"When his elevation to this post was first projected The North American laid before the public, the administration and the Senate evidence of his unfitness, as shown in his business record. These revelations included a finding of the Pennsylvania supreme court, in which the operations of a coal company in which Archbald was one of four partners were denounced as 'an evasion of the law and a fraud upon the public,' exhibiting 'a palpable disregard of the requirements of business honesty.' In the face of these facts and of all protests, President Taft, on recommendation of Penrose and Oliver, appointed the man; and so far forget the decencies of his office as to characterize the evidence as "sensational and irresponsible.'

"Administration support of the unworthy judge was renewed in April last, when the North American and the Chicago Tribune first published the charges upon which he was finally impeached. Efforts were made to belittle and discredit the accusations, but as the revelations grew in circumstantiality and gravity congress forced President Taft to send to the house a record which he had had in his possession for months. From this it appeared that the department of justice in the previous February had investigated Archbald's acts and had become convinced of his guilt. President Taft had pigeonholed the report, and even when he grudgingly sent it to the house it was with a recommendation that it be withheld from the public."

Had it not been for the fearlessness and dogged persistence of the Philadelphia North American, Archbald would still be disgracing the Commerce Court bench, still be besmirching the judicial ermine and still be using that high office for his personal gains. All honor to the Philadelphia paper. May it continue its crusade until every corrupt judge is ignomiously forced back to private life.

ROBS PETER TO PAY PAUL.

This came over the wire today:

New York, Jan. 15.—Workers in the employ of the U. S. Steel Corporation will receive an increase in wages amounting to an average of a little more than seven per cent. about February 1. This will cost the corporation approximately $12,000,000 annually.

And then came this:

Pittsburgh, Jan. 15.—Manufacturers of steel sheets have advanced prices for business after July 1, $2 a ton for all grades, making the base price for black sheets No. 28 gauge $2.35; galvanized, No. 28, $3.50; blue annaled, No. 10, $1.75, and tin sizes, $2.30.

The U. S. Steel Corporation is one of those "good trusts" we hear about; its generosity finds its source in the consumers' pocketbooks.

UNION HAS TWO COUNTY PHYSICIANS

Westcott's Term Has Not Expired and Dolan is Small Board Appointee.

For the first time in its history Union county has two county physicians who are both "on the job." They are Dr. F. W. Westcott, of Fanwood, and Dr. Thomas E. Doland, of Elizabeth. The term of the former has not yet expired, while the latter was appointed by the new county board.

Dr. Westcott had two cases last week, the first one being that of Bert Carman, captain of a barge, who was drowned in Staten Island Sound, and the other that of Mitro Nowiciki, who was killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad train near Dark Lane, Elizabeth on Saturday. In both cases certificates were given for burial. A brother of Nowicki went to Martin's morgue, Elizabeth, Sunday, from Bayonne and claimed the body, which will be buried in the Greek cemetery this afternoon.

Dr. Dolan's first case was on Saturday night, when he was called to view the body of Edward Maher, who was killed by a Main Line trolley car on North Broad street, Elizabeth.

GIRL GIVES MERCHANTS AND POLICE A CHASE

After pursuing a young demented girl, Sarah Deitz, of 513 West Third street, all around town, in and out stores, Patrolman Tobias Nolan succeeded in cornering and arresting her in the Woolworth 5 and 10 cent store about 2 o'clock this afternoon. Complaints have been sent to the police headquarters by several shop-keepers in the heart of town about the young girl, whom they claim has been causing considerable trouble by her various antics in and around their stores.

After receiving a complaint from a Front street merchant this morning the desk sergeant at police headquarters, notified Patrolman Nolan, who immediately went on the case. After trailing her all around town Patrolman Nolan spotted her entering the 5 and 10 cent store. He entered the store and calling the assistant manager aside asked him to accost the young woman and find out if she wished to purchase anything and if he did not to ask her to leave the store. When accosted the young woman said that she did not wish to purchase anything and left the store when requested. Patrolman Nolan, who was standing at the entrance of the store, arrested her and sent a hurry call for the wagon. While waiting for the wagon a large crowd congregated, attracted by the yells and disturbance raised by the fair prisoner.

Upon the arrival at the police station the girl was sent to her home under the guidance of one of the policemen, who was doing headquarters duty.

SMALL FIRE IN BOROUGH.

The borough fire-fighters did nothing toward checking the blaze. No other property was threatened.

A Matter For Investigation.

A rather amusing story is being told by a Japanese gentleman in connection with the late emperor of Japan.

As we know, the late emperor was regarded with the greatest veneration by his subjects, and it appears that this attitude of awful reverence was maintained also by his ministers in spite of the fact that affairs of state make it necessary for them to see him and converse with him very frequently.

One of these ministers, the Marquis Matsugata, used to experience agonies of nervousness every time he had an audience of his sovereign, and he was never able to say anything distinct in reply to him except the set phrase, "I shall have careful investigation made, your majesty."

This generally brought him safely through a short audience, but one day unfortunately the emperor condescended to discuss the marquis' more private affairs.

"How many children have you?" the emperor asked.

Back came the inevitable phrase, "I shall have careful investigation made, your majesty!"

The story loses nothing from the fact that the marquis had a very large family.

He Played Politics.

Lord Dufferin delivered an address before the Greek class of the McGill university about which a reporter wrote: "His lordship spoke to the class in the purest ancient Greek, without mispronouncing a word or making the slightest grammatical solecism." "Good heavens!" remarked Sir Hector Langevin to the late Sir John A. Macdonald, "how did the reporter know that?" "I told him," was the Conservative statesman's answer. "But you don't know Greek." "True, but I know a little about politics."

Not So Green as He Looked.

During the war between the states there was an Irishman of the Thirty-sixth Indiana, who, while on the skirmish line at Dallas, saw a good chance to capture a Confederate. He availed himself of the opportunity, captured his man, and was passing to the rear with his prisoner, when one of his comrades called out to him: "Pat, let me have that man. I will take him over to General Gross, our brigade commander." "Niver mind, me boy," replied Pat. "I left a million back over the hill there. Go yourself and fetch one of the lads over and take him to General Gross."

PROSECUTOR HAS CHARGE THAT MADE PASTOR QUIT

Elizabeth, Jan. 15.—Prosecutor C. Addison Swift, of Union county, is conducting an investigation into the charges which led to the resignation of the Rev. Sidney Cross, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in Westfield. The prosecutor's attention to the case was formally drawn by Charles H. Denman, who yesterday declared that his reason for bringing the case before the county authorities was because no other resident of the town seemed interested enough and that he was the only one willing to shoulder the responsibility.

Cross' resignation was demanded by the vestry of the church following accusations made by a 14-year-old choir boy.

SIXTY-SEVEN OPERATIONS IN DEC. AT MUHLENBERG

The monthly reports presented at the meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, this week, show that the service during November and December was light, though according to the records of previous years the service increases in January, the heaviest being February and March, full service being carried through the spring and summer months, falling off again in the fall.

The statistics for December follow:

Patients remaining in hospital first of the month, 35; patients admitted during the month, 63; totals patients treated during month, 98; patients discharged, 73; patients remaining at end of the month, 25. In the wards there were 368 days free or 35 per cent., 529 days pay or 51 per cent. and in the private rooms 141 days or 14 per cent. TO ELIMINATE NAME OF ELIZABETHPORT

Elizabeth, Jan. 15.—At the regular weekly luncheon of the Board of Trade in the Elks' Clubhouse yesterday, John P. Arnold advocated a movement to be inaugurated to eliminate the use of the name Elizabethport as a designation for the downtown section of the city. He declared that the use of the two names leads many persons to believe that they are separate municipalities.

As a result of Mr. Arnold's speech the Central Railroad will be petitioned to change the name of the Elizabethport station to the Trumbull street station.

The members of the Board of Trade were formally invited by President I. N. Heller to attend the annual banquet of the Broad Street Improvement Association to be held on January 23. The progressiveness of the Broad street merchants during the past year and a number of projects for civic betterment were also discussed at the meeting.

SEEKS TO RECOVER $6,000 ON A DEAL

Wilson Sues to Get Sum Represented by Notes Given on Sale of Plant.

Elizabeth, Jan. 15.—Charles L. Wilson, of this city, is the complainant in a suit to recover $6,000 on three promissory notes from Samuel Renner, of Union Hill, the trial of which was begun before Judge Vail in the Union County Court, this morning. Mr. Wilson was manager and principal owner of the Scott-Farkes Tungsten Lamp Company, incorporated under the laws of New Jersey as the Farkes Tungsten Lamp Company.

According to the testimony Renner purchased the plant, which is located at Bloomfield, giving in part payment three promisory notes. The defendant in his answer to the bill alleges that upon inspection of the plant and grounds, he found they had been neglected and he claims that he was compelled to expend $8,000 to put the works in order.

The defendant further claims that Mr. Wilson told him about a secret process for manufacturing films, the plans of which were supposed to be locked up in a vault in a New York bank, but upon examination the vault was found to be empty, he says. When Mr. Wilson was asked to return the notes, the latter refused, says Mr. Renner. The case will probably occupy the whole day.

CAPTAIN AND CREW STICK TO STEAMSHIP ON THE ROCKS AFTER 833 PASSENGERS HAD BEEN SAFELY PROVED FROM THE WRECK

The S.S. URANIUM and Capt. EUSTACE

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 15.—Several hundred of the passengers rescued off the steamship Uranium, which is stranded on the rocky promontory a few miles from the entrance to Halifax harbor, has been sent to New York by train. Eight hundred and eighty-three passengers were taken off the stranded steamship by vessels sent out from Halifax. Captain Robert Eustace and his crew remained aboard the stranded vessel, with tugs standing by to take them off if a change in the wind should make the position of the vessel more dangerous. The ship is hanging by her bow to the rock on which she had run. The impact had made a great hole in her bow, and the forward compartment was flooded. Captain Eustace, it was reported, was confident that his ship could be saved if the wind did not change. When she struck the tide was about half on and the vessel was level for a time. As the tide went out, however, the stern sank, leaving the bow towering above. Great praise was showered upon the officers and crew of the Uranium for the way in which they handled the difficult situation on board the vessel. The fact that every passenger was taken safely from the stranded ship and landed at Halifax within a few hours after she struck was regarded as a marvel of efficiency on the part of the steamship's crew and the rescuing craft.

PARK COMEDY CLUB PLANS FOR FINANCIAL SUPPORT

The Park Comedy Club is planning to broaden its scope and become more of a factor in the social life of Plainfield and North Plainfield, and instead of restricting its membership to a limited number of people, it is now proposed to provide for an associate class. Upon the payment of a certain sum each associate member will be entitled to two tickets for the annual performance. After these reservations have been made the remaining seats will be sold to the general public.

By this plan, the club will be assured of the financial success of each play, the receipts from the advanced sale of seats being expected to practically cover the expenses of the production so that the money received from the sale of remaining seats will be profit. This idea has been carried out successfully in New York, as well as the Oranges, Montclair and other places. The club will hold a reorganization meeting this month, select a play, adopt a new constitution and discuss other matters pertaining to effecting a strong dramatic organization.

YOUNG WOMEN DISCUSS AWAKENING OF CHINA

China's "new day" was the general theme of a program provided by a number of young people at the regular monthly meeting of the Foreign Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. Miss Margaret Mead spoke on "China's Break With the Past;" Miss Frances Zelie told of the women of China, describing the ancient traditional custom of foot-binding and telling of its harmful effects, while Miss Elsie Harmon, speaking of the medical conditions in the Empire, gave an account of the opium traffic which she said is being stamped out by the government.

Others who took part in the program were Miss Rachel Augnettree, who spoke on "Education In China," and Miss Ethel Colton, who selected as her topic, "The Printed Page," giving an interesting account of literature in the Flowery Kingdom and the fondness of the Chinese for printed matter.

Miss Helen Harmon had charge of the meeting and delivered an address on "The Christian Church in China" telling of the work of the missionaries in converting the inhabitants and the methods they employ.

FLOODS INCREASE IN INDIANA.

Evansville, Indiana, Jan. 15.—With the Ohio River at 45½ feet today the river dwellers fear that rain which began falling today will send the flood above all previous high water marks. Water is backing up in sewers, flooding cellars and putting out furnace fires.

CZARINA A HOPELESS CRIPPLE

Empress of Russia Loses Use of Limbs—Czar's Other Sorrows.

In addition to sorrow over the awful tubercular affliction of the little crown prince, the czarina of Russia is suffering the misfortune of an incurable illness herself. Reports which have reached court circles of London in the nature of family communications from the czar's household indicate that the czarina is a hopeless cripple. It is declared that as the result of partially unsuccessful operations she has lost the use of her limbs.

In the first place, the czarina is in worse health than ever. It was reported a few months ago that she had improved under the treatment of unlicensed specialists, but instead of having improved the neuritis the inflammation of the nerve substance itself has increased and so affected the czarina's limbs that she cannot walk.

The empress is moved from room to room in the palace while recumbent on a couch. At other times, reclining in a beautiful boat shaped sleigh, she is driven in the park at Tsarskoe Selo.

Next among the distresses of the czar is the fact that his younger sister, Grand Duchess Olga, wife of Duke Peter of Oldenburg, finds herself unhappily married. She has asked the czar for permission to secure a divorce, so that she may marry a young officer of the cuirassiers. The emperor has angrily refused permission.

But it is against his brother, Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, that the czar's hottest anger is directed. Last month after the confirmation of his marriage with the divorced Mme. Sheremetivskaia, Grand Duke Michael made an irrevocable marriage settlement on her. This so infuriated the czar that, despite their mother's appeals, he struck his brother's name from membership in the imperial household.

This means that Grand Duke Michael has lost an annual allowance of 200,000 rubles (about $100,000), the free use of five residences in Russia, a large staff of attendants and horses and carriages.

Besides this, the grand duke has been stripped of his rank in the army. He has gone abroad incognito. He really is in exile.

ARMY HORSE A FINE JUMPER.

Marshal Ney, Saved From Death, Learns Clever Feat.

This is the story of an army horse that can do some clever jumping and that has had an unusual history.

Marshal Ney, the animal in question, at the army post of Fort Myer, was on the brink of being sent to a rendering plant when a sudden turn of fortune occurred for him. He had become grievously sick, and the veterinarians had given him up. Lieutenant Shepard, stationed at Fort Myer, because of a sudden fancy for the animal begged for his life. The higher officers granted the lieutenant's request by giving him the horse to see what he could do with it.

That was two years ago. Now Marshal Ney can jump over a table fully laid with dinner and with a party of diners seated about it. He does this so neatly that the diners need not move an inch from their places nor fear for a second any danger. The picture shows Marshal Ney in the act of making his jump.

WILSON TELLS WALL STREET NOT TO BE ALARMED

Trenton, Jan. 15.—In reply to stories of unsettled conditions in Wall street and threatened panic published in some of the New York morning newspaper, President-elect Wilson authorized his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, to issue a statement today calling attention to the fact that there was nothing in his Chicago speech or his various other speeches delivered since election that differs from the views he expressed before election.

ROOT INTRODUCES BILL TO SOLVE CANAL TROUBLE

Washington, Jan. 15.—Senator Root has introduced a bill to amend the Panama Canal act to eliminate the provision exempting American coastwise ships from the payment of tolls. The measure is expected to reopen the entire question of Panama tolls now at issue with Great Britain and to pave the way for a new discussion of the subject in the Senate. Senator Root gave notice that he would speak on January 21 in support of his bill.

Senator Cummins today introduced a bill imposing a tax of ten per cent. upon all Stock Exchange and Board of Trade transactions here, if a seller disposes of products not owned by him. The measure is intended to make trading in future on agricultural products prohibitive.

ROCKEFELLER IS REALLY ILL SAYS PHYSICIAN

Washington, Jan. 15.—Dr. Charles W. Richardson, the Pujo Committee physician who examined William Rockefeller at Miami, reported to the committee's counsel today that Mr Rockefeller's case was more serious than Dr. W. R. Chappell had made affidavit to. Dr. Richardson said that the right vocal chord was entirely gone. He said that Mr. Rockefeller might be able to stand a short examination without imminent danger to his life but that he would not be able to undergo a long inquiry. The committee will determine later whether to call Mr. Rockefeller.

Albert C. Burrage, of Boston, a lawyer, was the first witness before the committee today regarding Amalgamated. He could not remember anything definite about the profits.

George W. Perkins went on the stand when the committee reconvened at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

COLD CHICKEN DAINTIES.

WHEN there is a quantity of cold chicken in the house it may be made up into various delicious luncheon or tea dishes as follows:

Chicken Fritters.—Cut up cold roasted or boiled chicken in small pieces. Season with salt, pepper and a piece of fresh lemon. Let the meat stand one hour; then make a fritter batter and stir the pieces into it. Drop it by spoonfuls into boiling fat and fry until a light brown. Drain and serve.

A Fine Hash.

Chicken Hash.—Cut the chicken from the bones and divide it into small neat pieces. Heat the gravy left over, diluting it with hot water or with weak stock if the supply is too small. Season with salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce or ketchup and put the meat into the gravy when this is boiling hot. When the meat has simmered in it for ten minutes add a tablespoonful of cranberry or currant jelly, thicken with a little browned flour and serve either on toast or fried bread, with triangles of this arranged around the edge of the dish.

A Dainty Meat Loaf.

Chicken Loaf.—Take cold boiled chicken and separate the meat from the bones. Take off all skin and cut into thin slices, mixing the light and dark parts together. Season with salt and pepper. Take the cold broth in which the chicken was boiled, heat it, pour it on the meat and mix well. Shape this like a loaf of bread, wrap it in a cloth and press with a heavy weight for a few hours. When served cut in thin slices.

Highly Seasoned Croquettes.

Chicken Croquettes.—Take one pint of finely chopped cooked chicken, one tablespoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper, one cupful of cream or chicken stock, one tablespoonful of flour, four eggs and one teaspoonful of onion juice, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one pint of crumbs and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Put the cream or stock on to boil. Mix flour and butter together and stir into the boiling cream; then add chicken and season. Boil two minutes and add two of the eggs well beaten. Take from the fire and set away to cool. When cold shape and fry, adding parsley.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Miss Tarbell and the Uneasy Woman.

Miss Tarbell is moved to present the "Business of Being a Woman," because as she herself states of "a certain distrust which she feels in the modern woman of the significance and dignity of the work laid upon her by nature and by society." For the woman of Colonial and Revolutionary days she has only highest praise and of the woman of the future—the long heralded "new woman"—she has her own compelling vision. But the women of today arouses "a certain distrust," and the cause of this distrust is that the woman of today is, in Miss Tarbell's phrase, "The Uneasy Woman." The uneasy woman, the militant woman, the woman who imitates man, these are the ways in which Miss Tarbell designates the modern woman; she herself being a modern among moderns, and you and I and our neighbors being in our circumscribed spheres moderns also cannot fail to be interested in knowing why this lack of confidence in our kind.

The word "uneasy" has in it a disturbing suggestion, and at the outset Miss Tarbell leads us to feel that this uneasiness is a thing to be disapproved and deplored. Yet, as one reads further she feels that after all "uneasy" women may not be such a menace, for in Miss Tarbell's own words: "In every century they have appeared, protesting and remodelling. Out of their uneasy souls have come the varying changes in the woman's world which distinguish the ages."

Evidently uneasiness is not a failing of the modern woman only and even the most superficial review of these "changes in the woman's world which distinguish the ages" is enough to make the woman of today know herself the humble debtor of all her uneasy forbears.

The militant woman, not our radically aggressive English sister, but the American woman who today openly and actively espouses suffrage is painted in somewhat unlovely colors by Miss Tarbell. Yet here again the militant woman of an earlier time comes in for well deserved praise:

"Certainly no woman who today takes it as a matter of course, that she should study what she chooses, go and come as she will, support herself unquestioned by trade, profession, or art, work in public or private, handle her own property, share her children on equal terms with her husband, receive a respectful attention on platform or before legislature, live freely in the world, should think with anything but reverence particularly of the early disturbers of convention and peace, for they were an essential element in our achievement."

Upon the woman who imitates man, Miss Tarbell's judgments seem to fall most heavily. One wonders why the author of "The Tariff in Our Times," and "The History of the Standard Oil Company" finds it so hard to forgive women for doing work unusually expected only of a man. But the inference that Miss Tarbell credits women with drawing from the feats of man imitators is that "the business of being a woman, as it has been conducted heretofore by society, is of less importance than the business of being a man and that the time has come to enter his world and prove her equality."

"But," protests Miss Tarbell, "she is a different being. Whether she is better or worse, stronger or weaker, primary or secondary, is not the question. She is different.

"To bear and to rear, to feel the dependence of man and child—the necessity for themselves—to know that upon them depend the health, the character, the happiness, the future of certain human beings—to see themselves laying and preserving the foundations of so imposing a thing as a family—to build so that this family shall become a strong stone in the State—to feel themselves through this family perpetuating and perfecting church, society, republic—this is their destiny—this is worth while.

"A woman never lived who did all she might have done to open the mind of her child for its great adventure. It is an exhaustless task. The woman who sees it knows she has need of all the education the college can give, all the experience and culture she can gather. She knows that the fuller her individual life, the broader her interests, the better for the child. She should be a person in his eyes. The real service of the 'higher education,' the freedom to take a part in whatever interests or stimulates her—lies in the fact that it fits her intellectually to be a companion worthy of a child.

"I think it is historically correct to say that the reason of the sudden and revolutionary change in the education of American women, which began with the nineteenth century and continued through it, was the realization that if we were to make real democrats, we must begin with the child, and if we began with the child, we must begin with the mother."

To every word of this the "uneasy," "militant" woman whom Miss Tarbell so distrusts says Amen, for she sees in it only an amplification of the truth that "Only a citizen is worthy to be the mother of citizens."

CHANGE IN OCEAN ROUTES.

New York, Jan. 15.—Another step in the movement for greater safety at sea, which owes its origin to the investigation that followed the Titanic disaster, was taken today, when an agreement to change the route of travel between America and Europe was put into effect by all of the transatlantic steamship lines. Beginning with this date it has been agreed that all of the ships shall follow a line about sixty miles to the south of the crossings heretofore used at this time of year. It is expected that the vessels will thus escape the dangerous icebergs that are met with so frequently on the northern route during the spring months. By the change the passengers also will avoid much discomfort due to cold and heavy seas further north.

RAILROAD HEARING NEXT WEEK

Washington, Jan. 15.—It was stated that the Stasley bill to regulate ownership of railroads engaged in interstate commerce and to require railroads to furnish equal terminal exchange and shipping facilities to other roads will be given a hearing before the House Committee on Interstate Commerce January 21.

SCOOP CAN'T DRAW THE INSIDE AND OUTSIDE AT THE SAME TIME

"MAC" SAYS

Manager Jack Doyle and his squad of Holy Cross football players will celebrate their recovery from the effects of the 1912 pigskin season with a dance at Debele's Hall next Monday night. Doyle wants to announce that all P. H. S. players will be admitted and no questions asked. There's a reason.

North Plainfield High School came out of its first interscholastic League game with a badly battered lineup. Dunning's injury is considered the most serious and may keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. Captain Nash's youngsters did not prove so tame after all. Wonder what they will do to P. H. S. tomorrow.

When the Somerville-Plainfield High School game began to grow hot Monday afternoon, "Skipper" Woodhull, of the local five, decided that some fresh air was the missing substance and immediately proceeded to batter the window panes. He succeeded in reducing six panes of glass to a state of uselessness but escaped without pain.

Baseballically speaking, Plainfield will lose a goodly share of its population in about a month. Tommy Mullen, Louis Slocum, Otto Frederickson, Jack Martin, Eugene Lidgate, Frank Hand and Jim Emery are all due to leave for the hotter clime in March.

Slocum and Frederickson have been playing ball all winter and are in the best of condition to report. They have been holding regular sessions on Slocum's front lawn and the sore arm season will have no terrors for them.

Mullen has been tossing telephone cables all winter and says he has gained twenty pounds. Tommy also says that he is going away to learn, not to demonstrate.

Basketball teams, not unlike the famous "57 varieties," have sprung up in Plainfield this season and still the town can boast of but one first-class gymnasium and that one is restricted to the use of men and boys. No less than ten girls' teams are playing the game in this section and fully five times as many male quintets.

In the event that Hope Chapel defeats the Y. M. C. A. Ajax on the Hope Chapel court January 25, there is some talk of putting up a silver cup for the third and deciding game. It's a good thing; push it along.

If the original plans had not fallen through, the Springfield Training School gymnastic team would have been performing on the local Y. M. C. A. floor tonight. Manager Charles H. Line had Plainfield booked but the local authorities called off the exhibition because of the Y. M. C. A. conference meeting here. The gym exhibition proved a remarkable success last season and many were looking forward to it this year.

WITH THE BOXERS

Mike Gibbons and Wildcat Ferns have been signed to box ten rounds in Indianapolis next month.

Promoter Coffroth, of San Francisco, is trying to sign Ad Wolgast to meet Harlem Tommy Murphy next month.

Since the Frawley Boxing law went into effect in New York the receipts of the boxing shows in the State have amounted to $1,212,740.

The chances are that Al Palzer and his manager, Tom O'Rourke, will part company once more. Palzer believes that he can get along without a manager.

Leon Ketchell, the 18-year-old brother of the late middleweight wonder, Stanley Ketchell, is in New York to make his debut in the game that made his brother famous.

Frank Klaus, the Pittsburgh middleweight, will return soon to France, where he meets Bill Papke on March 5. Klaus cleaned up $11,000 in his fights during his last trip to Europe.

P. H. S. AND LEALS IN LEAGUE CONTEST

Second Game of Interscholastic Basketball League Tomorrow Afternoon.

Plainfield High School's first game of the Interscholastic League series will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court tomorrow afternoon with the Leal School five. The latter team's great showing against North Plainfield High School, Monday afternoon, makes it a far more formidable proposition than it was at first supposed to be. Their familiarity with the Y. M. C. A. court, which is really their home gym, makes shooting one of their foremost assets and unless unusually closely guarded the Leal forwards can generally be counted upon for some spectacular basket caging.

Many of the P. H. S. players are also more or less accustomed to the association court and many have established records for goal shooting on that floor, whereas they are totally lost on another court as far as the scoring department is concerned. Although scholarship deficiences have had a depleting effect on the High School team, the private school players are not subjected to scholarship regulations and are enabled to have their same team on the court for every game and practise.

NONPAREILS WON AT SCOTCH PLAINS AGAIN

Defeat 'Plains Girls by a One-sided Score of 31 to 6.

For the second time this season the Nonpareil girls' basketball team, of this city, triumphed over the Scotch Plains feminine five on the latter team's court, last night, by a score of 31 to 6. Unlike the initial contest, which was the weirdest kind of a runaway, the game last night was closer and better played. As usual, Miss Helen Hummel did the majority of the goal caging for the Nonpareils but was ably assisted by her sister and Miss Mildred McAuliffe.

The Parish House lineup was greatly strengthened by the addition of Miss Ruth Douglas and Miss Jessie Stewart, two Plainfield High School players, both of whom put up good games.

The score:

'PLAINS FIVE FELL BEFORE AJAX TEAM

First Game on Parish House Court Won by Visitors.

Playing on the Scotch Plains Parish House court against the Parish House first team, last night, the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, of this city, celebrated a return to form by administering a 27 to 19 defeat to the 'Plains aggregation. The playing was nip and tuck at all stages and the closeness of the score tended to induce a degree of rough house at frequent intervals. Although playing on a visiting court, the shooting of the Ajax was of top-notch order, most of their goals being made from difficult angles. Peacock and Nash were the minstays in the scoring department for the Ajax, their playing being steady and consistent at all stages of the game. For Scotch Plains, Lidgate and Thompson were as usual the brilliant factors, both putting up good all around games.

The score:

BASEBALL NOTES

Catcher Tom Needham, of the Chicago Cubs, owns and manages a clothing concern in Steubenville, Ohio.

Edward Courtney, of the Portland Pacific Coast League baseball club, has organized a basketball team at Randolph, Mass.

Manager Dooin, of the Philadelphia Nationals, will visit a number of the Southern cities in search of a suitable place to take his team for spring training.

There is much joy in the camp of the Boston Red Sox. Olaf Henricksen, the boy who made the clean-up hit in the world's series last fall, has signed his contract.

The Louisville American Association club has signed Pitcher Harry Camnitz, a brother of Howard Camnitz, of the Pirates. He comes from the Lexington Blue Grass League team.

Billy Hamilton, the old time big league star, has signed to manage the Haverhill New England League team. Bill has a hunch that he is still there as a pastimer and may perform in the outfield for his team.

John B. Foster, who has just been appointed secretary of the New York Giants, has been in newspaper work more than thirty years and has been writing sports, especially baseball, about twenty-five years.

Manager Bill Donovan, of the Providence team, does not think much of Schang, the Buffalo catcher. Thirteen major league clubs were after him last season, Connie Mack copping the youngster by the Graf route.

Pitcher Frank "Puss" Smith, one of the youngsters to be tried out by the Giants next spring, is a student at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill. He played with Traverse City last season and was one of the stars of the Michigan State League.

A general advance in prices for admission to the Philadelphia American League park is to go into effect next season. The grandstand seats here after, instead of being 50 cents, will be 75 cents, and the bleacher seats will cost the boys 25 cents instead of two bits as formerly.

McCARTY IS YOUNGEST HEAVYWEIGHT TO BE CROWNED.

Luther McCarty is a living denial of the tradition that heavyweights have to be past the age of twenty-five before achieving great honor in their profession. The Nebraskan has not yet cast his first vote for the reason that he fears it would be challenged. He is only twenty.

Jim Corbett was twenty-six when he took the crown from John L. Sullivan at New Orleans. Fitzsimmons was thirty-five when he laid his famous solar plexus punch on Corbett at Carson City. Jeffries was twenty-four when his double left dropped Fitz for the ten toll, and Tommy Burns was twenty-five when Jeff gave him his title. Johnson was thirty at the time he stopped Burns in Australia.

LACK CONTROL AT START.

Star Pitchers Are Wild When Only Recruits.

The game has few great pitchers who broke into the big league with control. Ed Walsh, Bill Donovan and even Mathewson were a wild lot when they started on their major league careers. But they gradually overcame this failing and eventually were numbered among those pitchers who are noted for having command of the ball.

Walter Johnson was one of the few great pitchers who came into prominence in possession of control. He was able to get the ball over the very first day he pitched for the Nationals, and it is on rare occasions that he is wild.

Control seems to have been natural to Walter, just like his tremendous speed. The night he reported in Washington to Joe Cantillon in 1907 Cantillon put this question to the youngster:

"Johnson," asked Joe, "how is your control?"

Walter studied awhile, then answered in that characteristic drawl: "I don't know. I never had to use any where I was." And that was likely true, for with his speed those bush league batters did not venture very near the plate or stand close enough to make it necessary for Johnson to get the ball over.

His name is V. E. Gylke. He competed in the 10,000 meter walk at the Stockholm Olympic games, making a good showing. The Dane is a natural walker, with a smooth and finished style.

Goulding announced a short time ago that he intended to quit. He is considered the greatest walker that ever put on a shoe and is the holder of many world's records.

To Readers About Advertisers

Merchants who use the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press deserve your consideration and trade. They represent the best in their respective lines and they spend their money for publicity in order to attract custom to their establishments. It costs money to advertise and the business man who seeks your patronage and makes a public bid for it is going to serve you well. The merchant who establishes a reputation by advertising can not afford to waste this money and unless you are pleased you'll not go to his store again.

Advertising has become a science, yet anyone can write an advertisement that will pull trade. The readers of the Daily Press will find the advertising column an interesting feature. It contains suggestions that will meet every want and those who use its columns are among the leading and most enterprising business men. Tell them you were induced to come to their store by their advertising in the Daily Press—it is of mutual encouragement. Besides, there is always a more satisfactory service in the store that advertises. Never have merchants made greater efforts to secure trade or have prices been lower, and no city in the country can supply you more comfortably.

We are glad to say a good word for our advertisers. They have been liberal space takers throughout—and they have secured results. They know that the Daily Press is their best medium to reach the buying public and that it has THE right kind of circulation—the hearthstone kind.

The usual clearing sales are held in January and February. The wise merchant continues his store news and makes busy months, clearing out surplus stocks, which Daily Press readers will be glad to take off their hands. The business man who stops advertising at the close of the holiday trade makes a mistake he can not correct. The big stores have become big by keeping their name before the public and "making good" in thier publicity. The money they spend during the so-called dull season is among their best investments. The Daily Press circulation brings their trade.

WILSON WINNER WITH GROSSCUP

Governor Controls Situation, Legislature Turning Down Edwards.

THE VOTE WAS 42 TO 5

Some Important Bills Introduced, One an Administration Measure for Crossing Removal and Another for Mothers' Pensions.

Trenton, Jan. 15.—The Governor Wilson forces scored a signal victory yesterday afternoon in the State Treasurership fight when they routed the reactionaries behind State Comptroller Edward I. Edwards, of Hudson county, and nominated State Chairman Edward E. Grosscup, of Gloucester, for the office by the overwhelming vote of 42 to 5. The legislators who voted for Edwards were Senator Fielder, of Hudson, who nominated the Comptroller; Senators Fitzherbert, of Morris, and the three Hudson Assemblymen, Martin, McDermott and McGrath, who all along have stood by Edwards. The comment of Governor Wilson on the result was:

"I am delighted. It was just what I anticipated."

Several important bills were introduced in the Senate. One of the most important was the dependent mothers' pension bill by Senator Nichols, Republican, of Cumberland county. It is an act "to promte the home life for dependent children, and provides a pension upon the order of the court to widows having children under sixteen years of age, provided such widows are unable to support their children. The pension is to be $9 per month for one child, $14 for two children and $4 per month for each additional child.

Another important bill was the administration measure for grade crossing removal. This gives power to the State Public Utility Commission to order the removal of dangerous grade crossings, the cost to be borne by the railroad companies, except as to relaying sewer pipes, etc., and where trolley lines cross. Senator Edge, of Atlantic, put in a bill requiring full crews on all passenger trains in this State, and Mr. White of Burlington, introduced a resolution amending the State constitution so as to give women the ballot.

After opposition from the Republicans, the Democratic majority in the Senate adopted a new rule to force committee to report any bill upon the request of seven Senators. The Republicans maintained the old rule requiring that a majority vote of the Senate be given before a committee could be compelled to report a measure, should stand. The Assembly readopted the rule of last year providing that a bill must be reported upon the written request of fifteen members.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Y. W. C. A. has secured Miss Angy Manning Taylor, dean of the women's department of Moody Bible Institute, to give four Bible lessons on the four consecutive Thursdays, beginning January 23. Miss Taylor is a woman of charming personality and her lessons will be of special interest to all Sunday-school and church workers.

The meeting of the First Aid to the Injured class was held yesterday afternoon, when Dr. W. H. Martin explained the object of the course and general directions as to how to render "First Aid." Registrations cannot be made after the second lesson. At the end of the course an examination will be held and all those passing will be awarded the Red Cross insignia by the Red Cross Society. The examination cannot be taken by any member who has not attended at least six of the lectures.

New classes in all departments will be started during the week of January 27, the courses including dressmaking, millinery, embroidery, cooking and gymnastics. Registrations for these classes should be made at once. The new prospectus of class schedules may be had by applying to Miss Edith Parmelee.

Have you ever stopped to think that one of the arguments which has appealed most strongly to many of our best citizens of all classes to make Plainfield their home city is the fact that an unwritten law has led the Honorable Members of our City Council to grant no additional liquor licenses either inside or outside the so-called "Tyler License Zone."

Do you realize that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the Council to grant new additional licenses and to renew others heretofore canceled, also to enlarge the "License Zone" further into the residential districts?

Every voter who is opposed to the granting of such licenses and the enlarging of the zone is urged to sign at once the following blank and forward promptly to Wm. T. Schmittman, Secretary, 208 Madison avenue.

KAISER CAUSED BOXER TROUBLE

So Said Rev. Dr. Headland in Remarkable Address on China.

DOWAGER WAS STRONG

Got New Testament in Forbidden City and Reforms Followed—Speaker Praises W. J. Bryan as a Christian Man.

Addressing the Federation of Women's Missionary Societies at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Isaac Taylor Headland, of Pekin, China, exclaimed: "I say that Tsu Hsi, the old Empress Dowager of China, was the greatest woman the world ever knew. By her acts of diplomacy, extremely delicate acts, by her wonderful strength and by her marvelous strategy she placed herself above women in the universe. Three years after her death the Manchus lost the throne and the empire became a republic."

Dr. Headland's topic was "America's Part In the Making of China," and it was a remarkable address. The speaker said that the sending in to the palace of a New Testament by a group of English and American women was the seed which germinated into the heart of the sleeping Chinese giant and caused him to rise and throw off the shackles of the old dynasty. It was on the occasion of the sixtieth birthday of the old Empress Dowager that the little Testament was smuggled into the confines of the Forbidden City, the Imperial reservation. Twenty-seven splendid edicts were issued from the palace immediately after this by a young prince and China was at last driven into the road toward civilization.

At the present time there are 40,000 schools, colleges and universities throughout the new republic. In the last fifteen years China has constructed more railroads than Japan has built in all of her existence, asserted the speaker. There are 6,500 miles of lines already in use; 5,000 have been proposed; $50,000,000 have been appropriated for new roads, and by a recent order it is planned to lay 70,000 miles of rails.

A statement made by Dr. Headland was that the cause of the entire Boxer trouble came from Germany. The European Powers toward the latter part of the nineteenth century proposed to cut China into strips and divide the country between themselves. No one could take the initiative, however, until a German officer was slain by the Chinese in a southern province. Then Germany immediately called for an enormous indemnity. China paid but a man-o'-war from the land of the Kaiser took possession of the chief of the district in which the murder was committed and laid siege to the country for a radius of fifty miles around the city. The local Chinese governors organized what was known as the "Long Knife Society" to drive out the invaders. Similar societies were formed and shortly every part of the Empire was invested with the secret assassins who were slaughtering the foreigners. This was the beginning of the great Boxer movement which swept over the country in 1900 and 1901. Because of an undiplomatic act on the part of Germany thousands of Christians were slain and outrages continued for two years.

The official life of Yuan Shih Kai was traced from the time of his first royal appointment to a position of slight importance, his strategy in combating in secret success with the old regime rulers, his appointment as grand secretary and privy councilor to the Empress Dowager in the hope that his reform work might be oppressed, and his final triumph as republican leader of his people. He was referred to as the "George Washington" of China.

According to the speaker the old Empress Dowager proposed a constitutional government for China to be inaugurated in 1917. He told of the time shortly after the Boxer uprising when this country was forced to accept $24,000,000 as an indemnity, and how, through the efforts of Secretary of State Philander C. Knox $13,000,000 was given back to China and upon its interest this country is educating over a thousand Celestial students. During the course of his speech Dr. Headland referred to William Jennings Bryan as the greatest Christian citizen in the United States. At present, he said, Bryan is supporting eight children scattered in as many countries of the world. He told Dr. Headland, according to the latter, to "draw" upon him for any funds needed and the latter asserted ttat he would not accept the offer until William Jennings Bryan becomes Secretary of State.

TELLS SCHOOL PUPILS METHODS OF SAFETY

H. A. Van Brunt, representing the Public Service Corporation, visited the public schools of the city today, where he gave instruction to the children on the general topic of "Safety," as applied to all kinds of travel, but more particularly as regards traveling on trolley cars. These talks have been arranged with the idea of lessening, if possible, the dangers attendant by the use of trolleys.

Mr. Van Brunt spoke at the Washington and Irving Schools this morning and at the Jefferson School this afternoon. Tomorrow morning he will speak at the High School at 8:30 o'clock, at the Bryant School later, and to another grade of pupils at the High School at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP RALLY OF COUNTY ENDEAVORERS

Under the auspices of the good citizenship committee of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union, a rally will be held in the First Presbyterian church, Rahway, Friday night, January 24, at 8:15 o'clock. The committee has prepared an interesting program, including two addresses, one of which will be given by Mrs. E. F. Feickert, who will speak on "The Outlook for Equal Suffrage in New Jersey."

The other address will be given by S. S. Swackhamer, who will talk on the subject, "The Citizen and the State." The meeting will be of a public nature and all interested are invited. The local societies are planning to send a large delegation to Rahway.

BIBLE CLASS SUPPER.

Judge William N. Runyon's Bible class of the Park Avenue Baptist Bible school will enjoy an elaborate supper in the Bible school rooms of the church tonight. Supper will be served at 7:15 o'clock and the Judge will preside as toastmaster. Immediately after the supper the seventh annual business meeting of the class will be held, during which reports will be read from all the officers for the past year. The election of officers for the ensuing year and committee appointments will also be held.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mrs. J. H. Snyder, of Manning avenue, gave a dinner party to Paul Mertz, of the North Plainfield High School faculty, in honor of his birthday last night. The dining room was artistically decorated with red and white carnations and a large birthday cake bearing lighted candles was placed in the centre of the table. After dinner was served the guests which numbered ten, enjoyed vocal and instrumental music and progressive card games.

LICENSE PROTESTS ON MONDAY, JAN. 27

Dates for Formal Hearing Then to Be Set by the Common Council.

While the friends of temperance are planning to enter a strong protest to the Common Council against increasing the number of licensed places in the city or repealing the "Tyler License Zone," plans have also been made to have the cause of the liquor dealer presented at the public hearing to be granted by the Council early in February. Both Alexander Findlay and Christian Gloekler, whose licenses were revoked and who have renewed their applications, will be represented by counsel.

Inasmuch as Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughan, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and other members of the church have presented a protest against renewing the application of John Clark for a saloon at West Third and Liberty streets, on the ground that the church was located on its present site prior to the saloon, and the latter being within 200 feet of the church it is a violation of the law, it is said that counsel for Clark will be prepared to disprove the statement.

All liquor license applications having been presented to the Common Council, and official announcement has been made that all protests must be presented in writing on or before Monday, Janaury 27. The Council will fix a date for a public hearing, as usual, but no action will be taken that night. The applications will be acted upon early in February so that in case of any refusals the proprietors will have ample time to dispose of their stock before the expiration of their present licenses expire on March 1.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR BENJAMIN FRITTS HELD

The funeral service of Benjamin Fritts was held yesterday afternoon at the late home on West Fifth street. Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of which Mr. Fritts was a member, officiated. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends and many floral tributes, including those from Court Watchung, I. O. F., and Somerville Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of which he was a member.

The pall-bearers were Charles Haring, Frank E. Woodruff and John J. Praed, of Court Watchung, together with three representatives from Somerville Lodge, K of P. There was a large representation of both lodges at the funeral. The burial was in the Methodist cemetery.

MISS FLORENCE BYLES NOW MRS. JOS. BARRE

Miss Florence Byles, of Titusville, Pa., sister of Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, of North Plainfield, and Joseph Barre, of New York, were married in New York today, the ceremony being performed quietly in the presence of the relatives and intimate friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite. After a trip the couple will reside in New York.

An informal reception was given by Mrs. Cowperthwaite in honor of the bride at her home on Mountain avenue, Tuesday afternoon, when the latter was given an opportunity to meet a number of Plainfielders.

MUST SUPPORT WIFE.

Oscar Green, colored, of West Third street, was arraigned before Mayor Percy H. Stewart, who sat at the hearings in police court in the absence of City Judge DeMeza this morning, charged with non-support by his wife. After hearing the testimony the Mayor ordered Green to deposit $4 with Overseer of the Poor Henry L. DeForest each week for Mrs. Green's support.

MRS. ROLLERSON'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Adeline Rollerson, aged 80 years, who died at her home on Watchung avenue on Tuesday, was held at 402 Park avenue at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The service was in charge of the officers of the local corps of the Salvation Army, of which Mrs. Rollerson was an active member. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

ADMINISTRATION BILLS APPEARING

Five Measures as Recommended in Message Are Introduced in the Assembly.

FOR JURY COMMISSION

Another Bill Regulates Dealing in Stocks—Full Crews for Railroad Trains—Income Tax Ratification.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Five important propositions recommended by Governor Wilson in his message to the legislature were represented in bills introduced in the Assembly yesterday afternoon. Assemblyman Zisgen, of Bergen, put in the Jury Reform bill. It authorizes Supreme Court Justices holding the Circuit Court in any county to appoint two citizens of the county who shall not be members of the same political party as Jury Commissioners. The first appointment is to be for one and two years, respectfively and thereafter for two years. The commissioners shall hold no other public office and the salary is to be fixed by the Justice making the appointment, not exceeding $1,000 per annum each. The commissioners may also employ a clerk at a salary not exceeding $900 per year. Upon the approval of the Supreme Court Justice these commissioners shall draw all Grand and Petit jurors.

Assemblyman Peacock, of Burlington, introduced a bill regulating the dealing in stocks, bonds or other securities of enterprises at wholly operated in this State. It provides for the licensing by the Banking and Insurance Commissioner of persons who alone shall have the right to offer for sale such securities. Mr. Peacock is a Republican and his bill is not therefore, an administration measure, although Governor Wilson declared in favor of regulating and safeguarding investments and the inspection and regulation by the State of investment companies.

The administration measure providing for full crews on railroad crews was introduced by Democratic Leader Egan. It provides that all trains of four or more passenger coaches and a baggage coach shall have a crew of six men, including an engineer, fireman, baggageman, conductor, brakeman and flagman. Trains of three passenger coaches and a baggage coach require a crew of five men, engineer, firemen, baggageman, conductor and flagman. On roads operated by electricity trains of three passenger coaches and a baggage coach must carry a crew of four persons while trains of four or more passenger coaches and a baggage car require a crew of five men. The bill also provides that freight trains of 30 or more cars require a crew of six men, while trains of less than 30 cars must have a crew of 5 men. Senator Edge, Republican, has a similar bill in the Senate.

Assemblyman Hennessy, of Bergen, introduced a resolution for the ratification by this State of the amendment to the Federal constitution for an income tax. This was urged by Governor Wilson. New Jersey is one of only two or three States that have not voted the ratification.

Mr. Moore, of Mercer, introduced a resolution for the popular election of United States Senators.

WELCOME SERVICE FOR REV. MR. WILSON

Ceremony in Honor of All Souls' Church New Pastor on Sunday Night.

Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, the new pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church, will be formally welcomed at a special service to be held at the church Sunday evening. Samuel Huntington, president of the local Unitarian Society, will preside, and instead of the customary installation ceremony, the members have planned what they call a "welcome service."

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, will extend the welcome on behalf of the Plainfield Ministers' Association. Rev. Leon A. Harvey, of Brooklyn, secretary of the Middle States and Canadian Unitarian Conference, will welcome Mr. Wilson into the conference. Among the other speakers will be Rev. Samuel A. Elliot, of Boston, president of the American Unitarian Association. Rev. Lief Huseby, of Elizabeth, will offer prayer. Mr. Wilson is expected to respond to the welcome by the other ministers. Mrs. Guy Bender, soprano soloist, will sing several selections.

Boarders Wanted advertising will bring new faces to your table.

AMATEUR MINSTRELS TO OPEN FUN BARREL

Plainfield High School Burnt Cork Show on Saturday Night.

All of the final details for the sixth annual minstrel show of the Plainfield High School Boys' Athletic Association next Saturday night have been completed. Fred Allen, a senior, was originally chosen to act as interlocutor, but was taken ill the early part of the week and Benjamin Evans, of the Board of Education office, has been pressed into service. Evans is a well known local burnt cork performer, having occupied the center of the stage in the Hope Chapel minstrels for a number of years past. On the ends Joseph Carty, Valentine Goldsmith, Eynon White and Rutgers Neilson will distribute jokes guaranteed to keep up a continuous round of laughter. The end men have been provided with costumes unique and appropriate for a show of this nature. The stage setting is one of the features. Unlike most of the minstrel shows in which the troupe is arranged in a semi-circle on the platform, the High School stage managers have introduced a novel setting never before presented in this city.

Besides the songs and jokes of the end men and chorus, a number of popular ballads will be sung by the best songsters in the troup. A quartet consisting of Monroe Good, Fred Mills, Ernest VanZandt and Daniel McNamee will appear at four different times and are sure to bring down the house every time they step before the footlights.

The show this year is being managed by Joseph Carty, whose efforts have been a big factor in making the affair a reality. He is being ably assisted by John Heron and Valentine Goldsmith, in the capacity of assistant managers. The coaching department is in charge of Thomas McMaster Muir, whose long experience staging entertainments of this nature makes him an able adviser for the undergraduates. He is assisted by Sewell Ulrich, a member of the Plainfield High School troup two years ago. Charles Pagiluicca, the six-year-old dancing phenom, has consented to appear in an exhibition dance, and his appearance will probably be the feature of the program.

ALL VOTERS INVITED TO TONIGHT'S MEETING

Under the auspices of the Federation of Men's Clubs of the city churches, a mass meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. Salvatore Merro, 768 North avenue, was arrested late last night by Patrolman Flatley on the complaint of Mrs. Rosa Gallermo, of 766 North avenue, who telephoned the police saying Merro was beating his wife and threatening her life. When Flatley searched the man a loaded revolver was found in his hip pocket, but as the arrest took place in his house a charge of "carrying concealed weapons" could not be lodged against the prisoner. GAS BRINGS HIM NEAR TO DEATH

Overcome at Rushmore Works Barker's Life is Saved by Oxygen.

HIS EMPLOYER A HERO

Physician Says That Victim Owes His Life to S. W. Rushmore's Presence of Mind—Barker in Muhlenberg Hospital.

Oxygen artificially administered brought back George Barker, fifty-five years old, an employe of the Rushmore Dynamo Works, from the gates of death this morning. Barker was overcome by gas from a nickel plating machine, and life was all but extinct when the oxygen was pumped into his lungs.

Barker was found shortly after 9 o'clock by one of the workmen of the dynamo works stretched upon the floor of the nickel plating department, apparently lifeless, and gas coming in a rush from the apparatus. Samuel W. Rushmore, proprietor of the works, was called and immediately all operations in the factory ceased while oxygen tanks kept in the works for emergency purposes were secured. But the tanks were found to be empty and a hurry call was sent to Randolph's drug store to get some of the life restoring substance.

In the meantime, Dr. Pittis, of East Front street, arrived closely followed by the ambulance from police headquarters. A hasty examination by the physician showed that life was not entirely extinct and the doctor hurriedly administered the oxygen. As the first signs of life appeared the victim was placed in the ambulance and hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital. Dr. Pittis worked over the man on the way to the institution and continued the heroic efforts on the operating table.

This afternoon the hospital authorities say Barker is beyond all danger and will be none the worse for his experience in a few days.

Speaking of the mishap to a Daily Press reporter Dr. Pittis said:

"Mr. Barker owes his life to the presence of mind Mr. Rushmore showed in securing the oxygen so promptly. If a longer delay had been experienced I feel sure that no medical efforts could have saved the man's life."

Barker is foreman of the silver plating department of the Rushmore factory, coming to this city from Newark, where he resides at 111 Sherman avenue. His wife when hearing of the narrow escape her husband had from death was nearly overcome. She was loud in her praises of Mr. Rushmore and the systematic and judicial presence of mind he exhibited during he excitement.

She announced that the envelopes for the annual special offering, usually made in January, which were distributed at the close of the meeting, could be sent to Mrs. John Gray Foster, 91 Mercer avenue, or deposited in the regular church collection. The meeting planned for yesterday was to have been a public one and the Field Secretary of the American McAll Association was scheduled to present an illustrated address.

TAFT'S ENGAGEMENTS.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—President Taft has arranged to leave Washington tomorrow on a trip that will keep him away from the capital for several days. His first engagement is to speak at a dinner of the Clover Club in Philadelphia tomorrow night. Saturday night he is to attend a dinner in New York in honor of former President Andrew D. White, of Cornell University. He will spend Sunday in New York and the next morning will proceed to New Haven to attend a meeting of the Yale Corporation, of which he is a member.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The Plainfield theatre will have as an attractive Saturday afternoon and evening the successful comedy, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," by Graham Moffat. The appearance of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" in America marks an epoch in American theatricals from the fact that it is played by the first all-Scotch company that has ever been imported from the Scottish theatres, dealing with an entirely Scotch subject, and written by a Scotch author and actor. Without any undue heralding "Bunty" opened in New York and remained over fifteen months. The comedy has made American theatrical history. Not in the memory of the oldest playgoer had New York seen its like, for after the first performance of "Bunty" the house was "sold out" and has kept "sold out" most of the time. The wonderful part of "Bunty" history is the fact that it is not a theatrical play at all. At least, the auditor does not feel that he is watching a play, but that he has been transported to a little hamlet in Scotland and placed among a class of folk with whom he is unacquainted. The time of his arrival happens to be on a Sabbath day, on which there is a big "fus" taking place, and he is a part to it, while apart from the general happenings, and he enjoys the little bickerings, the homely love affairs, the quaint speech, and quainter dress and manners. It is so new to the spectator and restful.

NOTED ACTOR'S RETIREMENT.

London, Jan. 16.—Congratulations in plenty poured in upon J. Forbes-Robertson today to remind him of his sixtieth birthday anniversary. Mingled with the felicitous greetings, which came from friends and admirers on both sides of the Atlantic, were many expressions of regret over the prospective retirement of the noted actor, who has announced that the coming season will be his last behind the footlights.

ADOPT COMMISSION PLAN.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 16.—A number of Louisiana cities elected mayors and commissioners today preparatory to the installation of the commission form of municipal government. Since the adoption of the commission plan by New Orleans a short time ago there has been a Statewide movement in favor of the system.

STYLE

RELIABILITY.

Just a Little More Than Seems Necessary in Return for Your Dollar

Two thousand years ago Diogenes appointed himself a committee of one to find an honest man.

He died without having fulfilled his desire!

The world has progressed in these 2,000 years. I don't know of a better policy for success today than honesty.

It's the policy I'm using, and I'll stick to it until I find a better one!

If the time ever comes when deceit and deception are necessary to consummate a sale, I'll retire from business!

The quality and character of the clothes I lend my name to, and the way I price them is a fitting example of how I'm giving the BEST possible merchandise at the LOWEST possible prices.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Jessie Steward and Ruth Douglas, two of last year's basketball players, displayed their ability to "come back" at the Scotch Plains Parish House, Tuesday night, playing with the Parish House girls against the Nonpareils. Both put up good games.

Two more shopping days before the minstrels. Have you bought your tickets? They are selling fast at Miller's drug store.

Andrew Hetfield, a member of the junior class, is confined to his home with injuries sustained in a recent basketball game.

Three debates have been held by the senior English class during the past week. All dealt with popular questions of the day and were hotly contested.

Interscholastic League season opens today. Get in line with the rest of the rooters and make it another cup.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

There will be no lecture at the senor class meeting tonight on account of the annual business meeting of the assocfation to be held.

Physical Director E. C. Ostlin has completed a program for a sixteen-man medley drill which he expects to inaugurate in the local gym classes and will probably give an exhibition of it at the State meeting to be held in the armory at Newark, March 26, 27 and 28.

An important meeting of the governing board of the Manufacturer's League will be held in the association parlors Monday night at 8 o'clock.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

"The Soul Kiss" is to be produced in tabloid form.

Margaret Illington is to play "Kindling" in the South.

It is said that Nance O'Neil is going into vaudeville.

Tully Marshall is soon to make a southern tour in "The Talker."

Helen Lowell will shortly begin a road tour in "The Red Petticoat."

May Buckley has been engaged for the cast of "The Unwritten Law."

"Lavender and Old Lace" has been dramatized and will be produced in Chicago.

Laura Nelson Hall, the original "Everywoman," is in the cast of "The Poor Rich Little Girl."

Elizabeth Jordon's play, "The Lady from Oklahoma," is to be produced by W. A. Brady and Jessie Bonstelle.

A company has been formed to produce tabloid musical comedies in two acts, with a specialty between the acts. Frank Byron is to head this company.

William A. Brady has a new comedy by Frederick Lonsdale called "The Woman of It." Cyril Scott and Janet Beecher will appear in the leading parts.

David Warfield is to appear in a revival of "The Auctioneer," in which he first made his fame as a star. Warfield's ambition to play Shylock is still in abeyance.

William Hodge is to appear in a new play by Booth Tarkington, of which he and Mr. Tarkington will be the managers, the long-time association with Liebler & Co. having been severed.

Prompted probably by the success of "Little Women," another of Louisa May Alcott's stories is to be dramatized. It is "An Old Fashioned Girl," and the dramatization will be made by Elizabeth Jordan and Jessie Bonstelle.

Daniel Frohman has added Ethel Barrymore to his list of stars who will appear in their best known parts for the Famous Players Film Company. It already includes Nat Goodwin, Mrs. Fiske, Lily Langtry, William Faversham and Julie Opp.

Christie Macdonald will leave the cast of "The Spring Maid," and later will begin rehearsing a new comic opera written for her by Harry B. Smith and Mme. De Greesac. The piece has as yet no name. The music will be composed by Victor Herbert.

Charles J. Ross, who is playing the leading male role in "The Passing Show of 1912," played in the "Passing Show" which was produced by George Lederer at the Casino theatre, New York, about eighteen years ago, together with La Petite Adelaide, who was then making her professional debut.

It was a rather unusual coincidence that when "The Master of the House" was first produced at the Thirty-ninth Street theatre, New York, Laurence Eyre and Eva Randolph found themselves for the fourth consecutive time engaged to create parts in new productions under new management.

Mrs. George Dallas Dixon, formerly of Baltimore, had a play produced in Philadelphia called "A Critical Situation."

ELIZABETH G. FLYNN IS AIDING STRIKERS IN GARMENT TRADE

New York, Jan. 16.—Miss Elizabeth C. Flynn, who took part in the mill strike in Lowell and Lawrence a year ago, is aiding the striking garment workers in New York. She has helped organize the strikers and is daily addressing meetings.

DINNER AT PISCATAWAY INDUSTRIAL HOME

Henry G. Hummer, superintendent of the Piscataway Township Industrial Home, gave his annual dinner yesterday to the officers of Piscataway Township. The Home is situated about one miles north of Stelton and comprises one hundred acres, and is considered one of the best farms in Piscataway Township. Mr. Hummer has been superintendent of the farm for the past twenty years, having succeeded his father, who also conducted it for a number of years. The farm has been owned by the township for the last seventy-five years. The place also gained much notoriety some years ago owing to the fact that it had as an inmate one of the oldest men in the country, Noah Rabbie, who claimed to be 128 years old when he died several years ago. Among those who partook of Mr. Hummer's hospitality yesterday were Township Committeemen Frank E. Faulks, George W. Harris, A. G. Nelson, Assessor George W. Coriell, Collector William B. La Rue, Overseer of the Poor William Coulter, Township Physician W. J. Nelson and Joseph E. Kelley, of New Market.

The township officers were highly pleased both as to the dinner and also as well as the sanitary conditions surrounding the Home.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

Time was, and well within the memory of living man, when the average public utilities concern, or for that matter, any big corporation serving the general public, cared little what the people thought of it. It was quite an easy matter for a corporation to get "protection" when the people attempted to right wrongs or to correct abuses. Lobbyists in the halls of legislation in municipalities, counties and states, had a convincing way of circumventing the people's will. It is quite unnecessary to go into details as to how this was done. It is sufficient to note that "times have changed and men with them." The "lobbyist" has become a thing of the past for the people have succeeded him and they tell their public servants what shall be done. These public servants therefore now serve the people and not the corporations.

And so a great change has come over the corporations, particularly those doing a public utilities business. They have learned that to live and prosper they must please the people—the day of "the public be damned" policy is gone. As a consequence, men who are not only able but who are honest and are of a genial nature act as their agents in dealings with their patrons and with the public generally. This accounts for the friendly relations existing in so many instances between utilities corporations and those they serve. As a contrast take Mellen, of the New Haven railroad, and Besler of the Jersey Central. The former is living in the past, a generation when the people's rights were not respected; the latter is a type of the new school, the one which strives to please and to maintain cordial reciprocal relations with the road's patrons. That's but one example. There are others. Take the P. S. C. and the New York Telephone company, so far as their business in Plainfield is concerned—we don't pretend to know how it is elsewhere. As for the P. S. C. electric department mark the satisfactory treatment one gets when dealing with W. E. Causebrook, and as for the Telephone company notice how pleasant it was to talk business with Paul H. Burns, who has just been promoted from the local exchange.

You don't get a sharp or rude answer from a grouch; you get a courteous and businesslike reply from a gentleman, when as a patron or a resident you have any dealings with the representatives of the modern utilities corporations. And therefore, this is a better world.

The parcels post system forces the express companies to make a reduction in rates; the action of the State Utilities Board prompts the P. S. C. to cut its gas rates, and now comes the Telephone company with a lowering of its rates. Will wonders never cease?

After ten long years, the warring borough Democrats, David J. Carney and Walter Linbarger, have "buried the hatchet." Linbarger celebrated by wearing a pink carnation in his coat buttonhole.

New Brunswick citizens have begun an agitation for the adoption of the commission form of government for that municipality. The conditions are ripe there for a change.

Read the contributed editorial to appear in Saturday's issue and get some information regarding one of the most important departments of the city government.

PEACE CONFAB.

London, Jan. 16.—Dr. S. Daneff, the chief of the Bulgarian delegation, late today resumed negotiations with M. Jonescu, Roumanian minister of the interior, on the subject of the Roumanian claims arising out of the Balkan War.

DR. HEDGES A DELEGATE.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—To represent the State at the fourth International Congress on School Hygiene, to be held in Buffalo, August 25-30, State Commissioner of Education Calvin N. Kendall has appointed the following: Professor Joseph E. Raycroft, Princeton; Dr. William G. Schauffler, Lakewood; Dr. Edward Guin, Atlantic City; Dr. A. Clark Hunt, Trenton; Dr. George McLaughlin, Jersey City; Dr. George W. Holmes, Newark; Dr. B. van D. Hedges, Plainfield, and Dr. Alexander Marcy, Jr., Riverton. The last congress was held in Paris in 1910.

THEY MEANT WELL.

The Trouble Was, Though, They Jumped to a Wrong Conclusion.

It is always a mistake to jump to conclusions, and here is an instance in point: One day last summer a wealthy American who lives in Paris was playing baccarat at the casino at Enghien. The gentleman in question has a simple system of his own. He loses only a fixed sum and when this is gone stakes no more.

On this occasion he had reached his limit losses and, turning to a woman who was sitting next him, remarked: "There goes my last louis. I shall not play any more." At the same time he took a little tortoise shell box from his pocket, opened it and slipped a small white lozenge into his mouth. Next thing he knew was that he was in the hands of four stalwart attendants, who caught him from behind, swung him out of his chair and carried him out of the casino into a small room adjoining. Refusing to listen to his angry protests, they hastily laid him on a sofa, forced his jaws open and poured a strong emetic down his throat.

The consequences were so immediate and disastrous that the poor man was beyond speech. By that time it was too late for his explanation that the lozenge was merely a sulphate of quinine and that the casino authorities were idiots for jumping to the conclusion that he had lost his last penny and taken poison.

Caught Them Both Ways.

A prisoner on his trial, in answer to the charge, pleaded "Not guilty." The jury found the charge proved, and in passing the sentence the judge said, "Ye're not only guilty, but ye comes here and tell lies, saying ye're not."

The prisoner who followed next for trial was doubtless influenced by this and supposed it would be well for him to take another course, so he pleaded "Guilty" in quite a self satisfied voice.

"Oh, ye're guilty, are ye," said the judge, "and come here to brag about it, do ye?"

How Could It Be a Mistake?

What a woman doesn't know about newspapers isn't worth knowing. The other morning Mrs. B. was talking to her husband.

"I notice in the Daily Hoodoo that Mr. Biffkins died on Sunday."

"It's a mistake, my dear," replied the husband. "He died on Monday."

"But the paper said Sunday."

"I know it, but it was an error in the print."

"I thought so, too, at first, but I got a half dozen copies of the paper, and it was the same in all of them. They certainly couldn't have made the mistake over and over again."

The husband tried to convince her, but it was no use, and he gave it up.

Huxley and Lewes.

Here is an anecdote once related by Herbert Spencer—who, by the way, was rather heavy in hand when he undertook to play story teller. Apropos of Huxley's humor he described a dinner of distinguished authors:

Over their cigarettes they fell to discussing their various methods of commencing to write. One said he wrote and wrote, tore up, then wrote again, and so on.

George Lewes, who was present, looked surprised, and then cried out:

"Oh, I'm not like that! I commence to write at once, directly the pen is in my hand. In fact, I boil at a low temperature."

"Indeed," cut in Mr. Huxley, "that is very interesting, for, as you know, to boil at a low temperature implies a vacuum in the upper region."

Lewes himself was the first to lead the shout of laughter which greeted this clever repartee.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Thompson, formerly of this city, but now of Hartford, Conn., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jones, of Mountain avenue.

TEACHER HELD FOR GRAND JURY, DENIES STRIKING BOY

Rahway, Jan. 16.—Accused of striking John Parker Williams, 13 years old, of 55 New Brunswick avenue, Arthur L. Perry, of 21 Hazelwood avenue, supervisor of the manual training department at the High School building, was before Judge Buckley in the Police Court yesterday to face an assault charge. The boy was represented by Attorney F. C. Hyer, of this city. Mr. Perry pleaded not guilty, and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $300 bonds. The papers were served by Chief Ramsey.

There was a slight discoloring on the boy's face about the eye, which the lad claimed was caused by a blow which the teacher struck. Mr. Perry denied that he had attacked the boy, and stated that he had reprimanded the lad, and when the boy started to kick and cause trouble, with the natural result that there was some roughness.

Mr. Sheehan, a bricklayer by trade, has been engaged in the erection of the new Cranford Trust Company building, but yesterday morning started for work on the Central Railroad water tower, a short distance from the Cranford station. It was while walking along the tracks to the tower that he was run down. Drs. Vail and Gilpin were summoned, and, after an examination, ordered his removal to the General Hospital.

A concurrent resolution to this effect was introduced in the Senate Tuesday by Senator White.

Mrs. Colby was enthusiastic over the attitude of Assemblymen she had interviewed, and declared that promises of support for the equal suffrage project were coming easier than had been expected. Mrs. Vickers is president of the Equal Franchise Society of which Mrs. Colby is vice president.

Brither Sanderson Tells How Brither Bill's Talents Came to the Surface.

Faither Was a Professor o' Elocution In the University o' Glasgow, an' if There's Onything In Heredity---Weel, Read It For Yersel'!

EEEN, THE PERPETUAL BRIDE.

It was years later that Bill actually wrote "Bunty," but I ken now that the character of the play grew up wi' him. His first appearance in public, as an entertainer, was at a concert given by the Elgin Congregational church in Glasgow, Mr. Koodrich's church, in a sketch called "The Uncle." Bill was always an organizer, and he got together a company of amateurs in Glasgow, in which most of us bairns did the works. That is to say, Bill Watson, ma sister Kate and myself, Nellie, ma faither sisters, never took to the theater, and have never been on the stage. In those days there wa nathin' but concerts goin in the smaller halls around Scotland. Some artist would sing then some one would recite; and, then the entertainment would end wi' a short sketch. It was in writin' and managin' these sketches, that Bill's ability first took fire.

Mither was firmly opposed to the theater, and for a long while it was very hard for Bill to succeeded as a entertainer in concert entertainment, because she was so dead against it. Most of us had run away from home, before we couldna' get her permission to take the life of the stage. [illegible] the home life, an' I couldn' blame her, and I'm glad I ran away to it.

Bill was no small stature, [illegible] was always writin', always organizin', always workin' toward the success he now has but he was doin' it quietly, secretly, against his mither's wishes.

[illegible] came into the office in Glasgow, where I was worsin', and found [illegible] I came to me then. I [illegible] and gave him to his business, so took his coat and walked out. He had something on mind to do in the world. The, [illegible] I did [illegible] all the experience I have had, was thanks to Bill, for he was the mon [illegible] the family [illegible] things well. With ma sister Kate he succeeded finally in joinin' a [illegible] concert company that was givin' entertainments in the halls of Scotland to the folks who would never have gone inside a theater.

BALDERNOCK KIRK—SCENE OF SECOND ACT.

Merchants who use the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press deserve your consideration and trade. They represent the best in their respective lines and they spend their money for publicity in order to attract custom to their establishments. It costs money to advertise and the business man who seeks your patronage and makes a public bid for it is going to serve you well. The merchant who establishes a reputation by advertising can not afford to waste this money and unless you are pleased you'll not go to his store again.

Advertising has become a science, yet anyone can write an advertisement that will pull trade. The readers of the Daily Press will find the advertising column an interesting feature. It contains suggestions that will meet every want and those who use its columns are among the leading and most enterprising business men. Tell them you were induced to come to their store by their advertising in the Daily Press—it is of mutual encouragement. Besides, there is always a more satisfactory service in the store that advertises. Never have merchants made greater efforts to secure trade or have prices been lower, and no city in the country can supply you more comfortably.

We are glad to say a good word for our advertisers. They have been liberal space takers throughout—and they have secured results. They know that the Daily Press is their best medium to reach the buying public and that it has THE right kind of circulation—the hearthstone kind.

The usual clearing sales are held in January and February. The wise merchant continues his store news and makes busy months, clearing out surplus stocks, which Daily Press readers will be glad to take off their hands. The business man who stops advertising at the close of the holiday trade makes a mistake he can not correct. The big stores have become big by keeping their name before the public and "making good" in thier publicity. The money they spend during the so-called dull season is among their best investments. The Daily Press circulation brings their trade.

CLARENCE B. BROKAW IS OUT ON $6,000 BAIL

Clarence B. Brokaw, who was arrested recently on a caveat issued by the Circuit Court at Elizabeth, because of his failure to pay $3,000 awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Noble Beatty, of Elizabeth, last October, in a suit brought by them against the Plainfielder, has obtained his release on a $6,000 bond, which was furnished by Charles P. Sebring, of this city.

The suit against Brokaw was the result of an automobile accident, the latter's car striking Mrs. Beatty as she was about to board a trolley car in Elizabeth. Later Brokaw filed a peition in bankruptcy. City Judge W. G. DeMeza was appointed trustee and is now in charge of the automobile business formerly conducted by Brokaw.

ROCKEFELLER'S TESTIMONY.

New York, Jan. 16.—William G. Rockefeller is expected in New York within a day or two to refer to counsel the decision of the Pujo Committee to force his father, William Rockefeller, to testify. The son states that he will oppose the move as strongly as possible, declaring a belief that his father not only could not testify for even a short period of time, but that even brief testimony would serious affect his health.

SCHWAB'S RICH ORE.

THOMAS AS EDISON TO RECEIVE THE RATHENAU MEDAL

FOR BEST DEVICE FOR SAFEGUARDING LIVES OF WORKERS

New York, Jan. 16.—The American Museum of Safety at its annual meeting Jan. 23 will present the Rathenau medal to Thomas A. Edison. The medal was first presented to Dr. Emil Rathenau, of Germany, in 1908 on his seventieth birthday. Hereafter one medal is to be struck from the original die each year for the American Museum of Safety to award to the person who has perfected the best device for safeguarding life and health in the electrical industry. Mr. Edison gets the meda because the use of his storage battery in mines, tunnels, buildings where explosives are made or stored explosive gases are generated has materially reduced the hazard of workers.

THIRTY-SIX BILLS ARE INTRODUCED

New Jersey Law Mill Grinds Fast on the Second Day of the Session.

4 JOINT RESOLUTIONS

Passes Senate Bill Legalizing Certain Legislative Officers Which Have Been Appointed Without Authority—Other Matters.

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Breaking all recent records by meeting the day after the organization of the Legislature, the Assembly yesterday afternoon, passed the Senate bill legalizing certain legislative officers which have hitherto been appointed without authority and carried upon the incidental expense bill, and then received 35 bills and 4 joint resolutions. The principal purpose in meeting yesterday was to permit the introduction of the bills that were ready, so that the work of the session in the House might be pushed as rapidly as possible. The measures were all referred to committees, and the committees will begin their meetings for the consideration of legislation next Monday.

Several of the measures were of great importance, including the Governor's Jury reform measure, the constitutional convention bill, the Moore bill abolishing poll taxes, the Zisgen bill correcting the present Boards of Freeholders' muddle which is causing so much trouble in several counties, the Bredenbek bill for the opening of the saloon after 1 o'clock on Sundays, the Richards resolution reforming and simplifying the State courts, and others.

The Assembly having passed the Senate bill correcting the legislative officers' list, it will now go to the Governor for his signature and will be the first law of the session. The Governor is sure to sign it, for he vetoed the incidental expense bill last year, because it contained pay for the illegally appointed officers, and it was passed over his veto.

With a lot of important bills introduced the very first week of the session, with the committee meetings arranged and the presiding officers determined to movt the legislation as rapidly as possible, the Legislature will start its second week next Monday night in better condition for real work than it has been at a similar period in many years.

BURLEIGH SENATOR.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 16.—Ex-Congressman Edwin C. Burleigh was elected United States Senator yesterday by the Maine Legislature in joint convention.

Points for Mothers

Individuality In Children's Clothes.

The aim of every fastidious mother is to dress her child simply and in a becoming manner. Her clothes should be a part of her and not obtrude themselves. Some mothers think that if the child takes too much interest in her clothes she will become self conscious. On the other hand, the child who knows that she is appropriately dressed, as a rule, forgets entirely about herself and her frock, and it becomes as much a part of her as her hair.

The growing mind of the child is very sensitive to impressions, and if she learns early in life the cardinal principles of good dressmaking it will be as easy and as natural for her to apply them as she grows up as any of the other lessons of life.

Sensitiveness to Color.

Some children are very sensitive to color. They take a strong prejudice to certain colors. A red gown on a very high strung girl has been known to bring on a degree of excitement which frequently resulted in tantrums, while a frock of a more pleasing color would instantly soothe and quiet her. This is, of course, an extreme case, but there are more children than mothers realize who suffer cruelly from being compelled to wear clothes which in color and style are distasteful to them. Instead of trying to force the child to wear these clothes as a matter of training, the situation should be studied and the reason found for the child's objection.

Child Must Be Considered.

It takes, as a rule, such a little time and so short an explanation to get the child's point of view that it is a pity many mothers go ahead and order their children's clothes without a thought of the individuality of the wearer, for children are so set in their ideas that they will not listen to reason and will not be guided by their mother's judgment, but it is necessary for them to feel that the mother is a competent guide. In these days, when the whole system of teaching in the schools is to bring out the individuality of the child, it is not surprising that the girl, even before she enters her teens, may feel competent to question just how much mother does know about the right clothes for her. It is necessary for the mother of today to study the clothes problem as it presents itself for her child. She will find that it is not the least of the problems which confront her, nor can it be solved offhand at a minute's notice. The day when one dress could be passed down the line from one youngster to another is over. The manufacturer as much as any one has hastened its departure, for few of the present day fabrics will withstand more than a season's wear and tear.

If the mother is to guide her child in the selection of becoming and appropriate clothing she will teach her to study herself. The designers of children's clothing are quite ready to help the perplexed mother by offering her gowns and coats and hats of many styles, almost as varied as those for older folk. The mother who selects successfully the costumes most appropriate for her daughter will cast aside her own preferences. She may delight in the fascinating Kate Greenaway gowns and coats, but unless her girl is of a picturesque type she will be wise to pass them by.

The Awkward Child.

The robust, tall, awkward child who promises to be a fine looking woman, but who in her early teens is the despair of many mothers, would look ridiculous in a Kate Greenaway frock, whereas she would forget her awkwardness in a well cut Russian blouse, where the low waist line would detract from her height. Just as there are women who always look well in severe costumes, so there are children who have a certain style in the simplest of costumes and who become wholly commonplace in appearance the minute they are dressed up in frills and furbelows. It is far better to dress a girl of this type in a plain little frock of soft woolen or cashmere, if a wash material is not desired, than in a frock decorated with lace and embroidery, with ruffles and shirrings. On the other hand, there are children who are fairly irresistible in dainty muslin frocks beribboned and beruffled.

What a Yawn Tells.

When children bite their nails this often points to some digestive trouble, so do not scold your bairns for this nasty trick, but diet them very carefully and consult a doctor if they seem at all out of sorts. In older people the habit often goes with a hasty temper, which, in its turn, may be traced to a bad digestion.

Constant, uncontrollable yawning may sometimes point to a growth in the nose and throat. The person cannot breathe properly, so he is forced to yawn, not by weariness, but in order to draw more air into his lungs.

Games For Children's Parties.

Do not choose an elaborate game for a children's party. You must not, for instance, have one which involves the use of a song or speech, as many of the children will not know the words and consequently will feel "out of it." A clever game of the "sit down and think" kind may be very good for grown people, but it merely bores the little ones and makes them cross and tired.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CHRISTMAS POPCORN.

LAST fall's popcorn is in fine condition for popping now. The best results are attained if corn is first placed under the faucet and thoroughly wet, then shaken dry and left on the back of the stove in the popper, moving it gently back and forth until the corn swells a little and becomes perfectly dry.

Shake over a steady hot fire, when the grains will pop into great kernels, the texture being remarkably light and delicate.

Butter and Salt Dressing.

Salted Popcorn.—Empty the corn into a big tin pan, sprinkle lightly with salt and if desired pour over half a cupful of melted butter to every pan of corn. Shake and toss until every kernel is seasoned.

Little tartatan stockings overcast with scarlet wool and gathered about the neck and filled with sugared popcorn and candies make a pretty addition to the Christmas tree or supplement the row of stockings hanging in the chimney corner.

With Maple Sugar.

Popcorn Balls.—When the corn is popped cook half a pound of maple sugar with quarter of a cup of water until it threads. Add a dash of vanilla and pour it over the popcorn slowly until it is thoroughly sticky. Then with clean but wet hands form it into balls. Dry the balls on buttered paper.

Popcorn Crisp.—Take a big pan of fresh popped corn, taking care that all the hard kernels are sifted out. Pour over the corn some hot molasses taffy; then work lightly with the tips of your buttered fingers until all the kernels slightly adhere to each other. This can be molded into balls, but is more delicious if left loose.

Cakes or Balls.

Popcorn Candy.—Take some fresh large grains of popcorn and pop over the fire enough to make four quarts. Take two cupfuls of sugar, a cupful of water and two tablespoonfuls of butter. Put these into an enameled saucepan on the stove and boil until the sirup will thread. Then stir in the popcorn, take the mixture from the fire, stirring it until is cools. Then form into little cakes or balls.

FASHION RUMORS.

New Things For the Spring.

DRAPED GOWN OF PRUNE SATIN.

The new spring blouses are a marked change from winter models. We have passed through various stages; we have worn white with a veiling, then net in colors matching the shirt, and last winter we arrived at colored slips with net transparencies in which the color was again repeated, though the foundation produced the kind of effect which we called fuchsia color and wore with blue or mauve, the blouse being of cerise with an overvelling.

This indicated a change, for fashion moves along certain lines which experience teaches one to calculate, and it was easy to believe that the frankly contrasting blouse, making no attempt to harmonize iself, would be next in succession. And so it has turned out.

A little while ago we thought this style of dressing hopelessly de mode and vulgar, but there was a time when we were attached to it and delighted in the changes it allowed us to ring on a modest wardrobe. With one good black satin skirt and half a dozen blouses any woman could be well and economically dressed, and the idea was good enough until we ran it to death and got thoroughly sick of it.

Whether smart women will take kindly to it again remains to be seen. The gown of prune satin illustrated is one of the draped spring models which are both simple and elegant.

THE NEW BAGS.

Moire Affair the Latest In These Useful Accessories.

The very newest idea in bags is the moire bag. There are all sorts and shapes of moire bags, ranging from the small oblong purses to the large bags elaborately fitted out with mirror and all the vanity fixings. A handsome bag in black moire opens very wide, revealing at a glance the contents of the entire bag. On one side there is a mirror resting against the soft white silk lining and in the side pockets the cardcase, change purse and other necessities. Such a bag can be purchased for $18.

A large round bag in black moire is edged with an inch plaiting of the moire. Another very much smaller bag has a deep pleating of the moire. The monogram should be stamped in one corner and outlined in rhinestones.

To slip into the muffs there are long oblong purses in moire with the flexible gold or platinum frames. These are really a development of the cigar and cigarette cases which pleased the men so hugely two or three years ago. The moire purses have the advantage over the fur purses of the same shape in that they can be carried with the spring suit. The old fashioned reticule with the openings at either end is now fashioned in moire and lined with white silk. These moire ones are newer than those in brocades and other eastern stuffs which made their appearance in the fall.

Vogue For Net.

One of the latest novelties among the lovely laces and the dainty robes of broderie Anglaise for the slender pocketbook is the coarse net. The wardrobe can have nothing prettier than one of the pretty slips of string colored fisherman's net and lace. The coarse net may be mounted over a color, but it is really smartest when its foundation is of the same tone, and this serves as a relief for last summer's washed out gown. The trimming must be a heavy Venetian or guipure of fillet lace, and there may be a girdle of black or colored ribbon.

The Newest Fad.

My lady's new boots are half black and half white, the white portion being on the outer side of the foot and the black sides coming together over the ankles. There is no division between vamp and buttoned upper part, the boot being, so to speak, a "two gore" model, with seams down the center front and back, and one gore is of black calf and the other of white buckskin. The heels are white and also the buttons, which run up the outer side of the boot in a straight line.

MOTHERS' WORK

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

All over the country women have been working for the freer use of the schools as social centers. In Boston the Woman's Municipal League urged the real necessity of a place of recreation for the young people but the city fathers never had money for such a purpose. Last year the league raised $5,000 and opened a school three evenings a week. Free "opportunity clubs" offered instruction in sewing, in music and in dancing and a Junior City Council afforded boys the privilege of debate. One evening was given to neighborhood social gatherings. Dance halls and cheap theatres in the vicinity soon found business unprofitable and the social centre proved such a success that Boston decided to open four schools this year. Chicago has twelve social centres and is making a feature of the old-fashioned "spelling-bee" in order to stimulate the pupils suffering from the malady of bad-spelling.

Bound Brook has a neighborhood house donated by George LaMonte but with its large foreign population feels the need of more social centres and the women are urging the Board of Education to open the schools in the evening for recreation and educational purposes.

One mother here and one in England has already benefited by the "mother's pension" law. In Philadelphia Mrs. McKenna receives $1.87 a week for each of her three children whose father deserted them. The woman also earns something by washing.

In London many wealthy people became interested in what is known there as the "national insurance act" and offered prizes for the first baby to claim the benefit. The law went into effect at midnight January 12-13 and the little daughter of Mrs. Amy Goulding arrived at 12:01 January 13 to claim all the rewards. The child will be name Georgiana in honor of Chancellor Lloyd-George, author of the act.

In April last Dr. Philip Van Ingen, of New York city, gave a lecture in Plainfield under the auspices of the Mother's Association on the work being done in that city for the prevention of infant mortality. It will be of interest to know the results of his work as given in the statistics of the Babies Welfare Association for the year 1912.

Eighty different organizations have federated with this association and never before has there been such a good spirit of co-operation manifested and such effective machinery for carrying it out. 1912 shows the best record Manhattan has ever had. There has been an increase of 1,081 births and a decrease of 764 deaths. The death rate for children under one year was reduced six per cent. Comparisons show that this decrease has not been general throughout the country. According to Dr. Josephine Baker, of the Division of Child Hygiene of the Board of Health, the details of this baby saving prove that the splendid showing is due not entirely to luck and weather conditions, but in a large measure to an effective campaign against infant diseases. The chief decrease is shown in diarrhoral, respiratory and contagious diseases against which the most thorough work has been done. In deaths due to weakness of mothers at time of birth, the record is not so good. This is the only form of infant malady against which no definite general campaign has been waged. Dr. Baker points out that it is a very difficult problem, which attempts to control parental or congenial conditions, being still in its infancy. But with 7,000 babies dead or dying at birth in New York city in 1911, the baby saving societies recognize the problem and are working at it with hopes to show definite results in 1913.

An association has been formed in New York city which has for its special object the housing of students and teachers in safe boarding and rooming-houses. Houses are investigated and the association has its own "white list" for recommendation. A meeting was held recently at the home of Miss Lydia Day, 52 East 72d street, when the subject under discussion was the moral danger to young people far from home abiding in shabby boarding-houses in questionable surroundings.

There are American Boy Scouts and Boy Scouts of America, one military and the other not. Confusion seems inevitable.

"Parents are the ones who need help and education as to their duties in this regard (sex-hygiene) even more than children, for with them should rest the main responsibility for giving youth the divine viewpoint of love and marriage as well as the knowledge required for their physical well-being and protection from temptations that meet them as they go into the world. The duty of home and church in this regard takes precedence of the duty of the school." (Child-Welfare Magazine.)

REVOLUTIONARY HERO.

Despite the objection made by the Georgia division of the Daughters of the American Revolution consent has been obtained to take the remains back to Virginia.

"MAC" SAYS

Every time that Captain Nash and his Leal youngsters go on the floor some kind of a tragedy is sure to follow. Wonder what P. H. S. man will have his "rep" shattered this afternoon?

In losing Frank Dunning, the Borough High School's chances of annexing another Interscholastic League title were decidedly shaken up. Dunning has been the mainstay of the N. P. H. S. five for two seasons and his shooting will be sadly missed. Because of injuries he sustained in the Leal game Monday the borough center will be out of the game for some weeks.

Speaking of injuries sustained in playing basketball, a review of the present season, although it is yet in its "teens," will bring to light the fact that more severe injuries have been recorded on local counts this year than ever before in the history of the game. Nearly every player on the first-class local teams has been injured at one time or another so that he has been incapacitated for some length of time.

While girls' rules seem unusually tame compared with the boys' regulations they are decidedly more sane and some points might prove a help in treating the boys code to the much needed revision.

Hand in hand with this court slaughter story comes the announcement of Andrew Hetfield's injury. "Hepper," as the little Ajax guard is commonly known, is suffering from a bruised thigh bone which will keep him out of the game for weeks to come. He is at present confined to his home as the result of the injury he encountered in the Ajax game last Saturday night.

In their game with the Scotch Plains' team last Tuesday night the Ajax displayed their old time ginger and team work which has been conspicuous because of its absence in recent games. Although outweighed and playing on a foreign court, they put up a winning game and fought one of the greatest battles ever waged on the Parish House court.

There may be some significance in the fact that the Ajax had to trolley to Scotch Plains to regain lost form and win their first victory of the new year.

James Archibald Thompson, who acts in the capacity of captain, coach, trainer, manager, scout, referee, timer and score keeper for the Company K basketball five, has announced that he has signed up "Cutey" Glover, the Ajax guard, as the "biggest" attraction at the theatre tonight in the game with Company M. It may be the opportunity the hefty one has been waiting for to announce his white-hope aspirations in public.

TITLE COMING DELAYED.

Announcement has been made of the fact that the basketball game scheduled to be played between the Nonpareil girls of this city, and the Trenton Y. W. C. A. girls, for the feminine championship of New Jersey, on Saturday, January 25, has been postponed until the following week, Saturday, February 1.

WYCKOFF SIGNS.

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 16.—Wedon Wyckoff, a local pitcher, has signed with the Athletics and has received notice to join the team on Feb. 23 at Harrisburg. Wyckoff was the star pitcher for the Bucknell team last year until an injury retired him temporarily.

BASKETBALL ON THE STAGE HERE TONIGHT

A Fast Game Will Be Played at the Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

Basketball has taken such a firm grip on the sporting faction of this city that efforts are now under way to promote the popular indoor pastime on a larger scale. Although there are upwards of fifty minor and major teams playing the game here today, there is but one first class basketball court to stage a game on. That one is at the Y. M. C. A., and although Saengerbund Hall presents a close second, it is by no means a perfect floor. The first step toward displaying to the general public the merits of the sport that has become popular all of a sudden has been taken by Manager Sanderson, of the Plainfield theatre.

He has created somewhat of an innovation by staging a game between the Company K five, of this city, and the Company M five, of Somerville, for tonight in connection with his motion picture show. Many are of the opinion that the stage is entirely too small for basketball, and although it is under the regulation lenth, ample floor space is allowed for short passing and shooting and the game tonight will lack none of the features that go to make the game what it is.

From a spectator's standpoint, a better place to witness a contest than the Plainfield theatre would be hard to find. Extra lighting facilities have been provided and every play will be visible to the audience.

WESTFEILD GIRLS DEFEAT BATTIN

Win Out on Basketball Court by a Single Goal.

The "phoney" basket at one end of the Westfield High School court which has proved a falling stone for local teams every time they have played at Westfield, added one more victim to its death toll yesterday afternoon, when the Battin High School girls were defeated to the tune of 12 to 10 by the home maidens. A snappy article of basketball was evidenced on the part of both teams and the spectators were kept constantly on their feet by the classy playing of both teams. The basket, which is but a scant yard from the ceiling of the Westfield gym, proved a great handicap for the visitors and made their accustomed long shots impossible.

At the end of the first half, when the Battin girls had the best goal, the score stood 9 to 6 in their favor, but the final period brought the "mean" basket into their possession and one lone ace made up their total count for that session.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS TO PLAY NUTLEY H. S.

Borough Misses Will Occupy the Saengerbund Hall Court Tomorrow Afternoon.

Girls' basketball will be inaugurated at Saengerbund Hall tomorrow afternoon, when Captain Clara Smith and her aggregation of North Plainfield High School basket cagers take the floor against the Nutley High School contingent. Although the Boroughites are not conceded to be as formidable as last season, they can boast of a quintet that will uphold the N. P. H. S. colors to perfection against any of the surrounding scholastic teams and are optimistic of a victory in tomorrow's game. Owing to the loss of players through graduation Captain Smith has been forced to experiment with an entirely new corps, and has announced no definite lineup as yet.

MARTIN WILL NOT PLAY ON "YANKEES"

For if Chance Has His Way the Team Will Be Known as "New Yorks.

President Frank J. Farrell, of the New York Americans, may change the name of his club. He doesn't want the team of which Jack Martin, the local ball tosser, is to be a member called the Yankees, Highlanders, Kilties or Hillmen any more, but wants to tag on the title of the New Yorks on.. The suggestion was made by Manager Chance in a letter to Mr. Farrell yesterday.

Nicknames for baseball clubs and players usually come from the fans or the newspapers, so when a name is attached to a club it is hard to shake it off for a new title. tI is doubtful if Chance's title of New Yorks will be accepted by baseball fans, because they have become accustomed to calling them the "Yankees" for several seasons, in fact since the club was established.

Chance's letter to Mr. Farrell on the subject of a new name is as follows:

"Wouldn't it be a good idea to call our team the New Yorks instead of the Highlanders, Yankees, Hilltops, Hillmen, or Kilties? McGraw's men have a copyright on the nickname Giants, and they deserve it, for they have accomplished big things in the National League. They always will be Giants in the full sense of the word. Therefore, in calling our team the New Yorks we are not appropriating something that doesn't belong to us. The nicknames Highlanders, Yankees and the others are meaningless. In cities outside of New York they attract no attention. In fact, I think that this nickname business in baseball has been overdone. We are going to try to bring New York to the top of the heap in the American League, and we will have 'New York' on our uniforms. I hope the newspapers and the baseball public will call us the New Yorks in future, also that we will be worthy of the name."

TWO RESERVE SQUADS WILL MEET ON COURT

At the Grace church Parish House court tonight the Parish House second team and the First Presbyterian second squad will engage in a game of basketball. Manager Paul Manning has requested that the following players report at Grace church to elect a captain at 7:30 o'clock: Ray Boice, Schuyler Line, James Buckle, Fred Dickerson, Craig Blair, Bert Trotter, Roger Murry and Paul Manning.

PHILA NATIONALS SOLD TO SYNDICATE

Gen. Sadler Member of Directors Composed Largely of Philadelphians.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Philadelphia, Jan. 16.—William H. Locke, former secretary of the Pittsburgh National League club, announced this afternoon that he had purchased the Philadelphia National League baseball club from Charles P. Taft. Mr. Locke made the announcement after a conference with W. F. Baker, his financial backer, and C. H. Rambol, representing Mr. Taft. He declined to state the amount of money involved in the deal. The syndicate represented by Mr. Locke, who purchased the club, comprises Walter Clothier, Morris L. Clothier, Chester P. Ray, Col. Thomas E. Murphy, Frederick T. Chandler, Samuel M. Clements, Jr., and Harrison K. Ganer, all of Philadelphia. The officials elected were William H. Locke, president; David C. Snyder, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors are Fred T. HUGHEY JENNINGS AS THE SPORTING EDITOR

Baltimore, Jan. 16.—Hughey Jennings, manager of the Detroit Tigers, who is appearing at the Maryland theatre in a vaudeville sketch, acted as sporting editor of a local newspaper today. In his comment on sporting topics of the day, Jennings discusses hold-outs and called the alleged pact of Cobb, Crawford, Duboc and Stanage bunk, saying that Crawford has been in the game long enough to know what's what. Jennings writes very enthusiastically over the selection of Frank Chance as manager of the Highlanders, and believes that the Phillies will make great strides with Will Locke in control.

JOHNSON'S EXPLANATION SATISFIES THE COURT

TABER A RHODES SCHOLAR.

Great Miler Will Be a Student at Oxford Next Year.

There should be some great mile races in England next fall. Norman S. Taber, the Brown university student who gave A. N. S. Jackson of England a great battle in the 1,500 meter event at the Stockholm Olympiad, will be a college mate of Jackson at Oxford university. Norman follows his brother, Howard A., as a Rhodes scholar at Oxford. The friendly running duels between Jackson and Taber at Oxford certainly should be worth witnessing.

It would not be surprising to see Taber develop into the world's greatest miler. The Brownonian showed improvement in all his races last season and as soon as he rids himself of the tendency to do too much loafing in the early stages of races he is likely to take a few falls out of Father Time.

Taber forced Kiviat all the way when Kiviat hung up the new world's 1,500 meter record and equaled the mile record at the eastern tryouts in the Harvard stadium last June. Taber was right on Jackson's shoulder at the finish of the 1,500 meter event in Stockholm, and the finish for second place between Kiviat and Taber was so close the judges waited for a film of the finish to be developed before awarding the positions.

Taber combines the highest excellence in scholarship and sports and easily is the most distinguished Rhodes scholar America has sent to Oxford since Warren Schutt, the old Cornellian distancer, was appointed. Schutt contributed to Oxford's success in distance and cross country running. Taber is likely to make much athletic history for the Dark Blues.

WESTFIELD PLAYERS EASY FOR N. P. H. S.

All of the Boroughites Pile up High Individual Scores Against Old Rivals.

The basketball five representing the North Plainfield High School added another "win" to their string yesterday afternoon, when they defeated the Westfield High School quintet by the score of 46 to 20. The game was played on the slippery floor of Saengerbund Hall, which proved a decided disadvantage to the visitors who were lacking in suction shoes to hold them to the waxed boards.

Among the borough players each showed to such decided advantage, that to name a "star" of the game would be doing an injustice to the rest of the players. All scored over ten points for their alma mater with the exception of Abrams, who made but one field goal. He played but part of the game however and while in the fight his blocking was of high order.

Taylor, the captain of the boroughites, played center in place of Dunning, who will be out of the game for the rest of the season with a sprained arm. He showed up well in the pivot position at which he is an old hand.

Spend $1,000,000 on Tennis.

It is estimated that since the offering of the Davis cup the contesting nations have spent more than $1,000,000 on the tennis matches waged for its holding. As the America's cup is to yachting and the Westchester cup is to polo, the Davis cup is emblematic of the highest lawn tennis honors in the world.

APPROVE PLAN TO MARK CROSSING OF DELAWARE

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Meeting with the members of the Washington's Crossing Park Commission, Governor Wilson has formally approved the plans which have been prepared for marking the spot where Washington landed in New Jersey after crossing the Delaware, immediately preceding the Battle of Trenton.

To complete the project for the park on this side of the river the commission will ask the Legislature to make an additional appropriation of $100,000 for the purchase of what are known as the Kent and Strittmatter properties and the laying out of a suitable public park. The house in which Washington is supposed to have stopped before coming to Trenton is situated on the Strittmatter tract and it is proposed top reserve the building, in its present condition as far as possible.

After the Governor and members of the commission had signed the plans prepared for the park, it was decided to ask the attorney general to draft a bill which will enable the completion of the project.

BRANDT TO BE HEARD BY GOVERNOR TOMORROW

(By Tele. to The Daily Press)

UNION COUNTY SOLONS ARE HEARD AT TRENTON

Trenton, Jan. 16.—Regulation of the sale of pistols and revolvers is provided in a bill introduced in the Assembly yesterday afternoon by Mr. Leonard, of Union county. It provides that no fire arms which may be concealed on the person may be sold without a permit from the proper officer of the municipality.

Mr. Leonard also put in a measure amending the title of a supplement to the crimes act of 1912.

Mr. Griffin, of Union, introduced a bill regulating the service of summonses from District Courts and another, by request, for the appointment of three persons as commissioners of assessment in cities having a population of 12,000.

GEN. LEWIS T. BRYANT MAY BE REAPPOINTED

Trenton, Jan. 16.—The report that there is a possibility that Governor Wilson may reappoint General Lewis T. Bryant, of Atlantic City, as State Commissioner of Labor, has redoubled the efforts of those who are backing other candidates for the position. Notwithstanding General Bryant is a Republican, it is rumored that Governor Wilson may reappoint him to the $6,000 a year berth. The report is based, in part, upon the fine record General Bryant has made during the two terms he has held the office and the fact that several labor unions throughout the State have endorsed him for reappointment, without regard to politics.

Two Women Editors of Suffrage Paper Have Done Successful Work

LOOK well to your laurels, Mr. Hearst, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Pulitzer, Jr., and Mr. Munsey. You have now a staff of dangerous competitors in your midst.

This is to introduce two of the editors of the first woman's publication devoted exclusively to politics. They are Mrs. Nora Blatch De Forest and Miss Beatrice Brown, respectively general secretary and business manager of the Women's Political World, the remarkable new publication. The Women's Political World made its initial appearance several days ago. Its main offices are in New York city.

The new paper is eight pages in size, with a half page cartoon as the leading feature, regular state capital correspondence and all kinds of vigorous editorials. Politicians have known for years that women are capable of high class oratory. Now they are to learn that the fair sex can just meet them halfway and—if they're too rude—put them to flight in a battle of editorials.

Photos by American Press Association.

Completing the staff of the new magazine are Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president; Elizabeth Ellsworth Cook, vice president; Marcia Townsend, treasurer; Eunice Dana Brannan, chairman of the finance committee, and Caroline Lexow, field secretary.

Mrs. De Forest is daughter of Mrs. Blatch, the president. The younger woman has had a notable career as a mechanical engineer. She is the only woman member of the American Society of Engineers and has designed many steel skyscrapers in New York.

Miss Brown has gained prominence in New York as an active worker in women's club affairs. She is very highly experienced in newspaper work by reason of having done much independent writing for the various papers. The work of the intrepid woman editors for the near future will be principally devoted to obtaining woman suffrage in New York state in 1915, according to a statement over the first editorial column.

That this is imminently possible is supported by the recent action of the judiciary committees of the state legislature in reporting the bill giving equal suffrage to women. This move now puts the suffrage question in line to go through the legislature and be put up to the whole people in a referendum vote in 1915. Obviously the suffrage hosts had better keep up a campaign before the whole people, who shall in two years be the final judge of the big question.

Just to give you an idea of the viewpoint and the editorial processes of the Women's Political World, here is one of the editorials of the first issue:

"We congratulate our plucky sisters on the success of their undertaking—the pilgrimage to Albany. It has advertised the cause throughout the world. It has shown that women accomplish what they set out to do in spite of rain and snow, in spite of some ridicule and adverse prophecies by the way. They have stirred up the rural districts between New York and Albany and have shown the farmers that suffragists are not all tenderfeet. They have accomplished much good without harming themselves. We hope that there may be many more pilgrimages throughout the state to help win the referendum in 1915."

In another editorial a politician who said the "hike" would lose 100,000 votes for the suffrage cause is laughed at. "This man missed election by 200,000 votes," it reads.

Every day, some of the people who have been watching the real estate ads closely for sometime make up their minds—and buy!

DINNER IN HONOR OF PAUL H. BURNS

Testimonial of Business Men on the Eve of Popular Agent's Departure.

KENNEY TOASTMASTER

Business Men Gathered at Dinner at Queen City Hotel Pay Tribute to His Worth—Guest of Honor Promoted to New York Office.

The personal character and business ability of Paul H. Burns, former local agent of the New York Telephone Company, was highly praised at a testimonial banquet tendered him by Plainfield business men at the Queen City Hotel last night. The testimonial was prompted by Mr. Burns' promotion several days ago to the legal department of the corporation, at 50 Church street, New York city. Andrew E. Kenney, who acted as toastmaster of the evening, called upon nearly every one present for a few remarks, following the serving of a delightful repast. F. W. Warnke, district manager of the telephone company, paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Burns, whom he said he knew for many years prior to his taking charge of the local branch of the telephone company four years ago. Continuing he said that although he lost a valuable and capable man in his district and was loath to leave him go on this account, he consented to the change as a reward for careful, valuable and conscientious services rendered.

Police Chief Patrick Kiely made a humorous address, but when talking more seriously said he had always found Mr. Burns courteous and pleasant at all times and always willing to oblige. Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley, commenting on his acquaintanceship with Mr. Burns, said that if Plainfield had more men like Burns existing evils would be automatically remedied to a large extent. Among others who spoke were: D. J. Carney, D. W. Littell, J. C. Traynor, G. G. Andrews, George H. Riley, F. A. Hickey, Hyman Adelberg, H. P. Greenwood, H. N. McNeninen, J. J. Carty, W. R. Townsend, A. A. Cannon, F. W. Warnke, P. J. McDonough, Francis J. Blatz, J. C. Hanson, Fred Ivamy, W. R. Way, Calvin E. Brodhead, Arthur Christianson, Richard Parrot, Jr., W. R. Causbrook, T. L. Mellick, P. W. Canfield, Joseph F. MacGrail and J. C. Roberson.

Mr. Burns during his residence here has been active in the affairs of the city, chiefly as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, which office he now holds. He is also president of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's church, and a member of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus. He plans to retain his residence in Plainfield.

A. B. Wilson, a telephone man of wide experience, formerly local agent of the telephone company at Red Bank, will succeed Mr. Burns.

BURTON HOLMES TO TALK ON THE "PANAMA CANAL"

Burton Holmes, in his lecture on the Panama Canal at the Plainfield theatre on Tuesday night, will acquaint the general public with some inside information which he has acquired after years of careful study in the Canal Zone, concerning the greatest engineering feat ever attempted. Mr. Holmes has come in personal contact with those engaged in the construction task and is well informed in every department of the work. Among the men who have supplied him with information in his research work are Colonel Goethals and Colonel Gorgas. The former became famous for his great achievements along constructural lines and the lecturer will describe in detail some of the boring feats accomplished by this genius.

Colonel Gorgas is known the world over for his remarkable solution of the sanitation problem and through his efforts the Panama Canal, which was heretofore one of the deadliest and sickliest parts of the earth, has been transformed into a place where the death rate is as low as anywhere in the United States.

MRS. MARY E. JONES.

Mrs. Mary E. Jones, colored, wife of Charles H. Jones, died yesterday at her home, 513 East Third street, following a long illness. She is survived by a husband. The funeral will be held at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Littleton Sturgess, the pastor, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

CORRECTION.

In J. J. Varley's advertisement in yesterday's Press it was said that he would sell $1.25 trimmed hats for $1.98. This was an error in proofreading at the Press office and should have read 125 trimmed hats for $1.98.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR MISSIONARIES

Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Lovell Say Good-bye to Crescent Avenue Congregation.

Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Lovell, who will return to their post in China on Saturday as missionaries of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, held a reception yesterday afternoon at the church parlors. The Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the church of which Mrs. Israel C. Pierson and Mrs. Edward G. Read are the respective presidents, were in charge of the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Lovell were assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Zelie. The entertainment committee consisted of Mrs. George P. Mellick, Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna and Mrs. John F. Harmon. Refreshments were served. Those who poured were Mrs. W. A. Holliday and Mrs. Thomas C. Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovell are in charge of one of the largest schools in the Orient. The institution is divided into two compounds, one for boys and the other for girls. The sexes rarely see each other because of a high stone wall which separates them, but though this barrier is between them Mr. and Mrs. Lovell are working hand in hand and have already accomplished remarkable results in educating and converting the Chinese children to Christianity.

UNCLE SAM'S MEN TO ATTEND A SERVICE

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, has arranged a service of unusual character to be held at the church Sunday night at which time the employes of the local postoffice department, as well as the Westfield office, will attend in a body. The minister will preach a sermon of interest to those connected with the postal department. Anecdotes, incidents, items, illustrations, all bearing on the work of the department, with poetical recitations will be woven into the discourse.

Decorations of an appropriate and unique character will be used to give the service special interest. Everyone who likes to receive a letter is cordially invited. Seats will be reserved in the church for the employes of the postoffice in this city and Westfield.

RUNYON BIBLE CLASS DINNER AND ELECTION

The chief speaker at the Judge William N. Runyon Bible class of the Park Avenue Baptist Bible school annual dinner last night was George E. Hall, superintendent of the school, who spoke interestingly on the relation of Young Men's Classes to the church. He said that these classes were considered the future assets of the church and Sunday-school.

After the talk and repast the class held its seventh annual business session. The secretary's report showed an increase of thirteen members for the past year, making the total membership of the class eighty-nine. The treasurer's report showed a flourishing condition and that the new year starts without any debts and with an ample balance in hand.

These officers were elected: President, William F. Doane; vice president, E. F. Dorman; secretary, Karl L. Wilson; assistant secretary, Luther R. Banks, and treasurer, Francis R. Mortimer. A new constitution and by-laws were adopted at the meeting but will not be put into effect until after a discussion on them, which will be held at the next meeting. Owing to the lateness of the hour the meeting was adjourned for one week.

Tickets may be had on application at any of the following drug stores: Armstrong, Miller, Hall or Randolph. The entire expense of the lecture is bourne by the Princeton Club of Plainfield, so that there is no charge for the tickets.

The subject of the lecture will be "Wireless Telegraphy" and a large audience is expected to hear so capable a lecturer on so interesting a subject.

MOTHER DESERTED HER LITTLE CHILD

Mrs. Boyne, When Taken in Custody, Admits She Wed a Second Time.

Arrested yesterday by Police Chief Patrick Kiely in New Brunswick on a charge of refusing to support her eight-year-old daughter, Mrs. Annie H. Bayne, who was once employed by the Postal Telegraph Company in North avenue here, said she was now Mrs. Shavoski, having been married a second time in New York. According to Miss Mabelle Phillips, agent of the Charity Organization Society, the woman's first husband is living in Norfolk, Va. She had been in communication with Mr. Bayne, Miss Phillips said, receiving the last latter several weeks ago, adding that she was sure he was ignorant of his wife's second marriage.

Asked if a charge of bigamy would be made against the woman, Chief Kiely stated that the offense took place in New York State and consequently the New Jersey authorities had not lodged any complaint against her.

Mrs. Bayne was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. Overseer of the Poor Henry L. DeForest appeared as complainant. He claimed Mrs. Bayne's daughter has been clothed and fed through his office and that the defendant had refused to contribute to her child's support. The court suspended sentence with the proviso that the mother pay Mr. DeForest each week for keeping the child in the Children's Home.

WANT DR. ANDERSON FOR A FIFTH YEAR

Congregation Unanimous in Request That He Be Returned to First M. E.

By a rising vote, at the fourth quarterly conference of the First M. E. church last night, the Bishop to preside at the Newark Conference of the M. E. church was requested to return Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson to the church for a fifth year. The vote was unanimous. Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, district superintendent, presided at the meeting at which the regular routine conference business was transacted and detailed written reports were submitted by the presidents of the various societies. The pastor's annual report was also received.

The reports showed that the church is in a prosperous condition, spiritually and financially. Several hundred dollars has been spent for improvements and the year has closed with all bills paid. There is also an increase in both membership and congregations for the morning and evening services.

VILINSKI IS LOOKING FOR "DAVID HARUM"

J. E. Vilinski, of 511 West Third street, who claims he got the worst end of a horse deal yesterday, securing a balky, worthless animal in exchange for $57, was arraigned before City Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, to answer to a charge of allowing the horse to run at large. Patrolman Craig was the complainant. Vilinski thought his cup of sorrow was full, and after explaining the situation to Judge DeMeza, the latter agreed with him, and the prisoner was promptly discharged.

Vilinski after considerable difficulty succeeded in tieing the horse to a fence, securely as he thought. But the animal finally broke away and it was at that time that Patrolman Craig found it wandering about the street. Vilinski is now looking for the stranger who sold him the horse.

WILDLY APPLAUD WOMAN PIANIST

Tina Lerner Receives Great Ovation at the Last in Series of McIntyre Concerts.

PROGRAM DELIGHTFUL

Audience Captivated by Her Exquisite Touch and her Superb Interpretation—Joseph McIntyre to Be Commended.

The piano recital by Tina Lerner at the auditorium of the Plainfield High School last night was the last of the remarkable series of McIntyre concerts for the season of 1912-13, and proved an affair of unrestrained enthusiasm. From the moment of Tina Lerner's appearance on the stage to the last the warmth and sympathy of the audience increased and expressed itself in unrestrained ovations. Her work was of the best, her interpretation and exquisite touch with its most languid and appealing sweetness swayed the audience and brought her seemingly into great intimacy with it. The tiny Tina Lerner left no tiny impressions of her learned ability and talent and the memory of her personal charm and beauty will not easily be forgotten.

Mr. McIntyre, in whose absence this concert had been managed by G. de Festetics, has presented this season concerts of unusual atractiveness and has justified the high rank accorded his performances. Zymbalist, the Fionzaley Quartet, his own perfect trio, and now Tina Lerner, is a combination of performances which would require long study to better and Plainfield could give no better expression of its appreciation than it gave in the well filled and thoroughly delighted house last night.

In describing the perfections of Tina Lerner's playing one takes a leaf from the book of a little French girl who said of a friend she greatly admired, "'I love Aime,' she has all the qualities." The critics have given such glowing accounts of Miss Lerner's playing that one could not expect still to be surprised by its beauty, but the audience last evening showed that its expectations were far more than fulfilled.

"Velvet, feathers and lace" were terms applied to her lighter touch, yet every tone sang, and rang clearly no matter how pianissimo. It did not seem possible that the little girlish figure with beautiful delicate arms and hands could do equally well with the heavy firing of the Spanish Rhapsodie. But Tina Lerner and her piano understand one another thoroughly, and the instrument is absolutely in her command to express whatever she desires. She shows the soul of it because she adds to perfect technique, a perfect understanding and appreciation.

There were those in the audience who said they enjoyed her work more than Paderewski or Mme. Bloomfield-Zeisler. That is saying a good deal. The program, which has already been published, seemed chosen with a view of showing Miss Lerner's wonderful powers, but in her gracious response to the applause at the end of the concert, she gave the audience special pleasure with Liszt's transcription of "Hark, Hark, the Lark!" by Schubert.

It is to be regretted that there are no more McIntyre concerts this season.

Mr. McIntyre as impressario as well as artist has certainly been a boon to Plainfield in bringing the best music within the reach of all, and it is to be hoped that Plainfield will continue to respond, and generously, to insure the continuance of this advantage.

WICKERSHAM SILENT.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Attorney General Wickersham today again refused to discuss the action on the Coffee Valorization Committee in London yesterday, relative to the sale of 931,000 bags of Rio and Santos coffee in the United States. Mr. Wickersham said that it would be necessary for him to know a great deal more about the matter before he could say what course would be pursued.

SAFETY LECTURE AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

League Lecturer Completes His Circuit of the Local Public Schools.

In the Plainfield High School Auditorium this morning, A. J. VanBrunt, of the Public Service Corporation, completed his lecture tour of the local public schools in connection with the company's campaign to insure public safety. The speaker pleaded with the pupils to take every conceivable precaution to avert accidents, a majority of which, he said, were due to clear carelessness. He said that the dangers with which the public were forced to contend were increasing with every invention and there are many more ways of being disabled at the present time than there were fifty or sixty years ago

Mr. Van Brunt said that the safety movement was not confined to New Jersey alone but started in the middle west and has spread to the extreme west and across the continent until now it is taking a firm grip on the populace of this State. Buttons are provided for the use of public school pupils which bear the word "safety" written upon them and over 7,000 pupils in the United States are at present wearing the special badge which admits them into the safety league as an advocate of greater precaution. The speaker visited the Bryant School later in the morning and returned to the High School in the afternoon to lecture before the freshmen who convene at that time.

TO MAKE A FARMER AS TAX EQUALIZER

C. C. Pollard's Appointment Hoped to Result in Fairer Taxation.

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—Alleging that there has been "unintentional discrimination" in the assessing of farm lands because members of the County Board for the Equalization of Taxation is not familiar with such lands, the Union County Board of Agriculture yesterday afternoon indorsed David T. Magle, of Lorraine, a farmer, to succeed C. C. Pollard, of this city, whose term expires in April, on the board.

The Board of Agriculture pointed out that a farmer would have more knowledge of farm lands than a man living in the city and as a result the taxation would be more equal.

Mr. Pollard has been indorsed by the Elizabeth Board of Assessors to succeed himself because of his knowledge of valuation in this city. Mr. Pollard is the only Republican member of the board and his successor must, under the law, be of that political party. The other members of the board are: Calvin E. Brodhead, of Plainfield, and Malcolm Scudder, of Westfield.

Others named as likely successors to Mr. Pollard are: Former Assemblyman Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, and John D. Duncan, of this city, secretary of the First Street Association.

RECKLESS AUTOIST TO PAY FOR DAMAGE

Driving an automobile on the wrong side of the street as he rounded the corner of Park avenue and West Seventh street, last night, A. Lucas Gardner, of the Service Motor Company, ran head-on into a horse and hack, the property of Harry Huff, of 525 East Seventh street.

The shafts of the hack were broken and torn from the wagon, and the horse, with cuts about the face and body, ran terror stricken down West Seventh street, where he fell headlong into excavations made by the street department. The frightened animal got out of the ditch and stood trembling in the road and later was led to his stall by Jasper Brown, the driver. The hack was totally wrecked in the collision.

Following the smash-up Mr. Gardner went to police headquarters, where he told Chief Kiely of the occurrence, admitting he was on the wrong side of the street and adding that he would settle satisfactorily with Mr. Huff. Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a technical charge of reckless driving, Gardner had sentence suspended.

TO CREATE OFFICE OF FIRE MARSHAL

Bill, Favored by Fire Chiefs, Drafted and Will Be Introduced in Legislature.

Fire Chief T. O. Doane attended a meeting of the executive committee of the State Fire Chiefs' Association at Trenton, yesterday, the purpose of which was to discuss plans for drafting a bill which will provide for the appointment of a State fire marshal. Similar action was taken last year, but for some reason it was impossible to get the bill through the Legislature.

The chief duties of a State fire marshal are to investigate fires of an incendiary nature. He is given full power to convene a court of inquiry, summon witnesses and to go into the minutest examination regarding cases. Reports received last year from States where fire marshals are employed showed that in nearly every case incendiary fires had been cut down fully 50 per cent.

Every fire chief in New Jersey is supporting the movement to secure a fire marshal for the State and it was the opinion of the committee which met yesterday that the prospects for favorable legislative action this year are bright. It is argued that it would materially reduce the annual fire losses in the State by a considerable sum.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION FOR VILLAGE

Citizens of South Plainfield are interesting themselves in a movement to form a building and loan association. Already several thousand dollars worth of stock have been subscribed and a public meeting will be held within a few days to effect an organization. It is the belief that such an association will prosper here as there are a large number of wage-earners and others in the village who doubtless would welcome an opportunity to put their savings away.

When the large addition to the Spicer Manufacturing Company is completed the force of help will be increased considerably, which will result in a building boom. The Twin State Realty Company and the Hamilton Realty Company, are now planning to build a number of houses.

THOMAS S. ARMSTRONG UNDERGOES OPERATION

Thomas S. Armstrong, the druggist, underwent a serious operation at Muhlenberg Hospital at 10 o'clock this morning, following an acute attack of appendicitis with complications. Dr. G. W. Endicott performed the operation. Early this afternoon his condition was reported to be fairly good.

Mr. Armstrong suffered the attack of appendicitis Wednesday night, shortly after returning to his home from attending prayer meeting at the First Baptist church. Within a short time his condition became alarming and the family physician was summoned. After an examination an operation was decided to be imperative. Mr. Armstrong is the oldest active druggist in the city, having succeeded H. P. Reynolds at his present place of business at Park and North avenues. He is an officer of the Plainfield Druggists' Association, the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association, and a member of the legislative committee of the National Druggists' Association.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS

"The Sabbath truth expects us to be not only positive in belief but also aggressive in action," will be the subject of the prayer-meeting at the Seventh Day Baptist church, this evening. Rev. Edward Shaw, the pastor, will give a chalk talk sermon to the children on the subject of "Remember My Bonds," at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, while the theme of the discourse to the adults will be "Paul the Prisoner."

Witter Clawson will conduct the Junior C. E. Society meeting and Miss Nellie St. John will lead the senior society meeting tomorrow afternoon. The Woman's Society for Christian Work will hold an all-day work meeting on Wednesday, January 22. Plans are now under consideration for observing the seventy-fifth anniversary of the church on February 8-9.

SOUND A PROTEST AT MASS MEETING

Taxpayers Petition Against Licenses of Findlay and Gloekler.

HEAR FORMER SOLONS

Ex-Councilman Taylor and Holt Tell Why Privileges Were Revoked and Ex-Councilman Tyler Pleads for Saloon Zone Ordinance.

Through the adoption of resolutions and by stirring addresses, the Federation of Men's Clubs, representing the churches of the city, put itself on record at a mass meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night as opposed to a repeal of the "Tyler License Zone" and the granting of any additional liquor licenses. That the men of the city are deeply interested in these vital questions was shown by the large attendance of representatives of the churches.

The meeting voted to present a copy of the resolutions of protest to the Common Council, and to do all in its power to prevent action contrary to the will of the federation. Prior to the mass meeting the federation held a business session and elected these officers:

President, Walter H. P. Veysey; first vice president, S. T. Carter, Jr.; second vice president, A. B. Cole; third vice president, Frank J. Hubbard; secretary, George B. Zimmer; treasurer, Charles A. Rice. Two members from each club will be chosen to comprise the board of directors. There are nine clubs in the federation. Each club will be requested to send a representative to the public hearing on license applications to be granted by the Common Council, when protests will be heard.

The object of particular attack last night was the report that Christian Gloekler and Alex Findlay, both of whom had their licenses revoked, were seeking renewals and that there

ARREST CHAUFFEUR AS AN AUTO THIEF

Albert Ellis Held Here Pending Instruction From Brockton, Mass., Police.

Albert Harry Ellis, of Westervelt avenue, who has been employed as chauffeur for several months by a local furniture mover was arrested this morning by Roundsman Morris Higgins as the man wanted by the authorities of Brockton, Mass., for the theft of a Buick automobile last November.

Learning through police channels that Ellis was the alleged thief, Chief Kiely detailed Higgins to the case. The Roundsman laid in wait throughout the night for the man in a garage and was rewarded for his patience when Ellis reported for work today.

When taken to headquarters Ellis would not deny that he had a police record, but asserted he was innocent of the charge preferred against him by the Brockton police. He is being held to await instructions from the New England city.

SCHOOL BOARD, ADVISED, RECALLS RESIGNATION

New Brunswick, Jan. 17.—After further advice the members of the old Board of Education, who resigned a few days ago, have recanted and will continue to serve. The resignations of all members was brought about in the hope to clear the way for reappointment of William H. Benedict, whose term will expire January 31.

The board intends to await developments. After receiving advice from Mayor John J. Morrison and from counsel for the State Board of Education, the members decided to continue, pending the outcome of an attack on the constitutionality of the law reducing the board to five members. Another factor was the expectation of legislation to insert a referendum clause in the new law.

Mr. Benedict, Howard C. Rule and Anthony Viehmann will therefore retire with the expiration of their terms, January 31.

QUITS U. P. BOARD.

Henry W. DeForest resigned today from the directorate of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, but will remain a director of the Southern Pacific Company.

MRS. ABIGAIL O'CONNOR.

Mrs. Abigail O'Connor, who has relatives in this city, died at the home of her brother in Yonkers, N. Y., yesterday, after a short illness with pneumonia. She leaves a brother and daughter.

Merchants who use the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press deserve your consideration and trade. They represent the best in their respective lines and they spend their money for publicity in order to attract custom to their establishments. It costs money to advertise and the business man who seeks your patronage and makes a public bid for it is going to serve you well. The merchant who establishes a reputation by advertising can not afford to waste this money and unless you are pleased you'll not go to his store again.

Advertising has become a science, yet anyone can write an advertisement that will pull trade. The readers of the Daily Press will find the advertising column an interesting feature. It contains suggestions that will meet every want and those who use its columns are among the leading and most enterprising business men. Tell them you were induced to come to their store by their advertising in the Daily Press—it is of mutual encouragement. Besides, there is always a more satisfactory service in the store that advertises. Never have merchants made greater efforts to secure trade or have prices been lower, and no city in the country can supply you more comfortably.

We are glad to say a good word for our advertisers. They have been liberal space takers throughout—and they have secured results. They know that the Daily Press is their best medium to reach the buying public and that it has THE right kind of circulation—the hearthstone kind.

The usual clearing sales are held in January and February. The wise merchant continues his store news and makes busy months, clearing out surplus stocks, which Daily Press readers will be glad to take off their hands. The business man who stops advertising at the close of the holiday trade makes a mistake he can not correct. The big stores have become big by keeping their name before the public and "making good" in thier publicity. The money they spend during the so-called dull season is among their best investments. The Daily Press circulation brings their trade.

MEN'S CLUB MEETING

was a possibility of repealing the "Tyler License Zone" ordinance. Among those who addressed the meeting were Duncan W. Taylor, Frank L. Holt, William S. Tyler, all three former Councilmen, the last named being the father of the "Tyler License Zone;" Arthur M. Harris, superintendent of the Bible school of the First Baptist church, and George H. Batchelor, teacher of the Men's Conference Bible class of that church.

The former members of the Council spoke from their experience in dealing with the license question, while Mr. Tyler explained in particular the origin and purpose of the so-called "zone" which he was instrumental in having adopted in this city.

"I feel confident that the Common Council will not over-ride the precedent of that body and grant renewals," said Mr. Taylor, the first speaker. "Complaints were received regarding Findlay's saloon four years ago. At that time Mr. Findlay had a side door and was openly refusing to live up to the spirit of the law. Under pressure from the authorities the side door was removed, but complaints were still received."

"Findlay's was not only conducted badly," said Mr. Holt, the next speaker, "but was 'one of the worst places in the city.' He was not accused of violating any law, as far as I know. The refusal of the Council to grant him a renewal of his license was based on the principle that it was not for the best interests of the city to renew that license.

"If the Council is to be limited to an actual violation of law, then all discretion is taken away from that body. It is clear that if in the opinion of the Common Council a saloon is not conducted in a legitimate manner it can refuse a renewal of a license. If a saloon is run in such a way as to cost unnecessary expense to the city, that saloon should not be in existence. If a saloon is costing the city an amount which is out of all proportion to the total number of saloons in the city, such a place is guilty of economic waste and should not be tolerated. Upon these broad grounds I voted against the renewal of Gloekler's and Findlay's licenses."

Mr. Holt said that Mr. Gloekler lost his license two years ago on the specific charge of "selling liquor to minors," and that a year ago Mr. Findlay lost his license because of loose management and an unwillingness to comply with city ordinances. Speaking of the question raised that neither dealer had received a fair trial nor had an opportunity to defend themselves, he said that three years ago two Councilmen voted against licensing a saloon at Front and Somerset streets on the ground that it was not a proper place for such a business. As for the proposition suggested by Gloekler's lawyer that he be allowed to cross-examine the prosecuting witnesses, Mr. Holt declared it to be absurd. He said it would have been impossible to find persons who could absolutely identify certain juveniles who had been in Gloekler's saloon during the year.

"If these licenses are granted or not I feel confident that at the next election the voters will cast their ballots for men to the Council who will vote out liquor licenses and who will not let down the bars any more than they are at present. Because a man has had a license in the past is no reason why he should get a renewal. Renewals are considered as new applicants.

"As for the statement that in keeping the Tyler 'zone' intact a monopoly is created, the answer to such a remark that even though it is a monopoly the very value of the license in that monopoly will tend toward the development of lawfully conducted and sanitary saloons. The saloonkeeper will realize the intrinsic value of the license which he holds."

Explaining conditions which led up to the establishment of the license "zone," Mr. Taylor said that there were certain sections of the city which would naturally furnish a rich field for any liquor dealer. These untried fields are lost opportunities and are naturally tempting to liquor dealers. He said that in 1905 one of the applicants for the right to open a saloon in one of these new fields was acting in the interest of a brewery in Elizabeth, or at least one of the larger owners interested in that brewery and the conclusion was perhaps not unnatural, that the influence of such a citizen had something to do with the unusual interest which was aroused in behalf of the application.

"Mr. Tyler said that even prior to the "zone" ordinance, the practice or restricting saloons to the business section had been followed with a few exceptions. But the persistence of the applicants year after year was ominous. In casting about for a solution it was learned that Plainfield was not the first city to meet the particular problem. Some twenty years previous Minneapolis found itself threatened with the same condition and it was there that the first experiment of restricting saloons to a certain section was tried.

Mr. Tyler said that the president of the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company told him that in his opinion the law had been so far reaching in its influence for the good of Minneapolis that it was considered the most important ordinance put on the statute books.

"It was in the performance of this duty to the people of Plainfield," said Mr. Tyler, "that the Legislature in the charter of the city provided that the Council or majority of its members, should have the exclusive right to regulate and prohibit the sale of spirituous liquors. Yet in the attempt to answer the question what is most conducive to the public good, there is always sure to be trouble when it comes to liquor licenses, yet the whole world agrees that the traffic should be regulated. The liquor dealers are united and they have one common purpose and one common interest to serve."

In conclusion Mr. Tyler referred to the comparative orderliness of the saloons here and that the people had clung to the ancient tradition which time and experience had told them was conducive to the public good. In his opinion the district ordinance is the enactment of the public sentiment of the people of the city. That is the question and the whole question of this city ordinance, said Mr. Tyler.

It is now a question as to whether the people want this ancient custom to continue. The question of whether the police can better watch and control saloons when they are grouped in one section was also emphasized by Mr. Tyler.

Arthur M. Harris and George H. Batchelor, the last two speakers, said that the members of the Council were entitled to the highest praise and they believed that they would do that which is for the best interests of the city and not ignore the long petition of names which will be presented to that body.

The resolutions which were adopted, a copy of which is to be sent to the Common Council, as well as each individual member, are as follows:

Wheeras, a mass meeting of voters of the City of Plainfield, N. J., called by the Federation of Men's Clubs and Religious organizations of Plainfield to be held at the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Auditorium on January 16, 1913, and

Whereas, it has been generally reported that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the City Council to grant additional liquor licenses and also to induce the City Council to extend the "Tyler License Zone" it is hereby

Resolved, that it is the sense of said meeting that it protests against the granting by the Council now in office of any liquor licenses in addition to the number in force December 31, 1912, and, it is further.

Resolved, that it protests against any extension of the so-called "Tyler License Zone" in this city; and it is further

Resolved, that a copy of this Resolution, duly certified by the Secretary of the Federation of Men's Church Church Clubs and Religious Organizations be sent to the Council of the City of Plainfield and to each member of said Council.

REAR ADMIRAL BEATTY.

Rear Admiral David Beatty, one of the youngest officers who ever attained flag rank in the British navy, was born January 17, 1871. His career in the naval service presents many unusual features. He entered the navy at the early age of thirteen. At the age of twenty-six, while still a lieutenant, he commanded the war flotilla on the Nile under Kitchener. Two years later he was promoted to be commander for his brilliant services at the battles of Atbara and Khartoum. In the Boxer troubles in China in 1900 he was in command of the battelship Barfluer, and was twice wounded when we went ashore with a party of bluejackets to lead a desperate attack on two Chinese guns. For this he was promoted captain at the age of 29. In 1909 he was made rear admiral. At that time he was thirty-eight years old, a year younger than was Nelson when he was promoted to the same rank. Admiral Beatty possesses a special interest for Americans, since his wife was a daughter of the late Marshall Field, the famous Chicago merchant.

UNIONIST CONTROVERSY.

London, Jan. 17.—The course of action to be taken by the Lancashire division of the National Unionist Association at its adjourned annual meeting to be held in Manchester tomorrow is the staple topic of discussion today among politicians of all parties. The meeting will mark the crisis in the controversy that threatens the disruption of the Unionist Party. In Uninoist circles it is admitted that the Manchester meeting will decide the fate of Bonar Law as the party leader. According to the general belief Bonar Law is certain to resign his leadership if any resolution calling for a referendum on food taxes or for a second general election is carried at the meeting, or if a resolution is passed criticising the recent management of the party.

NO INAGURAL BALL.

In requesting that the customary "Inaugural Ball" be omitted from the festivities at Washington on March the Fourth, President-elect Wilson displays very good judgment and it goes without saying that even his most severe critics will applaud his recommendation. This frivolity is indulged in by all those willing to give up "$5 per" and so far as their real or imaginary enjoyment is concerned there is nothing of any importance. But the matter that concerns the general public is the vital fact that it is most expensive and inconvenient to the transaction of the Government's routine business. The Governor is pleased to call it "an indirect expense," but to our way of thinking it is very direct for the festivity means that the work in the Pension department building must be abandoned for some days if not some weeks, for there it is that the ball is held. As the Newark Star says, and in this connection we must congratulate James Smith, Jr., in being so fair when discussing a matter concerning Wilson:

"Owing to the increase in pensions the work of the pension office is far behindhand, and to give over the building to the ball would mean two weeks' work entirely lost. It would have been a shame to compel the old soldiers to wait that much longer for their money to make way fo ra mere frivolty. This was already the expressed view of Speaker Clark, and the President-elect's concurrence clinches the announcement: 'No inaugural ball.'"

As the Chamber of Commerce logically concerns itself with the problems confronting the municipal government, we make the suggestion that it consider the proposition for the municipal collection and disposal of garbage. If it or any other civic body will answer the question as to how the refuse can be disposed of, the thanks of the city fathers will be earned. It appears that the councilmen are not puzzled as to how to meet the expense and how to make the sanitary improvement more economical than the present method but that they are at a loss to find how to get rid of the garbage and ashes.

Both Gloekler and Findlay will have a hard job on their hands when they appear before the Common Council's license committee for the burden of proof will be on them to show why their licenses should be restored. Mr. Findlay, however, does not appear to consider it a difficult task, apparently, for he is engaged in repainting and fixing up his place in anticipation of favorable action by the Common Council.

As the Jersey Journal remarks, "Governor Wilson's splendid mental equipment enables him to choose with rare discernment those who are to work with him and around him," and thus he has very properly selected Thomas H. Birch as his personal aide. Birch is not only a magnetic man, but a man of big business who has carried the flag of his party in this State in the dark days when deserters to their cause were innumerable. We agree with the Journal's suggestion that as President Mr. Wilson would make no mistake in having Birch as his personal aide.

Fire Chief T. O. Doane will be the contributing editor for tomorrow's issue. Naturally he will tell you something about the life and work of a fireman. And naturally, too, what he will have to say will be both interesting and instructive.

You can libel a former President all you wish and still be permitted to enter this country, but when it comes to slandering a foreign ruler that you must not do, as Mylius has learned to his sorrow.

It would be a fitting climax to his remarkable career as Governor of New Jersey should Woodrow Wilson be able to induce the Legislature to reform the laws pertaining to incorporation.

AT WASHINGTON TODAY

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Senate today passed the Omnibus Claims bill appropriating $900,000 to satisfy various claims against the U. S.

The House took up the conference report on the proposed new immigration law.

Chairman Pujo, of the Money Trust Committee, appeared before the Grand Jury in connection with the contempt proceedings against George G. Henry, of William Salomon Company, of New York.

"WOMEN CONSIDER DOGS MORE THAN CHILDREN"

Elizabeth, Jan. 17.—Two anonymous letters expressing sympathy to dogs were received from women by Mayor Victor Mravlag yesterday. Because the letters were not signed they were thrown in the Mayor's waste basket.

"Some women," said Mr. Mravlag, "concern themselves more about dogs than they do about their children and their family affairs."

GERMANY CONSENTS TO POWERS DEMAND ON TURKEY

London, Jan. 17.—Germany's consent to the presentation to the Ottoman Government of the note drafted by the Ambassadors of the European powers in London, the absence of which has delayed the action of the powers, has now been given.

Constantinople, Jan. 17.—The collective note drafted by the Ambassadors in London of the European powers was presented to the Turkish government today.

PRINCETON STATISTICS AS TO FRESHMAN CLASS

Princeton, Jan. 17.—Statistics gathered by the Princeton Alumni Association of Pennsylvania show that a large plurality of the freshman class would have made Yale second choice if they had not been able to go to Princeton.

It is shown that more than sixty per cent. of the class came from within 100 miles of Princeton; that in 238 cases, parents and boy together made the choice of Princeton as the boy's college, in fifteen cases the parents alone made the choice and in 100 cases the boy alone.

Circular letters were recently sent out by the Pennsylvania association to determine the attitude of the average "prep" school boy toward Princeton and to find out the best means of obtaining that person's interest in the university. The results of the association's investigation will be sent to the various other alumni organizations throughout the country.

NO SENSE OF HUMOR.

A Scientist's Criticism of a Comic Book For Children.

Charles Monselet, a Frenchman of letters, published a comic "scientific dictionary" for the benefit of children, who found no little amusement in his odd accounts of things in the animal world which were perfectly familiar to them, but which were described in a rather fantastic way in M. Monselet's book.

The editor of a certain scientific journal, however, was much surprised and shocked at M. Monselet's ignorance when he took up the book, and he wrote an article about it in his paper, which ran as follows:

"A certain M. Monselet has published a dictionary for the use of children, which contains definitions showing the most extraordinary ignorance, such as the following:

"'Sardine—A little fish without any head which lives in oil.'

"As if a fish could live without a head and in oil!

"Another definition:

"'Parrot—A bird somewhat resembling the pigeon, generally green when it is not red or yellow or blue. Cockatoos sometimes live to be a hundred years old, except when they are stuffed, and then there is no limit to the length of their life.

"Now, it happens that the parrot is not a pigeon at all and never has the colors that M. Monselet gives to him, and, in short, this M. Monselet knows no more of natural history than he has grains of common sense."

How He Took the Pickle.

The physician had been treating a man for dyspepsia for a long time, and finally, wishing to know how his patient was coming on, he told him to take a pickle just before going to bed and see if he could hold it on his stomach overnight. The next day the man called, and the physician asked him the result.

"Oh, it was all right, doctor," he said. "as long as I was awake, but when I went to sleep it rolled off."

The Duchess of Connaught's Story.

We were once staying with the Aberconns, relates Lord Rossmore in "Things I Can Tell," when the Duke and Duchess of Connaught honored them with a visit, and my hostess said to me, "Now, I count on you to amuse the duchess after dinner." Lord Rossmore told her many stories. Then the duchess said: "I think it is my turn to try to relate something funny, so I'll tell you what happened to the duke and myself coming up here. At every station where the train stopped a porter came up to our carriage with a foot warmer, and at last the duke got so annoyed that, forgetting the same thing had occurred all down the line, he said to the man: 'Go away. I've told you three or four times already that I won't have a foot warmer.' 'Ach, duke, darlin', don't be angry,' answered the porter. 'Sure, an' it's stone cold.'"

Twig of the Family Tree.

Arthur was the feeble minded son of a family who were none too bright themselves. The father was often compelled to apologize for his son's remarks when they had company. One day the family entertained the minister for dinner, and Arthur made a remark that called for an explanation.

"You see," began the father, "when Arthur was a small boy he ran away and wandered into the woods. A big storm came up and blew a limb off a tree, striking him on the head. Since the accident he has never been very bright."

Arthur was silent for a few moments before he blurted out:

"Huh! It was a durn long limb—struck the whole family."—National Monthly.

A Vile Slander.

One of the curiosities of the house of commons, very rarely seen, was Erle Drax, for many years member for a Dorsetshire borough. Once at a general election on the day previous to the nomination he put out the following address to his constituents: "Electors of Wareham! I understand that some evil disposed person has been circulating a report that I wish my tenants and other persons dependent upon me to vote according to their conscience. This is a dastardly lie, calculated to injure me. I have no wish of the sort. I wish and I intend that these persons shall vote for me."

The Lost Wurz.

Gregory is the kindest hearted person in the world and always ready to do a good turn for anybody, be it friend or stranger. The other day he was in a Third avenue car, standing because there was no vacant seat, when a dignified old man rose, indicated the place he left with a courteous bow and got out at Forty-second street. Gregory accepted the seat, but hardly had taken it when he noticed a neat package on the floor. With a bound he grabbed the package and was up and after the departing passenger. The car had started, but the old man looked around at sound of the shouting, and Gregory let fly the parcel. The paper slipped off, a long string of link sausages sailed through the air and lassoed the old gentleman's silk hat, dangling over his face, which grew purple with rage. In the same moment the kind hearted Gregory felt himself seized by a strong clutch, and a wail broke upon the car, as a stout German woman lamented her lost treasure.

HE GRABBED THE PACKAGE.

SEIZED BY A STRONG CLUTCH.

FOULKE E. BRANDT EXPECTS TO BE PARDONED BY GOVERNOR SULZER

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Foulke E. Brandt, now serving a sentence of thirty years in the State prison at Dannemora for entering the home of his former employer, Mortimer L. Schiff, a New York banker, will appear before Governor Sulzer today at the public hearing on his application for a pardon or commutation of sentence. He entered a plea of guilty after his arrest seven years ago with the understanding that he would receive a light sentence, and then he got the limit. The judge who sentenced him has recntly expressed the opinion that he was deceived and that the sentence was excessive. There is no legal way for Brandt's release except by executive clemency.

HERE ARE THREE MEN MENTIONED FOR SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE

Washington, Jan. 17.—Have you been mentioned for the post of secretary of agriculture in President Wilson's cabinet yet? No? Well, many men have. Here are three of them: William C. Smith, of Delhi, Ind., is one candidate. He bases his claims on the fact that he knows how to grow corn and has written a book telling how a hundred bushels per acre can be produced on soil that it not particularly fertile. He has proved that it can be done by doing it and by having his picture made in his cornfield. Henry J. Waters is president of the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan. Kansans say they would hate to lose him, but if the government really needs a good secretary of agriculture—well, they would let him go. Senator Obadiah Gardner, of Maine, will be out of a job after March 4. He is a practical farmer, and he is a good Democrat. This combination may get the post for him.

A RIDICULOUS PROMISE.

It Convinced One Man That the Editor Was Simply a Fool.

Every now and then magazine editors come across an attempted "literary steal," but a Munsey editor had a few unique touches put upon such an experience the other day. He had gone about reading a submitted story written out in longhand and had not got far before he began to recognize Cherokee Sal, Stumpy, Oakhurst and other familiar friends from Bret Harte's "Luck of Roaring Camp."

He called the whole staff, and they decided that the best way to treat the contributor, who had asked for a "speedy decision," was sarcastically. So the editor wrote:

My Dear Sir—We should be very glad to use this splendid story, but unfortunately Bret Harte had it copyrighted when he first wrote it, and his publishers, who now own the copyright, would object, we fear, to your receiving money for it.

Not long afterward the man from Memphis wrote in reply:

Dear Mr. Editor—I have looked that matter up, and I find that the story was first wrote in 1886, and the copyright has run out, and you have a perfect right to pay me for it, and I hope to receive check by return mail.

This made the editor a little hot under the collar, but he resolved to be patient and go further with the sarcasm. So he wrote:

My Dear Sir—We are very glad to hear that the copyright on "The Luck of Roaring Camp" has expired. How very careless of Bret! However, I regret that it seems still impossible to pay you for this story, because I now recall that when Bret Harte lay on his deathbed he made me promise that I would never, never buy and print a story of his that had been previously bought and paid for elsewhere. I am very, very sorry.

This is how the sarcasm fell—shown in the reply written on a postcard from Memphis:

You ought to be sorry. For making such a promise you are a —— fool.

Insulted.

A bachelor who was very bald fell in love with a pretty widow whose late husband's name was Robin. One evening the bachelor dropped in to have a cup of tea with the widow. After tea was over she commenced to sing "Robin Adair."

The bachelor picked up his hat and said:

"Madam, even if your husband did have hair, it is no fault of mine that I haven't."

Then he fled.

Then His Smile Faded.

Ramsay Calles in his reminiscences says he was once traveling in a smoking compartment on an Irish railway. The only other person in the compartment was a gentleman who was smoking a pipe with evident satisfaction, but whose tobacco had a particularly disgusting smell. Not having any tobacco himself with which to overcome this appalling smell, Mr. Calles opened the window. But the weather was very cold, and he was obliged to shut it again almost at once. It then occurred to him that possibly good humored remonstrance might prevail and abate the nuisance, so he said, with a conciliatory smile, "Pardon me, sir, but really your tobacco would poison a toad."

Without moving a muscle of his face the smoker took his pipe from his mouth and replied:

"Evidently!"

Self Restraint.

It was a very hot day, and the fat drummer who wanted the 12:20 train got through the gate at just 12:21. The ensuing handicap was watched with absorbed interest both from the train and the station platform. At its conclusion the breathless and perspiring knight of the road wearily took the back trail, and a vacant faced red cap porter came out to relieve him of his grip.

"Mister," he inquired, "was you tryin' to ketch that Pennsylvania train?"

"No, my son," replied the patient man. "No; I was merely chasing it out of the yard."—Saturday Evening Post.

Put His Foot In It.

A gifted amateur singer of who had just recovered from a slight cold responded to an invitation to sing at a swell social affair and rendered his selection in a most charming manner.

The host was nervous, a bit shy and somewhat inexperienced, and he rose hurriedly at the conclusion of the song.

"Ladies and—er—gentlemen," he began, "before Mr. M. started to—er—sing he asked me to apologize for his—er—voice, but I omitted to do so—er—so—I—er—apologize now."

Orientalism to Play Prominent Part In Spring Styles.

NEW JAPANESE EMBROIDERY

Silk or Chiffon Blouses Matching the Costume May Be Purchased Without Trimming and the Ornamental Touch Added by Means of Needlework.

Orientalism will play as conspicuous a part in spring fashions as it has in the winter modes. And as embroidery of this kind is expensive the woman clever with her needle will set to work at once to decorate her blouses and dress accessories with Japanese figures and flowers.

Even if you do not make your own blouses you can purchase them of plain silk or chiffon and then add the embroidery, thus giving them the personal touch that is so eagerly sought for.

On a black crape blouse, for example, have stamped a design of poppies or cherry blossoms. Pad the flowers before you begin to work, then embroider them, using the satin stitch, with silks that match as nearly as possible the colors found in the natural blossoms.

Red, in all its rich deep tones, is distinctly oriental and can be used for the poppies. The cherry blossoms are worked with white and each petal is tipped with pink. Leaves and foliage, of course, must be done with green silk, using the darker shades for the cherry leaves and a gray green tone for the poppies.

Both wistaria and iris blossoms lend themselves admirably to the adornment of dress accessories. These are worked with shades of violet and purple, and both have rather vivid green in the leafwork.

Japanese iris may be embroidered with various rich amber shades. Amber is to be exceedingly fashionable during the coming season.

If you do not wish to fill in the entire surface of the flowers, they may be worked with the long and short stitch with good results. Even the outline stitch is effective when the blossoms are very small.

Figures representing cranes, dragons and small birds look well embroidered on cloth and heavy satin for evening wraps. French knots and darned work can be used for these and furnish a quick method of working. In these, touches of gold and silver threads add a richness that is very pleasing.

Very charming is the coat blouse seen in the cut accompanying the afternoon frock of red silk. The sash arrangement is new, and the collar and the sleeves are of sheer embroidery.

Sewing Room Hint.

When darning a rent in woolen goods and it is impossible to ravel out the goods itself for thread to darn with, use long hairs from your own head. The loose weave of the wool loses the hair in its meshes, and so the darn becomes invisible.

The best way to clean rusty needles is to run them up and down in the earth. Just go out in the garden and stick the needles in the ground, then pull them out.

When buttons come off shoes and you sew them on again run through all the other buttons with the same thread with which you replace the missing ones. It will strengthen them all and make the next button sewing a task far in the future.

Small holes in black or white kid gloves can easily be mended with court plaster. Cut the plaster a little larger than the hole itself and stick it to the under part of the glove directly over the hole, pressing the kid down smooth on the sticky surface of the plaster. This will last as long as the gloves themselves do.

If the point of your scissors breaks the jagged end may be smoothed off by rubbing it on a whetstone. The point will be uneven, but it will cut all right.

For Cleaning Dress Clothes.

Now that the gay social season is in full swing he of the black broadcloth evening suit may like to know how to remove the frequently occurring cream or ice cream stain from dress coat or trousers. If such a spot is immediately rubbed with a napkin dipped in strong black coffee it will disappear at once and never more return.

ORANGE MARMALADE.

ORANGE marmalade is a wholesome and appetizing addition to the breakfast or supper bill of fare. Marmalade made at home is always to be preferred. It is not only less expensive, but is more apt to be pure and of the right degree of sweetness. Manufacturers sweeten their fruit to suit the average taste instead of catering to that of individuals.

Methods of Making This.

Oranges which one does not care to eat fresh may be made into marmalade. Indeed, for this purpose oranges which are a little tart are the best. The size and shape need not be considered, either, and thus a cheap grade of oranges may be utilized for putting up.

Among the various methods of making orange marmalade choose the recipe that seems best to please you.

Excellent Recipes.

English Orange Marmalade.—For each orange used allow a pint of water and a half pound of sugar. Take the peel of one lemon to six oranges. Cut the oranges in thin slices, remove the pips and put into a basin with a little extra water. Put the sliced oranges and finely chopped lemon peel into an earthen dish with the water and let it remain all night. Next day boil for five hours, then add the sugar and boil for an hour longer, put into jars and cover when cold.

Delicious Preserves.

Rich Orange Marmalade.—Take equal weights of lump sugar and oranges. Peel the oranges and boil the peel in plenty of water for four hours, changing the water once or the peel will be too bitter. When boiled it must be cut into thin strips. From the inside of the oranges first remove the white, then the pips and skin, leaving in a dish the juice and pulp. Wash the skins with a little water and add the water to the juice. Next boil the juice pulp and sugar together for half an hour, then add the cut peel and boil all together for ten minutes.

Another Orange Marmalade.—Acid oranges insure a marmalade that will jelly. Slice thin one dozen tart oranges and five lemons. Cover with eight quarts of cold water and let stand for twenty-four hours, stirring it occasionally. Put away for another twenty-four hours. Measure and allow one cupful of sugar to each of the orange mixture. Simmer another hour then turn into jelly glasses.

CHIC TOILETS.

New Skirts Cut on Lines That Have Been Popular.

The skirt which is approved for spring will be as narrow as it has been for two years, and it will take on the looseness around the hips and knees which has distinguished the skirts of this winter.

Brown, with a decided leaning toward the golden tones, is seen everywhere in smart gowns.

Chic women hold persistently to the small toque, which has gained so rapidly in the fashion world this season.

There are hand bags of moire and velvet, elaborately embroidered or beaded. Some have metal clasps adorned with jewels, while others are closed with a heavy cord.

The plain frocks of black, dark blue or gray charmeuse are charmingly relieved by cuffs and collars of venetian and bohemian lace.

This smart opera wrap can be made from any fashionable material. The one illustrated here was of satin, trim

Woman's World

Miss Rogers Only Woman Cartoonist.

MISS LOU ROGERS.

A signature rather new in the cartoon world is that of "Lou Rogers." When this name first began to appear in the corner of breezy, up to the minute cartoons seen in newspapers and magazines the public, and particularly that part of it composed of brothers of the caricaturist cult, began to wonder who this man Rogers was.

Great was their amazement when the truth leaked out that a woman was the power behind the pen—a tiny little woman at that, at least in physical proportions, but with a brain stuffed full of original ideas that any arrived cartoonist might envy.

And the wonder was heightened when it became known that this young woman up to a few years before her work appeared had spent most of her life in a Maine lumber camp, where her father was employed. The force and meaning of a cartoon had never been explained to Miss Rogers. To the lumberman they were merely funny pictures caricaturing a subject or situation, but the "girl of the Limberlost" sensed them and determined to make her impressions of current events known to the world through the cartoon medium.

How to get enough technical art knowledge to reproduce these ideas on paper was the problem.

That this training has been gained one has only to see the work now being accomplished by this plucky girl.

Miss Rogers is an ardent suffragist, and many of her best cartoons are to be found in magazines published by the cause.

MARRIAGE AS IT IS TODAY.

Women Too Busy With Interests Outside the Home.

Since all time the happiness that attends a marriage has been uncertain. Men and women expect so much and often give so little. Disappointment is all too common, for the average young individual expects perfection and finds poor human nature.

"No man is a hero to his valet," runs the bitter old French proverb. It is perhaps as hard to be a hero in the eyes of the woman a man has married five years after marriage. Familiarity breeds contempt. It is hard to laugh not once, but many times, at the same jest, at the same old story as our mothers did. In the present day that is not even attempted.

Most women and a great many men only try to please before, not after, marriage, and so marriage is not as happy as it used to be.

Marriage formerly among women was looked upon as a profession. Now it is only an incident, and an incident that need not continue unless it means sugar and spice and all that's nice to the woman, for her home is often the last place where a wife is to be found.

The modern woman is often so busy that she cannot live at home. She must sell roses for hospitals, organize relief for strikers, slum among the destitute and leave her husband and children to look out for themselves.

This is not quite for the happiness of the world, because the right center of a woman's life is her home, and when that is vacant the cupboard of the affections becomes bare. Remember, after all is said and done, it is the man who works for the woman. It is he that toils for the bower and for the comforts of his wife. It is therefore not only foolish, but not fair, if, when he returns home, the bower is always empty.

In Full Charge of Lighthouse.

The only woman in the United States in full charge of a seacoast lighthouse is Mrs. E. A. Fish of Point Pinos, near Pacific Grove, Cal., who has received a letter of commendation for her twenty years' faithful service from the chief of the lighthouse service, together with a medal bearing the inscription "U. S. L. S." and "Efficiency." She has been in charge of the Point Pinos light since the death in 1892 of her husband, who was head of the department of history and physiology in the University of California.

A Decided Advance.

"Yes, indeed. She can even open a telegram without trembling."—Detroit Free Press.

GOWN SACHETS.

Just the Birthday Gift For a Dainty Young Girl.

There are few small gifts which will give so much pleasure to dainty women as the little boxes of gown sachets which are now so attractive and which may be bought at many of the shops and also made at very little cost of the maker's time. A great many women who do not care to go in for making elaborate birthday gifts enjoy devoting a little time to turning out the charming little sachets which are so useful and so attractive.

The sachets are usually about two and a half inches square, the material being satin, brocade or silk and the color that which the person to whom they are to be presented most affects. Should there be any doubt as to which color is preferred, white with a little color in the embroidery is always desirable, especially if a delicate ivory is chosen instead of a clear white.

The sachets are made quite flat, and three sides of them may perfectly well be stitched up on the machine, the padding being then put in, after which the fourth side is sewed by hand. In the matter of fragrance it is most important to consult the taste of the recipient of the gift, as nothing can be more distressing than to receive so charming a present which is unwearable because the scent is not one's favorite.

A favorite fashion of decorating the sachets is to embroider the flower represented by the fragrance in the center of one side. The embroidery should be very slight and small. A flowered silk or satin may be chosen for the covers and then no embroidery is necessary. A tiny chiffon flower appliqued to the center of each sachet is also attractive. But it is not necessary to decorate the sachets at all, as they are sufficiently dainty of themselves if nicely made.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"Bunty Pulls the Strings," the biggest theatrical novelty of many seasons, will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening. The remarkably successful run that it enjoyed in New York is, no doubt, known to all who keep alive in things theatrical. "Bunty" remained over fifteen months at Collier's theatre, something out of the ordinary for New York. The fun of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" lies not so much in plot or situation as in the transparent workings of the minds of its characters. Every one of them is, or has been, or wants to be, a grasper of something, and every one of them, except "Bunty" is more self-deceiving than dangerous, because every one is "on to" the workings of every one else's intelligence. The fact extends to the old lady, who, with Scotch regard for the proprieties of the kirk, could find no other way of satisfying her curiosity as to why the policeman was called out the service than by fainting and being carried out where she could see what was going on.

The much discussed and widely heralded sensational episode in Bayard Veiller's new American play "Within the Law," the supreme dramatic triumph of the year in New York, which the American Play Company is to present here at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday night, January 23, takes place in the thrilling "third degree" scene in the last act. In this act, which is a succession of startling surprises, there is an exact reproduction of the famous detective bureau at police headquarters in New York city during an official investigation of a mysterious murder. There are the officials, the lawyers, the suspects, the witnesses and, most important of all, the accused. That this scene is accurate to the last extreme is due to the fact that the material for "Within the Law" was obtained by the author, Bayard Veiller, when he was a newspaper reporter at police headquarters at the time Theodore Roosevelt was the head of the metropolitan blue coats. The admirable cast which is to present this play here includes Catherine Tower, Beatrice Noyes, Dorothy Abbott, Rose Maurice, Sydney Booth, Ralph Delmore, Howard Gould, DeWitt C. Jennings, Neil Moran, Barney Thornton, T. L. Davis, Edward Dresser, Howard O'Mally, Richard Lothian and others. This is the company that the American Play Company will send to London for an engagement next Spring.

The Scrap Book

It Wasn't Lost.

A woman and her brother lived alone in the Scotch highlands. She knitted gloves and garments to sell in the lowland towns. Once when she was starting out to market her wares her brother said he would go with her and take a dip in the ocean. While the woman was in the town selling her work Sandy was sporting in the waves. When his sister came down to join him, however, he met her with a wry face. "Oh, Kirstie," he said, "I've lost me weskit!" They hunted high and low, but finally as night settled down decided that the waves must have carried it out to sea.

"I'VE FOUND ME WESKIT."

The next year at about the same season the two again visited the town, and while Kirstie sold her wool in the town Sandy splashed about in the brine. When Kirstie joined her brother she found him with a radiant face, and he cried out to her: "Oh, Kirstie, I've found me weskit! 'Twas under me shirt!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Look Up.

There is hope in the world for you and me.
There is joy in a thousand things that be.
There is fruit to gather from every tree—
Look up, my friend; look up!

There are care and struggle in every life.
With trouble and sorrow the world is rife,
But no strength cometh without the strife—
Look up, my friend; look up!

There's a place in the land for you to fill.
There is work to do with an iron will.
The river comes from the tiny rill—
Look up, my friend; look up!

There are bridges to cross, and paths are long.
But a purpose in life will make you strong.
Keep e'er on your lips a cheerful song—
Look up, my friend; look up!

An Inquisitive Bird.

A peppery old English military official in India possessed a parrot and also a very irascible temperament. The parrot was a valuable bird, but was rather a nuisance by reason of its extreme talkativeness. One day while the general was writing his business letters the parrot kept up a continual chatter, very disturbing to the writer. At last the general could stand it no longer, and, jumping up, he seized the cage of the unhappy bird, which he whirled vigorously round and round, at the same time shouting furiously. Then he set the cage down again, and silence for some time ensued. At length, however, a feeble voice came from the interior of the cage.

HE SET THE CAGE DOWN AGAIN.

"General," it inquired in quavering accents, "where were you when that cyclone struck us?"

How He Remembered.

Professor Huxley had a funny way of remembering certain anatomical details of the human heart. On the left side of the heart there is a valve with two flaps resembling a bishop's miter and known as the mitral valve. The corresponding valve on the right side has three flaps. The only means by which he could remember their respective positions, said Huxley, with his skeptic's humor, was by the reflection that a bishop could never be in the right.

Yale Team Work.

Eddie Allen of Chicago and elsewhere went to Purdue university contemporaneously with George Ade, John T. McCutcheon and others.

One night Eddie strayed into the Chicago University club. A number of college men were there, telling of the glories of their respective classes. They had all been to Yale, dear old Yale.

They told Allen about it, told him with a wealth of detail and airs of superiority that annoyed him.

"By the way, Allen," said one, "what is your university?"

"Purdue," said Allen.

"Ah—Purdue—. Oh, yes, Purdue—nice little school. We are all from Yale, you know."

"Sure," replied Allen affably; "I know all about Yale. I've got half a dozen Yale men working for me."—Saturday Evening Post.

Why He Laughed.

An eastern potentate was wont to exact offerings in kind from those who came to do him homage. One day a man arrived bringing a basket of bananas.

Furious at the gift being one of fruit only, the prince commanded that the bananas should be thrust down the donor's throat. As the latter was being led away to have the sentence executed he was seen to smile, and the prince had him brought back and asked him why he smiled.

"Nothing, O prince," he replied; "only thy servant's wife's mother is now approaching, and she bringeth a basket of pineapples."

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

MARKET, HALSEY & WASHINGTON STS.

Annual Clearance Sale Fine Oil Paintings

$17,000 Worth of Oil Paintings Offered at Reductions of 33⅓ to 50 Per Cent.

Although fine oil paintings do not deteriorate in value from old age, it is the Bamberger policy to treat oil paintings as other merchandise and to reduce the stock once a year. The clearance sale this year is the best we have ever announced. Many of the paintings that were shown for the first time at the opening of the Greater store are now offered at one-third less than regular price, and others will be on sale at half price. It is a rare opportunity, indeed, when such desirable paintings are placed on sale at far less than their real worth. The collection includes landscape, marine and figure subjects executed by well-known artists. In fact, it is a wonderful art collection—the largest ever shown in Newark. The sale is too important an event for any admirer of paintings to miss.

Read This Piano Offer

$15 Cash and $2 50 a Week Pays for a Player-Piano That Is Not Equaled for $390

The Bamberger special player piano offer is not equaled elsewhere. The player we sell at $390.00 would be priced at most stores at $500.00 or $600.00. It is a finely made piano in every way—not built for special purposes, but a part of the Bamberger regular stock of high grade instruments, all of which are fully guaranteed.

Mahogany Case and Ivory Keys. The case of the piano is genuine mahogany veneer, hand rubbed and polished. The keys are NOT celluloid (as is the case with many player pianos offered elsewhere for less than $400), but are white ivory. The play mechanism is built along the most approved lines. The operation is as simple as can be.

$15 Cash and $2.50 a Week

Music Rolls, Bench and Cover Free. With each piano we give, without extra charge, a dozen player piano music rolls, a bench and a piano cover. Purchasers also are given the privilege of our music roll library exchange plan.

You may secure one of these fine player pianos on the most liberal terms, $15 cash and $2.50 a week. If after thirty days' trial in your home, you are not satisfied with the piano, you may return it and get your money back. If you have a piano or a player piano, we will make a liberal allowance for it, taken in exchange as part payment. Visit the piano warerooms and we will take pleasure in explaining this unique piano proposition more fully. (Piano warerooms, sixth floor).

Pianos tuned, repaired, rented and exchanged. Catalogs sent upon request.

Graham Moffat, Author of "Bunty," Tells the Story of the Comedy

Weelum Says That if Bunty Will Make Him the Most Henpecked Man In Scotland—"I'll Just Glory In the Shame!"

THE author, Graham Moffat, wrote this description of his comedy:

"At the foot of the Lintie glen, where it joins the Blane valley on the west of Scotland, lies the cozy wee toon of Lintiehaugh. Its kirk stands apart and the next most important building in the place is the house which in 1860 was occupied by Tammas Biggar, provision merchant, elder and magistrate. He has been a widower for two years, but his daughter Bunty fills her mother's place to perfection. Indeed, her spring cleanings are a marvel of organization and her domestic ceremony is superb.' Bunty is indeed a manager, but her energies have been confined to the humdrum domestic sphere till this eventful Sabbath, which proves, as her brother Rab puts it, 'the liveliest Sunday they'd had for years.'

"Bunty and Rab have sat that morning, as usual, reading sermons and yearning exercises according to parental orders. The window blinds are down, for it is considered a sin to let in the air and sunshine on the Lord's day. That tempts Bunty to look out and see the wee yellayites trying their wings, and so Susie Simpson catches them breaking the Sabbath and promptly informs Tammas. Susie is a guest in the house, having arrived the previous day.

"Rab, a lad of seventeen, has long been yearning to go away from Lintiehaugh to see life in Glasgow, and now he makes bold to tell his father that he refused to be held in any longer. Tammas sends Susie and Bunty from the room, but he does not intend to thrash his son, only to tell him the truth. Rab's brother Jamie had been an obedient lad at home, but in the city he had been led away and taken £150 belonging to his employers, so that Tammas has been obliged to pay up to keep his son out of prison. No other boy of his would be allowed to go the same bad road. Rab is sorry, and agrees to learn his shorter catechism, even though he cannot understand its long explanation of what is 'effectual calling.'

"Susie Simpson, an old maid, who, according to her nephew, Weelum Sprunt, had been 'trying for a man all her days, and had never despaired yet,' has come to Lintiehaugh with a view to matrimony. She discovers that a certain Mr. Hislow had put up the amount of a bond on his house to Tammas Biggar. As Tammas had never 'let on,' she suspects the elder and magistrate of appropriating her money. She put it very cleverly to Tammas that, when Bunty marries he will require a housekeeper; that an ordinary housekeeper would want a wage, whereas a wife would come cheaper.

"She herself wants a place as housekeeper (without a wage) unless she can get back the money invested in the bond. Tammas postpones the inevitable on the plea that it is not the thing to discuss business matters on the Sabbath, but he afterward confesses to Weelum Sprunt that his Aunt Susie had hooked him. So for some time Tammas wriggles with the hook up his gills. He is preparing, however, to submit to his fate when Eelen Dunlop and her dainy niece Teenie arrive on the scene just as Tammas is threatening to thrash his son Rab for whistling on the Sabbath.

"Eelen disturbs the elder's Sabbath calm with a vengeance, for this pleasant looking elderly lady is the individual whom he deserted on the very wedding day thirty years ago.

"Tammas was never a bad man, and when he left his bride elect to weep with her bridesmaids and the best man shedding tears of sympathy and a breakfast that cost a pound note spread on the table it was because he had no money and had waited till the last, hoping for a miracle. Tammas has, therefore, still a wee touch of sentiment for his old love, and, forgetting that the window is open and that a jealous woman may be listening, he confesses to Eelen, that, in order to pay up his ne'er do well son's disgraceful debt he had to use 'siller that didna belong to him.' But Susie overhears the conversation and will follow him to the kirk to shame him before the congregation.

"Weelum Sprunt is a big soft lump of a man, the very antithesis of Bunty, to whom he is engaged. He is a nephew of Susie Simpson and believes he is in her will. His sober and sedate habits have raised him to be a Sunday school teacher at nineteen, and a superintendent at twenty-one, and now, at the age of twenty-nine he is an elder.

"At the Lintiehaugh kirk, owing to the narrowness of the porch and the gallery stairs being outside, not to mention the size of the women's crinolines, the collection has to be taken in the open air. It was only to be expected that Weelum should be nervous and fidgety on his first day at the plate, but he managed 'no sae bad' except for such trifling mistakes as asking Miss Keeler, who 'hasna a relation,' if they were all keeping well. Before the eventful day is over, however, Weelum has begun to think himself a kind of Jonah. Everything seems to go wrong.

"The minister doesn't turn up, and there may be no service. But Bunty arrives and takes 'steer in hand.' Learning the state of affairs, she sends Weelum off to see 'what's keeping the minister,' and so finds herself that abomination, a woman at the plate. The sly lassie cannot resist the temptation of trying how 'it feels to be an elder' and goes through the pantomime of receiving imaginary church goers, much to the horror of a real attender in the person of Maggie Mercer, the greatest gossip in the three parishes. Bunty can do more than watch a few coppers as well as any man, for the same brains that can organize a spring cleaning can manage a kirk or a market equally well.

"The minister, it appears, has a 'peelious attack,' but Bunty sends for the assistant at Heathbend. She removes the collection to the vestry. She utterly defeats Susie Simpson when that jealous old maid tries to shame Tammas before the congregation. As Jeemie Gib, the minister's man, says of her, 'she should have been a lawyer,' but there are few things 'she couldna be if men would let her.'

"Unfortunately, Bunty can only save her father by sacrificing herself and her lover. She tells the angry Susie that the money from the bond is in the house, and will be handed over the next day. Bunty and Weelum's wedding will have to be postponed, for the money to be paid to Susie is their 'wee nest egg.' To crown her sorrows, Rab had run off to Glasgow, and so there are several sad hearts as the congregation comes out of the kirk and the rain clouds creep along the Blane hills.

"Tammas has gone after Rab with the dogcart, and brought the lad home, wet and hungry. Bunty cannot get the men folk out of their beds the next morning. It is her washing day, and she is always 'as cross as twa sticks' when 'she is washing.' Weelum, now returned to his joinering, is as cross as she is. He wants to be reconciled, however; Bunty is in no hurry, for an angry, wumman turns out a clean washing.

"Rab comes down to his porridge very late, and Tammas demands that at night after tea he shall come upstairs and take his thrashing for whistling on the Sabbath. Rab is rebellious.

"'Tak yer key and open your shop yersel.'

"Bunty backs up her brother. She, too, throws down her keys and threatens to leave the house. Tammas is confident that she cannot leave, but his daughter is too clever for him. She promptly calls on Weelum, who is putting up a shelf in her back kitchen. If her father thrashes Rab, Weelum may arrange for their immediate marriage, even if it means that they must live in furnished lodgings for awhile. Tammas gives in and agrees to let Rab off.

"Bunty should be at her washing, but there are other strings to be pulled this Monday morning. She cross examines the unsuspecting Eelen Dunlop, and is able to report that she is an 'early riser, good washer, experienced cook, economical. She will do fine.'

"So Tammas proposes on the recommendation of his 'farseeing lassie that chooses her own steppie.'

"Bunty's master stroke is when she unravels the relations of Weelum to his father's brother's wife's sister and so discovers that her young man is entitled to most of his Aunt Susie's siller.

"Thus the tables are turned on Miss Simpson, who gives up the money just received from Tammas, but tells Weelum on a parting shot that he will be the most henpecked man in all Scotland.

"Weelum, however, don't mind that, if only Bunty will do the henpecking. He'll just glory in the shame."

SOME OF BUNTY'S REFLECTIONS.

"BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS."

A Plain Woman.

Most of the contented wummin are plain.

An angry wumman turns out a clean washin'.

There's nae progress wi'out something new, and I'm not among the wummin who believe that the new thing is necessarily scandalous.

A plain lassie is often more important than she thinks. What would become of men wi'oot her is a terrible thing to think aboot. In the hoose and in the shop she is often the only capable wumman to be found, because she is born wi'oot foolishness. That's one of the compensations of the plain wumman, but she does no' always know it.

Sometimes a plain wumman wishes she was beautiful as a lily; then she oud take her pick of the men. It's my opeenion there's no muchchoice among them.

No wumman is so plain she canna be guid merchandise for any man that's a man. She must be an airly riser, a guid washer, an experienced plain cook and economical in her household affairs. Aye, and she must lairn obedience—when 'tis convenient. Never let your man think he's no' the master, but be sure you manage him yoursel'.

Some wumman has to manage nearly every man in the world, and it's a most unfortunate man who will not be managed.

Wummin make a great mistake when they think a' a man cares aboot is to see ye lookin' bonnie. It's true that he disna' want a wumman around lookin' like a hen that's been out in the rain. No matter how plain ye are, ye maun continue to look attractive enough for a kiss, but it's easy if ye are a wumman of sense.

Even though ye are plain dinna' be so plain as ye look.

I see ye've had a disappointment, but ye canna arrest man simply because he refuses to marry you.

Oh, aye, but she's a peely wally looking object.

If he did leave me on the auld blotted page, surely that's nobody's business but my ain.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS DIRECTORS AT ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last night the following were chosen to serve on the board of directors for terms of three years: H. W. Herrman, H. O. Newman, J. E. Kimball, J. G. McLaughlin, G. M. Rittenhouse, J. B. Hill and Joseph W. Sandford.

The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium immediately after the Federation mass meeting and the election of officers was the only business accomplished.

CHOSEN BANK DIRECTORS.

James W. DeGraff, of this city, was elected a director of the Security Bank, New York, and D. H. Rowland, also of this city, was chosen a director of the National Butchers and Drovers Bank, of New York, at the annual meetings of those institutions on Tuesday. Mr. Rowland was re-elected president of the latter bank, and his son, Rufus S. Rowland, was re-elected vice president.

"LIVING COST" LECTURE.

Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters, of New York, will lecture on "The High Cost of Living and How to Reduce It," Monday night before the Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church. This will be a "ladies' night" affair and all interested are invited. A musical program has been arranged and refreshments will be served after the lecture.

COULDN'T FOOL THE JUDGE.

He Knew an Actor or a Burglar When He Saw One.

De Wolf Hopper's idea of a nice, reasonable speed for a motor is with the clutch nudged into the highest notch, the chauffeur reclining on his back and sighting through the holes in the steering wheel and a merry party betting they wont be thrown out of the tonneau when the wagon hits a thank-ye-marm. Therefore he happens upon occasional trouble with the rural constabulary.

The other day he was haled before a backwoods judge. Hopper says he knew he'd have trouble as soon as he glimpsed the jurist's poison ivy whiskers. So he hastily abandoned his first intention of assuming a jocular air and became dignified and repellent in manner. "My name," he said, "is De Wolf Hopper."

"Hopper, hey?" asked the judge. "Hopper, hey! I got you, Hop. We got a description somewhere of Wolf, the Hopper. He's a second story man."

"But I'm a singer and an actor," protested the agonized comedian.

"You are, huh?" said the judge. "Well, let's hear you sing a little."

Mr. Hopper piped up. Pretty soon the judge rapped for silence. "Lots of folks," he remarked judicially, "can sing that well. Let's see you act."

Mr. Hopper hurled himself into an impassioned rendition of "Horatio at the Bridge," which he picked at the spur of the moment as affording plenty of color and action. The judge listened coldly. By and by he frowned Mr. Hopper down.

"I don't call that actin'," said he. "That's a school piece. If you was an actor you could dance."

Mr. Hopper danced for the gentleman. The audience in the courtroom watched him critically. By and by the perspiring actor quit work.

"I gotta fine you," said the judge, "and then I'll let you go. You ain't persuaded me that you're a singer or an actor, but you ain't Wolf, the Hopper. No first rate second story man would ever carry on like that."—Chicago Post.

The Usages of Royalty.

A patriotic Scotsman was present at a meeting of a certain society at which an eminent Shakespearian scholar dwelt on the virtues of his favorite author. At the close of the meeting the Scot approached the lecturer, and the following dialogue took place:

"Ye think a fine lot o' Shakespeare, doctor?"

"I do, sir," was the emphatic reply.

"An' ye think he was mair clever than Rabbie Burns?"

"Why, there is no comparison between them."

"Maybe no, but ye telt us tonicht it was Shakespeare who wrote 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a croon.' Now, Rabbie would never hae written sic nonsense as that."

"Nonsense, sir?" cried the indignant doctor.

"Aye, just nonsense. Rabbie would hae kent that a king, or a queen either, disna gang to bed wi' the croon on his head. He wad hang it over th' back o' a chair."

A "Cutting" Retort.

A surgeon who was very young and very shy was asked to dinner by a lady who was at least forty and tried to pass herself off as twenty and apparently imagined that being rude and tomboyish assisted to sustain the youthful illusion. At dinner she asked him to carve a fowl, and, never having carved a fowl before and being painfully shy, he made a mess of it. Instead of trying to cover his confusion his hostess called attention to it pointedly by looking down the table and saying loudly:

HE MADE A MESS OF IT.

"Well, Dr. P., you may be a very clever surgeon, but if I wanted a leg off I should not come to you to do it."

"No, madam," he replied politely, "but then, you see, you are not a chicken."

Considerate.

A story is told in Lady Frances Balfour's life of the late General Booth. Once, when addressing a huge audience, the officers, fearing the general would not be heard, began to close the windows of the hall. Half were shut when peremptorily he bade the officers stop.

"Don't suffocate them till the collection is taken," said the general.

POINCARE IS NEW FRENCH PRES'T

Remarkable Minister of Public Affairs is Chosen to Succeed M. Fallieres.

ON THE THIRD BALLOT

Defeats Minister of Agriculture by a Vote of 483 to 325 in Joint Session of Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

Versailles, France, Jan. 17.—Premier Poincare was elected President of the French republic on the third ballot by the National Assembly here today. M. Poincare received 483, M. Pams 325. A total of 871 votes were cast, the balance being scattered among a number of candidates.

Premier Poincare secured 438 votes on the second ballot for the Presidency and had less than that on the first.

At the opening of the National Assembly former Premier George Clemenceau insulted Premier Poincare, who immediately selected Minister of Justice Briand and Minister of Finance Klotz as his seconds with instructions to arrange a duel.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Early this morning the senators, deputies and an army of press representatives were off for Versailles, where the members of the two classes first named, meeting in joint session as the National Assembly, selected the successor of Mr. Fallieres as President of France.

In France the Constitution, which in this respect represents the recoil from the napoleonic system of plebiscites, does not admit citizens to any direct vote in the election of the chief executive of the nation. The President is elected by the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies united in convention at Versailles.

It is a noticeable fact, however, that the general public has manifested far more interest in the present election than ever before since the setting up of the Third Republic. Public sentiment with regards to the Presidency seems to be undergoing a radical change. Heretofore the President has been looked upon as little more than a figurehead. Now the people seem to want something more than a figurehead at the Elysee. Recently the newspapers of all shades of opinion have been pointing out that, for one thing, the present state of European politics and the prospect of the immediate future in the Balkans make it desirable that the highest office in the State should be held by a French statesman who is able to speak and act with an authority derived from personal eminence and from political experience.

It was believed that the choice of the General Assembly would fall upon one of four candidates—M. Raymond Poincare, the Prime Minister and Minister for Foreign Affairs; M. Alexandre Ribot, former Prime Minister; M. Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber of Deputies, and M. Antonin Dubost, President of the Senate. Others named mentioned included those of M. Delcasse, Minister of Marine; M. Pams, Minister of Agriculture, and M. Clemenceau, former Prime Minister.

M. Poincare, M. Robit and M. Deschanel are well known to their fellow citizens and enjoy high respect. It is noted that all three are members of the Academy of France, and as to all appearances, they are the three leading candidates, it is anticipated with some satisfaction, that the next President of the Republic will, like Thiers and Bonaparte, be a member of the Institute—a position which signifies to France and to the whole world that he is above the level of any mere political clique.

M. Poincare has constantly been in the public eye since he formed his remarkable ministry a year ago this month. He has been in politics since 1887, when he entered the Chamber of Deputies. At the age of 32 he was Minister of Public Instruction and subsequently he served twice as Minister of Finance. His present tenure of office has been signalized by a succession of important French initiatives in connection with the Balkan crisis, while in home affairs he has identified himself with electoral reform and proportional representation of which he has always been a zealous advocate.

M. Ribot is perhaps the most dignified figure in French political life, and is the survivor of the great parliamentary period of the foundation of the Third Republic. As Foreign Minister in the early '90s he perhaps did more than anyone else to bring about the Alliance between France and Russia. The wife of M. Ribot is an American woman, formerly Miss Mary Burch, of Chicago.

M. Deschanel, though fifty-five, is one of the youngest of all the candidates. He inherits his strong republicanism, for he was born in Brussels, where his father was in exile for denouncing Napoleon III. because he overturned the republic. M. Deschanel is a learned author, a graceful writer and a speaker of almost classical finish. As President of the Chamber of Deputies he has long been one of the foremost figures in French public life.

MOSQUITO COMMISSION LAW REPEAL IS SOUGHT

Trenton, Jan. 17.—One of the important measures to be presented in the Legislature next Monday evening, when both Houses will start the second week of the session, will provide for the repeal of the law creating the County Mosquito Extermination Commissions. It will be put in by Assemblyman Steuerwald, of Hudson county. If the bill shall become a law it will abolish all these commissions.

There is much opposition to the law in some parts of the State. It is claimed it is a strike at home rule because it compels the appointment of a commission in each county and the expenditure of large sums of money, and the county has no say in the premises.

It is said that in some counties the commissions have done good work, and on this account some boards of trade and civic bodies will fight the repealer. It is contended that the measure has not had a fair trial yet. The Steuerwald bill will create a warm contest.

STATE TAX COMMISSION PROPOSED LAWS TO APPEAR

Trenton, Jan. 17.—It is expected that bills carrying out the recommendations of the State Tax Commission, as given in its report just filed with the Governor, will be introduced into the Legislature next week. The measures are being prepared by Thomas B. Usher, of Jersey City, former Secretary of the State Tax Board.

The provisions of the measures will be radical, including the abolition of the State Board of Assessors; reconstruction of the County Tax Boards, one of the members to be the County Assessor, which office is to be created; giving much more power to the State Board of Equalization in the direction of supervising the local taxing authorities throughout the State; public utility corporation property to be assessed by the State Board of Equalization as well as steam railroad property; consolidation of small taxing districts; simplifying tax appeals, and others.

The want ads will determine who will secure nine out of ten of the best positions filled in this city today.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Blase' old New York gone stark mad over melodrama. Magnificantly gowned women and stylishly dressed men frantically cheering the successful race horses and booing and hissing the villian—this is the unusual situation the cracking of "The Whip" has brought to the Manhattan Opera House. The capacity of the big theatre in 34th street has been taxed ever since the premier and the American managers are in a happy frame of mind over the prospect of duplicating the London success, which kept "The Whip" for two years and four months as a permanent attraction at Drury Lane theatre. Seeing "The Whip" has become a vogue and seeing it from the balcony and gallery in real old fashioned melodroma style the real fad, "Gallery parties," made up of fashionables have become so common at the Manhattan, that they no longer attract attention and the "Gods," whose monopoly of the gallery is traditional, have met an overpowering rival. Broadway, and the rest of New York for that matter, seems to have fallen into hysteria—a veritable orgy—of melodrama and "The Whip" bids fair to inaugurate a revival of that ancient form of entertainment.

INSIDE THE MAGAZINE

In the February Scribner, John Fox, in his serial, "The Heart of the Hills," gives Colonel Pendleton's arraignment of his beloved State—Kentucky: "The earth was too rich here—it made life too easy. The horse, the bottle of whiskey, and the plug of tobacco were all too easily the best—and the pistol always too ready. We've been cartooned through the world with a fearsome, half-contemptuous slap on the back. Our living has been made out of luxuries. Agriculturally, socially, politically, we have gone wrong, and but for the American sense of humor the State would be in a just, nation-wide contempt. The Ku-Klux, the burning of toll-gates, the Goebel trouble, and the night-riders are all links in the same chain of lawlessness, and but for the first the others might not have been. But we are, in spite of all this, a law-abiding people, and the old manhood of the State is still here. Don't forget that—the old manhood is here."

LAW COMPELS HER TO QUIT TEACHING

Bridgewater Township Teacher Fails to Pass Required Examination.

Raritan, Jan. 17.—The members of Bridgewater Township Board of Education, of which Raritan is the principal part, are up in arms over a recent decision of the State Board of Education that all teachers failing to pass the required examinations must relinquish their schools. This decision is said to affect nineteen teachers in Somerset county, many of them coming from out of the State. One of the schools in the other districts of the township is also effected, and this particular teacher only failed in one branch, that of the science of drawing, and the Board has been directed to discharge her or the State would withhold its money. The teacher in question has just been hired for a year, and the members of the Board are in a quandary over the matter.

Several trips have been made to Trenton by G. W. Hope and Principal West in behalf of this teacher, but the State Board refuses to change its decision.

"MAC" SAYS

At least three of the local basketball teams have postponed their games scheduled for tomorrow night because of the P. H. S. minstrels. Those that were so obliging are the Ajax, Hope Chapel and Grace Church.

There will be plenty of basketball on the card, however, as the Y. M. C. A. first team will get its initial try-out against the Company K quintet, and the Mohawks will tackle the Woodbridge Parish House five as a preliminary.

At Scotch Plains, the Parish House first team will play a picked aggregation from Hope Chapel.

P. H. S. players are figuring on how they can break away from Trenton in order to arrive in this city in time for the minstrels. It seems as though those responsible might have given a little further consideration to the conditions as the minstrel show comes but once a year.

In the afternoon, the P. H. S. girls are due to play at Montclair. Some idea as to the strength of the team can be garnered from the result of this game.

Dunning, the N. P. H. S. center, who was injured Monday, is able to get around although he is carrying his injured arm in a sling.

Hetfield, the Ajax player who was injured Saturday, is not quite so fortunate, however. He is still confined to the house.

Charles H. Line, of this city, will appear in the Montclair Y. M. C. A. gym tonight as a member of the Springfield Training School gym team, which exhibits there.

N. P. H. S.-BERNARDSVILLE.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team will journey to Bernardsville tomorrow and play the team representing the High School of that place. This game is one of the most popular of the year as the trip is made by stage. The stage will start from Somerset School at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon because it takes about three hours to make the trip. The probable lineup of the borough boys is as follows: George Lownley (capt.) and Duclos Van Mater, forwards; Carroll Taylor, center; Ashley Burner and Hyman Abrams, guards. Mr. Mertz will act as chaperone.

MAY REVIVE RACING.

Washington, Jan. 17.—That the movement for the revival of racing in New York State is more powerful than at any time since Governor Hughes wiped it out of existence, is declared here by J. G. Walters, of New York, a well-known patron of the sport. He says strong pressure is to be brought on Governor Sulzer and the Assembly to repeal the law. Hotel men, farmers and shore resorts are losers by the discontinuance, according to Walters and the injury to the breeding industry is great.

$50,000 FOR "BILLIE BURKE."

New York, Jan. 17.—By the Atlantic Transport steamer Minnetonka on Saturday, the celebrated trotting horse, "Billy Burke," will be shipped and it is hinted that his destination is St. Petersburg, where he will be placed in the stables of the Russian ambassador to the United States, George Bakhemetieff, who, it is reported, purchased "Billy Burke" for $50,000.

CO. M FIVE LOSES TO CO. K, 43 TO 29

Fast team work placed the Company K basketball team at the big end of the score of 43 to 29, in the game staged at the Plainfield theatre last night between the Company M Cadets, of Somerville, and the local citizen-soldiers. From the first blow of the whistle the local sharpshooters began picking off basket after basket, until the end of the first half the score stood 18 to 10, in their favor. During the intermission between the halves, before the game started and at the close of the contest motion pictures were shown.

Two minutes after the whistle blew announcing the second half, Mulford Darling, the crack forward of the Company K quintet, neatly caged a basket with a difficult angle shot. He was closely followed for another by Ralph Seal, the shooting guard of the team. Nolan, another shooting star, was a great attraction in the game with his heady playing. Wachter led the list for the highest number of points for the Cadets, while Kershaw and Van Pelt tied for second honors in shooting field goals.

The second half of the game proved unfortunate for the captains of both teams. Five minutes after play began, J. A. Thompson, of the Company K aggregation was forced to abandon the contest because of a badly wrenched ankle, received in a mixup, and Lester Wittnebert, of the Cadets, was knocked out by a collision with one of the K boys. Glover, who starred at guard, during the opening of the game, was placed in center, when Thompson was injured, and Howell went in for Wittnebert, for the visitors.

As usual Darling rolled up the highest score for the local team, while Seal and Nolan tied for second honors for field goal shooting, although Seal had one point the better of Nolan because of the fact that he caged one foul throw. Darling's score last night of ten field goals and a brace of fouls again reached the record of this season's point scoring for one man in any game.

LEALS DEFEATED BY HEAVY P. H. S. FIVE

Interscholastic Game Goes to High School Team by a Score of 57 to 23.

Weight triumphed over aggressiveness on the Y. M. C. A. court yesterday afternoon, when the heavy Plainfield High School basketball team scored an overwhelming victory over the light Leal School players. Although the final count was 57 to 23, the score fails to show the kind of a game the private school quintet put up against such a formidable foe as the P. H. S. aggregation. The wearers of the maroon and gold started off with a rush and Dickerson scored the first goal before the contest had hardly started. Nash followed this up by shooting a foul before the High School players came to life.

While the teamwork of the High School team was of top-notch order they could not seem to locate the goal in the first half and missed many easy opportunities to run up the score. The Leal five, on the other hand, took advantage of every opportunity and the small but lithe forwards kept the P. H. S. guards ever on the alert. Both teams displayed some excellent passing, especially the winners, who were enabled to get the ball started from the jump off by reason of Good's superior jumping.

Good's weight stood him in good stead in yesterday's game and he had his opponent completely worn out before the initial half closed. He was by far the heaviest man on the floor and this fact made him the hardest to guard. Peacock, Brynariski and Heron also put up good games for the winners. Captain Nash, of the Leal team, appeared to be the main pivot around which the Leal attack was centered and his work, both on the defense and offense was deserving of mention. Steward and Dickerson kept the P. H. S. guards hustling to keep their individual shooting records down and made good on nearly every opportunity presenting itself.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM GOES TO TRENTON

Will Play the Capitol City Aggregation Tomorrow Afternoon.

A flying trip to Trenton is on the card for the Plainfield High School basketball team tomorrow afternoon, where they will meet the Trenton High School five. Many of the players have made arrangements to attend the Plainfield High School minstrel show tomorrow night and in order to arrive in this city in time for the curtain raising, some hustling will have to be done. Athletic relations between the Capitol school and the local High School athletes have never been established on a firm basis and in the event of the local players carrying away a victory tomorrow afternoon, P. H. S. will probably be accorded a permanent place on the Trenton schedule.

The Trenton school is noted for the calibre of athletes it turns out in every line of sport and the basketball team this season is one of the best ever placed on the field. During the present season Trenton has lined up against such teams as Peddie Institute, Pennington Seminary and Lawrenceville Preparatory School.

BILL WOULD MAKE NEW BOARDS VALID

Measure Introduced in Assembly to Straighten Out Freeholder Tangle.

Assemblyman John W. Zisgen, of Bergen county, has introduced in the Assembly a bill providing for the validation of the small Boards of Freeholders, thereby confirming the election of the small boards all over the State.

Not only will the bill validate the acceptance of small board laws and confirm the election of chosen representatives, but it will also make lawful the election of officers by such boards. The bill will take effect immediately upon passage.

Mr. Zisgen is a resident of Ramsey, Bergen county, in which county the voters adopted the Strong act. The new board is meeting with practically the same opposition as the Mercer county board, and the members in this county. The old crowd refuses to recognize the constitutionality of the small board law and threatens court procedure.

The bill in full follows:

"An act relating to Boards of Chosen Freeholders in certain counties of this State, validating elections therein accepting laws providing for the reorganizing of boards of Chosen Freeholders, reducing the membership thereof, confirming the election of members of such boards, and making lawful the appointment or election of officers by such boards.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

"1. Whenever in any of the counties of this State an election has heretofore been held to accept or reject the provisions of any act or acts of the Legislature providing for the reorganizing of boards of Chosen Freeholders, reducing the membership thereof, and at such election a majority of the votes cast were in favor of accepting the provisions of such act or acts, then the provision of such act or acts shall be deemed to apply to and be in operation and full force in any such counties.

"2. All elections held in any of the counties aforesaid are hereby validated and confirmed, notwithstanding any defect in the notice of such election, or in the calling of the same, or in the method or manner of submission or certification thereof.

"3. All elections heretofore had in any of the counties aforementioned for the election of members of boards of Chosen Freeholders in said act or acts mentioned are hereby validated and confirmed, and such board of Chosen Freeholders shall be and are hereby constituted the true and lawful board of Chosen Freeholders of such county for the terms for which they were so elected.

"4. All persons elected or appointed by any such Boards of Chosen Freeholders shall be and are hereby constituted the true and lawful officers in the offices to which they were elected or appointed.

"5. This act shall take effect immediately."

CHILD LABOR DAYS OBSERVANCE FAVORED

Right Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, commends the cause for which the National Child Labor Committee has asked 7,500 clergymen and educators throughout the country to set apart Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Jan. 25, 26 and 27, as Child Labor Days.

The National Child Labor Committee, New York city, is glad to send information to all who intend to speak on Child Labor. Six thousand copies of one pamphlet with general facts about Child Labor have already been distributed and nearly 500 clergymen have asked for more detailed information about tenement house manufacturing, and the National Child Labor Law in their own States.

The New Jersey Child Labor Committee is now drafting a bill that will be introduced in the present legislature to bring the New Jersey law more nearly to the standard set by the Uniform Child Labor Law. The Uniform Law was drafted by the National Child Labor Committee from the best provisions of the best statutes now in force in any State and has been endorsed by the American Bar Association which last August urged that it be adopted in all States. The campaign in New Jersey will include changes to do away with the present conflict between the compulsory school attendance law and the child labor law.

PLAN TO LESSEN LOCAL FIRE RISK

Councilmanic Committee may Order Inspection of Buildings in Business Section.

FOR GENERAL CLEAN-UP

Theatre Syndicate Can't Get Permit to Build Because Their Plans do Not Conform to Building Code Which Won't Be Changed.

Plans for a thorough inspection of all structures in the business section, as well as public buildings including the schools, were discussed at the meeting of the Councilmanic fire and buildings committee last night. The suggestion was made by Councilman Fred Endress, chairman of the committee, and it met with the approval of the other members and Mayor Percy H. Stewart, who was present by invitation of the committee.

The need for such an inspection was shown by Mr. Endress, who pointed out that a general cleanup in the business section would tend to lessen the fire risk considerably. Members of the committee had had their attention directed to several cases of carelessness on the part of store-keepers and owners of buildings and fire would doubtless result in great damage and hamper the work of firemen. The idea is to have the work of inspection done by Fire Chief Doane and the four captains of the department.

There was also a discussion of the preliminary sketch and plans for a proposed theatre to be erected on the Martine property on West Front street by Morris Abrams, Jacob Fass and Harry Dreier. The committee received an opinion from Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman advising that the permit asked for could be granted only by amending the building code, but it seemed to be the opinion of the committee that it would be unwise to change the building code on an individual request. The committee went over the situation carefully, and decided in view of the fact that a great deal of time was spent in drafting the code, in addition to paying $500 for the services of an expert to assist in the work, it would be against the interest of the public to change it now. It was also the opinion that if an amendment was made in this case, others might want it changed later to meet special requirements. The committee said, however, that if the new owners of the Martine property could acquire more land and provide for an exit on both sides of the proposed building, it might consider favorably the question of granting a permit.

The promoters of the new theatre planned to tear down the old frame building on the property and replace it with a new one. Their plans call for an eighteen foot entrance, while the building code requires twenty-five feet. This is the chief point of difference in carrying out the proposition.

The committee also discussed in a general way the budget for the coming year, and if it is decided to recommend the purchase of a new auto fire engine an amount in excess of last year's figures would be necessary. Last year's appropriation was $45,000. The committee believes that with such an apparatus it would be possible to cover the residential and outlying districts of the city much quicker than under the present arrangement. No decision, however, was reached. Needs of the department were considered and they will be taken up early in the year.

GANG OF ROWDIES IS TAUGHT A LESSON

Returning From Dance They Get in a Fight—Court Shows No Leniency.

Returning from South Plainfield about 2 o'clock this morning in the motor bus which runs between that village and this city, eight young men, ranging in age from 18 to 25 years, became engaged in a fierce hand-to-hand fight. They had been to a dance where all, the police say, had become intoxicated.

On reaching Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street the gang got out of the coach and continued the battle in the street. Roundsman Higgins got into the fight and when things were getting lively Patrolman Craig appeared upon the scene. Catching one of the men, he learned the names of the others, and all were brought to headquarters in due time. One of the gang, Joseph Packer, of Clinton avenue, pulled the fire alarm at the box at Front street and Plainfield avenue, getting the fire-fighters out of their beds.

When the prisoners were arraigned in police court they furnished a sad and subdued looking picture as they heard sentence passed upon them. Those arrested and sentences imposed by City Judge De Meza follow: Joseph Packer, $50 or 60 days; Edward Galbraith, of West Third street, William Doyle, of West Fourth street, and Matthew Ward, of Halsey street, $15 or 40 days each; George Summers, of South Second street, 60 days in the county jail; Harry Goff and William Cogger, of South Second street, received suspended sentences of $10 or 40 days, and Patrick Finnerty, of West Third street, was placed on probation. Doyle, Summers and Galbraith were the three men caught by Higgins.

"All of the prisoners are members of a gang of ruffians that have been disturbing the residents of the West End," said City Judge De Meza after the last case had been disposed of, "and such rowdyism as occurred last night will stop in Plainfield if it is in my power to prevent it."

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF BORO'S COUNCIL

Some Matters of Minor Importance Considered by North Plainfield's Solons.

An effort was made by Councilman Milne at the meeting of the Borough Council, last night, to exempt the marshals from filing bonds according to the usual custom, but his resolution was defeated, Councilmen Boyer, Cowperthwaite and Rushmore voting in the negative. Mr. Milne then changed his vote to nay, to avoid a technicality which would prevent him from bringing the matter before the Council again if he desired.

Mr. Milne's reason for relieving the marshals of the duty of providing a bond was that they handle no money and it is not necessary for them to furnish such security. He also asserted that a marshal places himself under obligations to his bondsman and that for the efficiency of the department it would be best to eliminate this requirement.

Through the adoption of a resolution, the borough engineer was authorized to re-number the houses and property on Sycamore avenue, to conform with the ordinance. Mr. Milne opposed the resolution on the ground that the property-owners should first be consulted.

The security bonds of Tax Collector George F. Brown for $10,000; Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker, Recorder M. F. Gano and Clerk Charles M. Dolliver, each for $500, were received and filed.

The annual report of the Board of Health gave the following statistics: Births, 105; deaths, 93; marriages, 44. The sum of $1,134.50 was received from all sources. There is a balance of $60.35.

The usual resolution authorizing the Mayor and clerk to advertise bids for cracked stone, flagging, curbing was adopted. Building permits were granted to P. J. McDonough, who will erect a one-family residence on Chatham street, and J. R. Newman, who will make an addition to his home at Linden avenue and Duer street.

ELLIS EXONERATED.

Albert Harry Ellis, of Westervelt avenue, arrested yesterday by Roundsman Higgins as the man wanted by the Brockton, Mass., police for stealing a Buick automobile was released after proving he was in this city on the day the machine was said to have been stolen. The information furnished by the Brockton police which resulted in Ellis' arrest included a photograph which Ellis admitted was that of himself.

SPECULATION AS TO JUDGE VAIL

Question of His Successor Interests Lawyers and Politicians in This Section.

TERM EXPIRES NEXT JAN

Circuit Court Judgeship Carries With It $7,500 Salary—Who Will Make the Appointment is the Chief Question.

Elizabeth, Jan. 18.—Politicians and lawyers throughout the State, especially those of Hudson, Union and Somerset counties, are interested in the appointment of a successor to Circuit Court Judge Benjamin Vail, who sits in those counties, and the complications which may arise in connection with it. The office carries a salary of $7,500 a year. The term of Judge Vail expires on January 8 of next year.

Who will appoint a successor to Judge Vail is a question that is being asked. Under the State Constitution the Governor may make the appointment, which is for seven years, at any time during the term for which he was elected, with the exception of the last week of his term. Such appointments must have the confirmation of the Senate, but if that body is not in session at the time the appointment takes effect no confirmation need be made. The next Legislature will not meet until January 13 of next year. As a result of this, the Governor, or his successor, will be able to appoint a successor to Judge Vail, because his term will not expire until January 20, 1914.

There are some who are of the opinion that Governor Wilson could force matters by making the appointment during the present session of the Legislature and have it confirmed by the present Senate, to take effect on January 8, 1914. This would be proper, they say, because the appointment would be in effect before the convening of the next Legislature. On the other hand they ask, if Governor Wilson does not make the appointment before he becomes President, who will? In event of the Governor resigning the Constitution provides that his duties shall be continued by the president of the Senate until a Governor is elected to fill the unexpired term.

Seven circuit judges are provided for in the statutes, but they need not be residents of the districts in which they sit. Judge Vail is a resident of this city. The Circuit Court judges do Supreme Court work and when they are assigned to continuous duty in any large city they draw the same salary as a Supreme Court judge, $9,000 a year.

WANT BLUE LAW ENFORCED THERE

North Plainfield Merchants Petition Council for Sunday Closing Now.

AFTER EXPERIMENT

For a Year the Shops Were Allowed to Be Open on Sunday Mornings But the Merchants Believe the Law Should Be Obeyed.

That a majority of the storekeepers on Somerset street, the principal business thoroughfare in the borough, are in favor of a strict observance of the Sunday closing law and against the present order of allowing shops to remain open until noon on that day, was shown last night, when a petition signed by more than ninety per cent. of the business men was presented to the Borough Council urging a strict enforcement of the law. The petition caused some surprise on the part of Mayor Clark and the Council.

The Sunday closing law was discussed at some length when Mayor Clark went into office. While some of the storekeepers wanted to close on Sunday there were others who wanted a more liberal interpretation of the law. Finally, an order was issued allowing the merchants to remain open on Sunday until noon. This order has been in effect a year.

The merchants are now satisfied, they say, that it is not for the best interests of thesmeslves or the borough that they be allowed to do business even for a half-day on Sunday, and they are anxious that the closing law be enforced. This law applies to all, except those who religiously observe Saturday as their Sabbath. In that case such persons are permitted to do business on Sunday. The petition has been referred to the law committee of the Council and will be acted upon Friday night, February 7.

ANNUAL GATHERING OF BIBLE STUDENTS

Eighty-six Members of the Probasco Bible Class Attended Annual Banquet.

One of the most impressive gatherings of young men here in recent years was that which was witnessed at the third annual banquet of the Probasco Bible class in the boys' rooms at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Eighty-six regular attendants of the class enjoyed the repast, prepared by Mrs. Henry Johnson, and the program of wit and music.

Norman H. Probasco, for whom the class is named, acted as toastmaster and the speakers were Dr. Philip B. Strong, Arthur M. Harris, James E. Church and Sidney A. Mackey.

During the evening William M. Hunter, an entertainer who cleverly imitates grand opera stars, kept the young men laughing continually. The class quartet, led by William Holmes, rendered a number of popular selections.

In his address Dr. Strong dwelt on "Confidence Towards Fellow Men." "Trust in humankind," he said, "would always tend toward the upbuilding of one's self and promote the noblest and purest kind of humanity. In order to attain the highest possible standard of character it is necessary to keep up a constant fight against the existing evils of the day and the temptations thrown in our path in our daily life. The Bible class is one means of developing our powers of resistance to a degree of usefulness by the example and teachings that we are able to present to our fellow workers."

This class has the largest membership of any organization of its nature in this city and is also one of the pioneer classes of Bible study.

SUIT STARTED TO OUST OLD BOARD

Petition Filed by Small Board in Att'y Gen.'s Name for Quo Warranto Writ.

OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

Test Case in Supreme Court to Vindicate Commission Form of Government in Union, Mercer, Bergen and Other Counties.

Trenton, Jan. 18.—The new small board of freeholders of Union county has commenced suit in the Supreme Court, in the name of the Attorney General of the State, to oust the old board. The petition in the proceedings was filed by Thomas J. Pierson, Joseph F. Greer, Dennis F. Hennessy, James J. McCann, John Logan Fay, Thomas J. Hughes and George C. Otto, the members of the new board. The petitioners have obtained Supreme Court Justice Swayze's consent to the filing of the information, and it has been filed with the court. The defendants, who are John N. Cady and the other members of the old board, must now plead or demur to the suit within 20 days.

The bringing of the action is of unusual importance because it will be a test case to vindicate the commission form of government not only in Union county, but also in Mercer, Bergen and one or two other counties in which the old boards have refused to vacate their offices, thus giving the counties rival boards and leading to serious complications, such as the tying up of county finances. There is also involved in the action the constitutionality of the amendment of 1912 to the smaller boards of freeholders act.

The papers filed in the suit aver that Union county in 1911 adopted the provisions of the small board act, and that last November the petitioners were duly elected members of the new small board. It is shown that under the small board act and its amendments the term of office of all the members of the old board terminated on the first Monday of January this year, but that notwithstanding the provisions of these acts, the defendants claim to be the lawful board of freeholders, and as such entitled to exercise all the rights as such board.

tI is recited that there are now two rival boards of freeholders in Union county and then the prayer is made that the information in the nature of a writ of quo warranto be filed to determine by what right the defendants claim to retain the office.

The information filed shows that the old board met January 1, 1913, and claimed to have organized and now constitute the Board of Freeholders, but that they have unlawfully usurped the office. It is further shown that January 6, this year, members of the new board met and organized pursuant to the statute under which they were elected and that they demanded from the defendants all the books and records, seal of office, together with the vaults and the rooms used by the freeholders, but that the old board refuses to give them up. The information closes with a formal request that the court require the deefndants to show by what warrant they claim to be entitled to the office and its duties.

NEW TYPE OF AUTO MOTOR HAS STARTLED THE TRADE

Oliver A. Reed, of this city, has designed a new type of motor for automobiles, which is destined to bring about remarkable changes. The motor is being exhibited at the automobile show being held at Madison Square Garden, New York, and is attracting much attention. The designer claims that his motor does away with about half the number of parts and the use of springs is not required. The system of cooling and positive lubrication are features. Mr. Reed appears to have increased the power of efficiency without increasing the consumption of gasoline, oils and the wearing surfaces.

Mr. Reed has been working for the past nine years perfecting the motor and he now believes that he has overcome every possible objection or defect which is to be found in other motors. He has secured patent papers so that the motor is fully protected. It is the successful valve mechanism that attracts the attention of motorists.

Matinee Performance Was Well Received by an Enthusiastic Audience.

The first public appearance of the Plainfield High School athletic association's minstrel troupe was greeted by an enthusiastic audience in the High School Auditorium yesterday afternoon. Those interested were greatly pleased with the results of the initial show and predict a crowning success for the amateur burnt cork artists at their chief performance tonight.

The scene portrays a restaurant and the members of the chorus sit around a long table as diners while the end men act as waiters and entertainers. Besides the jollity provided by the end men there were a number of side splitting minor acts including a comedy sketch entitled "Somebody Has to Be Crazy," in which Sewell Ulrich, Joseph Carty and Charles Pagiluicca take the role of merrymakers, and another comedy act entitled "Some Dutch Nonsense," in which Valentine Goldsmith and Arthur Van Zandt are the participants. Pagiluicca, the midget dancing "phenom," received encore after encore for his effort and was by far the hit of the afternoon's program. In the absence of Fred Allen, who was originally scheduled to take the all important part of interlocutor, Benjamin Evans was pressed into service at the last minute and makes an able substitute in that capacity. The performance will be given in the P. H. S. Auditorium tonight. Thomas M. Muir, of Gold Medal minstrel fame, is the efficient coach.

A. O. H. AUXILIARY'S ANNIVERSARY BALL

Division No. 1 Gives a Dance at Sebring's Auditorium, 450 Being Present.

Over 450 persons enjoyed a dance given last night in celebration of the sixth anniversary of the founding of the Ladies' Auxiliary, No. 1, A. O. H., of St. Joseph's parish, by the society in Sebring's Auditorium. The second and third floors of the building were used by the dancers. James D. Toohey, piper, of Jersey City, furnished the music on the second floor where only Irish sets were allowed. On the floor above Parobeck's orchestra provided music for the two-steps and waltzes. The two floors were appropriately decorated with Irish and American flags and bunting. There were 75 couples on the lower floor where the feature dancing of the evening took place and over 150 couples on the top floor. Refreshments were served under the direction of Patrick Griffin and Thomas Cooney. The committee in charge of the event was composed of Miss B. Hepner, chairman, Miss Ellen Bern, Miss Mollie Lyons, Mrs. Kate Bimbel and Mrs. Sullivan. Freeholder J. J. McCann was floor manager.

The society was organized on January 17, 1907, by Miss Katie Keogh, of this city, who was president for six years. These were the first officers: President, Miss Katie Keogh; vice president, Mrs. Kate Bimbel; treasurer, Miss Nellie Gunning; secretary, Miss Ellen Mulkeen. The present officers are: President, Miss Ellen Bern; vice president, Miss Katie Keogh; financial secretary, Miss Julia Carrol; recording secretary, Miss B. Hepner; treasurer, Mrs. John J. Griffin; sentinel, Miss Bessie McLoughlin; mistress-at-arms, Miss Kate Henry.

STILLMAN SENDS HIS RESIGNATION

Although Believing His Term Has Not Expired Corporation Counsel Leaves Office.

NO HINT FROM MAYOR

Stewart Keeps Silence as to Name of Man He Will Appoint—W. A. Coddington and C. A. Reed Are Most Prominently Mentioned.

Although he claims that under the provisions of the law by which he was appointed corporation counsel a year ago, to fill an unexpired term, he still has another year to serve, William M. Stillman today presented his resignation to Mayor Percy H. Stewart, to take effect February 1 or at such time as his successor is appointed. While this action comes as a surprise just at this time, there was a hint that the present incumbent would give up the office as he did not desire it. In his letter to Mr. Stewart he says that his reasons for retiring at this time are that he does not want to embarrass the Mayor or Council, although he believes that there is sufficient warrant for his retaining the office another year.

Mr. Stillman was appointed corporation counsel a year ago by Mayor G. W. V. Moy to fill the unexpired term of the late C. A. Marsh. When Mayor Stewart went into office the question was raised as to whether Mr. Stillman's term expired January 1. It was recalled that when Mr. Marsh held the position he insisted on the yearly appointment, but later a law was enacted fixing the term three years.

The validity of the statute was questioned, and there seemed to be some doubt as to whether it applied to cities of Plainfield's class. Under the circumstances Mr. Stillman thought it wise to relieve the situation and prevent any ambarrassment. It is expected that Mr. Stewart will name Mr. Stillman's successor at the February meeting of the Council, but who it will be cannot be learned at present as he is not ready at this time to disclose the name. The two most prominently mentioned for the place are former Judge William A. Coddington and former Senator Charles A. Reed. As Mr. Coddington is a Democrat his chances are considered bright.

SEARCHING HERE FOR COLORED SLAYER

Police Here on Lookout for Hightstown Murderer Who Has Relatives Here.

The police of this city have been asked by Prosecutor Crossley, of Mercer county, to keep a lookout for Moses Taylor, colored, who shot and instantly killed Obadiah Miner, last night, in a colored church at Hightstown and escaped the constables. It is thought that Taylor may seek hiding in this city as relatives of his live on West Third street. Chief Kiely has men watching all roads of probable approach to this city from the scene of the murder.

Poor aim on the part of Taylor when he fired the fatal shots was responsible for Miner being the victim. The assassin had brought the loaded revolver to the church to slay Charles Warmsley, whom he had been quarreling with for several weeks over the affections of a woman.

The murder took place while a cake was being auctioned off to a collection of colored people who had attended the fair in the Hightstown Baptist church. Miner, who was bidding for the article, was struck down and instantly killed when Taylor opened fire on his enemy. A panic followed during which Taylor escaped. Armed posses are scouring the country around Hightstown in search of the murderer and lynching is being talked of.

Action on the application will be taken at a meeting of the Council, Friday night, February 7.

DANCE AT SEMINARY A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

One of the most charming of dances took place last night at the Plainfield Seminary, when the sophomore and junior classes entertained the fourth year students. About fifty guests enjoyed the twenty-four numbers on the program. Most of the dancing was done in the large main hall of the school building. It was in the gymnasium, however, that the "feature" events were given. This place had been made to resemble an Egyptian lounging hall. Many pennants and banners hung from the walls. Oriental rugs covered the floor and in each of the four corners of the room were richly furnished cozy corners.

A bevy of attractively gowned young women with their partners wandered among the palms and about the luxuriously appointed room while the strains of waltz music floated in from the main hall. Old Colonial, Egyptian, Turkish, Chinese, Japanese and Dutch costumes were in evidence.

Supper was served at 10:30. The sophomore-junior committee was composed of the Misses Theresa Sharretts, Constance Harris, Marion Schuyler, Margaret Eaton, Annette Van Mater, Dorothy Langford and Clara Newman. The chaperones were Miss Elvira Kenyon, Miss Florence Stewart and Miss Edna Hopkins. Princeton "Prep," Rutgers, Stevens and Columbia University were represented on the floor by a number of young men.

ARMOUR & CO. PLAN FOR BIG SLAUGHTER HOUSE?

Somerville, Jan. 18.—It is rumored that Armour & Company, of Chicago, have purchased the farms of William Hamilton and Gilbert Hoffman, across the river from this place, and near the Manville plant, and will erect large slaughter houses, etc., there. The plant is to be used as the distributing place for all their eastern business. It is said that they will ship carloads of cattle here, and that many men will be employed. The property is especially well located for this business, owing to the railroad facilities and close proximity to New York.

APPOINTMENTS DELAYED FOR THE HEALTH BOARD

Owing to the fact that Mayor Percy H. Stewart has not appointed successors to Dr. William H. Murray, William M. Wherry, Jr., and A. E. Force, whose terms have expired as members of the Board of Health, it was impossible for the Board to effect an organization for the coming year at its meeting last night. It is expected that the Mayor will make the appointments at the February meeting of the Common Council.

The business of the Board last night was chiefly of a routine nature, nothing of importance being discussed. A few permits were granted after the customary reports were received from the acting health officer, Miss Mattison, and the health inspector, William H. Addis.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The quaint comedy, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," which is the attraction at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening, is full of original sayings quaintly put and full of dry humor. Among them are some admonitions to women, such as these: "Even though ye are plain, dinna be so plain as ye look." "Wummin make a great mistake when they think a' man cares aboot is to see ye lookin' bonny. It's true he dinna want a wumman around lookin' like a hen that's been cut in the rain. No matter how plain ye are, ye maun continue to look attractive enough for a kiss, but it's easy, if ye are a wumman of sense."

SUNDAY-SCHOOL ENTERTAINED.

The second of the series of entertainments being given for the Sunday-school of Hope chapel was held last night and the pupils enjoyed sketches by Arthur Maclay's and Miss Munger's classes. Mrs. E. D. Young sang several solos, and Mr. Young played several selections on the cornet. Johnson's orchestra entertained with selections. At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the refreshmnts was made up of three classes with Arthur Maclay as chairman.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

As an innovation the chorus girl ranks supreme. Sydney Langdon, quite English, but not quite twenty, engaged for Henry W. Savage's forthcoming production of the Avery Hopwood-Gustav Luders musical fantasy, "Somewhere Else," at the Broadway theatre, brought to a recent rehearsal a Gladstone bag, which she watched with a careful eye until an intermission for rest was announced. From the bag she then brought out a small collapsible table, a copper tea kettle, a gasoline lamp, and the other essentials to a successful brewing of the English national tipple. Unmindful of the giggling interest displayed by the other girls, she set up the table, arranged the tea things, lighted the gasoline lamp and prepared to enjoy her refreshment. Composer Luders turned away from the piano in time to witness the final preparations, and held his breath in astonishment too great to permit of instant protest. The house fireman, however, required only an instant to grasp the nature of the proceedings. Despite the size of the gasoline flare he would countenance no such infraction of the rules. A brief but spirited colloquy between him and Miss Langdon ensued. He won. The gasoline lamp and other tea trappings were returned to the Gladstone bag, and, after the English recruit had ejaculated "My word!" several times and voiced her contempt for the authority represented by the house fireman, the rehearsal of "Somewhere Else" was resumed.

In these days of musical comedies and problem plays that have been so much in evidence, it is refreshing to note the success of the revival of Shakespeare's masterpiece, Hamlet, in which John E. Kellerd and a company of notable players are appearing at the Harris theatre. Popular appreciation of the play is shown by crowded houses. The celebration of the fiftieth performance on New Year's Day marked a new record for the run of any one of the Shakespearean plays since the time of Edwin Booth. Mr. Kellerd has been identified with the serious drama for many years and his season in New York has been a source of delight to all lovers of the best in the classic drama.

In "Joseph and His Brethren," at the New Century theatre, we will have an opportunity to show the dramatic contrast of clothes to better effect than any play I have ever met. Why? Because we can show the Children of Israel in the half barbaric splendor of their life in the desert. Leading their flocks, driving their camels and asses, camping beside the wells in the cases with their striped tents reflecting the vivid colors of the oriental skies, wearing their robes and tunics brilliant with natural dyes, they present a picture that is a joy to the eye.

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 1009 S. Second St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "There was a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly and any hard work made my condition worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and various other remedies but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. They did such good work in correcting my trouble that I heartily recommended them."

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE'S COLUMN

(Every Saturday).

Conducted by the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

EDITOR

MRS. E. F. FEICKERT.

In view of the decision of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League to convert its pavilion into an outdoor school for children who are anaemic and predisposed to consumption, the following article by Doctor Thomas Spees Carrington, Assistant Secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, will be especially interesting:

Outdoor Schools.

Why should a community establish an outdoor school? The question must be answered and the reasons given be sound if the outdoor school is to be a permanent feature of our educational equipment. The school children of today are the men and women of tomorrow. There is at present a strong movement on foot to discover and prevent physical defects among them, and one of the most insidious causes of deformities and ill-health is tuberculosis in its many forms. Children seem more susceptible to it than adults. It often attacks their glands, bones and joints and, after doing more or less damage to the tender tissues, seemingly disappears, until in early adult life, usually after a bad cold, the lungs are found to be infected. This accounts in no small degree for the high death rate from consumption between the ages of twenty and forty-five. It is held by some authorities that pulmonary tuberculosis in the adult is, in a majority of cases, the result of infection during childhood, and that the only way the disease can be suppressed is by improving the health and building up the strength of children. If this be true, and I believe it is, any device that provides sanitary surroundings during a portion of the day is an important adjunct to their school life, and increases their resistance to disease in later years.

Outdoor schools are an experiment of only two or three years standing, but already they have shown that the children who attend them, although tuberculous, are after a few weeks in the open air in better physical condition than many children in the public schools. This is shown by their appearance, by a comparison of weights and by other tests. The children of the outdoor schools usually have a healthy color, while many school children appear pale and weak. One cause for the anaemic condition of school children is the warm, dry air of the schoolroom, which lowers their vitality. Bad air kills interest in work and gives such diseases as grip, pneumonia and tuberculosis a chance to overcome the natural resistance of the body. Children have to spend three to six hours a day in the classroom, breathing air that may be laden with germs, for the ventilation of a school building is seldom good. The arrangement of the seat and desk is a suggestion to the child to bend forward, producing an unnatural position which cramps the action of the heart and lungs. It would seem best to remove from a child's environment anything which lowers the vitality of the body and handicaps nature in her efforts to prevent disease, particularly during school hours, for the brain is unable to do good work and the mental powers cannot be used for any length of time under bad sanitary conditions. The school-room under any circumstances is a trying place for children. Their bodies were made for action, and exercise in the fresh air is necessary for healthy growth. Children should not be confined or required to study when tired, for their physical condition should surely be regarded as of greater importance than early education. Anyone familiar with the confining atmosphere of city schools will appreciate the need of adopting every means by which the pupils' health may be improved, and, as lessons in the open air usually do this, the agitation for outdoor schools should interest everyone.

I feel strongly that outdoor schools should not be regarded as hospitals, or used only for tuberculous children, but rather as a part of every school system, to help to build up the health of the weak children and prevent the development of invalids.

Boston, Providence, Hartford, New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Rochester are experimenting with outdoor schools, and all report good work done. Those who have written the reports on these schools agree that in every city, town and village, children predisposed to tuberculosis, or in an anaemic condition, should have the chance of regaining their health in an outdoor school. Many school children are the offsprings of tuberculous parents and live in crowded quarters, often sleeping in rooms with two or three other persons, so that their home surroundings are very bad; but in spite of this the improvement in their physical condition from attending outdoor schools is marked in almost every case. The results, physical, mental, educational, moral and disciplinary, have all been good. Resistance to infectious colds and influenza is increased, the sight grows stronger and the strength and tone of the voices improve.

Have you ever stopped to think that one of the arguments which has appealed most strongly to many of our best citizens of all classes to make Plainfield their home city is the fact that an unwritten law has led the Honorable Members of our City Council to grant no additional liquor licenses either inside or outside the so-called "Tyler License Zone."

Do you realize that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the Council to grant new additional licenses and to renew others heretofore canceled, also enlarge the "License Zone" further into the residential districts?

Every voter who is opposed to the granting of such licenses and the enlarging of the zone is urged to sign at once the following blank and forward promptly to Wm. T. Schmittman, Secretary, 208 Madison avenue.

One of the most charming of dances took place last night at the Plainfield Seminary, when the sophomore and junior classes entertained the fourth year students. About fifty guests enjoyed the twenty-four numbers on the program. Most of the dancing was done in the large main hall of the school building. It was in the gymnasium, however, that the "feature" events were given. This place had been made to resemble an Egyptian lounging hall. Many pennants and banners hung from the walls. Oriental rugs covered the floor and in each of the four corners of the room were richly furnished cozy corners.

A bevy of attractively gowned young women with their partners wandered among the palms and about the luxuriously appointed room while the strains of waltz music floated in from the main hall. Old Colonial, Egyptian, Turkish, Chinese, Japanese and Dutch costumes were in evidence.

Supper was served at 10:30. The sophomore-junior committee was composed of the Misses Theresa Sharretts, Constance Harris, Marion Schuyler, Margaret Eaton, Annette Van Mater, Dorothy Langford and Clara Newman. The chaperones were Miss Elvira Kenyon, Miss Florence Stewart and Miss Edna Hopkins. Princeton "Prep," Rutgers, Stevens and Columbia University were represented on the floor by a number of young men.

ARMOUR & CO. PLAN FOR BIG SLAUGHTER HOUSE?

Somerville, Jan. 18.—It is rumored that Armour & Company, of Chicago, have purchased the farms of William Hamilton and Gilbert Hoffman, across the river from this place, and near the Manville plant, and will erect large slaughter houses, etc., there. The plant is to be used as the distributing place for all their eastern business. It is said that they will ship carloads of cattle here, and that many men will be employed. The property is especially well located for this business, owing to the railroad facilities and close proximity to New York.

APPOINTMENTS DELAYED FOR THE HEALTH BOARD

Owing to the fact that Mayor Percy H. Stewart has not appointed successors to Dr. William H. Murray, William M. Wherry, Jr., and A. E. Force, whose terms have expired as members of the Board of Health, it was impossible for the Board to effect an organization for the coming year at its meeting last night. It is expected that the Mayor will make the appointments at the February meeting of the Common Council.

The business of the Board last night was chiefly of a routine nature, nothing of importance being discussed. A few permits were granted after the customary reports were received from the acting health officer, Miss Mattison, and the health inspector, William H. Addis.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The quaint comedy, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," which is the attraction at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening, is full of original sayings quaintly put and full of dry humor. Among them are some admonitions to women, such as these: "Even though ye are plain, dinna be so plain as ye look." "Wummin make a great mistake when they think a' man cares aboot is to see ye lookin' bonny. It's true he dinna want a wumman around lookin' like a hen that's been cut in the rain. No matter how plain ye are, ye maun continue to look attractive enough for a kiss, but it's easy, if ye are a wumman of sense."

SUNDAY-SCHOOL ENTERTAINED.

The second of the series of entertainments being given for the Sunday-school of Hope chapel was held last night and the pupils enjoyed sketches by Arthur Maclay's and Miss Munger's classes. Mrs. E. D. Young sang several solos, and Mr. Young played several selections on the cornet. Johnson's orchestra entertained with selections. At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the refreshmnts was made up of three classes with Arthur Maclay as chairman.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

As an innovation the chorus girl ranks supreme. Sydney Langdon, quite English, but not quite twenty, engaged for Henry W. Savage's forthcoming production of the Avery Hopwood-Gustav Luders musical fantasy, "Somewhere Else," at the Broadway theatre, brought to a recent rehearsal a Gladstone bag, which she watched with a careful eye until an intermission for rest was announced. From the bag she then brought out a small collapsible table, a copper tea kettle, a gasoline lamp, and the other essentials to a successful brewing of the English national tipple. Unmindful of the giggling interest displayed by the other girls, she set up the table, arranged the tea things, lighted the gasoline lamp and prepared to enjoy her refreshment. Composer Luders turned away from the piano in time to witness the final preparations, and held his breath in astonishment too great to permit of instant protest. The house fireman, however, required only an instant to grasp the nature of the proceedings. Despite the size of the gasoline flare he would countenance no such infraction of the rules. A brief but spirited colloquy between him and Miss Langdon ensued. He won. The gasoline lamp and other tea trappings were returned to the Gladstone bag, and, after the English recruit had ejaculated "My word!" several times and voiced her contempt for the authority represented by the house fireman, the rehearsal of "Somewhere Else" was resumed.

In these days of musical comedies and problem plays that have been so much in evidence, it is refreshing to note the success of the revival of Shakespeare's masterpiece, Hamlet, in which John E. Kellerd and a company of notable players are appearing at the Harris theatre. Popular appreciation of the play is shown by crowded houses. The celebration of the fiftieth performance on New Year's Day marked a new record for the run of any one of the Shakespearian plays since the time of Edwin Booth. Mr. Kellerd has been identified with the serious drama for many years and his season in New York has been a source of delight to all lovers of the best in the classic drama.

In "Joseph and His Brethren," at the New Century theatre, we will have an opportunity to show the dramatic contrast of clothes to better effect than any play I have ever met. Why? Because we can show the Children of Israel in the half barbaric splendor of their life in the desert. Leading their flocks, driving their camels and asses, camping beside the wells in the cases with their striped tents reflecting the vivid colors of the oriental skies, wearing their robes and tunics brilliant with natural dyes, they present a picture that is a joy to the eye.

I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells especially when stooping or lifting and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and various other remedies but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE'S COLUMN

MRS. E. F. FEICKERT.

In view of the decision of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League to convert its pavilion into an outdoor school for children who are anaemic and predisposed to consumption, the following article by Doctor Thomas Spees Carrington, Assistant Secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, will be especially interesting:

Outdoor Schools.

Why should a community establish an outdoor school? The question must be answered and the reasons given be sound if the outdoor school is to be a permanent feature of our educational equipment. The school children of today are the men and women of tomorrow. There is at present a strong movement on foot to discover and prevent physical defects among them, and one of the most insidious causes of deformities and ill-health is tuberculosis in its many forms. Children seem more susceptible to it than adults. It often attacks their glands, bones and joints and, after doing more or less damage to the tender tissues, seemingly disappears, until in early adult life, usually after a bad cold, the lungs are found to be infected. This accounts in no small degree for the high death rate from consumption between the ages of twenty and forty-five. It is held by some authorities that pulmonary tuberculosis in the adult is, in a majority of cases, the result of infection during childhood, and that the only way the disease can be suppressed is by improving the health and building up the strength of children. If this be true, and I believe it is, any device that provides sanitary surroundings during a portion of the day is an important adjunct to their school life, and increases their resistance to disease in later years.

Outdoor schools are an experiment of only two or three years standing, but already they have shown that the children who attend them, although tuberculous, are after a few weeks in the open air in better physical condition than many children in the public schools. This is shown by their appearance, by a comparison of weights and by other tests. The children of the outdoor schools usually have a healthy color, while many school children appear pale and weak. One cause for the anaemic condition of school children is the warm, dry air of the schoolroom, which lowers their vitality. Bad air kills interest in work and gives such diseases as grip, pneumonia and tuberculosis a chance to overcome the natural resistance of the body. Children have to spend three to six hours a day in the classroom, breathing air that may be laden with germs, for the ventilation of a school building is seldom good. The arrangement of the seat and desk is a suggestion to the child to bend forward, producing an unnatural position which cramps the action of the heart and lungs. It would seem best to remove from a child's environment anything which lowers the vitality of the body and handicaps nature in her efforts to prevent disease, particularly during school hours, for the brain is unable to do good work and the mental powers cannot be used for any length of time under bad sanitary conditions. The school-room under any circumstances is a trying place for children. Their bodies were made for action, and exercise in the fresh air is necessary for healthy growth. Children should not be confined or required to study when tired, for their physical condition should surely be regarded as of greater importance than early education. Anyone familiar with the confining atmosphere of city schools will appreciate the need of adopting every means by which the pupils' health may be improved, and, as lessons in the open air usually do this, the agitation for outdoor schools should interest everyone.

I feel strongly that outdoor schools should not be regarded as hospitals, or used only for tuberculous children, but rather as a part of every school system, to help to build up the health of the weak children and prevent the development of invalids.

Boston, Providence, Hartford, New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Rochester are experimenting with outdoor schools, and all report good work done. Those who have written the reports on these schools agree that in every city, town and village, children predisposed to tuberculosis, or in an anaemic condition, should have the chance of regaining their health in an outdoor school. Many school children are the offsprings of tuberculous parents and live in crowded quarters, often sleeping in rooms with two or three other persons, so that their home surroundings are very bad; but in spite of this the improvement in their physical condition from attending outdoor schools is marked in almost every case. The results, physical, mental, educational, moral and disciplinary, have all been good. Resistance to infectious colds and influenza is increased, the sight grows stronger and the strength and tone of the voices improve.

Have you ever stopped to think that one of the arguments which has appealed most strongly to many of our best citizens of all classes to make Plainfield their home city is the fact that an unwritten law has led the Honorable Members of our City Council to grant no additional liquor licenses either inside or outside the so-called "Tyler License Zone."

Do you realize that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the Council to grant new additional licenses and to renew others heretofore canceled, also enlarge the "License Zone" further into the residential districts?

Every voter who is opposed to the granting of such licenses and the enlarging of the zone is urged to sign at once the following blank and forward promptly to Wm. T. Schmittman, Secretary, 208 Madison avenue.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JANUARY 18, 1913.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Thaddeus O. Doane, chief of the Plainfield Fire Department, is the contributing editor for today.

THE FIREMAN.

Little do the people of a community know of the duties of a fireman. Their knowledge of a fireman's life is judged by seeing him sitting in front of his house in the summer, and it is natural for them to term it a lazy life. Almost nothing is known of the time he is compelled to give to the service of which no other body of men is required to give one-half as much. When other classes of workers clamor for shorter hours no one thinks of the man who is on duty all the time and who is called from his bed at all hours. The risk that he takes in responding to alarms is much greater than that of any other employe in any municipal service.

A fireman is on duty twenty-four hours in a day and three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, with the exception of his ten days' vacation and one day's leave of absence in every eight here. If at his meal, or on his day off, he is expected to report for duty if an alarm sounds. A great many fires occur during meal hours. The men must then jump from the table and hurry to the fire, and often go without that meal, for should the fire last any length of time and hose be stretched in, there is immediate work to do to get things in readiness for another possible alarm as quickly as possible.

Work begins in the Fire Department at 6 a. m., when one relief starts for breakfast; another cleans house and cleans out the stables. As soon as the first squad returns the entire house is swept, and at least once a week is scrubbed from top to bottom. The apparatus must be cleaned, all brass work polished and everything dusted and carefully looked after.

At 11 a. m. the first squad goes to dinner. If there have been no fires during the night or in the morning (if there have been there is a good day's work ahead) the actual work is finished by 1 or 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Then follows the monotony of a fireman's life. Especially is this so in the winter months when he is confined to a room where he scarcely sees the sun shining. If he is a lover of literature that helps, for he soon tires of playing cards or checkers. Then follows a wearisome round of days which a great many men cannot endure. Numbers of them quit after one day's service. Some who join a department in the summer may hold out until the coming of the chilly days, which requires the front doors to be kept closed, and then seek other employment.

When the men retire at night, and you may be sure they do so at an early hour, their stiff legged rubber boots with their pants folded over the legs, are placed beside the beds. At the first tap of the house gong the men spring out of bed, place their feet in the boots, pull up their pants, snap them fast, slide down the pole, and in twenty seconds the apparatus is rolling over the door sills. It is a bitter night indeed if time is taken to put on coats if the run is a short one. In this city we are short handed. When the appartus first reaches a fire there are one or two men to do the work of six or eight until help arrives; and the pay of a fireman will average from eight to ten cents per hour.

We have a sufficient number of engine houses in the city of Plainfield, though none to spare, probably for all time to come if we do not add new territory, i. e., after all of the apparatus becomes motorized. The apparatus is and should be to a degree concentrated in the conflagration district, and still be able to reach quickly the outlying or residence portion of the city. We require more apparatus. We are very greatly in need of another engine, one which is capable of throwing from seven to nine hundred gallons of water a minute, with a sufficiently powerful motor to quickly reach any part of the city through snow of whatever depth. At every large fire we are short of ladders. In the year 1898 an engine house was erected in the west end of the city with the expectation of placing a hook and ladder truck there the next year. None has arrived yet. When the house in the east end was built a combination hose and chemical was to have been placed there the next year, to be followed by an engine later. The latter has not yet been supplied. Are we waiting until we shall be compelled to add this apparatus, and perhaps more? We were once ahead of any other city of Plainfield's size in the State. Where do we now stand?

HARRY LISTER IS HURT IN A RAILROAD WRECK

Harry Lister, of this city, who has been traveling through the west for the Edison Company, was severely injured in a railroad wreck at Lafayette, Ind., on Tuesday, January 7, has been under treatment in a hospital at Lafayette. Being unable to write himself, a friend has been in communication with Mrs. Lister, but he has thus far been unable to learn just how badly her husband is hurt. Another letter received yesterday failed to give the desired information.

When interviewed today, Mrs. Lister said that she feels her husband's injuries are worse than she has been informed and if she does not receive definite news within a day or two she will go to Lafayette herself. In one letter she received the writer said that Mr. Lister jumped through a window when the wreck occupied and escaped with slight injuries.

PUJO STORMS AGAINST TAFT AND CONGRESS

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Senate is not likely to pass the bill demanded by Chairman Pujo, giving the committee power to question National banks as to loans and individual depositors. Mr. Pujo has issued in a bitter statement an attack on President Taft and the Senate for refusing information and authority to demand information, but it will not avail.

It is evident that the Democratic leaders intend to take up interstate commerce legislation at the extra session along with tariff," he says. "The long series of hearings on railway and interstate commerce subjects set by the House committee on interestate commerce is to pile up a mass of information for the incoming Congress so that actual work can be commenced on these bills. There will be plenty of time for general legislation after the tariff bill passes the House.

"Despite Mr. Wilson's fond expectations the Senate is not going to railroad this tariff legislation through, but will scan it very carefully and amend it freely. There will undoubtedly be a long wrangle in conference and in all that time the House can amuse itself with all kinds of legislation which would not die with the extra session, but would survive until the close of Congress, March 4, two years hence. But an element of comfort and safety lies in the fact that the Democratic leaders realize that their administration will be on trial during that perposition party and indorsed by the nation, hence the caution to be exercised by the Senate.

COMMUTERS' EXPRESS SERVICE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

It is undoubtedly true that a railroad is run for the greatest good of the greatest number, but in some instances the Central is not. There is the 7:55 express and then no express until 8:30, the busiest time of the morning. Yet there are two locals, one at 7:58 and one at 8:10 each making all the same stops. One of these trains could be made an express from Cranford in, much to our benefit as it certainly does not take two locals twelve minutes apart to take care of the few local travelers and which leave here empty every morning while a large crowd wait for an express. Both our city and the Central are all right, but it is the men who are running them on an old time schedule that make them unpopular.

Yours truly,
C. C. SCUDDER.

AS TO MORE SALOONS.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

If the voters who sign the remonstrance against granting more liquor licenses will hold their organization until next year's primary and vote as they pray there will be no need of protest along this line in the future. At least one candidate for Common Council was defeated at the last election because he was opposed to more saloons.

HELEN GOULD'S ROMANCE

Miss Helen Gould

Miss Helen Gould's Place - Irvington

Finley J Shepard

ALL the world loves a lover. And when that lover woos and wins one of the wealthiest spinsters in the world it is only natural that interest in this ardent and successful wooer should be intensified a thousand fold, or that he should become an international figure over night.

Such is the case of Finley J. Shepard, a rising railroad man of St. Louis, who, in an incredibly short space of time, won the heart, hand and millions of Miss Helen Miller Gould, eldest daughter of the late Jay Gould.

The Gould-Shepard romance reads like a bit of fiction and those who have seen the newly engaged couple together assert that they are as violently in love with each other as the traditional school boy and girl after their first meeting. Miss Gould, so far, has little to say regarding her romance, but her intimates assert that she is just as happy as any debutante would be after "landing" the most desirable and wary bachelor in her set. Mr. Shepard is more voluble. In fact he just bubbles over with protestations of undying affection, to say nothing of the good fortune that has befallen him.

It seems right and proper that the daughter of the man who made his millions in railroads, after forging the links that formed one of the greatest railroad systems in the world, should meet her fate in a railroad environment. Neither is it surprising, after all interested in her believed she would end her days in spinsterhood, that she should exercise a woman's prerogative and change her mind. And then, too, after exercising her right to change her mind, that she should select for her future lord and master a man who had elected the railroad field as one in which to exercise his talents and endeavor to climb the ladder of promotion until he reaches the topmost rung.

Helen Gould's romance—and romance it is in every essential—is less than three months old. Few know that while the bulk of her big fortune is invested in railroad securities, and that George J. Gould, her eldest brother, is custodian of the railroad interests left by their father, that Miss Gould takes a lively interest in these affairs and frequently makes inspection trips over the lines linked in the Gould chain. She is a keen observer and little escapes her eye. When she has completed one of these observation tours she seeks her brother and they go over all the copious notes she may have made en route. Many radical reforms introduced in the Gould system within the past decade had their inception with the daughter of the house.

It was on October 10 last, that Cupid shot the dart which speared the hearts of Helen Gould and Finley Shepard. Miss Gould was then on one of her tours. Mr. Shepard, while in Chicago, received a telegram from his chief, President Brush, of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, instructing him to hurry to New York and take charge of Miss Gould's party which was about to leave New York in a private car via the Lake Shore road. It was Miss Gould's intention to proceed direct to Chicago and there join a party of friends and attend a convention of the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association, an institution which she is not only deeply interested in but one to which she has devoted years of time and thousands of dollars.

Mr. Shepard hurried to New York and then met Miss Gould for the first time. He took luncheon with her upon his arrival and then discussed all arrangements for the tour. Mr. E. B. Pryor, one of the receivers of the Wabash road, was in New York at the time and from him Mr. Shepard procured the loan of his private car which was placed at Miss Gould's disposal.

The journey from New York to Chicago was begun, the private car occupied by Miss Gould being the last on the train. At Syracuse another private car was added and this was hitched to the rear of Miss Gould's car. The added car was to have been dropped at Buffalo the next day. The addition of this car, railroad men assert, in reality was responsible for Miss Gould's escape from death and the means by which her heart was given over to the keeping of the courier of her tour.

That night the crash came. A rear-end collision completely wrecked the train on which Miss Gould was traveling and the freight train which hit it was demolished.

Mr. Shepard was in one of the forward sleepers and his first thought was for his charges in the private car. Although considerably bruised and shaken he groped his way through the twisted mass of wreckage and when he came to the private car he was overjoyed to be greeted by Miss Gould who told him that beyond shock she was none the worse for the mishap. Her chief concern was for those more seriously injured about her and when told that the brunt of the crash had been borne by the forward cars she insisted upon Mr. Shepard leaving her and going where he could do the most good.

This Shepard did with alacrity, but he was surprised to turn and find standing at his side the woman whose safety had been entrusted to his keeping. The locomotive had been flung from the track and all about them was chaos and confusion. The groans of the injured filled the air and the sturdy young assistant to the president gave no further heed to the woman at his side, but with axe and crowbar set to work to liberate the victims who were hemmed in by crumbled timbers through which flames already were creeping.

After working heroically for half an hour he succeeded in extricating the engineer of the express train who was pinned beneath the engine tender. There were others in equally perilous plights and these, too, he aided. He worked with the feverish haste of the man who has a task to perform and accomplish it regardless of almost insurmountable obstacles confronting him.

After laboring thus for two hours, and when word was passed that the last unfortunate had been liberated, the young assistant again bethought him of his wards in the private car. Grimy and mud bespattered the once dapper railroad official presented himself at the door of Miss Gould's stateroom and asked if there was anything he could do to add to the comfort of her and her guests.

He was ushered into the compartment and Miss Gould and the women of her party at once busied themselves in ministering to the man whose hands were cruelly bruised and slashed by their contact with the heavy timbers he had been wrestling with in order to save the lives of those pinned under them. His face was black with the grime of charred wood and an ugly gash across his forehead told its own tale.

It is said that no professional nurse knows better how to render first aid than Miss Gould. Clad in the business suit of gray which she habitually affects, she soon had her courier swathed in bandages, and when the relief train bearing physicians and nurses arrived there was naught for them to do as far as ministering to Mr. Shepard was concerned.

It may be mentioned that after seeing Mr. Shepard set to work on his errand of mercy Miss Gould did not return at once to her private car as Mr. Shepard had supposed. Instead she went through every car of the train and many women and children aboard them will testify that the calm, determined woman in gray did much to alleviate their suffering, as well as their anguish of mind. She did not return to her stateroom until she convinced herself that everything possible had been done to relieve the distressed.

Mr. Shepard was aghast when he learned that Miss Gould had busied herself within the cars as industriously and successfully as he had without. It was not until they compared notes when the journey was resumed that all this came out and hours were spent by the two who had been so strangely drawn together through misfortune.

Discussing the events of that night, on the evening her brother George announced her engagement, Miss Gould said:

"I think it was the masterful manner in which Mr. Shepard essayed to aid the stricken that first aroused my interest in him. I knew that night that he was a man in a million, and in our talks that followed I knew I had met my master—the one man in the world who I would willingly entrust my future to."

Mr. Shepard also discussed the events of that night but what he had to say was not as circumscribed, for there was more of the note of exultation dominating his remarks than that of repression as was the case with Miss Gould.

"Miss Gould is an angel," he said. "I knew at a glance after seeing her at my side in the gloom pervading the wreck that she was there to act and not to give way to the hysterical outburst so many women would have fallen back upon under similar circumstances. The quiet and self-composed manner in which she offered her suggestions to me convinced me that she was one woman in a million and further there was a tenderness in all she did, said and looked that penetrated to the innermost recesses of my heart. Before that night was over I knew I loved her, although in my wildest dreams it never occurred to me that she would ever give me a second thought. I am the happiest man in the world, for none can take from me the light that dawned upon me that night.

It was not until his arrival in New York to visit his fiance just before Christmas, and his first visit to her following the announcement of their engagement, that Mr. Shepard admitted that he had won the heart of Miss Gould before their journey to Chicago was completed and that he had had her answer to the question nearest his heart before she left Chicago at the conclusion of the Y. M. C. A. convention. It was an awakening for the two of them that came in a night and less than forty-eight hours after knowing that he loved her, Finley Shepard, the assistant to a railroad president, knew that he was the affianced of one of the wealthiest heiresses in the world and that his fiance was perhaps one of the most universally respected and widely loved women in America.

The name of Helen Miller Gould and Charity have been synonomous for many years. There is not a railroad man in the United States, or a sailor who makes port within their confines, who has not had occasion to bless her for the manifold reforms she has brought about through her own efforts. Miss Gould was born in June, 1868. Therefore she was nearly forty-five years old when romance crept into her life she had vowed to devote to assuaging the sufferings and discomforts of mankind. Soon after her father's death in December, 1892, Miss Gould appeared before the public in the role of benefactor of institutions organized primarily for the education and moral uplift of the very young and the middle aged of both sexes.

Her largest gifts have been to the Young Men's Christian Association, especially among the men of the army and navy and railroad employes. She also established a chain of cooking and sewing schools for girls in the lower East Side of New York and nearly all the members of these classes have been entertained at Miss Gould's magnificent country estate near Tarrytown where she has John D. Rockefeller and others equally prominent in the world of finance and society for close neighbors. Miss Gould, however, cares little for society in the general and accepted sense of the term for her time and fortune have ever been dedicated to higher attainments.

Mr. Shepard is a native of Connecticut. He entered railroad service in the employ of the Northern Pacific at St. Paul. He rose steadily in the ranks until he became assistant general manager and in 1901 went to the Santa Fe, with offices in Chicago. He was transferred to Los Angeles where he was made general superintendent of all the coast lines and there remained for three years when he retired from railroading to embark in a business for himself which had railroad affiliations. In 1911 he returned to his earlier field and joined the operating department of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain system. When Mr. Bush was chosen to head that combination, which included the Denver and Rio Grande, Mr. Shepard was made his assistant.

He is the son of an Episcopal clergyman and like his father has always manifested a keen interest in philanthropy. Mr. Shepard's mother is blind and the inmate of a hospital in Connecticut. There her son spent his Christmas with her, returning to New York the following day to join his fiance.

Of the match Mrs. Shepard said: "I know Miss Gould is a splendid woman, I have heard of her good deeds for many years, and I have always admired her extravagantly. But since she has given her heart into the keeping of my boy I am more than ever convinced of her rare good judgment, and I know she will be happy to the end of her days."

BREAKING THE GRIP OF THE ICE KING

Field of Thin Ice

The Latrobe Breaking Through Heavy Floes

Norwegian Steamer Sif Aground in Ice

Ice Breaker Annapolis

THIS is the season of the year when the hardy navigators of the Chesapeake Bay conduct their annual fight against ice, their greatest foe, for the huge and almost tideless sea that divides the state of Maryland and washes the shores of Virginia is held tightly within the grasp of the Frost King. Only by special and almost ceaseless effort is the ship channel kept open to the commerce of the world.

Unlike any of the other estuaries of the Atlantic the Chesapeake Bay freezes over more quickly. This is largely due to the upper part of the bay being practically fresh water with but little tide. In Boston and New York bays and on the Delaware river there is ample ice, it is true, but the rushing tide breaks it up almost as quickly as it forms and whereas on those bodies of water there is much floating ice there is not the solid sheet of frozen water to be encountered as there is on the upper Chesapeake.

On the Great Lakes, those inland fresh-water seas that separate the United States from Canada, the uselessness of fighting the ice has long been recognized and on the first touch of frost the gigantic fleet of steamers and sailing craft make ports and lay up until spring.

Not so on the Chesapeake Bay. There the state of Maryland and the city of Baltimore combine in a strenuous fight against the efforts of Jack Frost and in this work aid is given by the United States Government, a revenue cutter being assigned to the district to aid in any way possible.

In 1897 the State of Maryland built the steamer Annapolis to be the official ice-breaker. She is 200 feet long, 55 feet wide and her engines of 1,200 horsepower. Each engine operates a huge, iron-shod paddle wheel and the engines are so arranged that it is possible to operate them independent. This enables the steamer to maneuver easily and quickly. As her paddle boxes are each 15 feet wide the steamer breaks a channel nearly 100 feet wide. Her forward body is built something on the scow model so that she can be driven up on the ice and break through by her enormous weight.

After the Annapolis had been in service 10 years the business of the upper Chesapeake demanded better service, so the city of Baltimore built the F. C. Latrobe, a sister ship to the Annapolis, and now these craft, with the revenue cutter and the steam tug belonging to the harbor engineer, carry on the fight.

These vessels go into commission with the first heavy frost and remain on duty day and night. Usually they make up three shifts and they change off every four hours. Most of the time the steamers are kept running up and down the main ship channel, crushing through the film ice as fast as it forms and keeping the particles of drift ice broken up.

It is noisy cruising, too, for as the steamer makes her way the particles of ice roar past her steel sides, every now and then the vessel trembles as she strikes an extra large piece, while an occasional cake is snapped up by a paddle wheel and tossed about in the wheel house to pound itself to pieces.

In any other kind of a boat but an icebreaker the hitting of a heavy field of ice would probably mean a crushed in bow, but the ice-breakers are built for just such collisions. They have forward bottoms rounded like a spool and when they strike the bow lifts and the hull begins to slide out of the water. All the time the paddle wheels are kept revolving ahead at full speed. This, in a few minutes, stirs up the water under the ice. Presently, from the weight of the steamer, the ice gives way and the steamer gently drops to level keel.

In fighting through a field of heavy ice the ice-breakers will hardly average a mile an hour, for each attack means the backing off of 100 or so yards and the charging at full speed. Each time perhaps 50 or 75 feet of headway is made.

Unless the other ice-breaker is near neither vessel will ram a heavy field for there have been occasions when they have done so single-handed and have been stranded for hours, being unable to get off. Working together, however, no field is too heavy to withstand their assaults.

But in spite of the concerted efforts of both boats the channel sometimes becomes so clogged with ice that navigation is closed for days at a time. Last winter, for instance, was the worst in 25 years, and the only vessels that made their way to and from the ocean were the largest steamers. Even at that many got into trouble and at one time there were four that were forced aground by the ice.

It is difficult to appreciate the power of moving ice. It is such that no steamer, no matter how powerful her engines, can get out of the pack if she is caught. As an illustration, the Norwegian steamer Sif was caught by ice that was not more than five inches thick. She broke into the field and not until she had gone in so far that it was not possible to back out did she find it impossible to make any further headway. At the time there was a brisk wind and this caused the field to move toward shallow water.

Despite every effort of the crew the Sif was irresistibly carried along and although she was drawing 21 feet of water she was pushed up on the shoal into 18 feet of water. Of course, as soon as her plight was discovered, both ice-boats, a revenue cutter and a sea-going tugboat went to her. Hawsers were made fast and the four boats began pulling. Even this power, with the Sif's engine, estimated 8,000 horsepower, failed to move the stranded vessel and it was necessary to lighten her by the removal of several hundred tons of her cargo.

Of course, all of the tug boats that ply on the Chesapeake fit out for fighting their way through the ice and they arm themselves with an odd looking plough of strong timbers covered with sheets of steel. These ploughs are of but little use in fighting through solid ice, but they assist in running through very thin ice or through fields that have been broken up by the big ice-breakers.

But the ice-breakers, as staunch as they are, do not get through a winter season unscathed and when spring comes they go on the railway to be thoroughly overhauled, new plates put in at the waterline and even the big paddle wheels, built of timbers 12 inches square and capped with steel bars, have to be replaced, so terrific is the punishment they receive.

Of all of the countries of the Eastern Hemisphere, Russia is the only one that makes an attempt to keep her harbors open in winter and even at that her efforts are confined to the Gulf of Riga. Several years ago the Russian Government built the Yermak, a huge craft that was designed by a naval officer, and which, it was claimed, could smash her way through 18 feet of solid ice. When the vessel was completed a Russian admiral declared that with two vessels of the Yermak's type he could fight his way to the North Pole. Actual demonstrations with the vessel, however proved that she could not force her way through six feet of new and solid ice.

However, the Yermak proved very useful in keeping open the harbor of Reval and last year the Chamber of Commerce of Riga ordered an ice-breaker for their port. This vessel, named Peter the Great, was built at Gothenburg, Sweden, and is the finest type of ice-breaker ever built, embodying all modern features. She is of 1,800 tons register, 181 feet long, 50 feet wide and draws 21 feet of water. She has three engines. Two of these, of 1,200 horsepower, drive stern propellers, while the third, of same power, drives a propeller under the bow. She is lighted with electricity and has powerful searchlights.

The vessel cost $240,380, and to meet the interest, cost of operating, repairs, etc., the port authorities have instituted a winter tax on vessels and also increased by 50 per cent, the duty on merchandise passing through the port.

BIRTH.

SILL—On Friday, January 17, 1913 Mary A., widow of James M. Sill, in the 81st year of her age.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence, 27 Myrtle avenue North Plainfield, N. J., at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 19 Kindly omit flowers.

SURPRISE PARTY MARKS A. B. DAVIS' BIRTHDAY

Friends of A. B. Davis, of 142 Grove street, tendered him a pleasant surprise last night in honor of his birthday. Games were played, Mrs. J. W. Dean scoring highest among the women in progressive "500," while Mr. Davis won the prize offered the men for high score. Conspicuous among the table decorations was a birthday cake bearing lighted candles indicating the milestones passed by the host.

Among those present were the Misses Helen Lake, Dorothy Dean, Clara Van Fleet, Margaret Montague and Gladys Davis; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lake, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dufford, Mrs. A. B. Davis, Rindley Lake, Louis Davis and Charles Dougherty.

MRS. MARY A. SILL DIES; IN HER EIGHTY-FIRST YEAR

After a long period of failing health, Mrs. Mary A. Sill passed away at the home of her son, Francis L. Sill, at 27 Myrtle avenue, yesterday afternoon, in the eighty-first year of her age. Although her illness required constant medical care from the first, the end came unexpectedly and she passed away peacefully about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Sill was born near Albany, New York, April 24, 1832, and lived there until three years ago, when she removed to North Plainfield to make her home with her son, F. L. Sill, a broker, with offices in New York city. She was married to James M. Sill, of Albany, who died some years ago. Although she had been a resident of the borough for only a comparatively brief period, her genial disposition made her a host of friends and her loss will be much felt. Besides her son, with whom she resided, she is survived by two other sons, Howard Sill, an architect, with offices in Baltimore, and George I. Sill, of The Review.

The funeral services will take place at the home of her son tomorrow afternoon, Rev. W. S. McCoy, of Holy Cross church, officiating. Interment will be made in a cemetery near the home of her childhood at Albany.

A few lines of classified advertising will do the work of ten thousand placards.

EAST COURT, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

THE great East Court at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is designed for pageantry surpassing the famous Durbar of India. It will constitute a suitable setting for oriental or modern drama upon a colossal scale. From a huge staircase or from the tops of its encircling walls the visitor to this "Court of Joyousness" will be enabled to witness the pageants that will be a feature of the exposition. The main tower of the court will contain a great pipe organ, with echo organs in the smaller towers; within the center of the court will lie a basin containing groupings of classic statuary, dancing figures, fauns, satyrs and nymphs. Electric scintillators will play upon fountains at night. Tropical shrubs and flowers will contrast with the sterner effect of the colonnades, statuary and facades of the court. In its architecture the East Court, which will lie among the main group of exhibit palaces, will resemble the oriental phase of the Spanish-Moorish architecture.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. JOHN V. WHITLOCK

The funeral service of Mrs. Catharine Adelia Whitlock, wife of John V. Whitlock, a former resident of the borough, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. H. G. Widmer, 37 Lincoln road, Brooklyn. The burial will be in Belle Mead, Somerset county, Monday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Whitlock had been ill for a long time and for some time had been afflicted with blindness. She was well advanced in years. During the residence of the family in North Plainfield, Mr. Whitlock was street commissioner. Mrs. Whitlock is survived by a husband, three daughters and one son.

JUVENILE MODES.

Dancing School Frock of Velvet.

VELVET DRESS WITH MOTIFS OF SCARLET.

For dressy occasions such as the afternoon dancing class and school functions the costume pictured will be found very useful for the young girl.

An oriental touch is given the black velvet frock by motifs of scarlet and gold embroidery on sleeves, sash and rounded out neck. The low heeled boot with a buttoned top of cloth is correct footgear for afternoon wear.

THE PERFECT GIRL.

She Is Miss Elsie Scheel, Student at Cornell.

The most nearly perfect physical specimen of womanhood just now is Miss Elsie Scheel, a student in the college of horticulture at Cornell university. According to Dr. Esther Parker, medical examiner of the 400 coeds in the university, Miss Scheel is not only a young woman of great strength, but in her physical makeup there is not a single defect.

Miss Scheel, who is a light haired, blue eyed girl whose very presence bespeaks perfect health, is twenty-four years old, weighs 171 pounds and is five feet seven inches tall. Her normal chest measurement is 34.6 inches, waist 30.3 inches, hips 40.4 inches. She is very fond of outdoor sports and walking. Her hobby is motoring, her favorite sport basketball, and she is an ardent suffragette. She is much interested in horticulture, but if she were a man she would study mechanical engineering, as she likes to work about an automobile.

She eats but three meals in two days and almost always goes without breakfast. She does not believe in eating mechanically. Her favorite food is beefsteak. She doesn't care about delicacies and has no liking for candy. She has never taken a drink of tea or coffee in her life and keeps regular hours. She says she has never been ill and doesn't know what fear is. Girls would be happier if they got over the fear of things, she says.

When she finishes her course Miss Scheel is going to grow vegetables on her father's farm.

lansdowne, a silk and wool weave much in favor now, has a white feather which slants rakishly off at one side, the slant of this feather lending chic to the whole costume.

Worth Knowing.

Never throw away pieces of lemon after they have been squeezed with the lemon squeezer, for they come in handy for removing stains from the hands and elsewhere. Dipped into salt they will scour copper kettles nicely and remove stains from brasswork. Lemon like this will take stains, dirt and odor from pans and kettles as nothing else will. The odors of fish and onions can thus be easily removed.

Those work seekers who expect to find a job through one publication of a want ad are sometimes disappointed—though not always.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

DAINTY FRUIT CONFECTIONS.

SWEETMEATS in which fruit is an ingredient are apt to be as wholesome as they are delicious. Fruits combined with nuts, with a French fondant or a sirup, may be easily prepared for social affairs or to please the children. They will cost less and may taste better than many fruit confections sold in the shops.

An Oriental Dainty.

Stuffed Figs.—These may be made by slitting the figs and stuffing the insides with fondant.

If you like nuts use instead of the fondant blanched almonds or pecans which have been chopped into small pieces. When the fig is filled with the chopped nut meats roll it in powdered sugar.

Figs stuffed with marshmallows are also delicious.

Apricot Knots.—Take some stiff apricot jam and turn it out on to a baking pan previously dusted with sugar. Sprinkle sugar over the jam and place it in a very slow oven to dry. When dry cut it into strips and twist these into true lovers' knots: then place them on trays and dry again in a slack oven. The trimmings can be made into balls and coated with fondant.

Luscious Sweetmeats.

Fruit Roll.—This delicious sweetmeat affords one a chance to use up the broken nuts and odds and ends of the sort that accumulate when other candy is being made. Chop the nuts and fruit into tiny bits. Roll out a piece of fondant until it is about half an inch thick. Put on the layer of nuts and fruit and roll as you would roll a jelly roll. Let stand until firm and then cut into slices.

Popular Fruits.

Glace Fruits.—Though so expensive and so attractive when sold in the confectioner's, they can be easily manufactured at home and will be liked by those who do not care for ordinary candies. Take two cupfuls of granulated sugar and one-half cupful of hot water. Boil the sugar and water slowly for twenty minutes without stirring. Then dip the point of a spoon into the sirup and into cold water. If a brittle thread is formed the sirup is done. Stand the saucepan containing the sirup in hot water and dip each piece of fruit separately; then drop on a cold dish. Take a long hatpin or knitting needle to dip fruit and do the dipping carefully, so as not to stir up the sirup. Use cherries, white grapes, English walnut meats, bits of pineapple and orange for this.

Very smart are the white felt hats faced with dull finished old gold faille. This facing should be the only suggestion of color about the hat. All of its top trimmings should be white.

Every busy woman will appreciate the morning gown that can be easily slipped on at a minute's notice. Such a frock is seen in the picture. The blouse and skirt are separate.

Milady's Mirror

Style Versus Beauty.

"Handsome is as handsome does" is a good old fashioned axiom, and beauty of soul is a fine thing; so is being good hearted. Many a plain looking woman has found consolation in the two latter attributes. In ancient Greece there were two kinds of women, the Venuses and the Minervas. When Venus frowned on one consolation was sought in Minerva. One is always a Minerva from second choice. Venus sits back in a porch rocker, calm, cool and serene in the knowledge that her hair won't get out of curl, her complexion won't blow off and she doesn't have to talk—just a smile, and everybody basks in it. Minerva works hard, her hair is limp, her nose is shiny, and she can't keep cool because she engages in heated arguments. Venus marries the millionaire and rides in a chaise; Minerva marries the professor and darns stockings. What a giddy world it would be if women were all Venuses, for it is undoubtedly the Minervas who are the balance wheel of society.

In modern days the next best thing to being a Venus, if one cannot be a Minerva, is to be stylish.

What is this seemingly indefinable thing called style? What is it that differentiates one woman from another? Why is it that one woman will be stylish and the other dowdy, though gowned in the same manner? Why will a pretty woman often pale into insignificance beside her plainer sister? One of the first things when the desire is born to be stylish or smart looking, as the English say, is to feel stylish. This is easier than to feel beautiful, as is occasionally advocated. The feeling that one has style is bracing. Unconsciously the body straightens, the head goes up and the step becomes smarter and brisker.

Another point to consider in this achievement is the poise of the body. She who slinks along and shuffles her feet will never attain the desired end, if style be her desire. Much has been accomplished when once you have thrown your shoulders back, your head up and acquired a smart step, for the proper carriage and walk are the foundation of style.

Beauty Hints For Travelers.

For the traveler there is a neat little case in pink linen, which is more practical than silk, because it can take many visits to the laundry without injuring its usefulness. This little case when unrolled displays pockets for the soap, talcum powder, cold cream, tooth powder or paste and toilet water. It will save many precious minutes in the dressing room of the Pullman sleeper, though it costs only $1.50.

Another article which is sure to be appreciated by the traveler—and there are few not among this number these days—is the manicure set, with all the necessary little implements packed compactly into the buffer. This does away with those vexatious moments when the hurried traveler searches madly among the dozen and one articles in the bottom of the bag for the nail file or perhaps the orange stick. By pressing the catch at the side of the buffer the top springs up, revealing a velvet lined compartment containing a pair of scissors, half a dozen emery boards, a duplex file, an orange wood stick, a box of nail luster and another box of the salve. Close the catch and the buffer is ready for use. Many women buy them nickel plated for $2 to keep in the bathroom, where the guest may use them easily and where they will not take up the room that the different articles would if spread out separately. The silver plated set costs $2.50 and the solid silver $6.

Care of the Body.

Castile soap and orris root in equal parts make a cleansing and fragrant tooth powder.

Don't rub the face with too coarse a towel. Treat it as you would the finest porcelain, tenderly and delicately.

A little carbolic acid added to the water in which burns, bruises and cuts are washed greatly lessens the soreness.

Rosewater, four ounces, and a third of an ounce of tincture of benzoin have the quality of bringing the blood to the surface of the skin and giving it a delicate pink color.

To make camphorated oil beat four ounces of camphor in a mortar with four ounces of Florence oil till the camphor is dissolved. This is an excellent liniment for rheumatism and all kinds of sprains.

Toilet Suggestions.

If the cuticle about your nails seems tough and there is a tendency to "hangnails" rub in a little vaseline or cold cream every night before retiring.

To whiten finger nails and improve the hands cut a fresh lemon in two and rub it well at night. Wash off in warm water the next morning. This same treatment is excellent for stains on the hands.

Astringent lotions should be used to reduce the large pores of the skin, which become clogged with dust and grime. These disfiguring pores are especially noticeable across the nose, often extending over the cheeks. If allowed to go without checking agents these pores develop into blackheads, than which there is no greater enemy to beauty.

PUSH PIN HELPS.

Times When These Useful Little Articles Come In Handy.

There are few small articles that help in so many ways as push pins. When windows are wide opened, curtains are prone to sail far into the room, but can be securely held in place by these pins and the fabric is not torn.

Should one wish to write near a window where too much breeze scatters the paper, these pins hold the paper in place, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

If sketching in a stiff breeze they do their duty again.

In the children's room pictures are fastened by them to the wall without injuring it, which is a blessing, as children love to change pictures so often. On the desk they hold in position the needful blotting pad.

If reading in the wind, especially on deck at sea, these little pins are welcomed to hold the leaves from the continued flapping that is nerve racking to the reader and others nearby.

For Young Housewives.

When a glass is broken, instead of trying to pick up the little pieces wet a woolen cloth, lay this on the floor or wherever the fragments are and put it. The tiny particles will adhere to the rag.

An asbestos pad or mat is an excellent flatiron rest. With this at hand there is no danger of the ironing board cover being scorched.

The French people are far ahead of the Americans in their observance of "the penny saved penny earned" theory. They use for their salads the parts of vegetables which the American housekeeper throws away and toast pieces of bread which we let mold.

The American housewife has yet to learn hers is a profession in which she may earn money by saving it. To buy meats, vegetables and groceries with care and foresight is something that no woman should consider beneath her notice.

Silver cloths now come that polish the silver without the housekeeper having to use any of the old fashioned and dusty silver powders.

The New Hatbox.

How often would you take an extra hat when traveling were it not for the bother of the box, which is a bulky thing to keep about one's room while visiting? But the new hatbox may be folded and kept out of sight in a trunk or a bureau drawer, and it may be adjusted to a chapeau of any size. It is constructed on the principle of the ordinary collapsible box, save that the edges of both base and lid are made to fold backward every alternate inch and provided with two sets of holes through which the tape lacings may be run according as the box is made larger or smaller. These folding over sectional edges are formed of the heavy pasteboard, separated by a strip of strong tape, and this gives the box a bordering which is rather ornamental if the covering is of plain, heavy linen.

"MAC" SAYS

With summer temperature prevailing, it feels like baseball weather and if the spring feeling continues we are bound to have that mid-winter baseball league the Manufacturers' organization promised us in the fall. The weather was so warm in Philadelphia yesterday that the candidates for the University of Pennsylvania baseball team established a winter record by practicing in the open at Franklin Field.

Although the Ajax and Hope chapel will be idle tonight there will be a program of basketball at both of the local gyms. The Y. M. C. A. first team will play Company K, and the Hope second aggregation has a game on the card.

Yale and Princeton are due to clash at hockey tonight. Looks as though Hobey Baker would have another opportunity to show the Eli collegians up. The Tigers remain a big favorite on account of the playing of the Bengal rover.

Lidgate appears to be about two-thirds of the Scotch Plains basketball five as far as shooting goes at least. He can always be counted on to cage a healthy collection of the point getters and is generally able to keep his team in front. At Westfield last night his quintet of field goals resulted in a victory for the 'Plains aggregation.

By winning over Leal's in their first Interscholastic basketball contest on the Y. M. C. A. court Thursday afternoon the Plainfield High School five loomed up as the one best choice for the league title. With Dunning out of the lineup, N. P. H. S. is weakened, although the little school across the water is noted for springing the unlooked for and may come through a winner yet.

Without the services of Nash, the Leal aggregation would be putting up an inferior article of basketball, but although they lost both of their Interscholastic games the showing they put up was far from mean.

For the first time this year the P. H. S. basketball players will appear on their home court next week. On Wednesday there is a game booked with Westfield and on Friday one with Upsala.

BASEBALL NOTES

All the clubs in the major leagues have engaged their managers for the coming season. The list shows that quite a number of new pilots will be seen in the big show when the gong rings for the opening game next April. Joe Tinker, of the Cincinnati Reds; Miller Huggins, of the St. Louis Cardinals; Johnny Evers, of the Chicago Cubs, and George Stallings, of the Boston Braves, are the new managers in the National League. Frank Chance, of the New York Highlanders, is the only new manager in the American League, although George Stovall, of the St. Louis Browns, and Joe Birmingham, of the Cleveland Naps, may come under the head of new managers, as both took charge of their respective teams late last season. Managers in the major leagues for 1913 and 1912 follow:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Boston—1913, Jake Stahl; 1912, Jake Stahl.

Washington—1913, Clark Griffith; 1912, Clark Griffith.

Philadelphia—1913, Connie Mack; 1912, Connie Mack.

Chicago—1913, Jimmy Callahan; 1912, Jimmy Callahan.

Cleveland—1913, Joe Birmingham; 1912, Harry Davis, Joe Birmingham.

St. Louis—1913, George Stovall; 1912, Rhoddy Wallace, George Stovall.

New York—1913, Frank Chance; 1912, Harry Wolverton.

Brooklyn—1913, William Dahlen; 1912, William Dahlen.

St. Louis—1913, Miller Huggins; 1912, Roger Bresnahan.

Boston—1913, George Stallings; 1912, John Kling.

Charley "Duke" Farrell, the former big league catcher, has been engaged as coach for the Boston Red Sox.

The last time the Brooklyn Superbas trained at Augusta, Ga., the team was a winner. Will history repeat itself?

The Chicago Cubs have released Catcher Yantz to the New Orleans team. He was secured from Birmingham late last season.

The Boston Braves will be decorated with red and blue sweaters cut on the bias a la Norfolk, with red and blue stockings and blue caps, next season.

Robert Austin, a freshman at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., is to join the pitching staff of the Washington team when the squad goes south for Spring training.

American League fans will miss "Big Jack" Powell, the St. Louis Browns' veteran pitcher recently released to the Louisville club. Jack has been twirling in the big yard for the past sixteen years.

MT. PLEASANT FIVE MEETS WITH DEFEAT

Close Game is Won by the St. Stephen's Parish House Boys.

Close guarding and little scoring were the features of the St. Stephen's and Mt. Pleasant basketball players' clash on the St. Stephen's court last night. With the score standing 8 to 7 in favor of St. Stephen's at the end of the first half, the Mt. Pleasant aggregation was held to a single field goal in the second period of play and were defeated by a score of 18 to 9. The winners will play a Y. M. C. A. 'PLAINS FIVE WON ON WESTFIELD COURT

Fast Team Work Results in a Victory for the Parish House Players.

The Parish House five, of Scotch Plains, sent the Alpha Sigma Junior quintet, of Westfield, down to defeat last night on the latter's basketball court in the Westfield theatre building, by the score of 28 to 18. The players composing the Westfield team were formerly High School stars and considering that this was their first game of the season they put up a good game. In team work they easily equalled their conquerers, but lacked the finish of the Scotch Plainers in goal shooting.

For the Parish House quintet, Lidgate and Thompson were the particular stars. Their playing often moved the spectators to applause, although the crowd cheered constantly for the home team. Rough playing was almost entirely lacking and the lack of rough-and-tumble tactics was offset by the fast clip at which both aggregations played.

Hatfield, captain of the Scotchs Plains five, was missing from the lineup, his place being ably filled by Bettman, who played a clever blocking game.

TWO BASKETBALL GAMES ON THE Y. M. C. A. COURT

Two games are due to be decided on the Y. M. C. A. court tonight when four teams will occupy the popular local basketball rendezvous. Although the Ajax have no game booked because of the P. H. S. minstrel show, the so-called Y. M. C. A. first team will clash with Company K, and the Mohawks will lineup against the Woodbridge Parish House five. Both of these games will be fast attractions as the respective contestants represent clubs that have established court records during the past season.

HOPE CHAPEL TEAMS ON 'PLAINS COURT TONIGHT

Hope chapel basketball players will appear on the Scotch Plains' Parish House court tonight in a double bill. Although the first team will not appear, several members of that aggregation have banded together under a different name and will play the 'Plains first team. In the preliminary attraction the Hope second team will lineup against the Parish House senior class five.

Paris, Jan. 18.—While riding in the six-day bicycle race here, Cyril Van Houwaert, the Belgian champion, and Petit Breton, a Frenchman, collided. The Belgian when picked up was found to be suffering from a broken collarbone, a torn pleura and internal hemorrhage. His condition is grave. Breton was uninjured.

MARTY O'TOOLE VERY TIMID AS A YOUNGSTER.

"When a youngster Marty O'Toole was about the limit when it came to timidness," said Irving O'Hay, former New England league umpire, recently. "I lived at South Framingham, Mass., several years ago and remember the little red haired Marty as a kiddie. Later he broke into the New England league while I was umpiring in that wheel, and an umpire really felt ashamed of himself every time he called a ball that should have been a strike. Marty never would complain, and no matter how bad an umpire was the ever timid pitcher would just shake his head and continue to pitch. I watched him with much interest from the start, for as a kid he showed much promise. Even before he adopted the spitball he used to fool the old heads."

bet could hardly be settled, but Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, was called into the controversy, and his hand was measured against Ritchie's.

Sure enough, Ritchie had the larger paw. His hand is not only broad and long, but is muscular. It is as hard as iron and perhaps accounts for the fact that he can hit such a powerful blow with that right cross.

FRED CLARKE IS LONG IN HARNESS

Pittsburgh Manager to Begin Fourteenth Year as Pilot.

HAS MADE GREAT RECORD.

In Thirteen Seasons His Team Has Never Been Lower Than Fourth Place—Evers Will Have Trouble With Corriden.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh club will this year begin his fourteenth consecutive year as manager of the Pirates. The man who pilots the Smoky City team has been continuously in charge of his team longer than any manager now serving in either of the major leagues. Year after year managerial heads have fallen at all other points around the big circuits, but Clarke still rules the Pirate roost and can claim the distinction of being the only one remaining on the job among all the lot that started out with him in 1900. For thirteen full seasons Fred has been at the head of the Pittsburgh club, during which time he has won one world's championship and never finished lower than fourth place and seldom below third.

Clarke's great record is best shown by the fact that in the thirteen years during which Pittsburgh has had but one manager the fifteen other clubs in the majors have had no fewer than eighty-six, and there are two more to be appointed for next year, making eighty-eight in all. Deducting from this total the thirteen men named to lead the other clubs next year, together with the two vacancies that exist in the Cincinnati Nationals and New York Americans, it is found that Clarke has seen seventy-one rival commanders come and go in the major ranks.

Not one is left who was a rival at the start of the season of 1900. Connie Mack has enjoyed an uninterrupted reign at Philadelphia and approaches Clarke's mark more closely than any other man now in the business, but Connie did not begin until 1901, so that even he has been distanced by the Pirate boss.

Clarke's closest rival in the National league is John McGraw, who took charge of the Giants in 1902.

NUTLEY CANCELLED.

The game scheduled to be played between the North Plainfield High Schools girls and the Nutley High School girls on the Saengerbund Hall court yesterday afternoon was cancelled at the last moment by the Nutley manager and as a result no game was played by the N. P. H. S. girls.

BIRMINGHAM WILL ALWAYS REMEMBER HIS FIRST MANAGERIAL DUTY.

If Joe Birmingham lives to be twice as old as he is now he will never forget his first managerial duty. That was the release of Walker, the pitcher, who had been known as "Mysterious Mitchell" and who had been signed up by Manager Harry Davis.

Mitchell or Walker was a most powerful man. He had done a strong arm act on the stage and could handle any man on the Nap team as he would a baby. He also enjoyed a peculiar disposition. Realizing these facts, Joe did not relish his task especially when Walker beat him to it by saying very firmly:

"There's no doubt of my sticking, Joe, is there?"

Joe's nervousness disappeared. He was almost brave again.

"You're fired," he said. "Go to the office and get your pay."

He wondered why Walker did not live up to his reputation and annihilate him. He is still wondering how he escaped. But it seems that Walker had been released so often that he was used to it. A week later he bobbed up in Cincinnati and almost induced Hank O'Day to sign him. O'Day only escaped when Walker declined to sign unless he were made a free agent at the end of the year.

WOLGAST EARNED $240,000.

Former Lightweight Champion Made This Sum In Three Years.

Ad Wolgast has been deprived of his lightweight crown, but he has enough of earthly wares to act as somewhat of a balm. Manager Tom Jones has made the statement that during the period of close to three years that Wolgast was the lightweight champion of the world he made $240,000.

Half of this big fortune was made up in purses, and the rest was accumulated in bets, theatrical engagements and outside investments.

Sox to Train With Golf Clubs.

Jimmy Callahan, manager of the Chicago White Sox, has decided to keep his men busy at golf and tennis on their spring training trip at Paso Robles, Cal. He says the veterans need to get into condition more than they do to learn baseball, and he is going to hold off on the ball and bat until just before the season opens.

Big Harness Purses In Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., will increase its stake and purse offerings next year to $35,000 in order to attract more of the grand circuit stars. The harness horse has superseded the runner in popularity in Texas.

Lacrosse In Canada.

The Canadian Amateur Lacrosse association, formed recently, is to be the governing body of Canada's national game.

Recognized the Portrait.

"Whenever I think of Thanksgiving and turkey," said Chauncey M. Depew recently, "I am reminded of how the laugh was turned on me on the last night on board ship in a transatlantic trip. A crowd gathered in the smoke room. Everybody had told a story, made a speech or done or said something to contribute to the general gayety with the exception of an elderly man, who pulled his pipe in silence.

"'Well, sir,' said I, 'it is your turn. Sing a song, whistle a tune, dance a jig—do something.'

"'Hum; if I did you'd all be sorry,' he replied. 'But how would a conundrum answer?'

"'Just the thing.'

"'Well,' said he, a twinkle in his eye, 'why—why is a turkey at Thanksgiving like Senator Depew?'

"Everybody gave it up.'

"'Because it is stuffed with chestnuts,' said he, and I tried hard to appear confused."

Meyerbeer.

Meyerbeer was so nervous and "fidgety" about his works that when they were in course of preparation or rehearsal or performance he never gave himself or any one else concerned a moment's peace of mind. He was constantly making changes or alterations in the score and would sometimes write a passage in three or four different colored inks, in order to try the different effects, and then could not make up his mind which was the best. He worried over his opera "L'Africaine" so long, delaying, retouching and polishing, even while it was in rehearsal, that the self imposed labor made him ill, and he died before the first public performance.

The want ads will find work today for workers to whom a longer period of idleness would be a serious matter.

STUDY OF THE COURT OF THE FOUR SEASONS, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

To the west of the great Court of Honor at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will come the Court of Four Seasons, one of the most elaborate and beautiful of the great interior courts that will lie between the huge exhibit palaces of the main group. The walls of the court will be partly formed by the palaces of Liberal Arts and of Education and by the two great wings of the Palace of Agriculture and partly by the classic colonnades and peristyles that will connect these buildings. The Court of Four Seasons, in classic Italian architecture, is designed by Mr. Henry Bacon of New York, designer of the Lincoln Memorial. In harmony with the title of the court there will, in each of its four corners, be set groups of statuary symbolical of the seasons—Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter. The sculpture will be set in niches screened by colonnades. Mural paintings, also suggestive of the seasons, will form the background for the setting. Mr. Jules Guerin, the noted artist, has charge of the color plan. The Court of Four Seasons will be 340 feet square.

To Readers About Advertisers

Merchants who use the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press deserve your consideration and trade. They represent the best in their respective lines and they spend their money for publicity in order to attract custom to their establishments. It costs money to advertise and the business man who seeks your patronage and makes a public bid for it is going to serve you well. The merchant who establishes a reputation by advertising can not afford to waste this money and unless you are pleased you'll not go to his store again.

Advertising has become a science, yet anyone can write an advertisement that will pull trade. The readers of the Daily Press will find the advertising column an interesting feature. It contains suggestions that will meet every want and those who use its columns are among the leading and most enterprising business men. Tell them you were induced to come to their store by their advertising in the Daily Press—it is of mutual encouragement. Besides, there is always a more satisfactory service in the store that advertises. Never have merchants made greater efforts to secure trade or have prices been lower, and no city in the country can supply you more comfortably.

We are glad to say a good word for our advertisers. They have been liberal space takers throughout—and they have secured results. They know that the Daily Press is their best medium to reach the buying public and that it has THE right kind of circulation—the hearthstone kind.

The usual clearing sales are held in January and February. The wise merchant continues his store news and makes busy months, clearing out surplus stocks, which Daily Press readers will be glad to take off their hands. The business man who stops advertising at the close of the holiday trade makes a mistake he can not correct. The big stores have become big by keeping their name before the public and "making good" in thier publicity. The money they spend during the so-called dull season is among their best investments. The Daily Press circulation brings their trade.

MISS DELAFIELD IS E. R. FINCH'S BRIDE

Son of Edward L. Finch Weds Daughter of M. L. Delafield at Riverdale.

SOCIETY AT NUPTIALS

District Attorney C. S. Whitman Best Man—Groom a Former Assemblyman—Rev. Dr. Parks Performs Ceremony.

Miss Mazie L. Delafield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maturin L. Delafield, of Riverdale, N. Y., and New York, and Edward Ridley Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Finch, of Park avenue, this city, were married Saturday afternoon at the country place of the bride's parents, "Fieldston," in Riverdale. More than four hundred guests witnessed the ceremony and attended the reception. Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, rector of St. Bartholomew's church, New York, performed the ceremony.

The bride walked to a temporary altar with her father, who gave her away. She wore a gown of white satin almost entirely covered with point lace, also a veil of lace, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. John Duncan Emmet was the matron of honor. Her costume was of American Beauty shade satin. The bridemaids were the Misses Charlotte and Grace Delafield, Frances and Augusta de Peyster, Elizabeth Dodge, Charlotte Wyeth, and Mary and Charlotte Finch, the last two named sisters of the bridegroom. They wore gowns of white satin brocade trimmed with swansdown and carried American Beauty roses. They wore also white veils, held in place by a court head dress of white feathers.

Charles S. Whitman, district attorney of New York, was the best man. The ushers were Rufus C. and Henry L. Finch, brothers of the bridegroom; Frederick Tapner, Frederick B. Campbell, Arthur C. Ludington, Herbert L. Bodman, Lanier McKee, of New York, and Benjamin Cable, of Washington, D. C.

After the ceremony there was a reception. Mr. and Mrs. Finch have gone on an extended Southern trip.

Mr. Finch was formerly an assemblyman in New York. He is prominent as a clubman, and enjoys a large law practice. He is also a member of the Plainfield Country Club, and the Watchung Hunt Club and during the season participates in the runs of the latter club. Mr. Finch during his boyhood days here attended John Leal's school, where he prepared for college. There were a great many representatives of old New York families present at the wedding, friends of both the Delafields and Finchs.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S TERMINAL PLANS ANNOUNCED

IMPROVEMENTS AT COMMUNIPAW TO BETTER PASSENGER FACILITIES.

In the accompanying pictures are shown views of the interior and exterior of the new terminal which is being erected by the Central Railroad of New Jersey in Jersey City, a general idea of which was given by Wm. G. Besler, vice president and general manager, of the road, in a contributing editorial in the Daily Press Saturday, January 11. The new structure, or series of structures, is on the site of the present terminal, but covers more space than the present terminal. The work has been going on for several months, but for certain reasons the railroad was not prepared until now to announce its plans definitely.

Just when the big and costly improvement will be completed is problematical. The problem of pushing the various phases of the work without conflicting with the regular reception and dispatching of trains is a difficult one, and involves delays that otherwise would not arise. It is believed most of the trainshed will be in service by the end of the present year.

The new terminal, when completed, will be the largest on this side of the Hudson, with a train capacity treble that of the old station and accommodations for more than double the number of passengers. The increase in the capacity of the trainshed is, however, not the only material improvement. One of the modern features of the new terminal will be a second deck ferry concourse, with tributary connections, providing direct communication between ferryboats and all trains.

The New Trainshed.

The new trainshed is technically known as the improved Bush type. It is a modified form of the trainshed in use at the Lackawanna terminal in Hoboken. It will consist of a series of nine connected arches and a cantilever at each side, the arches supported by 18-foot fluted iron columns erected on the centre lines of the concrete platforms. Four of these platforms will be sixteen feet wide, four eighteen feet wide and two twenty feet wide. The roofs of the spans will be of reinforced concrete, with two lines of skylights five feet wide over each platform and one line of skylight over each pair of tracks. Continuous longitudinal ducts, two to each arch, will provide for the escape of the locomotive smoke and gases, preventing them from coming into contact with the steel work and from being diffused throughout the trainshed.

Within the trainshed will be twenty tracks, sixteen of which will be 800 feet long, with a capacity of sixteen twelve-car trains. The remaining four tracks are on the south side of the shed. Each is 680 feet long, the total capacity being four ten-car trains. The present high-arched trainshed covers only twelve tracks, each 470 feet long, with a total capacity, figuring seven cars to a track, of eighty-four cars, as against 232, which the new trainshed will be capable of housing.

Another contrast is found in the new train concourse, which will extend across the eastern end of the trainshed between the baggage truck "alley" and the waiting rooms and lobby. This concourse will be sixty-four feet wide and 380 feet long, as compared with the thirty-two feet of breadth and 210 feet of length of the present concourse. The baggage truck "alley" will have intercepting outlets outside of the station proper, thus enabling all trucks to be kept off the main concourse and out of the way of the throngs of passengers.

SCHOOL TALENT IN MINSTRELSY

Plainfield High School B. A. A. Present 6th Annual Blackface Entertainment.

NEAT SUM IS REALIZED

Proceeds Will Be Devoted to the Furtherance of Athletics—Every Number on Program Well Received.

One of the best collections of topical songs and popular "knocks" ever presented to a High School audience made the sixth annual minstrel show of the Plainfield High School Boys' Athletic Association, Saturday night, a most successful entertainment. The troupe of amateur burnt cork artists evoked a continuous round of applause from the enthusiastic audience that packed the school auditorium, and throughout the long program not a single rough spot was discernable, the latter fact being due, to a large extent, to the efficient coaching of Thomas Muir and Sewell Ulrich.

Each number on the program received an encore and the soloists, end men and ballad singers obligingly responded to the hand clapping. One of the features of the evening's entertainment, however, stood out as the particular "hit" of the show and this was the recently organized Plainfield High School quartet, composed of Monroe Good, Arthur VanZandt, Daniel McNamee and Fred Mills. Four times these songsters were recalled to the spotlight and retired only after their supply of songs had become exhausted.

As end man, Joseph Carty proved to be the individual star of the evening. His impromptu dealings with various members of the audience and his work in the sketches, in which he took a leading part, classed him as a laugh provoker of no mean ability.

Charles Pagiluicca, the six-year-old dancing "phenom," was well received in his song and dance act and the midget marvel displayed his talent to a pleasing degree of efficiency at every appearance. It is estimated that the High School Athletic Association will net about $100 from the annual affair.

The program was as follows:

Opening chorus, by the entire company; medley of popular airs, by the entire company; end song, "Where're You Goin'," by Cortland Fleming; solo, "I'll Build a Wall Around Loveland," by Fred Mills; end song, "Swanee Shore," by Valentine Goldsmith; ballad, "Eileen Astore," by Daniel McNamee; end song, "Coontown Quartet," by Rutgers Neilson; end song, "Ragtime Melodies," by J. Gregory Carty; song, "'Way Down

MINISTER'S MOTOR INJURES PEDESTRIAN

Rev. Mr. Maguire Driving Car When Caulfield Gets in Its Way.

Driving his automobile north on Richmond street, yesterday afternoon, en route to the Industrial Home, where he was to conduct a religious meeting, Rev. Gabriel R. Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, ran into Cormack Caulfield, of 453 West Front street, knocking him to the ground. Caulfield is confined to his home today with injuries about the head and body. Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, the Caulfield family physician, says he will recover.

According to the minister, he was driving at moderate speed along Richmond street, when Caulfield suddenly stepped from behind a passing trolley car directly in front of the auto. Although he applied the brakes the car hit Caulfield at the waist. Caulfield grasped the radiator and saved himself from being dragged beneath the wheels.

Picking Caulfield from the ground Rev. Maguire hurried him to the office of Dr. Lufburrow. Following the accident and after everything had been done toward the comfort of the injured man, Rev. Maguire reported the occurrence to Police Chief Kiely. In the car with the minister was his daughter, Miss Ruth Maguire, Joseph Hawkins and Miss Florence Hawkins.

HIS CAR HIT MINISTER.

John Kirkner, of 441 West Eighth street, driving his automobile to this city from Passaic yesterday afternoon struck the Rev. J. E. Fay, in Westfield, as the latter was crossing the street. Teh minister was picked from the ground unconscious and received grst aid. He was then hurried in the automobile to his home. The local man gave his name and address to the Westfield police and was allowed to continue on his way home.

NURSED VICTIMS OF BALKAN WAR

Letter From Daughter of Rev. Lewis Bond Tells of Service in Albania.

CUT OFF FROM WORLD

For Two Months Rev. and Mrs. Kennedy Could Get No Word Through the Lines From Mission Station Near Monastir.

Something of the part played by a Plainfield woman in the war between the Balkan allies and the Turks is told in a letter just received by Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city, from his daughter, Mrs. P. B. Kennedy, wife of a missionary stationed at Kotcha in Albania. For two months Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were cut off from communication with the outside world, and the letter relieves a keen anxiety as to their safety.

They turned their home into a hospital and soup kitchen as soon as the tide of war engulfed Kotcha. Mrs. Kennedy has worked hard with her husband in caring for victims of battle and disease from both sides. Through their self-sacrificing service the missionary and his wife won the friendship and confidence of the Greek and Servian commanders whose words became law in Kotcha and the mountain pass leading to Monastir after the retirement of the Turks. It was by grace of the officers' friendship that Mr. Kennedy was able to get a packet of letters through the lines to Monastir.

The letters from the Kennedys say they are safe and in good health. When hostilities commenced they had laid in a full winter's supply of flour and fuel, and no serious discomfort was experienced just before or after Kotcha was invested.

For four weeks the city was occupied by the Turkish army and during that time perfect order was maintained. When the Greek army took possession there was some looting and other acts of violence, not by the soldiers, but by resident members of the Greek church who seized the opportunity to pay off old scores with their Moslem neighbors.

Many villages were destroyed and a crowd of refugees, many of them sick and wounded, came to Kotcha. The Kennedys threw themselves unreservedly in the work or relief.

A letter from Monastir, fifty miles northeast of Kotcha, reports all well in the missionary circle. The Greeks were so confident of taking Monastir that they refused the offer of more troops from Athens, with the result that the Turks drove them back, and the Servians, after four days of desperate fighting, got the prize with practically no bloodshed in the city.

MISS MAXSON WINS IN STOCK DEAL SUIT

Higher Court Sustains Verdict for Recovery on Purchase of Realty Concern Shares.

A. S. Malcomson, of Freeport, N. Y., as the assignee of the claim of Miss Mabel A. Maxson, of Truell Court, this city, has received a favorable decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, of New York State, at Brooklyn, in a suit which involved a stock investment made by her.

C. McKay Smock, an agent for the sale of the stocks and bonds of the Monaton Realty Investing corporation, which has offices in the Times Building, in New York City, and branch offices in a dozen large cities throughout the Union, it appears, met Miss Maxson and Miss Maxson's mother, Mrs. William B. Maxson, widow of the late Ex-Mayor Maxson, at Truell Court, where they were then residing five years ago. He persuaded Miss Maxson to buy seven shares of the Monaton Company's stock at $150 per share, by giving her a guarantee that if her brother, Henry L. Maxson, formerly of this city but for the last ten years of Freeport, L. I., was dissatisfied, after looking into the investment, the money would be returned after a certain time upon demand.

Mr. Maxson notified the company of its agent's agreement and after due investigation, Miss Maxson according to the agreement under which she purchased the stock, demanded a return of the purchase price. The company paid no attention and she assigned the claim to her brother's next door neighbor, who brought suit in the Supreme Court.

After a trial at which the company claimed that the stock was owned by Dr. Charles E. Nash, its salesmanager, and that Mr. Smock sold it for him, and not for the company, the jury found in favor of Miss Maxson's assignee. From the judgment that was entered the company appealed the case and Justice Hirschberg has just written a long opinion giving a history of the transaction and upholding in all respects the lower court. As the company gave a surety company bond on appeal, it cannot escape from the judgment.

Miss Maxson's brother is a member of the law firm of Maxson & Jones, having offices in Brooklyn and at Hempstead, L. I., and had charge of the case.

HIS DEATH CAUSED BY ODD MISHAP

Young Pole Falls From Motor Bus and Wheel Passes Over His Chest.

DRAGGED BENEATH CAR

Stanley Drogos, the Victim, Died In Ambulance On Way to Hospital—Body Taken to Cole's Undertaking Rooms.

While returning from this city to his home at South Plainfield Saturday night about 11 o'clock Stanley Drogos, aged eighteen years, fell out of the auto bus, which is operated between Plainfield and that place, and received injuries which caused his death before he could be removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. The accident occurred opposite Nagle's drug store on West Front street.

Accompanied by some friends, Drogos had been fooling, it is said, in an effort to get a seat and during the scuffle he fell out of the side door of the car. His overcoat caught in the chain and he was dragged under the heavy machine, a rear wheel passed over his chest. The car was quickly stopped and the victim was carried into Nagle's drug store. Drs. C. A. Gesswein and C. B. Lufburrow were summoned and an examination showed that Drogos was fatally injured.

While "first aid" treatment was being given the amublance was sent for and the injured man was hurried to the hospital. Just as the institution was reached, Drogos died. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of George W. Cole, on West Second street. Arrangements have been made to hold the funeral at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and the burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Drogos came from Poland last April and had been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kravatsky. He was employed at the Lehigh Valley coaling station as a laborer. His parents and several brothers and sisters live in Poland. His only relative here is a cousin, Frank Sidock.

Following an investigation, Police Chief P. S. Kiely decided that the fatality was simply an accident for which no one could be held responsible. The chauffeur did not know of the accident until some of the passengers called to him to stop the car.

MRS. JULIA C. DORR DIES AT RUTLAND, VT.

Noted Poetess, Mother of R. R. Dorr, Passes Away, Aged 60 Years.

Mrs. Julia C. R. Dorr, mother of Russell R. Dorr, of Albert street, who had many friends in this city and was widely known as a poet and author, died Saturday at her home in Rutland, Vt. She was born in 1852 and was the last of the school of New England poets of which Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier and Holmes were the central figures. She retained her powers of expression to the last, having a sonnet in the current number of Scribner's Magazine, and publishing only three years ago her last volume of poems, "Beyond the Sunset."

Mrs. Dorr first attracted national attention as a poet during the centennial period about 1876. Her first volume of poems appearing during that period contained "The Dead Century," written for the centennial of her own town of Rutland in 1871. Since that first volume, Mrs. Dorr published a great many works, all of equal merit. For several winters she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. William H. Steele, of Flatbush.

Those who have heard her accounts of her meetings with the literary leaders of her time, illustrated by occasional letters from her famous friends, have had re-created for them a glimpse of the New England which has passed away and which lives now only in biographies and reminiscenses of its famous sons and daughters. Among Mrs. Dorr's many grandchildren are Frederick Dorr Steele, the magazine illustrator, and Zulma Dorr Steele, the landscape painter.

CENTRAL'S NEW TERMINAL

Second-deck Ferry Concourse.

The new second-deck ferry concourse will add greatly to the facility with which passengers may enter and leave the boats and will materially reduce the time of transferring passengers. Liberty street passengers, for instance, may enter the New York terminal by way of the bridge over West street, passing through the second floor lobby and waiting room to the upper decks of boats and, without descending the stairs to the lower cabins, be discharged on the Jersey side at the srme time passengers are leaving the lower decks. The ferryhouse at Twenty-third street, like that at Liberty street, is now equipped with every facility for the transfer of passengers to and from the upper decks.

Two wide ramps, or gradually inclined runways, will lead to the upper deck ferry concourse in the Jersey City terminal. They will be located north and south, respectively, of the present outside hallways. In addition to these means of communication a broad stairway will lead from the upper deck ferry concourse to the train level lobby into which the present main waiting room will be converted.

The first step toward the general improvement which is now under way was the enlargement and practical rebuilding of the two restaurants and kitchens. They were completed some weeks ago. The present entrances to the dining-room and cafe will remain unchanged. The space now occupied by the station master's offices, trainmen's room and mail depot will be thrown into the remodeled waiting rooms for men and women. Separating the lobby, the cafe and the waiting rooms on the ground floor from the four new ferry slips will be the main ferry concourse, from each side of which a wide passageway will lead to the train concourse.

A Substantial Foundation.

The foundation of the ferry concourse is a substantial piece of work. It is constructed of reinforced concrete supported by piles driven to rock and heavy wooden girders backed up by huge springs installed at the head of each slip to take up the shock of incoming boats.

An innovation will be the operation of the ferry "bridges" by electricity instead of by hand power. Individual motors will furnish the current for raising and lowering the "bridges." from the same source will also be obtained the current for operating the winches with which the boats are made fast. This improved method will be another time-saver.

In addition to the four new ferry slips the present south temporary slip will be retained for emrgency use. Just north of the northermost of the four slips and in the spaces between the slips will be erected four double-decked steel buildings, to contain the baggage room, United States mail station, ferry waiting room, stationer's department and other company offices.

Among the features of the new terminal will be the substitution of an electro-pneumatic interlocking plant for the present system of operating the yard switches and the installation of a novel and effective method of intercommunication linking all departments of the terminal.

By providing a number of additional main line and yard tracks for incoming and outgoing trains and for light engines and "dead head" train movements the new interlocking plant will so facilitate the dispatching of trains as approximately to treble the efficiency of the terminal in this respect. The basis of the new system of intercommunication will be electric signals. These will be supplemented by the talautograph and telephone. The system will contribute to increased facility in the dispatching of both trains and ferryboats.

A Big Engine Terminal.

While the work on the passenger station is going on, the construction of one of the largest and most modern engine terminals in the country is well under way. It is located south of the main line tracks in the neighborhood of the Communipaw station and will consist of two roundhouses with a total capacity of sixty-six engines. The engine terminal will contain a 1,600-ton capacity coaling station, an extensive ashpit, a machine house, storage house and other facilities pertinent to the care and handling of motive power.

The scope of improvements also includes the complete reconstruction of the passenger train yard to the north of the present main line tracks and the merging of this yard with a new yard to extend over the entire area now occupied by the present roundhouse. The combined new yard will have a length of nearly a mile.

The new terminal will be in every sense a union station, for after the first of May it is to be used by the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Philadelphia and Reading, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Lehigh Valley, and as Mr. Besler stated in the contributed editorial, a fifth road will also use this terminal.

With the completion of the new terminal and the improvements which are being made on the meadows at a cost of nearly $2,000,000, service on the Newark and New York branch will be much improved. The tracks between West End avenue and Brill's junction are being raised to a height that will admit of the passage of about 95 per cent. of the river traffic without opening the draws. As to whether it is the intention ultimately to electrify the road between Newark and New York no statement has been forthcoming. Nor has anything definite been announced as to the possibility of tube connection with Manhattan. It is known, however, that the officials of the Central and its allied roads have had this possibility in their minds and statements have been made which lead to the belief that there may be "something doing" in the not very distant future.

FAVORS CHANGES IN THE AUTO ACT

Commissioner Lippincott Submits Some Recommendations to the Legislature.

MORE POWER NEEDED

Increased Registration Fees and More Inspectors Are Urged—As to Permits For Owners of Foreign Cars.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—The result of one year's trial of automobile reciprocity shows that there are many features of the law which should be amended and strengthened, in the opinion of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Job H. Lippincott, of Jersey City. In his annual report submitted to the Legislature he recommends that the commissioner be given more power, that the automobile registration fees be increased, that the number of automobile inspectors be increased and, as an aid to the enforcement of the fifteen day touring privilege, all garage owners be required to keep permanent records of all incoming and outgoing machines, subject at all times to inspection by the authorities of the State.

Commissioner Lippincott asks the Legislature to empower him to suspend the fifteen day touring privilege against any license issued by another State, in order that the department of Motor Vehicles may at all times have automoatic control over every motor vehicle using the roads of New Jersey.

"Reciprocity, as we have it in New Jersey," declares the commissioner, "would appear to be more a reciprocity of privilege than a reciprocity of both privilege and regulation. The peculiar position in which New Jersey is located with its magnificent system of public roads, makes it very important that any reciprocity law which may remain upon our statute books should be of such a nature as to provide for proper regulation of foreign cars using our roads under the reciprocity privilege. The roads of New Jersey, probably more than the roads of any other State in the union, are used by tourists and business vehicles bearing licenses from other States, with the consequent difficulty of both road maintenance and police regulation."

The increased registration fees as recommended by Commissioner Lippincott are as follows, the present fees, in each instance, being in parenthesis:

1 to 10 h. p., $5 ($4.50); 10 to 30 h. p., $10 ($7.50); 30 to 40 h. p., $15 (30 h. p. and more $15); 40 to 50 h. p., $20; 50 and over h. p., $25.

The recommendations as to new fees for commercial auto trucks is that they be charged according to horse power and $10 additional for all trucks weighing unloaded over 4,000 lbs., and $5 additional for each 1,000 lbs. thereafter. Under the present law, these trucks, when the weight is more than 4,000 lbs., pay a straight fee of $10 in addition to the fee under the horse power rating. The recommendation for manufacturers' licenses is $5 per set of tags, not exceeding 5 sets and for livery licenses $10 per set of tags not to exceed 5 sets.

Commissioner Lippincott says the actual increase in the State revenue under the proposed system, based on a comparison with 1912, will be approximately $100,000. The commissioner says that his department regards reciprocity not as an absolute method of adjusting the relations between States, but simply as a step in the development which will eventuate in the establishment of an interstate license system, which will contain the three necessary elements of any scientific motor vehicle loss, namely, reciprocity of privilege, reciprocity of regulation, and reciprocity of revenue. Mr. Lippincott thinks it entirely possible that such a system should be adopted, with the result that no vehicle would travel on the roads of our States without paying a proper road tax, the collection of which would not entail the slightest delay or other inconvenience to the owner of such vehicle.

The commissioner asks that the number of inspectors be increased from eight to sixteen, and he says he is convinced that such increase would add many thousands of dollars to the revenue of the department through more stringent enforcement of the law. He recommends a reform in the horse power rating, and thinks at least $30,000 could be saved by the State if such reform be adopted.

A law is recommended compelling rear lights to be so placed as to illuminate the number plate, also one prohibiting the hanging of registration markers so that they may swing. The commissioner recommends that the minimum age for automobile drivers be raised from 16 years to 18 years. He commends to the Legislature the question of regulating the width of tires so that each inch of tire width should not represent more than 800 lb., as a means of protecting the roads from wear.

During the past year the department issued 53,189 registrations, the gross amount collected being $490,653. The report shows that $3,000 has been saved in agency expenses and approximately $7,000 by broadening the specifications in the bids for the automobile markers.

TO THE VOTERS OF PLAINFIELD:

Have you ever stopped to think that one of the arguments which has appealed most strongly to many of our best citizens of all classes to make Plainfield their home city is the fact that an unwritten law has led the Honorable Members of our City Council to grant no additional liquor licenses either inside or outside the so-called "Tyler License Zone."

Do you realize that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the Council to grant new additional licenses and to renew others heretofore canceled, also enlarge the "License Zone" further into the residential districts?

Every voter who is opposed to the granting of such licenses and the enlarging of the zone is urged to sign at once the following blank and forward promptly to Wm. T. Schmittman, Secretary, 208 Madison avenue.

NO MORE SALOONS

As Rev. Dr. Zelie stated in the course of some remarks at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday on the liquor license applications, the saloon is better regulated here than in ninety-nine out of a hundred communities, and there is no sound argument in favor of any more licenses. Particularly is there general opposition to restoring the retail licenses of Christian Gloekler and Alexander D. Findlay. The sentiment against opening up these two saloons again was voiced at the mass meeting held for that purpose by the Federation of Men's clubs. The opinion there expressed seems to be general.

So far as seems possible, Plainfield has solved he saloon problem and the great majority of the taxpayers, we take it are satisfied with existing conditions. They know that prohibition is a failure, as the late Bishop Potter once said. Wherever tried it appears not to have stopped the sale and use of liquor, but to have made the law a travesty. Many years ago, it was tried here and the older residents will recall the deplorable situation it brought about. As fast as one speakeasy was suppressed another sprang up. And so Plainfield, as one judge recently said from the bench, has to all intents solved the problem as it seems possible by high license, strict regulation and efficient enforcement.

The proprietors of the local retail places fully realize that any infraction of ordinances means the rescinding of the license as in Toronto, without any hearing, for a liquor license is not a vested right. Hence, they obey both the letter and the spirit of the laws But how long will they do so, if the Common Council were to restore a license taken away or revive a license which they refused to renew. Wouldn't such an action lead to a disregard for the ordinances and wouldn't it tend to bring about a loose condition?

And there is another aspect of the matter to be considered. It will be incumbent on both Gloekler and Findlay to show why the licenses should be restored. Can either one demonstrate why there should be a saloon at Front and Somerset streets, on a corner where traffic is probably as heavy as anywhere in the city? Can Findlay show why a saloo nis needed on East Second street, within a stone's throw of another licensed bar facing on the same street? Can either show how the saloon question could be better regulated by giving them permits? It will be up to them, we take it, to answer these questions when given a hearing by the Common Council.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S TERMINAL.

Announcement of the elaborate plans of the Jersey Central railroad for the improvement of its facilities at the Communipaw terminal as outlined in our news columns today will undoubtedly be read with much interest by the people of Plainfield and those of other nearby towns along the line. The first hint of the company's scheme for the development of accommodations at the terminal were given by William G. Besler, the vice president and general manager, in a contributed editorial in the Daily Press ten days ago. Since then there has been a desire, particularly on the part of the commuter, to learn more about the big undertaking already begun and today the whole story is told. Through the courtesy of the Newark Sunday Call we are enabled to print a picture of the huge terminal as it will appear when completed. As Mr. Besler stated in his contributed editorial the new terminal will be the only union station for the New York passenger traffic, and it will be so constructed as to allow of tunnel connections beneath the North river at such time as the road may decide to add that improvement.

To those who offer the best suggestions as to how to best advertise Plainfield as a desirable residential community, the Chamber of Commerce will give $175. The contest closes on February 1 and so there is ample time for the submission of publicity ideas. Any particulars concerning the competition may be obtained of the officers of the civic body.

President Taft's position regarding the Philippines is one that should cause President-elect Wilson to do some serious thinking. To give the Filipino his independence now would be as dangerous as to give a baby a loaded revolver.

No mercy was shown a gang of toughs arraigned before Judge DeMeza on Saturday on charges of disorderly conduct and the court took occasion to say that rowdyism in Plainfield must cease.

STRICKEN AT HIS WORK DIES IN FIVE HOURS

Orenowitz, a Baker, Succumbs to a Sudden Attack of Bright's Disease.

While working in the bakery of Louis Kornfield, at Park and North avenue, formerly owned by W. W. Warnock, Nicholas Orenowitz, a bread baker, was stricken with Bright's disease shortly after 2 o'clock this morning and died five hours later in Muhlenberg Hospital. Orenowitz was employed in the establishment as a bread baker and was about to place a tray of dough in the ovens when he collapsed to the floor groaning in agony. Fellow workmen telephoned for the ambulance.

Orenowitz came to this city from New York. Efforts are being made through a New York employment agency to locate a borther who is said to be a waiter in a Broadway restaurant.

A Story With a Moral.

Here is a little story with a moral. A young man who was known among his fellow workers as somewhat of a prevaricator, did not appear one day at his desk. He sent a letter, however, to the manager announcing that his absence was caused by one of his children having scarlet fever. He got in reply a note which gave him two weeks' leave of absence without pay, the manager sympathetically explaining that he feared the contagion might spread into the homes of some of the other employees.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Baboons and Oysters.

A liking for oysters is supposed to indicate a somewhat advanced gustatory taste, and yet, according to a book entitled "Monkeyfolk in South Africa," by F. W. Fitzsimons, baboons share this predilection with gormands. Shellfish of all kinds are welcome food to them, and troops of baboons often make excursions to the seaside to get these salty delicacies, opening the shells either with their strong teeth or by striking them on the rocks.

A Long Pedigree.

Sir William Lever, the well known soap manufacturer, once remarked that when he got his baronetcy, the college of heralds had no difficulty about his pedigree.

SUSPECT INCENDIARY SET FIRE IN THE BOROUGH

The northwest section of North Plainfield was stirred early yesterday morning when two alarms were turned in for a barn fire in the rear of the Wilsson property on Greenbrook road. The barn, which was worth $1,500, was totally destroyed as were the farm implements stored in the building, and a large chicken house near-by. It took hard work on the part of the firemen to confine the blaze to the barn and chicken house.

Marshal Keller turned in an alarm from box 156. He returned to the fire. A passerby noticed the blaze after Marshal Keller turned in the alarm, and sent in the second call, which startled the residents of the neighborhood.

When the firemen arrived they found it impossible to use the hose cart to stretch the hose and lost some valuable time while the seven hundred feet or more of hose was stretched from Harrison avenue cross the fields to the burning building. When the water was turned on the only thing that the fire laddies could do was to prevent the spreading of the flames to the other buildings.

The police say incendiarism is the only plausible explanation of the fire, and they are investigating it rigidly. The damage done will amount to $1,800.

SPEAKEASY KEEPER FINED AND JAILED

Louis Devego, of Johnson avenue, who is employed by the city as a laborer, was arrested yesterday on a charge of selling liquor without a license and when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and be committed to the county jail for a term of 30 days. Antonio Romanio, of St. Mary's avenue; John Falconero, Leonardi Velardi and Andrew Pelligren, of Johnson avenue, were arrested as the men who purchased the liquor and were arraigned on a technical charge of disorderly conduct. Sentence was suspended on each of these men with the exception of Pelligren who was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 of spend 60 days in jail for lying to the court. He said he wasn't in Devego's house yesterday. The arrests were made by Sergeant Mlynn and Roundsman Saffron.

Devego's home in Johnson avenue has been under surveillance since last Tuesday, when Flynn received information that liquor was again being sold to Italians of the neighborhood on Sunday. Devego has been before the court on a previous occasion on a similar charge.

HOBO MADE HIMSELF AT HOME IN R. R. STATION

Walter Norris, 22 years old, no home, and who says he works as a marine fireman, wandered into the Grant Avenue station of the eCntral Railroad last night, built a roaring fire in the furnace and made himself perfectly at home. He was enjoying a peaceful sleep when Patrolman McGuire happened along and noticing the glow of the stove forced open the door of the station to investigate.

Norris was placed under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. Before City Judge DeMeza this morning Norris said he was traveling around the country in search of work, and, spying the station, decided it was a good place to spend the night. The court suspended sentence under condition that he leave town.

THE FORUM.

A WORD FOR U. S. STEEL.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In your issue of the 15th inst. under "Robs Peter to Pay Paul" your deductions from the news items received over the wire are hasty, and cast a shadow, and are sure to give a wrong impression, on the efforts of a man and his associates, who are in control of the largest corporation extant, for social up-lift and welfare work, and which is a leading living example to others. For your information, will say, that the advance in prices of Sheet products, was first made by the so-called independent producers, some time previous to this date and for the good old-fashioned reasons of higher costs of raw materials with supply not quite equal to the demand. These causes no doubt influence the corporation to put in effect a higher schedule for sheets, and not, as you would lead the public to believe, because of a higher wage granted, for this increase in wages is not applicable, if you care to look it up, to the skilled workers or producers of finished goods. The production of sheets by the corporation, is not over 45 per cent. of the total produced in the United States, and while this product is an important part of their capacity, it is not the leading item by any means. Anything that tends to ameliorate conditions and reward labor with the attendant results of better living for the workers and their families, should be encouraged and not treated with sarcasm or criticized. A little added to what you have, makes a little bit more, and the advance made to common labor is not in the line of generosity, but given as a matter of right, and to help raise a body of workers into a higher plane of living, and help meet the higher costs of their needs; for you must agree, that society demands a better living condition and thereby imposes a greater expenditure, from each of us, regardless of extravagance in the individual. We are safe in saying, the Steel Corporation has always taken the initiative in wage increases, and the records will show an appreciable average wage advance, per man, since the formation of this company, which has been followed generally by the so-called independent manufacturers.

Boost, don't knock, when some good is to follow a voluntary action and by all means don't give false testimony and be hastily led to give wrong impressions of good actions.

WELCOME FOR REV. MR. WILSON

Greetings Extended New Pastor at Special Services at Unitarian Church.

TWO MINISTERS SPEAK

Rev. Dr. S. A. Eliot and Rev. C. L. Goodrich Made Brief Addresses—Samuel Huntington Also Greets New Pastor Who Responds.

Several distinguished men of Unitarian Societies made addresses at the special services marking the formal welcoming of Rev. Arthur E. Wilson to the pastorate of All Souls' Unitarian church last night. Rev. Leif Huseby, of Elizabeth, opened the services with a short prayer and then Samuel Huntington, president of the Unitarian Society of Plainfield, extended Rev. Mr. Wilson the welcome to the church with the promise of the help of all the members. "We regard you already," Mr. Huntington said, "as a dear personal friend and we earnestly hope that you will continue as pastor of this church, even after the older members have passed away and thus make it your last pastoral charge."

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, extended the right hand of fellowship on behalf of the Plainfield ministers. Rev. Leon A. Harvey, of New York, secretary of the Unitarian Conference of the Middle States and Canada, welcomed Mr. Wilson into the conference zone. He also gave the formal charge, explaining in detail the work expected of a minister and the spirit in which he would have to do it.

The greetings of the American Unitarian Association was delivered by the president of the association, Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Elliott. Incidently he referred to the great fight being waged against the White Slave evil and the part the Unitarian churches are taking in helping to stamp out the curse.

In a few brief remarks, Rev. Mr. Wilson promised to be faithful to his charge, be a true pastor and friend to all the members of his congregation, to try to be practical as to affairs of life and co-operate with the congregation and help mankind in general. "I will rejoice with you in your moments of joy and sorrowing when you have sorrows. A home can never be always bright and sunny; it is bound to run into dark clouds, but there is always a bright and sunny future ahead no matter how dark the cloud may seem. I will try never to forget the divine love that joins us to each other and will look forward to your help and co-operation as you will look for mine."

Mrs. Guy Bender sang several solos and Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnson accompanied her on the violin.

BREAD LINE IS AKIN TO AUTOMOBILE LINE

Rev. Herbert Shipman Sees the World as a Chaos of Pathos.

Pity that moves the thoughtful observer of the wealthy classes was the theme of an impressive sermon by Rev. Herbert Shipman, rector of the Church of the Heavenly, New York, at Grace Episcopal church yesterday afternoon. There is as much pathos, Mr. Shipman said, in well-groomed but money-crazed respectability as in the degradation of the slums. There were persons of wealth, the clergyman said, whose lives spelled the vanity of vanities and the nothingness of emptiness.

Mr. Shipman's preachment was one of gripping interest. He pictured the present-day world as a chaos of pathos—a pathos that lies not only in the bread line but in the automobile line.

In the homes of those who are money-mad it is pathetic, the New York rector asserted, to see the infants born there change their cry from "Life, give me more life," to "Money, money, and yet more money," as they grew into manhood and womanhood. It was pathetic because of the splendid hopes which were shattered in such places. Mr. Shipman, continuing, said in part:

"There is not only the pathos of the gambling den but the pathos which spins around the roulette wheel on Fifth avenue. Not only the pathos in the little store where ragged children come and where pennies are haggled over but in the glittering shops where the furnishings cost a small fortune in themselves, where all is utterly empty and where behind it all is the face of pathos. There is pathos in the dance halls where to the tune of the broken-backed piano bare-limbed girls and their bolsterous partners dance in their freakish way amid the clink of the beer glasses. But pathos also reigns among the pleasures and entertainments of the so-called higher classes.

"It is pathetic to see the members of the latter trying to have a good time. It is pathetic when the wealthy pile on more and yet more dissolved and highly spiced pleasures, laughing more freely, drinking more thirstily, and dancing more gaily.

"We seem to be pushing God more and more out of the world and trying to get along without Him. The fool says that there is no God. Do you want to be classed among the fools? The still voice says that you want God. You may refuse to admit the need, but in your heart you know it. It is the nagging voice of spiritual hunger and hunger does not cease its cry until it is satisfied.

"The pleasures and excitements in the world do not constitute a natural satisfaction. The satisfaction is in God. 'The Soul of man was made for God and the soul of man is the place for God.' This restless, searching and doubting century of ours is the greatest proof of this longing for something definite which will satisfy the world. We will never know peace or right until we go to God and find peace in Him."

Mr. Shipman was formerly a chaplain at the United States Military Academy at West Point and recently declined a call to become rector of Holy Trinity church in Paris.

BY SPIRIT BOUND BUT LETTER FREE

Ideal of Unitarian Application of the Teachings of Jesus Christ.

GENIUS FOR RELIGION

Christ's Ability to Understand and Teach Religious Truth Unique Among Men, Says Rev. A. E. Wilson, in Unitarian Sermon Series.

"Following Christ" was the subject of Rev. Arthur E. Wilson's discourse at All Souls' Unitarian church, yesterday morning, it being the third in the series on "Unitarian Beliefs." The preacher said that his theme raised two questions: Why should we follow Christ? and How to follow Him?"

"Jesus is the example of the world's greatest genius in understanding and teaching real religion," said Mr. Wilson.

"Christ felt the relation of God to man," said the preacher. "Others had philosophised about God, but Jesus lived their philosophy. It does not belittle Jesus to put Him in the class of genius. Where else could He be put? He was not God. If He were not human His character, His loving kindness and charm of manner and words which men acknowledged as the grace of His life would lose their appeal.

"Jesus is our highest standard of a human life," continued Mr. Wilson. "Until we have raised the level of our character, and our religious faith to that which He showed the world. He will continue to be our leader and we must look to Him and follow Him. Our demand is for a leader who is full of a great faith in divine love and righteousness, who has an unshaken conviction of a divine meaning for life, who can show us the workings of this divine love who can make us respond until we feel it and live it in ourselves, who has compassion for sin and is full of tenderness toward others, who forgives freely wrongs done him, who sees through shams to realty, who points out worthy and high purposes as above temporarily satisfying.

"Jesus Christ was such a leader. A divinely gifted religious man and teacher, our best representative of a God-inspired life. We must follow Him not by trying to copy Him, obeying literally everything He said, which was applicable to His day and country, and not to ours, but by trying to get the secret of His life, His spirit, to make His spirit ours. We must be spirit bound, but letter free. As He taught that the moral law was above the levitical, so we must learn to follow the dictates of our own conscience, learn to serve others and to deny ourselves, to take up whatever burdens the pursuit of truth and duty imposes on us. We are understanding more and more that the spirit of Jesus was doing the will of God. And we are His faithful followers when to the issues of life we bring hearts and souls in harmony with God and seek first His righteousness."

NURSED VICTIMS OF WAR

Here no looting or murdering of personal enemies was allowed. The missionaries did excellent work caring for the refugees, who flocked in from their burnt villages on the plain, literally in thousands. Relief money is coming in chiefly from England and America, but a large sum will be needed to keep the people from starvation and enable them in the early spring to put up shacks, buy a yoke of oxen and start their chops again.

If Plainfielders want to assist in relief work, Mr. Bond will gladly receive and forward any money entrusted to his care. His address is "Rev. Lewis Bond, Plainfield." The letter he received from his daughter was dated December 24, and she had not yet learned of the election of Wilson to the Presidency.

Bolsterle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Bolsterle, of the borough, who has been pastor of a Reformed church in the upper part of New York State, has acepted a call to the Anderson Memorial Reformed church, of New York city, and will begin his duties there February 1. Mr. Bolsterle prepared for the ministry at Rutgers and the Seminary.

Prior to going to college, Mr. Bolsterle was prominent here as a baseball player, having been a member of several local teams, including the Y. M. C. A. He has preached a number of times at Trinity Reformed church.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS CHRISTIAN MINISTER

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring Ordained a Quarter of a Century Ago.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring completed the twenty-fifth year of his ministry yesterday, it being just a quarter of a century ago that he was ordained in the East Harlem Presbyterian church, New York, which he organized. The church has since become a strong and thriving one. Following his ordination, Dr. Herring spent a year at Oxford and in Germany in study, and while abroad was given a call to the Congregational church at Oxford, which he declined.

Dr. Herring, upon his return to this country received and accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church, and he has served that church for twenty years. He prepared for the ministry at Union Theological Seminary. At his ordination, Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby delivered the sermon and Rev. George Alexander gave the charge to the pastor.

An interesting fact in connection with Dr. Herring's anniversary is that it was twenty-five years ago last September that Father William H. Miller, of St. Joseph's church, was ordained to the priesthood. His mother was born in Armagh, Ireland, which was also the birthplace of Dr. Herring's mother. Reference was made to this incident at Father Miller's anniversary.

Dr. Herring at the morning service yesterday referred to his anniversary, preaching from the text, "The Purpose of Preaching." He recalled many incidents of his early life as a minister and those of later years.

She was born in this city and lived here all her life. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joel Pangborn.

CROWDED HOUSE FOR PANAMA CANAL LECTURE

Burton Holmes gave his travelogue on "The Panama Canal" at Carnegie Hall, New York, last night, and he will repeat the same lecture here tomorrow night at the Plainfield theatre. Last spring Mr. Holmes visited the Canal Zone and brought back motion and still pictures which will be used to illustrate his talks.

"Burton Holmes has achieved such success with his travelogue on 'The Panama and Suez Canals' as to make it necessary to give extra presentations of this topic in every city," says the New York Evening Sun. "In Chicago he gave it seven times, St Louis twice, Milwaukee three times Philadelphia six, Washington three and in other cities to audiences aggregating nearly 100,000 people, so far, while return engagements in these cities are still to be filled. Extra presentations in New York Brooklyn, Worcester and Boston have been already announced."

There's a big demand for seats for tomorrow night and the house will be sold out.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—A stirring appeal was made to the Senate Saturday by Senator James E. Martine, of New Jersey, for legislation for the relief of Miss Alice V. Houghton, the young woman who two years ago had her scalp torn off by one of the tabulating machines in the Census Office.

The result was that the Senate reconsidered the bill passed some time ago to allow $4,200 to Miss Houghton and increased the amount o $8,000. Of this $2,000 is to be paid at once and $75 per month to be paid thereafter. The money is free from attachment and is to be for Miss Houghton's own use.

DAUGHTERS OF LIBERTY CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

A program consisting of recitations, songs and musical selection was rendered at the celebration of the seventeenth birthday of Martha Washington Council, Daughters of Liberty, in the Babcock building Saturday night.

MAKING MEAT TENDER.

Cooking In Casserole Dishes Gives Food a Nice Flavor.

The high cost of living is a problem that is troubling many a wise person and seems to overtax the poor housewife especially. The meat question is one of the most serious, as the best cuts are almost as expensive as jewels, and the cheaper cuts if cooked in the ordinary way are so tough as to be unfit to eat.

There is a solution to this problem. It is this: Buy the cheaper cuts entirely and cook them "en casserole." This term may frighten the home cook, who avoids French dishes as she would a Chinese puzzle, but there is nothing at all terrifying about this style of cooking if one understands the art.

For the benefit of those who have never used these "little brown servants" let it be known that a casserole set consists of one good sized covered baking dish large enough for a four or five pound cut of meat, two open baking bowls that may be used for such articles as have to be browned while cooking and so need not be covered and six squat brown "cocottes," or individual dishes. The first cost of this set will be saved a hundred times over by the inexpensive but delicious dishes derived from its use.

All foods better for long, slow cooking should be prepared in one of these fireproof covered dishes. For instance, take an ordinary pot roast. It is delicious cooked in a casserole.

Use a roast from the round several inches thick or any lean cut of beef, for the casserole is to make it tender. With a sharp knife make an incision like an addition sign through the meat. In this place a slice of bacon. If preferred several incisions may be made and several slices of bacon placed therein.

Braise the meat in hot fat until it is well seared, then dredge with salt, pepper and flour. Put the roast in the casserole and pour over it sufficient water to almost cover it. Place the lid on and set the casserole where it will cook at a gentle heat for several hours.

In the little "cocottes" many savories may be made. Shirred eggs or rice and lamb mixed with tomato sauce are cooked to perfection in these dishes. Oysters, too, may be cooked in these individual dishes.

Puddings and desserts, which are better hot, are well suited to this style of cooking, as they may be kept at a high temperature without danger of spoiling.

The Laundry Bag.

Every bedroom should be equipped with a good sized, strong and, if possible, artistic laundry bag.

The bag seen in the illustration is one of the best liked models. One advantage it possesses not found in the average laundry receptacle is the drop button. Instead of being stitched firmly at the end there is an envelope flap, secured with buttons, which, when open, allows the clothes room to drop through easily.

A NEW MODEL IN CRETONNE.

Lengthening Sleeves.

With the preponderance of long sleeves in the realm of fashion, milady must bethink herself what to do with the gown of last season, perhaps a spring, or, it may be, a late winter gown of cloth or silk she wants to bring up to date in this particular. A very practical and withal chic and stylish way is to remove the cuff of lace, silk or other decorative fabrics from the elbow of the frock and make a lower sleeve in the form of a deep cuff shaped to a point or in rounded effect at top to extend over the end of the upper sleeve. This may be piped with silk or satin or braid trimmed at edge, and the cuff, if suitable, may be designed to finish the sleeve at wrist.

To Glaze Linen.

Dissolve one ounce of yellow soap with half an ounce of borax in one pint of hot water, add two teaspoonfuls of glycerin, the same quantity of turpentine and a teaspoonful of common salt, with a quarter of a pound of white starch. Then add a pint more water. The great advantage of this preparation is that it keeps for months, and a polishing iron need not be used.

Cleaning Collars.

When the coat collar becomes soiled it may be cleaned in this manner: Dissolve one part salt in four parts alcohol.

Apply this mixture with a sponge and rub well.

WAYS OF SERVING ONIONS.

ONIONS are a useful cold weather vegetable. Fortunately there are ways of cooking them so that the obnoxious odor does not permeate the house. The one which is most satisfactory is in the fireless cooker. Some cooks recommend leaving the vessel without a lid while they are boiling or stewing, but this does not always avail to banish odor.

Sauted and Boiled.

Glazed Silver Skins.—Take twelve small onions and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and saute them in three tablespoonfuls of butter to which has been added one tablespoonful of sugar.

Boiled Onions and Parsley Sauce.—Take one pint of small white onions. Peel and place them in a saucepan over the fire. Cover with boiling water, add half a teaspoonful of salt and boil ten minutes; then drain. Return the onions to the saucepan, add one ounce of butter and toss them over the fire for a few minutes, adding one tablespoonful of cream. Let stand two minutes and add one-half a tablespoonful of fine chopped parsley.

Wholesome Dishes.

Creamed Onions.—Take a quarter peck of onions, a tablespoonful each of salt, butter and flour and a cupful of milk. Peel and wash the onions, cover with boiling water, add the salt and boil forty minutes, or until the onions are tender. Remove with a skimmer. Put the butter in a pan, add the flour, then the cold milk slowly, stir until smooth and creamy, cook three minutes; then pour over the onions and cook for five minutes more.

Spanish Onions With Sauce.—Take a half dozen Spanish onions, a tablespoonful each of butter, flour and salt, a cupful of cold milk, a half teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Pare and wash the onions, cover with boiling water, add the tablespoonful of salt and boil twenty minutes. Place in a bakepan that has been brushed with melted butter, cover with cream sauce and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

For the sauce melt the butter in a saucepan, add the flour, then the cold milk slowly, stir until smooth and creamy. Cook three minutes.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Old Gold a Smart New Color of the Winter.

Old gold is the newest tone of the season, and it is vastly becoming. It is, of course, merely a "touch" tone and not used for entire garments.

ONE PIECE COAT.

Many of the new blouses combine the broad revers with the new Robespierre collar.

Here is an exceptionally smart coat that is made all in one piece, including shoulder seams, but with sleeves that are sewed to the armholes. In the cut it is made from double faced cloth.

WHAT TO EAT.

Unusual Ways of Serving Celery and Winter Apples.

Among the appetizing relishes so much used is stuffed celery. As a change from celery stuffed with cheese, try the following: Select four tender stalks of celery of the same length and cut in halves; stuff with a mixture of equal parts of chopped raisins, dates and figs. Arrange them in star shapes on a round plate and garnish with celery tips.

A dainty luncheon or supper dessert, says Good Housekeeping, is apple cup. Here is the recipe:

Select medium sized firm apples; scoop out the centers from the stem end, leaving about one-fourth of the core at the blossom end. Cook in a sirup made with equal parts sugar and water until the apples may be pierced with a fork but are not in danger of breaking. Remove to the serving dish and fill each apple with a mixture of chopped raisins, dates and figs. Pour a little of the sirup over them and garnish with whipped cream. If desired uncooked apples may be used, in which case the skin should be left on. Red apples are the most attractive.

COLONIAL RUGS.

The Hand Woven Sort Are Again In Favor.

The hand woven rug or the colonial squares have come back to favor in the general return to the colonial styles of interior decoration that have swept over our homes.

There are many forms of hand woven rugs, the braided form being the easiest. A single braid of three strands is made of strips of cotton materials of many colors, sewed in long strands and collected in large balls before the braiding is begun.

The plaited rug can be in a round form or a long oval rug. Some women are emphasizing one color, and therefore the long strips are dyed by any of the directions that come with reliable dyes on the market.

A hooked rug may be made of pieces of linen, silk, gingham, etc., and a piece of burlap or bagging.

The small pieces are pulled up through the weave of the burlap by means of a rug hook. The strands are drawn tightly on the under surface, and when finished the wrong side resembles a series of plain stitches. On the upper side there are loops one inch deep. The whole material is filled in with loops in single patterns. Squares, circles, borders, etc., are marked off and then filled in. When finished these loops should be cut about a quarter of an inch off the top. The result will be a soft, solid pile.

To Destroy Pests.

There is a simple remedy for destroying insects that are sometimes found on household pets—dogs, cats, birds, etc.—which is not generally known, but which is said to be absolutely sure in its results. It is simply to wash the animal with the water in which potatoes have been boiled. When preparing the vegetables for dinner put plenty of water in the vessel in which they are boiled; then, when the potatoes are thoroughly cooked, pour this water off into a bucket or pan. When it is almost cold apply it to the skin of the animal with a sponge or cloth, taking care that it soaks well into the skin if the animal has long hair or thick fur; then with a soft scrubbing brush (a nailbrush will do) scrub the skin, separating the hair as you work.

Do not rinse this off with clear water. Let it dry thoroughly first; then wash the animal with clear water and a good strong soap. The first application is generally effectual, but if the case is a stubborn one it had better be repeated a few times in order to destroy the eggs.

This is also a cure for the parasite in which mange originates and is said to destroy plant lice also.

Cream of Mushroom Soup.

Peel and cut one pound of fresh mushrooms, put them in a porcelain lined kettle, cover with a quart of light stock (chicken or veal) and cook until tender. Press through a sieve and, returning to the kettle, add three or four tablespoonfuls of sago and cook twenty minutes longer, when you may season it and add one quart of scalded milk. Take one cupful of the soup and mix with the beaten yolks of four eggs and slowly pour the mixture back into the soup. Serve at once.

Classified advertising will sell that piano for its cash value.

Usually a very moderate amount of perseverance in want advertising for a job is sufficient.

No Honor at All.

A section foreman on one of the great lines came under the notice of the president of the road, who had been observant of the manner in which the track had been maintained. Having graduated from a humble position, the officer knew what it meant to get a pat on the back.

He called the section boss to the side of his car, gave him a drink of whisky without any claws in it and a perfecto cigar. Then he told him how he appreciated his work and adjured him to keep it up.

"WAS THE SEE-GAR LIGHTED?"

The district dignitary stowed away the perfecto to smoke of a Sunday and after he had lighted it took a spin on the handcar to put it all over the foreman of the adjoining section.

The latter listened to the narrative with poorly assumed control.

"Was the see-gar lighted when he gave it to ye?" he inquired.

"Not on yer life! Why so?"

"Well, because he sint for me three months ago—alongside of his car—and thrun wan at me, but it was burnin'."—Chicago Post.

The Label Was Plain.

At the last annual banquet of the Indiana Society of Chicago Strickland Gillilan told a story which he began with the statement that "Hoosiers require no more identification than a Kansas hotel keeper named Ed Wood, an Englishman, who stammered copiously. Ed went home to visit his English cousins. When he got back as far as little old—whatever the town's name is—he found his stock of ready money rather short. So he wired to his Kansas banker to send him $175. Smith, the banker, wired to Ed, 'Have sent money care Kuhns & Co.' To Kuhns & Co. he wired: 'Pay to Ed Wood $175 my account. Wood may be identified by stammer.'

"When Wood got back to Kansas he went to see his banking friend.

"'S-s-ay, J-joe, those K-k-kuhns people are the finest s-s-set of gentlemen I ever m-met. I went around there and said, "Did J-oe S-s-smith s-send me s-some m-money?" They said, "Y-yes." I s-said, "Sh-sh-shell 'er out." They h-h-handed it out to me and n-never asked for any id-d-dentification.'"—Chicago Tribune.

PICKS FIELD AND TRACK CHAMPIONS

James E. Sullivan Announces His All American Team for 1913.

The all-American track team for 1913, as picked by James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union and American commissioner at the Olympic games last summer, has just been published in the official athletic almanac for 1913. In addition to selecting the all-American team, composed of both college and club men, Mr. Sullivan has selected an all-America college team and an all-America scholastic team. Practically every man on the team competed in the Olympic games, and with few exceptions helped to swell the total of points scored by the American team.

Jim Thorpe, who won the pentathlon and decathlon at Stockholm, was named as an all-around man. Harold P. Drew, the negro sprinter of Springfield High School, is given first choice as a seventy-yard sprinter, while Ralph Craig, winner of the dashes at Stockholm, has been named as the 100-yard man. To Alvah T. Meyer, the Irish-American Athletic Club flyer, was given choice in the furlong dash. Meyer finished second to Craig in Stockholm.

Melvin W. Sheppard, the "peerless" mid-distance runner of the Irish-American Athletic Club, won his place on the team as a 600-yard man, and "Tad" Meredith, now of the University of Pennsylvania, is named to the half-mile performer. Charles D. Reidpath, who showed his heels to the fleetest performers in the world both in Sweden and when competing under the colors of Syracuse University in the quarter-mile run, had little difficulty in winning his place.

John Paul Jones, the holder of the world's record at one mile and the intercollegiate record at 880 yards, has been named only on the college team. Abel Kiviat won first place for the mile, and Tel Berna, of Cornell, won preference in the two-mile run. A selection which has caused some surprise is the naming of Harry J. Smith in the ten-mile run. In the opinion of many there are better men to be found for the place than Smith, and while Billy Kramer has been selected for the place of 'cross-country runner, he has been a consistent performer at ten miles and has showed great ability at the distance.

Charles Brickley, the Harvard athlete, was selected for the hop, step and jump. Brickley failed to score in the Olympic games, but in the tryouts at Cambridge for the Olympic team he outjumped all competitors.

Gaston Strobino, who was the first American runner to finish the Marathon run, has been chosen for the long grind, while Pat McDonald, Matt McGrath, Jim Duncan and Pat Ryan were picked in the weights.

HOLY CROSS FOOTBALL CLUB WILL HOLD DANCE

Holy Cross football players will celebrate the remarkable season the club has just concluded on the gridiron, tonight in Debele's Hall with their first annual reception and dance. The officers of the organization have been trying ever since the season closed to devise some way to announce their double championship in public and a dance was finally decided upon as the best means of informing the general public that the team has annexed the New Jersey club championship and the city championship for the season of 1912. In recognition of their work on the gridiron each of the players will be awarded a solid silver medal at tonight's affair. Many of the athletic clubs that served as Holy Cross opponents while chasing the pigskin have been invited to attend and large delegations are expected from New Brunswick, Bayonne and Somerville. The following members of the club have been selected to serve on the entertainment committee: Jack Doyle, Jack Wilson, William Coyle and Edward Bremble.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL INVITED TO JOIN

Union County Athletic Association Welcomes Plainfield High School.

The annual meeting of the Union County High School Athletic Asociation was held in the Roselle High School, Friday, at which time officers were elected as follows: President, W. E. Short, of Rahway; vice president, W. Roy Starry, of Roselle Park; secretary, Donald Davenport, of Roselle, and treasurer, J. A. Corlies, of Cranford.

It was voted to extend an invitation to Battin High School, of Elizabeth; Plainfield and Westfield High Schools to join the association. The organization at present comprises Rahway, Cranford, Roselle and Roselle Park schools.

The association decided to hold a cross-country run on Washington's Birthday, the run to start in Roselle and end at Rahway. Committees were also appointed to arrange track and baseball schedules.

LOCAL GIRLS' FIVE HELD TO ONE POINT

Montclair High School Girls Come Out Ahead by a Score of 30 to 1.

A feat that has not been equalled in the last few years at least was accomplished by the Montclair High School girls' basketball team at Montclair, Saturday afternoon, when they scored a total of thirty points against a single tally made by their opponents, the Plainfield High School girls' team. Close guarding and the superior all around playing of the Montclair five is all that can be assigned for the 30 to 1 defeat, but the local girls were completely baffled by the offensive work of the Montclair aggregation.

The winners put up an exhibition of the greatest of feminine games that would be difficult to equal in scholastic circles today and would make a formidable foe for any women's college five now playing the game.

AMERICAN CHESS TOURNEY.

New York, Jan. 20.—The American Chess Masters' tournament, for which arrangements have been making for several months, got under way in this city today. The event is regarded as the most important of its kind that has taken place on this side of the Atlantic since the great international tournament was held at Cambridge Springs nearly ten years ago. Janowski, the French champion; Capablanca, the Cuban champion; Marshall, the champion of the United States; Oscar Chajes, of Chicago, and a number of other chess experts of wide reputation are among the contestants.

BERNARDSVILLE EASY FOR N. P. H. S. QUINTET

Losing Team Bewildered by Visitors' Fast and Accurate Style of Play.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team added another victory to its list last Saturday, defeating the Bernardsville High School five by a score of 39-16. Nearly all the N. P. H. S. regulars were back in the game and the team played well. Roy Love, who has been out for the past month, played centre, allowing Carroll Taylor and Captain Townley to resume their positions of forward and guard, respectively.

At the sound of the first whistle the borough five started fast and only when time was called did they let up. The Bernardsville boys were bewildered at the team-work and accurate shooting of the North Plainfielders.

Love made the first score of the game by making a beautiful shot from a difficult position. This was quickly followed up by one from Taylor. Townley was always beneath his opponent's basket and played a great game of defensive basketball. The first half ended 21-7 in favor of North Plainfield.

In the second half the borough captain was hurt and was replaced by Hyman Abrams, who played well during the rest of the game. In this half the home team started a little rough-house, but the borough boys kept on putting the ball in the basket for points. The trip to Bernardsville was made by stage. Mr. Earley acted as chaperone.

MILITIA BOYS ROUTED BY CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS

Co. K Vanquished by Y. M. C. A. the Final Score Being 39 to 21.

In the initial game of the season the Y. M. C. A. basketball team defeated the Company K five Saturday night, by a score of 39 to 21. The soldier boys, the majority of whom are suffering from minor injuries received in the exhibition game played at the Plainfield theatre last Thursday night, put up a good fight considering their condition. Smith, the centre for the Y. M. C. A. team, scored the highest number of points for his five, with Taylor running a close second. Nolan and Glover, of the citizen-soldiers, ran up and tied for first honors as point scorers for their side; Darling, the star forward, had considerable difficulty in locating the basket because of a badly wrenched back sustained Thursday night. As it was, he succeeded in caging two field goals and one foul, while Seal dropped two field goals with an accuracy that was remarkable. Coyle ran third for the Y. M. C. A. with a total of four field goals and Bailey, who scored only one basket, was the lowest scoring man of either team.

FITZ'S HORSE SHOE AS A GIFT TO ELKS

Lanky Bob Shows He's as Good a Blacksmith as He Was a Prizefighter.

Bob Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion pugilist of this old world, dropped in at R. B. Hewitt's blacksmith shop, in Newark, on Saturday afternoon, donned a blacksmith's apron, and with a few blows upon the anvil with his brawny right arm, converted a rod of iron into a large horseshoe. This done the former champion added a few fancy touches to his handiwork, punched in forty-eight stars, representing the States in the Union, and then gilded the shoe. He will present the souvenir, along with his autographed photographs to the Newark Lodge of Elks. Another token of a similar nature will go to adorn the quarters of the East Orange Elks.

Fitzsimmons and his fourteen-year-old daughter, Rosalie, are at present the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGinnity, in Newark. The former champion is thinking seriously of opening a place of business in Newark, no, not a blacksmith shop, but a "swell" thirst parlor. While the Cornishman is kept pretty busy scouting about for a good "stand" in Newark, running a farm and a sanatorium in Dunellen, and rehearsing for a theatrical engagement, he still has a hankering to keep a hand in the pugilistic game.

"I'd like to take hold of that fellow, Al Palzer," said the ruby-haired Robert. "He's the logical candidate for the heavyweight crown. Of course, Palzer lost to Luther McCarthy, but I'll wager that if I took Palzer in hand for six months and taught him the game he'd just clean up in the heavyweight ranks. Palzer has the proper physique, while McCarthy isn't big enough to cope with Jack Johnson."

Then Fitz went on, telling of the wonderful strength and boxing ability of his son, Bob Fitz, Jr. Strange to say, however, the ex-champion is unalterably opposed to having his boy take up the boxing game professionally. "One fighter in the family is enough," spake Fitz.

FAST RULES BAFFLE LOCAL SCHOOLBOYS

Capitol City Basketball Players Won Over P. H. S. in Fast Game.

Playing in a strange town where still stranger basketball is played, the Plainfield High School boys' team took the smaller end of a 27 to 13 score at Trenton Saturday afternoon, in their game with the High School five of that place. The Queen City aggregation was completely bewildered by the rushing and dubbling game displayed by the Trentonians and were practically powerless in crushing the attack.

Two home games have been booked by Manager Grisley for this week, one with Westfield Wednesday and another with Upsala Friday. The score:

JACK MARTIN SENDS IN HIS SIGNED CONTRACT

Jack Martin, of this city, who was recalled from Rochester to the Yankees, has sent in his signed contract, and will sail with the club on March 1. Martin went to Rochester in the Tommy McMillan deal, but President Farrell decided that Martin was as promising a candidate for his infield is McMillan, and was not worth the bonus which Rochester demanded.

"CHRISTY" MATHEWSON IS FINED FOR SPEEDING

New York, Jan. 20.—Christy Mathewson was judicially declared too speedy by Magistrate Leach, at Jamaica, today, and was fined $10. The Giant pitcher was running his auto along the Hoffman Boulevard, at Jamaica, last evening, and was timed by Patrolman Meehan as doing thirty-one miles an hour.

North Plainfield High School basketball players will lineup against the recently organized Y. M. C. A. five tonight in Saengerbund Hall. A dance will follow. The school players will line up as follows: Forwards, Taylor and Van Mater; centre, Love; guards, Townley and Burner. Abrams will be on the side-lines.

HIGH WINDS DID LITTLE DAMAGE IN THIS SECTION

No serious damage was reported here as the result of the gale which swept through this section Saturday evening. The blow and rain lasted not more than twenty minutes, but it had the ear-marks of a Kansas cyclone. In various parts of the city and borough trees were damaged and some blown down, blinds were ripped off of houses, chicken-coops were carried away, in fact anything not securely fastened moved in the face of the gale.

Street lights were out for an hour or more in certain parts of the city, there being more or less damage to overhead wires. Trolley cars were held up for a time and other vehicles sought shelter until the storm had passed.

A new three-story frame building erected at Somerville by Max Breen, was totally demolished. A wagon house on the top of which was erected a water tank on the estate of John B. Staats near Belle Mead, was lifted and carried 300 feet. The spire and belfry of the Readington Reformed church was also wrecked.

Merchants who use the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press deserve your consideration and trade. They represent the best in their respective lines and they spend their money for publicity in order to attract custom to their establishments. It costs money to advertise and the business man who seeks your patronage and makes a public bid for it is going to serve you well. The merchant who establishes a reputation by advertising can not afford to waste this money and unless you are pleased you'll not go to his store again.

Advertising has become a science, yet anyone can write an advertisement that will pull trade. The readers of the Daily Press will find the advertising column an interesting feature. It contains suggestions that will meet every want and those who use its columns are among the leading and most enterprising business men. Tell them you were induced to come to their store by their advertising in the Daily Press—it is of mutual encouragement. Besides, there is always a more satisfactory service in the store that advertises. Never have merchants made greater efforts to secure trade or have prices been lower, and no city in the country can supply you more comfortably.

We are glad to say a good word for our advertisers. They have been liberal space takers throughout—and they have secured results. They know that the Daily Press is their best medium to reach the buying public and that it has THE right kind of circulation—the hearthstone kind.

The usual clearing sales are held in January and February. The wise merchant continues his store news and makes busy months, clearing out surplus stocks, which Daily Press readers will be glad to take off their hands. The business man who stops advertising at the close of the holiday trade makes a mistake he can not correct. The big stores have become big by keeping their name before the public and "making good" in thier publicity. The money they spend during the so-called dull season is among their best investments. The Daily Press circulation brings their trade.

CHURCH SERVICE FOR POST OFFICE STAFFS

Dr. Strong Praises Carriers and Clerks of Plainfield and Westfield.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted last night a service arranged especially for the employes of the postal department attached to the Plainfield and Westfield offices. The postmasters of Plainfield and Westfield attended with the employes, who went to the service in a body and occupied seats reserved for them. Postmaster George Schmidt, of Watchung, whose office is, in a way, an adjunct of the Plainfield office, was also present.

The pulpit platform was decorated with postoffice paraphernalia, including one of the new parcel post bags, a letter-box, a letter-carrier's bag, a special delivery letter, while suspended over the pulpit was a large envelope directed to "Mr. I. O. Goodwill, Pleasantville, Ohio."

Dr. Strong paid high tribute to the postoffice department and its employes, emphasizing the great good which may be wrought through the use of the mails for the extension of the Kingdom of Christ. He called particular attention to the fact that the employes do their duty under all conditions, and that there is no branch of the government, not even excepting the military, where the requirements are so strict and such satisfactory results are obtained.

The preacher spoke impressively of the fact that letter-carriers are bearers of sadness and sunshine; where one family receives news that brings pain and sorrow, another is made glad and joyous by good tidings. Dr. Strong complimented the postal men, adding that they were men everyone should be proud to count as friends.

"Angels," was the subject of Dr. Strong's morning discourse, which was based on the text, "And He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways."

"All too few of us," said Dr. Strong, "believe in the existence of angels in such a way that it is a real source of comfort and strength to us. To many the doctrine of angels is simply a sort of myth and thought of as if figurative. If there is truth in any fundamental doctrine of the church there is in this one.

"Angels appeared not merely to men of dreams and fancies, but to warriors and statesmen and shepherds and fishermen, and are mentioned in almost every book of the Bible. The gospel writers were not misled in their statement that angels came and ministered unto our Lord, nor can we doubt the Master Himself when He said of little children that 'their angels do always behold the face of the Father.'"

DEATH SUMMONS BENJAMIN HADLEY

Aged Farmer Passes Away at the Home of His Son, William Hadley.

Benjamin Hadley, aged 64 years, a well known farmer residing on a farm at the junction of the New Market, Stelton and South Plainfield roads, for many years, died Saturday night at the home of his son, William Hadley, on Helene avenue. He had been visiting his son in Cleveland and was taken ill there. He returned home last Tuesday so as to be under the care of his family physician. Death was due to complications.

Mr. Hadley was born in England and came to this country thirty years ago and located on a farm between New Market and Stelton. He was a member of the Methodist church. There survives a wife and eleven children. On of the sons, Joseph E. Hadley, met an accidental death a year and a half ago, when in company with Linwood Hutchinson, of Stelton, a gun was discharged, and young Hadley was shot.

The surviving children are William L. Hadley, of this city; B. F. Hadley, of Weston; E. D. Hadley, of Cleveland, O.; T. Z. Hadley, of Spring Arbor, Mich.; George C. and J. R. Hadley, who live at home, and five daughters, Mrs. L. C. Weiss, of Philadelphia; Mrs. E. A. Lewis, of Cleveland, O.; Mrs. A. J. Williams, of Baker, Oregon; the Misses Addie and Iva Hadley, of Stelton; also a sister, Mrs. Jane Davis, of Pittsburg, Pa., and a brother, Joseph Hadley, of Blackheath, Eng.

The funeral will be held at the home of the son, William Hadley, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery, South Plainfield.

Help Wanted advertising will find that needed household servant.

The want ads will find tenants for property that could have been rented sometime ago—but for the delay of advertising it!

LAKE MYSTERY ANNIVERSARY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20.—Tomorrow will be the eighteenth anniversary of the loss of the steamer Chicora, a mystery of the great lakes that time has failed to solve. On the night of January 20, 1895, the steamer cleared from Milwaukee with a cargo of flour. The craft was bound for St. Joseph, across Lake Michigan, but she never reached port, nor was any trace of her ever found. She foundered with all hands, but in what manner is not definitely known. The sunken steamer has never been located. It is the supposition, however, that she lies somewhere off the south end of the lake, possibly some five miles distant from shore. When the loss became known the owners of the Chicora offered $50,000 to any person placing a buoy over the sunken steamer, but the reward has never been claimed.

MRS. JUDSON IANSON.

Somerville, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Judson Ianson, aged fifty-five years, died yesterday morning of cancer at the Somerset Hospital, after a long illness. She was the widow of the late Judson Ianson, for years a locomotive engineer of the Jersey Central Railroad. She is survived by two children, Harry and Miss Ruth Ianson, of this place. The funeral services will take place from her late home on South Bridge street, tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Cranmer, of the First Reformed church, officiating. Interment will be in the new cemetery.

"HIGH COST OF LIVING."

Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters, of Brooklyn, will give a talk at Trinity Reformed church, tonight, on "The High Cost of Living." It will be a "ladies' night" affair, and a program of music together with refreshments will also be enjoyed.

O. P. Crane, of Westervelt avenue, who was compelled to have a finger amputated at the hospital because of blood poisoning, has returned home.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

"Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's new play which has proved the theatrical sensation of the past several seasons in New York, is to be offered as the attraction at the Plainfield theatre, Wednesday night, January 22. Here is an exciting play of contemporaneous American life in metropolis, replete with surprises and ingenious dramatic situations. The heroine, Mary Turner, develops from a timid, shrinking girl into a woman of extraodinary daring and resourcefulness, living by her wits and evading the law, and using the law to protect herself. She has been wrongfully convicted of a crime and sent to prison, and upon her release is persecuted and hounded until, in desperation she turns upon her pursuers and employs the law to defeat them. She matches her wits and courage against the brutality of the police and she preys upon society with amazing success, remaining, however, always "Within the Law" by using its technicalities as a safeguard against official punishment. Her triumph, while not complete, suggests strongly the evasive methods said to be employed by unscrupulous financiers to escape responsibility for their illegitimate operations under the guise of so-called "big business." The company to be seen here in "Within the Law" is the one which will, later, be sent to England, and includes such well known players as Catherine Tower, Beatrice Noyes, Dorothy Abbott, Rose Maurice, Sidney Booth, Ralph Delmore, Howard Gould, and others of equal prominence.

"The Shepherd of The Hills," which comes to the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and evening, January 25, is a dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel, the dramatization having been made by Mr. Wright and Elsbery W. Reynolds. "The Shepherd of The Gills" is an intensely spellbinding story of love, mystery and heroic daring; it gets a grip on life and brings peace to the soul of any man or woman who reads it. The woods and hills are part of God's handiwork. They will give peace and strength to all who seek them. From this play you may, in some measure, feel their influence and know some of the ways of divine providence. You will ask of this story, "Are the characters in the play real people? Does the old shepherd live only in the pages of the book or on the stage? Is there a Sammy Lane and a Young Matt?" You will say they are all very familiar, and you seem somehow to have known them a long time. The scenes may seem new and yet old. If you go to the Ozark Hills, you will find somewhere a sheep ranch in Mutton Hollow and a Dewey Bald. But it is from a log house above the mists that you will view these hills and forests and take of their peace and strength. That inspiration of the old shepherd and his friends will come to you also as you follow the old trail that is, "nobody knows how old."

GOOD ROADS AN INVESTMENT.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 20.—Statistics made public today by the State Road Commission show that the State of Alabama has been reimbursed fully for its expenditures previous to two years ago for good roads. Increase in property values along the improved highways has made higher assessments possible and increasing development has at the same time added many names to the tax list.

STANDARDIZATION OF PARTS.

Eli Whitney's Scheme Revolutionized the Manufacturing Business.

The system of the standardization of parts, now so universal, originated with Eli Whitney, the inventor of the cotton gin, when he undertook to make muskets. The government gave him a contract in 1793 for 10,000 stands of arms, although he had no "plant" for their manufacture. He built a small factory in New Haven, Conn., and began work, but found a great obstacle in the difficulty of getting good workmen, especially those capable of acting as foremen under his novel methods.

His plan, as is pointed out by George Iles in a recent original study of Whitney's achievements, was to make of his factory a single huge machine. In an armory before Whitney's day each man, highly skilled, produced by himself a distinct part of a musket. This division of labor Whitney supplanted by so apportioning work that little or no skill was demanded. He separated the various tasks and at each of these operations kept a group busy. For their assistance he simplified each operation and introduced three aids since indispensable in manufacture—drilling by templets or patterns, filing by jigs or guides and milling irregular forms.

From first to last a model musket was copied with precision so that every lock, for example, was exactly like every other among thousands. When all the parts needed to form a weapon were assembled they united much superior to a musket formed on any other plan. In case of repair a new part exactly fitted the place of an old part and at a trifling cost.

In order to accomplish his purpose and carry out his contract, whose execution was much prolonged, Whitney was obliged to invent new tools and machines at every step, none of which was patented. By doing so he not only greatly improved the finish and accuracy of his guns and the speed of their manufacture, but so impressed the value of the idea of standardization upon the minds of manufacturers that it was presently applied in other trades and has long since become the rule in manufacturing.—Harper's.

A CHAMPION SPELLER.

Horace Greeley Was a Wonder When Only Six Years of Age.

No champion of the old time spelling matches, perhaps, ever excelled Horace Greeley. He was, in fact, a spelling prodigy. What would the boys and girls of today, who grumble over their daily stint of twenty words, think of a child not yet six years old who could actually spell every word in the language! That is what the young Horace is said to have been able to do.

His schooling began in his fourth year, and the art of spelling at once became a passion with him. In school and out he kept incessantly at its study. Hour after hour he would lie on the floor, spelling over all the difficult words he could find in the few books that the family owned.

The fame of his prowess spread. Naturally Horace was the first one chosen at spelling matches. He had a lisping, whining voice and spelled his words with the utmost confidence. Sometimes in winter, when the snowdrifts were so deep that one of the big boys had to take him to the schoolhouse on his back, the little white haired fellow would drop asleep between turns. When his word came round his neighbor would nudge him anxiously. He would wake, spell his word and drop asleep again at once.

So great was the boy's reputation as a student of unusual powers that the selectmen of a neighboring town, in passing a rule forbidding the attendance at the local school of any pupil from outside the township, honored him by adding the clause, "Excepting only Horace Greeley."—Youth's Companion.

Sarcastic.

This incident is related of a Scotch doctor, new to the gun, who adventured upon a day's rabbit shooting.

Chased by the ferrets, bunny was a rather quick moving target, and the medico was not meeting with the success he anticipated.

"Hang it all, man," he exclaimed impatiently to the keeper who accompanied him; "these beasts are too quick for me!"

"Aye, doctor," the pawky keeper replied, "but ye surely didna expect them tae lie still like yer patients till ye kill them?"

Yet He Liked Fresh Air.

"My husband was at a smoker Saturday night and never got home until about 1 o'clock."

"Was that why he wasn't at church Sunday morning?"

"No; he says the ventilation is so poor in church and the atmosphere always gets so heavy that he can't keep awake."—Judge.

A Surprise Coming.

Pastor's Wife — You understand, Mary, that I am only "at home" on Wednesday from 3 to 5. Mary—Yes, ma'am. Then to herself: "Mary, what a heavenly situation you have got! The mistress only at home for two hours every week!"—Exchange.

Always Late.

"Men are always late. I have waited here since 7 o'clock for my husband to come. Now it is half after 8."

"And when were you to meet him?"

"At 5 o'clock."—Lustige Blatter.

His Finish.

"He slipped on the polished floor and killed himself."

"Sort of a hardwood finish, eh?"—Princeton Tiger.

BUY A SITE FOR OPEN AIR SCHOOL

Anti-Tuberculosis League School for Anaemic Children on Muhlenberg Pl.

REVIEW YEAR'S WORK

William S. Tyler Re-elected President—Officers Make Reports Showing An Encouraging Condition and Bright Outlook.

President William S. Tyler announced at the annual meeting of the Anti-Tuberculosis League held last night at its rooms in the Babcock building the purchase of a site for the open-air school for anaemic children, which is now to be the chief work of the league. A lot on Muhlenberg place, part of the original site of Muhlenberg Hospital, has been secured, and the work of moving the pavilion formerly used for the treatment of tuberculosis patients, from its present location on the grounds of the hospital to Muhlenberg place will be begun at once. The pavilion is to be renovated and altered to meet the requirements of its new use, and will be equipped as a thoroughly up-to-date open-air school. It will only take a few weeks to complete this work, and the league fully expects to have the building in use during the spring school term.

The report of the treasurer, James P. Murray, showed that owing to the County Sanatorium, Bonnie Burn, having taken over many of the patients formerly cared for by the league, expenses during the last few months have been considerably lessened, and in this way the deficit which the league faced last summer has been wiped out, and there is now a balance of $494.24, for current expenses and to begin new work. As the monthly expense account for the tuberculosis nurse, food and other necessities supplied to patients living at home and other expenses is well over $100, it will be seen that the league will be doing a good deal on faith when it undertakes the work on an open-air school. It feels confident, however, that the people of Plainfield will respond generously to its appeals for contributions when the very real existing need for such work is known.

Mrs. William H. Murray, chairman of the membership committee, reported that there are now about 700 contributing members of the league. The greater number of these give one dollar a year each, although fifty-seven members give $2 a year each, forty-seven members $5 a year, twenty-five members $10, seventeen members $25, four members $50, three members $100 and one member $200 a year. The total income from this source is something over $2,500 a year. The committee is working to increase the number of contributing members to one thousand.

Miss Ellen Merrill reported that $455.08 was received from the sale of the Christmas Red Cross stamps. Of this amount $55 will be paid to the National Association and the remaining $400 will be used in the work of the local league.

Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, chairman of the Publicity Committee, reported that as it had seemed best to discontinue the publication of the "White Crusader," the league's monthly magazine, a member of her committee had undertaken the conduct of a regular column once a week in each of the Plainfield daily papers, this column contains news and notes of tuberculosis work in general, as well as items of purely local interest.

The committee on publicity had also conducted a series of lectures on health and the prevention of tuberculosis for the children of the public schools and the employes of some of the local factories. Last May the committee had arranged a very successful lecture on tuberculosis, illustrated with motion pictures.

Dr. Edward S. Krans reported that the Friday afternoon class for the instructions who have apparently been cured and other persons needing advice in the matter of caring for themselves had been very well attended. Dr. Krans felt that this work could be enlarged with great advantage to the fight against tuberculosis by the establishment of a clinic, and perhaps also a night class, in order, on the one hand, to bring in a larger circle of patients, and, on the other, to interest more of the Plainfield physicians, by bringing them actively into the work. Dr. Krans reported that the tuberculosis nurse, Miss Leahy, has been most faithful to and successful in her work.

Miss Phillips, the league's executive secretary, reported that an average of nineteen cases of tuberculosis per month had been cared for; 1,219 quarts of milk have been supplied for such cases, at a cost of $109.71; clothing has been purchased to fit out patients for going to Glen Gardner and Bonnie Burn at a cost of $99.67, in addition to about thirty dollars worth of second-hand clothing which

JURY REFORM BILL APPEARS IN SENATE

Anderson Member of Commission Which Seeks for Much Needed Reform.

The jury reform commission, appointed by the Legislature of last year, presented a report and bill at the session of the Senate at Trenton last night. The commission comprises Senators Griffith, Lewis and William Reed and Assemblymen W. deLaR. Anderson and John E. Gill. One of the most interesting features of the report is that there are only two States in the Union which still retain the system of sheriff-drawn juries. These States are New Jersey and Connecticut.

The other States in the main draw their juries by commission, as does the Federal government. The bill presented by the commission provides that juries shall be drawn by county commissions who shall be non-partisan, who shall investigate and list all those in their respective counties who are qualified for jury duty.

The commission shall then select three times the number required for any panel, place the names in a box on individual tablets, so folded so that the names may not be seen and then in the presence of the Circuit Court Judge shall draw therefrom the required number of names. The judge appoints the commission and fixes the emoluments according to the size of the county. Ample protection is provided in the bill against the influence of politics and any private interest of the commissioners.

COMMISSIONERS NAMED FOR MACADAMIZING WORK

Judge Peter F. Daly, in response to a resolution adopted by the Common Council, has appointed F. H. Andrews, Daniel J. Courain and Andrew J. Gavett commissioners of assessment in the matter of street macadamizing in this city. It is expected that the commissioners will meet within three weeks and begin their work.

It was planned to have Judge Edward S. Atwater make the appointment, but the fact that owing to illness he was compelled to leave the bench for a time. Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman requested Judge Daly to name the three commissioners.

UNION LABOR WANTS COSGROVE COMMISSIONER

Trenton, Jan. 21.—A delegation of about forty labor unionists from Union, Middlesex and Essex counties today called upon Governor Wilson and urged him to appoint John T. Cosgrove, of Union county, as State Commissioner of Labor to succeed General Lewis L. Bryant, of Atlantic City. Mr. Cosgrove is a Democrat; is president of the Building Trades Council of the State and is a member of the Employers' Liability Commission. The delegation was headed by Assemblyman Arthur A. Quinn, of Perth Amboy, and Samuel Botterill, of Essex, State president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Mr. Botterill was the principal spokesman and told the Governor that as organized labor had been responsible for the creation of the Department of Labor it should be represented in filling this position. General Bryant, the present commissioner, is a Republican and is not a labor unionist. It has been rumored that the Governor was considering his reappointment.

HEARING POSTPONED.

The arraignment of Joseph Carson, who was arrested Friday on the complaint of his employer, Charles W. Harrison, charging him with embezzling $12, was postponed this morning by City Judge DeMeza until Thursday. This was in compliance with the request of Robert Newton Crane, counsel for the defense.

IMPORTANT BILLS ARE INTRODUCED

Wilson's Corporation Measures and Automobile Bills Presented in the Senate.

FIFTY IN THE HOUSE

Trenton, Jan. 21 (Special).—Governor Wilson's corporation measures, the State Jury Commission, the Jury Reform bill, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Lippincott's automobile bills and a lot of other important measures were introduced in the Senate last night. There was a lot of interest in the session owing to the fact that it was known that the corporation bills were to be introduced.

The Senators completed arrangements for the annual dinner to be tendered to Governor Wilson Tuesday evening of next week at the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel in Atlantic City. The Senators, with Governor Wilson as the guest of honor will leave here Tuesday afternoon at 4:27 o'clock in a special Pullman car attached to the "Nellie Bly." The dinner will be served at 7:30 p. m. Returning Wednesday morning, the party will leave Atlantic City at 9:05, and will reach the State House in time for the 11 a. m. session. The Senate last night adjourned until next Monday night. More than 50 Senate bills wer introduced last night, but as there were no committees ready to report or other business, the Democratic majority decided to adjourn until next week. Next Monday night it is expected that many of the important bills will be reported and the Senate will meet both on Tuesday and Wednesday to consider them.

More than 50 bills were also introduced in the Assembly last night, and in addition this branch passed a concurrent resolution providing for a joint meeting on Tuesday, January 28, at noon for the election of a State Treasurer. Voorhees will be renominated by the Republicans and will get the 17 Republican votes in the joint meeting.

He will tell how these locks were built and how they will be operated and how the mad Chagres will be harnessed to do the work. His lecture will be an inspiration.

DRAGGED POND FOR HER MISSING CHILD

Mother Overjoyed When She Found Little Elsie Asleep in Basket on Porch.

After the police of the city and borough, together with a dozen or more neighbors had spent a couple of hours searching for Elsie Clark, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Clark, of 60 Pearl street, who disappeared from her home late yesterday afternoon, they were rewarded by finding the little tot sound asleep in a clothes basket on the rear porch of the Clark residence.

Elsie, fearful that she was to receive a whipping for disobedience, suddenly disappeared, and her mother frantic with grief, called upon the neighbors as well as the police to join in a search. The family living near Tier's pond, was afraid that the child had fallen into the water and was drowned and the pond was dragged but without results. The search continued until 7 o'clock last night, when Mrs. Clark, who happened to go to the back porch, discovered her child in the clothes basket. The mother was so much relieved that she did not punish Elsie for his disobedience.

DR. PETERS THEORIES ON COST OF LIVING

New York Minister Gives His Views to Trinity Reformed Church's Dutch Arms.

Through a people's market the city of Plainfield could sell to its consumers all the commodities of life at a 50 per cent. reduction, according to Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters, of Brooklyn, who spoke last night before the Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church. His subject was "The High Cost of Living and How to Reduce It." The buying of produce direct from the farmers andthe judicial purchasing of the housewife would be an important factor in reducing this high cost of living, said the Brooklyn pastor.

The minister declared for "no tariff" on the commodities of life and asserted that the starving in this country, the land of apparent plenty, of 10,000,000 women and children was due to the congregating of the people in the cities and their becoming consumers instead of producers. The result of this congested condition and the conditions would naturally follow such congestion would be a famine-revolution, he said.

In order to help reduce the local elevated costs, Rev. Dr. Peters advocated a co-operative store or a society such as are being organized by him and which are called Consumers Companies. The system is an operative combine representing the "manufacture—direct to people" idea.

One reason for the high cost of living, the minister said, was the tremendous immigration which breeds improper distribution of the masses in the towns and cities. According to the speaker the people of the United States have been victims of trusts from the time when they entered the world and will continue to be so until they leave it. To reduce the high cost of living, he said, "pay as you go and if you can't pay don't go."

Preceeding Dr. Peters' lecture a varied musical program was presented by the members of the Dutch Arms.

Babcock.

The men were arrested before many blows had been struck and when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning Diggs was ordered to leave town; Albert Sanderson was fined $3 and George Sanderson was discharged.

Y. W. C. A. REVIEW A YEAR'S WORK

Interesting Reports Received at Annual Meeting of the Local Association.

DIRECTORS SELECTED

Addresses Made by Miss Annie O. Lamb, of Lahore, India, and Herbert E. Parker, Secretary of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.

Reports for the year were presented, directors chosen and interesting addresses were made at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association last night. At the conclusion of the business and an informal social hour, Miss Annie O. Lamb, of the association in Lahore, India, but now a student in the National Training School, New York, spoke, bringing greetings from the association in India. She also told of the progress of the work in that country.

Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., made a short address on the work of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. The reports were then received and directors were elected as follows: Mrs. Frank W. French, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. Cornelius B. Tyler, Mrs. William A. Conner, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, and Mrs. W. D. Murray. Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. M. B. Tennant.

Miss Faith Parmlee, general secretary, presented an interesting report of the past year's work. She said that the junior department is giving to the younger girls a fine start in practical living and wholesome recreation; the physical department develops strong, sound, graceful bodies, the educational department adds efficiency and trained minds and hands; the social department brings out the best in one's social nature; the religious department puts lives in touch with the source of all inspiration and high ideals, while the membership, the finance and the house departments serve as a medium between the public and other departments.

Miss Parmlee said that a capital of $5,082 represented in the annual budget seems modest considering the output. She said that 48 per cent. of this is earned by the departments which bring in an income while the remainder is invested by stock-holders known as subscribers. Expressing appreciation for past success Miss Parmlee urged all the members to do their best in the future.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, showed that the total receipts for the year were $6,219.36 and the expenditures $6,187.53, leaving a balance of $31.83. The other reports showed the total membership to be 807, an increase of 282 during the year. There are 320 enrolled in the educational department and 128 in the gymnasium classes; 137 in Bible and mission study classes; 129 transients were housed. The rooms were used on 596 different occasions and 1,086 suppers were served on Saturday nights. There are 1,268 books in the library and 1,966 books were taken out during the year. The number of juniors using the building was 101. The association was shown to be 48 per cent. self-supporting.

After the business meeting those present enjoyed an exhibition of the work of the junior cooking classes, the millinery, dressmaking and embroidery classes; also of the Camp Fire Girls' ceremonial dresses, honor beads and bead work. A vote of thanks was given to the Plainfield Daily Press and Courier-News for publishing association news during the year.

ENTERTAINED AT EUCHRE.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Townley, of Watchung avenue, the borough, entertained a few friends at a euchre party at their home, last night. There were four tables. Mrs. John Snyder won the first prize for the women and Fred C. Burn received first honors for the men. The consolation prizes were won by Mrs. F. C. Krewson and Albert Pope. Refreshments were served after the play.

SONGS OF THE SCOT ENJOYED BY WOMEN

Monday Afternoon Club Entertained by the Music of the Land of the Heather.

Under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club, a delightful program of Scotch music was heard at the Hartridge Auditorium yesterday afternoon. The program, one of unusual interest, was arranged by Mrs. George Megrew. She first presented a carefully prepared and instructive paper on "Old Sotch Songs and Border Mintrelsy," which gave a clear idea of the origin of these songs, as well as some of the composers.

Then followed the program of music. Randall H. Trumpy, tenor, sang "Land 'o Leal," "Ye Banks and Bres," "Jock o'Hazeldean," "Scots wa Ha." Miss Elsie Goddard and Mrs. Charles L. Lewis also sang a number of Scotch songs, including "The Border Widow's Lament," "Colins' Cattle," "Comin' through the Rye," and "Smiling Spring." Miss Ivins and Miss Corey added interest to the program by playing several selections, including an overture by Gade.

A feature was the appearance of Robert McIntosh, the champion piper in Scotch costume. He played war songs, "The Gathering of the Clans," and other familiar Scotch songs. SMALLEY GOES TO STATE BOARD

Asks Utilities Commission for Permission to Connect With Trolley Tracks.

TO BE GIVEN HEARING

Wants to Lay Tracks For a Few Feet on Thoroughfare—Township Committee Denied Request Without Giving Any Reason.

Trenton, Jan. 21.—Newton R. Smalley, representing the Smalley Stone Company, accompanied by his counsel, William A. Coddington, appeared before the Public Utilities Commission here this morning, when the Smalley Stone Company made an application for permission to build a service railway extending from the company's quarries in the mountains to the terminus of the Public Service Railway on Somerset street.

The petition was accompanied by a map, which was filed with the Commission. It was announced that the Commission would sit again this afternoon and fix a date for a public hearing.

The petition sets forth that application was made to the North Plainfield Township Committee for permission to construct the service railway, but that it was refused, it is stated, without any reason. This application was presented to the Township Committee on November 14, 1912. According to the map accompanying the application, the company wants permission to lay and construct a railway over thirty feet of the public road, extending from Mr. Smalley's property to the terminus of the Somerset street trolley, the railway being intended to operate cars to and from the stone crusher where it will be possible to load them with stone, thus doing away with the hauling by teams and wagons.

This action on the part of the Smalley Stone Company was expected, following the refusal of the North Plainfield Township Committee to grant its application. The Committee took the position that the township should get something for the asked-for privilege, one concession being an extension of the trolley to Watchung. At the time of the hearing before the Committee, its members intimated that the Public Service Corporation was behind the proposition, and Chairman W. de La R. Anderson wanted Mr. Smalley to agree that if the privilege was granted and at any future time the Public Service Corporation should get control of the extension, all rights would terminate.

Mr. Smalley declined to make any such agreement. But he told the Committee that if it would not act favorably on his petition, he would be compelled to go before the Public Utilities Commission, which he did today.

MISS GOULD'S WEDDING ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION

New York, Jan. 21.—In striking distinction from the previous weddings in the Gould family, which invariably have been marked by the most lavish display—second marriages excepted— will be tomorrow's ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Helen M. Gould, the third child and eldest daughter of the late "wizard of finance," and Finley J. Shepard. The wedding, as already announced, will take place at Lyndhurst, Miss Gould's country seat in Tarrytown.

Despite the desire of both parties that the wedding should attract as little public attention as possible, it is doubtful if any event of its kind in recent years has attracted more attention. The immense fortune possessed by Miss Gould, the prominence into which she has been brought by her many philanthropies, and the generally accepted belief that she preferred a life of single blessedness —all helped to make her wedding a topic of lively discussion among all classes.

The party of invited guests who will go from this city to Tarrytown by a special train to attend the wedding will be a small but distinguished one. It will include several members of the Gould family who are not already at Lyndhurst. Mrs. Russell Sage will be a member of the party, as will also several well known clergymen and educators who have been closely associated with Miss Gould in her work of charity and philanthropy.

An orchestra of forty pieces has been engaged to provide an elaborate musical program, but otherwise the wedding will be simple in its details. It is understood that the invited guests number between fifty and sixty, all of them relatives or intimate friends of Miss Gould or Mr. Shepard. The ceremony, which is to take place shortly after the hour of noon, will be followed by a breakfast. George Gould will give his sister in marriage and her little nieces, daughters of Frank J. Gould, will be flower girls.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States will remain in session until Thursday inclusive and interesting programs have been prepared for every day of the convention.

This being the opening day of the session, the delegates were welcomed to Washington by Charles Nagel, secretary of Commerce and Labor. The list of speakers at the session of the opening day included, in addition to Secretary Nagel, Senator James A. O'Gorman, of New York; Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama; Carter Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the House Sub-Committee on Banking and Currency; Wilbur J. Carr, director of the Consular Service; Frank W. Noxon, of the Railway Business Association; President M. B. Trezevant, of the American Association of Commercial Executives, and E. A. Filene, vice president of the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce.

Many important subjects will come up for consideration and discussion during this convention, among them the creation of a permanent tariff commission, suggested by the Merchants' Association of New York, the Manufacturers' Association of Beaver county, Pa., and the National Association of Tanners; the recognition of the Republic of China, endorsed by various State oragnizations; the maintenance and extension of the civil service law; a bill providing for co-operation of the States in encouraging instruction in agriculture, the trades and industries, and home economics in secondary schools, etc.

President and Mrs. Taft will receive and entertain the delegates at the White House tomorrow afternoon and in the evening the first annual banquet will be held, with President Taft, Speaker Champ Clark and Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, as the principal speakers.

CENTENNIAL OF BIRTH OF JOHN C. FREMONT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—In no year of American history have there been offered such abundant opportunities for centenary celebrations as the year now begun. During the ensuing twelve months there will occur the centennial anniversary of the births of such notable figures in American history as Stephen A. Douglas, the Democratic candidate for President against Lincoln; Admiral David D. Porter, one of the celebrated naval commanders in the Civil War; Henry Ward Beecher, the famous pulpit orator; Allen G. Thurman, Ohio senator and one of the noted leaders of the Democratic party; General John Sedgwick, one of the ablest and bravest officers of the Army of the Potomac; Zachariah Chandler, United States senator and Secretary of the Interior, and Stephen R. Mallory, who is best remembered as the Secretary of the Navy of the Confederate States.

Of the men named in the foregoing list, however, there is none whose career was half so picturesque as that of John C. Fremont, who was born one hundred years ago today in Savannah, Ga. Soldier, explorer, civil engineer, governor of California and Arizona and first candidate of the Republican party for President, General Fremont for many years was a conspicuous and at times a very romantic figure in the public eye.

General Fremont's father was a Frenchman, who, coming to the United States, married into a Virginia family, and died when John was five years old. After leaving college the future soldier and political leader lived for some years teaching mathematics, in which occupation he made a long cruise on a United States warship. When he returned he obtained a position in the United States topographical corps, and explored the mountain passes of North Carolina and Tennessee.

In 1841 Fremont met in Washington the young daughter of Senator Benton, of Missouri, and they were married secretly. The couple afterward were accepted by the bride's father, who subsequently had Fremont placed in command of the expedition to explore the western United States territories, and Fremont began the work which gave to him the title of the Pathfinder and resulted in his candidacy for the presidency of the United States.

He made five expeditions in all. In the first he gathered much needed and accurate knowledge of the Indians in Nebraska, Wyoming and the south pass to Oregon, and planted the American flag on the highest peak of the Rocky Mountains. The little band suffered terrible hardships and encountered many dangers, but the results of the expedition were so valuable that Fremont started on another one the following year. He explored Utah this time, and it was his report of the resources of the Salt Lake region that attracted the Mormons.

On the third expedition to California Fremont got into complications, and on charges was found guilty and sentenced to be dismissed from the army in which he had risen to the rank of colonel. President Polk, while approving the verdict, remitted the penalty, but Fremont resigned. This was in 1848, and he conducted his last two explorations at his own expense. He had settled in California and had come to the United States Senate in 1850, but he could not be re-elected on account of his hostility to the extension of slavery. In 1856 he was nominated for President by the new Republican and "National American" parties, but was defeated.

When the Civil War broke out Fremont received a command, but was involved in controversy and relieved of active service. At this period the discontent with Lincoln's administration centered in Fremont, and in 1864 he was nominated by radical Republicans for President, but as it appeared that his nomination could only result in the defeat of both Lincoln and himself, he withdrew.

General Fremont was governor of Arizona from 1878 to 1881, and in 1899, a few months before his death, which occurred in New York city on July 13 of that year, Congress authorized his appointment as a major-general of the army.

BAPTISTS IN IRELAND.

Rev. Dr. S. J. Reid, of Belfast, Ireland, spoke at the Park Avenue Baptist church, Sunday morning. His subject was "Our Baptist Work in the Emerald Isle." He reviewed the history of Ireland from the time when it was known as the land of saints and the educational and cultural centre of the world to the present day. He told of a Jesuit priest who recently said that there will eventually be three religions in the world, namely, the Catholic, Baptist and a combination of all other denominations. Dr. Reid said that at the present time there were 3,500,000 Catholics in Ireland and 1,000,000 Baptists.

SABBATH BREAKER FINED.

Have you ever stopped to think that one of the arguments which has appealed most strongly to many of our best citizens of all classes to make Plainfield their home city is the fact that an unwritten law has led the Honorable Members of our City Council to grant no additional liquor licenses either inside or outside the so-called "Tyler License Zone."

Do you realize that a strong effort is being made to induce the members of the Council to grant new additional licenses and to renew others heretofore canceled, also enlarge the "License Zone" further into the residential districts?

Every voter who is opposed to the granting of such licenses and the enlarging of the zone is urged to sign at once the following blank and forward promptly to Wm. T. Schmittman, Secretary, 208 Madison avenue.

"T. B." WORK HERE.

None having a genuine interest in welfare work in this community should fail to read what the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League has accomplished in the last twelve months. Although this praiseworthy organization has some 700 contributing members at the present time, we fear that even among them there is not the knowledge to be expected as to what a really big and efficient society they belong to and therefore they in particular should find information and satisfaction in the year's doings as published in our news columns today.

In this connection, let us call attention to the proposed undertaking of the League to establish and maintain an open air day school for anaemic children. This is an institution really needed here and it is gratifying to learn that a site has been purchased and a pavilion will shortly be placed thereon. The only thing needed to insure the success of the school is that very essential dollar. In other words, there must be sufficient voluntary contributions to support the institution. To that end an appeal is made by the League and it is to be hoped that the generously disposed people of the community will respond quickly and liberally.

A timely warning has been sounded by Police Chief Kiely against automobile speeding in Plainfield. He calls attention to the fact that last year there were forty-five accidents, two of them fatal, caused by reckless driving of cars about the city streets and with the co-operation of Judge DeMeza, the chief proposes to put a stop to the practise. Orders have been issued for the arrest of the speeders and every policeman in the city will henceforth be on the look-out for the guilty ones. As they are arraigned in court, heavy penalties will be inflicted, the judge having given such assurances.

The discussion of the equal suffrage question, in which those competent to speak on the subject will be heard at Vincent chapel on Friday afternoon, should prove instructive. It is rather strange in these days when so much space is devoted to the agitation in both newspapers and magazines that there is such a degree of ignorance as to the merits of the question. Any man or woman will be well repaid, we believe, by attending the meeting scheduled for Friday, for he or she is certain to come away with some knowledge of one of the biggest questions of the hour.

The power of money is illustrated in the Balkan-Turkish war, for were it not that bonds aggregating millions and millions of dollars, issued by the Turkish government and held in the three great European countries, Europe would long since have stopped the war.

Judge DeMeza has taken the proper course in dealing with proprietors of "speakeasies" for a jail sentence and not merely a fine is the punishment he is meting out to this class of offenders. Yesterday he sent an Italian convicted of the offense, to jail for thirty days and in addition fined him $100, and as it is unlikely that the prisoner can raise the sum he will be confined for a long time.

One thousand voters, it is said, have signed a petition asking the Common Council not to restore the retail liquor licenses of Gloekler and Findlay. How many have signed petitions for the applicants?

A hasty perusal of Wilson's anti-trust bills as introduced in the Legislature last night will convince the skeptical that the Governor is a statesman and not a politician.

For next Saturday's issue the contributing editor will be a former city official, who has the best interests of this community at heart. Read what he has to say.

Munsey is a success as a magazine proprietor but as a political harmonizer he is a dismal failure.

NEW MARKET'S FIRE FIGHTERS' BIG TIME

Annual Meeting, Dance and Banquet Attract the Staid Villagers.

The village of New Market has a new fire chief, H. J. Piddington, a member of the department since its beginning four years ago, having been elected head last night at the annual business meeting held in Friendship Hall. Alexander Stillwagon was chosen as Piddington's first assistant and George A. Schenck as his second assistant.

Former Assemblyman Rene P. F. Minden is the new foreman with George L. Harris and William Lang as his assistants. Daniel J. Sullivan was elected steward. These officers were elected: President, A. G. Nelson; vice president, B. DeWitt Giles; financial and recording secretary, Harry Tomlinson; treasurer, C. C. Rogers; directors, Alexander Herlick, W. T. Piddington, Jr., B. DeWitt Giles, Joseph E. Kelly, William Lang, R. P. F. VonMinden and Herbert L. Pierce.

The feature of the evening was the annual banquet and dance which followed the business meeting. Firemen and their families were in attendance. The hall was appropriately decorated with American flags and bunting as were the line of tables in the centre of the room. The combination of banquet and dance proved to be most successful. Mr. Von Minden made an address in which he traced the history of the volunteer department. The committee in charge of the event was composed of Mrs. Harry Tomlinson, Mrs. H. J. Piddington, Mrs. R. P. F. Von Minden, Miss Alice Pierce, G. L. Harris, William Thornton, Stanley Day, W. T. Piddington, William Van Nuis and Rene Von Minden.

ANTI-MONOPOLY BILLS RECEIVED BY SENATE

Trenton, Jan. 21 (Special).—The first gun in the fight for corporation control in this State was fired last night when the series of bills drafted for Governor Wilson were put in the Senate by Senator Davis, the Democratic leader. One defines trusts and prohobits monopoly and makes violations misdemeanors, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both. Another is a supplement to the crimes act making it unlawful to establish or maintain a monopoly. Another requires that all stock and securities issued by corporations shall represent real value of property owned, or in other words it prohibits stock watering.

Still another of the bills makes it a misdemeanor for any person or persons to organize or promote any fraudulent object or to be used in restraint of trade. One bill regulates merging of corporations and provides that there shall be no merger unless sanctioned by the Public Utility Commission and another regulates investment companies for the protection of investors.

These measures are in line with the Governor's message and are the biggest bills of the session because of the far reaching influences their passage may have.

SIGNS FIRST BILL.

Trenton, Jan. 21.—By signing Senate Bill No. 1 last night, Governor Wilson broke all recent legislative records fo rearly approval of measures. The bill makes legal the appointment of certain legislative officers heretofore appointed without authority and carried on the incidental bill. It was rushed through both Houses last week. Very rarely in the history of the Legislature has Chapter No. 1 of the laws been completed the opening night of the second week.

FOR FIRE PROTECTION IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Trenton, Jan. 21 (Special—Regulation of fire protection in dance halls, schools, churches, theatres and moving picture halls is provided in a bill by Assemblyman Erwin R. Marshall, of Mercer. It compels the erection of proper fire escapes; lights and electric wires must be properly protected, and moving picture machines, scenery and other apparatus must be safeguarded against conflagration. It is Mr. Marshall's purpose to give the State a law which will prevent possible large loss of life through a serious fire in such places of entertainment, such as have occurred in some other States.

Another Marshall measure provides that motor vehicles owned by any municipality and used in public service shall be registered and its driver licensed free of charge.

Mr. Marshall also introduced a bill providing how records of tax liens shall be cancelled.

AUTO LEGISLATION IN NEW JERSEY'S SENATE

Trenton, Jan. 21.—Bills in line with recommendations of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Job H. Lippincott, were introduced in the Senate last evening by Mr. Fielder. One of the bills amends the general automobile act in such a manner as to increase the age of any applicant for chauffeur license from sixteen to eighteen years, and provides that chauffeurs' licenses may be suspended instead of revoked in certain cases.

Another increases the number of inspectors from eight to 16, such increase being made advisable because of the auto reciprocity laws. Still another authorizes the commissioner to suspend for cause the provision of the fifteen day touring privilege upon notice. Others provide that the horse power of autos shall be computed by a formula to be adopted by the commissioner on December 1st of each year; that a fine of $500 or imprisonment for 60 days for manufacturing any imitations of official markers; for a penalty of $100 for refusal to obey summons of motor vehicle commissioner for violation of cases; and authorizes liverymen owning or controlling automobiles for hire instead of securing separate licenses for each machine to secure a liveryman's license authorizing him to use tags numbered consecutively with the letter "L."

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Roswell G. Hoar, mother of Mrs. M. H. Ewart, of Fairview avenue, who underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital on Saturday, is reported today as improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Huff and son, Herbert, of Codington avenue, have returned from a visit with Mrs. Huff's sister, Mrs. Gifford Beers, of New York city.

R. Morris Adkins, of this city, has resigned as secretary of the New York Association of Corrective Gymnastics and Massage.

SPOKE ON "SAFETY."

J. A. Van Brunt, secretary of the New Jersey Safety League, spoke before the pupils of the North Plainfield High School yesterday morning and before the lower grade pupils in the afternoon.

"Can God Be Good and Still Permit Suffering?" will be the subject of Rev. Frederic L. Greene's discourse at Hope chapel, Sunday evening, it being one of the series of sermons on "Plain Answers to Religious Questions."

Egyptian Justice.

In ancient Egypt all court business was carried on in writing in order that the decision might not be influenced by oratory or personal appeal. The laws lay before the judges upon a table, and the accuser declared in writing how he had been injured, whereupon the defendant stated in writing what he had to say. Then came a rejoinder from each party to the case, after which the judges deliberated among themselves until they had hit upon the proper legal penalty for the party who had in the meantime been adjudged guilty. This point being reached, the president of the judges touched with an image of Thmei the "Goddess of Truth," the manuscript of the guilty pleader, and the case was over.—New York American.

What a Mango Tastes Like.

The first thing to do when you reach Ceylon is to eat a mango. Will it be as good as you are told it is? Yes, it is—better. First you think it's an apricot, and then you think it's a banana; no, fresher—a peach, a strawberry—and then comes a delicious sharp, fresh, aromatic after taste slightly tinged with turpentine, but not bitter. Then you get all the taste at once, and you know that the mango is like nothing else but its own incomparable self. It has all these different tastes at once, simultaneously.—Metropolitan.

POLICE MEASURES.

Trenton, Jan. 21 (Special).—Chiefs of police and fire departments of the State are given power to hold trials of department members for infractions of the rules in Commission Government cities by a bill introduced in the Senate last night by Senator Leavitt, of Mercer. Another bill introduced by the Mercer Senator makes convictions in cases where police Magistrates have jurisdiction final, notwithstanding any technical defect or irregularity in any of the proceedings in which convictions are based. Senator Leavitt also introduced bills repealing Chapter 341 of the laws of 1912 requiring public officials having charge of the erection of buildings to give bonds and also repealing the act of 1912 requiring the mandatory appropriation for commissions on the extermination of mosquitoes.

DEFUNCT CORPORATIONS.

Trenton, Jan. 21.—More than 1,300 corporations are soon to lose their New Jersey charters because of non-payment of the annual franchise taxes to the State since 1910. The law provides that the charters shall be declared forfeited by the Governor if the franchise taxes become two years in arrears. State Comptroller Edwards has certified to the Governor that 1,380 corporations are now in this class and the proclamation revoking their charters will be issued in a few days.

SENATOR PIERCE BILL FOR ANTI-TRUST LAW

Tenton, Jan. 21.—Senator Pierce, of Union, in the Senate last night, introduced his bill which makes the Sherman Anti-Trust law applicable to this State. It declares every contract, or combination in the form of a trust, or a conspiracy in the restraint, illegal, and makes every person responsible therefore guilty of a misdemeanor. It provides a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for one year or both. Mr. Pierce also introduced a grade crossing bill which provides for the abolition annually of at least one grade crossing to every 30 miles of railroad within the State. Another of Mr. Pierce's bills provides for indeterminate franchises and repeals the limited franchise act of 1906.

THE FORUM.

MRS. CHABOWSKI'S DENIAL.

Editors The Plainfield Press:

Regarding the article published in the Daily Press of January 17 under the caption, "Mother Deserted Her Little Child," I wish to deny emphatically that such a thing was true. My eight-year-old daughter has been an inmate of the Children's Home since May, 1911, and I have paid for her support there ever since. I am indebted to the Home for $28 for the care of my daughter, which I am willing and intend to pay just as soon as I am able to do so. As for the statement that my first husband is or was living in Norfolk, Va., at the time of my second marriage, I made a full investigation and I am satisfied that he was dead when I married a second time. I deny the statement that my daughter was clothed and fed through the overseer of the poor's office, and at the time of my arrest was making preparation to take my daughter to my home in New Brunswick. About a month ago officers of the Children's Home communicated with me and asked whether I would be willing to sign papers giving my daughter up to the Home, and I replied that I would not, that just as soon as I was able I intended to take her to my own home.

VOTES FOR WOMEN BILL IS INTRODUCED

Resolution Provides for Amendment to Constitution—Hearing Feb. 18.

Trenton, Jan. 21 (Special).—The resolution providing for a woman suffrage amendment to the State Constitution was introduced in both Houses of the Legislature last night. Senator Davis introduced it in the Upper House and Assemblyman Egan handled it in the Assembly, these being the respective Democratic leaders.

The resolutions were brought to the State House by Mrs. Everett Colby, wife of the former Senator, who was accompanied by her husband. Mrs. Colby is chairman of the Legislative Committee of the suffragists of the State. Former Senator and Mrs. Colby visited the Executive office and paid their respects to Governor Wilson, who received them cordially.

The suffragists already have under way an aggressive campaign for the passage of the resolution. The public hearing on the question will be Tuesday, February 18, when this city will be invaded by hundreds of "votes for women" advocates.

was given to such patients. Provisions, such as eggs or some other extra nourishment, were given to tuberculosis patients the cost of which was $39.88. Transportation to Glen Gardner and Bonnie Burn cost $23.90 and $20.85 in cash was given. During the year ten patients have been sent to Glen Gardner, all but one of which have returned greatly benefited. Bonnie Burn promises to be of even more assistance than Glen Gardner has been, as it will accept advanced as well as incipient cases. Thirteen patients have already been equipped and entered at Bonnie Burn. Of course, as this institution is exclusively for Union county, none of the tuberculosis dependents which live in Somerset county can be cared for there, and at least half of the league's tuberculosis patients live in Somerset county. It is, therefore, hoped that the Freeholders of Somerset county will not delay much longer in providing a County Sanatorium for the care of their own tuberculosis patients. Although the establishment of a County Sanatorium has greatly lessened the work to be done by the league, there are still a variety of cases which will still have to be cared for. These are, advanced cases living outside of Union county; patients which will not leave home. The tuberculosis law gives the State Board of Health authority to remove cases if they are a menace to the community, but so far the State Board has not defined the conditions which must exist in order to consider the patient to be a menace to the health of the community at large. A third class of patients which will deserve our attention are the predisposed. We have been supplying a number of such with milk and other extra nourishment, so that they may not become a prey to the plague. In this connection an open-air school would be the greatest help which could be provided. The fourth class of patients deserving help is that of the discharged patients, who are able to work but are not able to do many kinds of work, and who are worthy of the closest care and assistance for a number of years. The Charity Organization Society is exerting itself to the utmost to find proper employment for all such cases, and with the assistance of the league will endeavor to do everything possible for this class of patients.

At the close of the business meeting officers, executive committee and board of trustees were elected: President, William S. Tyler; first vice president, Leighton Calkins; second vice president, Dr. B. Van D. Hedges; secretary, Dr. F. E. DuBois; treasurer, James P. Murray; honorary vice presidents, Ernest R. Ackerman, Robert Clark, Jr., Percy Stewart, Alexander Gilbert, Mrs. Dexter Tiffany, James E. Martine and Charles W. McCutchen; executive committee, Leighton Calkins, Dr. F. E. DuBois, Joseph W. Trustees, T. S. Armstrong, George L. Babcock, Rev. B. M. Bogan, Samuel T. Carter, Jr., Dr. H. D. Corbusier, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, E. F. Feickert, Charles H. Frost, J. Stephen Higham, Miss M. C. ONE SALOON FOR 1,000 PEOPLE AS A LIMIT

Trenton, Jan. 21 (Special).—The Local Optionists had a bill introduced in the Assembly last night limiting saloons in the State to one for each 1,000 inhabitants. The bill was put in by Assemblyman Fisher, of Essex, at the request of Edwin I. Stearns, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League.

Dr. Stearns said today that the Local Optionists will make their fight this year on this bill. A Local Option bill will be introduced, but as there is no hope of passing it this session it will not be pressed as aggressively as in former years.

MISTRIAL ORDERED IN NURSE'S DAMAGE SUIT

Elizabeth, Jan. 21. The jury in the case of Mary Isabelle Hill, trustee for the estate of Anthony R Dyett, against Elliott T. Cutter, o Fanwood, failed to agree, after being locked up from 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 9 o'clock this morning, and it was discharged by the court. This was the second trial of this cause and the second time a jury failed to agree.

The complainant sought to recover $1,200 from the defendant for the rental of a property owned by the estate at Fanwood. The defendant refused to pay on the ground that certain improvements which had been promised were not made.

TO MAKE APPOINTMENTS BEFORE HE QUITS OFFICE

Trenton, Jan. 21.—Governor Woodrow Wilson held a short conference with the newspapermen this morning, when he was questioned regarding proposed appointments of office-holders whose terms expired after he goes out of office. He said that he had consulted with Assistant Attorney-General Gaskill on the subject and had been assured that he would be justified in making such appointments.

It is now a certainty that the Governor will not leave for Washington until the last minute, probably the night of March 3, on the eve of his inauguration to the Presidency. He has communicated with the New Jersey representatives in Congress inviting them to occupy seats on the reviewing stand at the Capitol at the inauguration.

FAITH IN THE SAVIOUR SUBJECT OF A SERMON

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, preached a strong sermon Sunday night on the faith of the world in Jesus Christ, or rather on the lack of faith which the world has at the present time in Jesus Christ. He said that the crowning fault of the universe was the gross lack of allegiance to the Saviour and remarked that if Plainfield had any faith in Jesus much of the current gossip of scandals and current evils would be alleviated in great measure.

The preacher said that there are some things in the world which people believed with their heads; other things which they believed with their hearts; while some thing they believed with both head and heart. If one had Christ he would believe with both his head and heart and nothing would cause him to waver in that belief. It was faith which made the Christian and the proportion of faith which created differences between Christians.

All of the great men of the world accomplished everything they knew by the inherent quality of faith. Everyone admitted that there was such a thing in the world as sin. Everyone admitted that there must be an instigator and an author of evil. If anything existed there must be someone back of it. Jesus Christ, said Rev. Mr. Maguire, was the only power in the world able successfuly to cope with sin and who had any chance to blot it out. The grandest thing on earth, he said, was the knowledge of sins pardoned. Jesus was the friend of every man, and every man should accept Him into his private study and office.

WILSON'S PLAN NOT THAT OF ROOSEVELT

Trenton, Jan. 21.—Governor Wilson's attention was called today to a clause in the corporation bills, introduced last night, giving some authority over corporations to the Public Utilities Commission. When asked if this was not part of Theodore Roosevelt's plan, to which he objected in the campaign, he said:

"This is quite different. Our bills merely give the Public Utilities Commission authority in the matter of mergers. Mr. Roosevelt's plan was to place the entire matter of corporations in the hands of a single commission."

DUNELLEN COUNCIL.

Goldson W. Smalley's candidacy was again considered at the adjourned meeting of the Dunellen Common Council last night for appointment as street commissioner. Mr. Sturdle spoke in opposition of Mr. Smalley's re-appointment and Jacob Fischer applied for the position. The matter was laid on the table until the next meeting. This was the only business of any importance transacted at the meeting.

NEW PRESIDENT OF FRANCE.

Raymond Poincare Is One of Strongest Statesmen In Europe.

Raymond Poincare, formerly prime minister of France and considered one of the strong men of Europe, was made president of his country at the recent election. He received his office at the hands of the senate and chamber of deputies sitting as a national assembly at Versailles.

M. Poincare has been the most forceful statesman in France for some time.

PRESIDENT POINCARE OF FRANCE.

It is widely believed that he was the man who preserved European peace during several great international crises. He is believed to have had the biggest part of all statesmen in keeping the Balkan war localized when the powers might easily have become involved. M. Poincare was born fifty-three years ago in French Lorraine.

JUDGE ROBERT W. ARCHBALD, WHO WAS IMPEACHED.

The senate, acting as a court of impeachment, brought the verdict of guilty on five charges out of thirteen.

In the principal charge Judge Archbald was specifically declared to have used his official position to induce Erie railroad officials, then litigants in his court, to grant him a favorable option on the valuable Katydid coal dump.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EGGS WITH COLD HAM.

THESE simple breakfast dishes, in which ham and eggs are the chief ingredients, are as unlike the ordinary ham and eggs as possible.

A Piquant Toast.

Egg Nests on Toast.—Take the yolks and whites of six eggs, keeping the yolks separate. Beat whites with one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt until they come to a froth. Take six slices of toasted bread which have been cut to form squares. Butter these and spread with finely chopped boiled ham. Make a hole in the center of the ham on each slice and drop the yolks of eggs into these. Top each slice with a spoonful of white of egg. Place in a moderate oven and let them stay there for about three minutes. Serve on a hot dish, dressing each piece with sprigs of parsley.

Choice Morsels.

Eggs on the Dish.—Take an oval baking dish, butter the dish and lightly dust over with pepper and salt. Break as many eggs as you wish to serve on this dish, keeping the yolks whole. Scatter a few small bits of butter over them and bake in a moderate oven for about ten minutes. The whites of the eggs should be perfectly set, but not hard. While the eggs are baking chop finely a little parsley and some dried boiled ham. Scatter these together over the eggs just before serving, leaving a white border of egg and a small piece of each yolk showing. Heat the fireproof dish before buttering it.

Two Ways of Baking.

Eggs au Gratin.—Take four eggs, a little parsley, two ounces of minced ham, butter, pepper and salt to season to taste. Take four pattypans, butter them well, sprinkle with minced ham and break an egg into each, taking care not to break the yolks; put over them a little grated cheese, chopped parsley, breadcrumbs and a small lump of butter, pepper and salt. Bake in an oven for about five minutes.

Minced Ham and Baked Eggs.—Take four eggs, a teaspoonful of butter, four tablespoonfuls of finely cut ham, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Brush four custard cups with butter, put in the bottom of each a tablespoon of the ham. Then break in the egg, dust with a little salt and sprinkle with the chopped parsley. Put the cups in pan of warm water, place in the oven and bake three or five minutes until the eggs are as firm as you like.

and rows of pearls are out of fashion at present.

Chains of pearls to hang over the shoulders are preferred to any other ornaments.

If the sets are intended for evening wear, they include a band for the throat, a barrette, combs.

Here is a pretty Empire frock for a small child. It has a yoke formed of alternate rows of tucks and bands of embroidery. The skirt is straight and gathered at the upper edge.

Uncomfortable Collars.

If you have a collar that is too small to be comfortable sew a narrow ribbon at the top and bottom and tie in bows at the back. If it be a washing collar sew on white eyes and run the ribbon through them; then it can easily be removed when the garment goes to the laundry.

HOMEMADE CANDY.

Amateur Cooks Will Have No Trouble Making These Sweets.

Any girl unversed in candy making may turn out the following sweets if the recipes are followed exactly:

Danish Nougat.—Roast three ounces of Spanish nut kernels, remove the skins, then chop them up finely with five ounces of blanched sweet almonds and one and a half ounces of candied lemon peel. Mix with this three-fourths of a pound of sifted sugar and mix to a paste with the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs. Spread on a sheet of wafer paper in a layer about half an inch thick, cover with a second sheet of wafer paper, press well between two sheets of tin to a solid piece and place in the oven for one and a half hours. The oven should be a very slow one (160 degrees). When cold cut into bars.

Glazed Caramel Walnuts.—Have ready some shelled and halved walnuts. Take a piece of fondant or marzipan paste and place a walnut on either side; leave them to harden. Meanwhile put half a pound of granulated sugar, half a gill of water and a tiny pinch of cream of tartar into a pan and boil it all to the "caramel;" then dip the walnuts into this, covering them thoroughly and leave till set on an oiled slab.

Orange Cream Cherries.—Soak some dried cherries in strained orange juice for twelve hours and drain them at the end of this time on a sieve. Stand a cupful of fondant in a saucepan of boiling water and stir the fondant over the fire till creamy; then add a few drops of orange juice. Put the pan containing the cup of fondant on the table and dip the cherries in this one at a time, coating them well and lifting them out with a spoon. Place them to dry on an oiled dish or paper. When set place each cherry in a small paper case.

THEIR OWN MAGAZINE.

Housewives to Have Publication Containing "Inside Information."

The Housewives' league of New York city will publish a magazine to be devoted to solving the cost of high living and the proper way to buy supplies and their current price.

Young Mrs. Housewife will be educated to discriminate, as her grandmother could, between shoddy and all wool blankets, pure taffeta silk and "filled" silk which cuts after a few wearings. She will not only learn what not to buy, but what manufacturers and producers she can trust. One of the aims of the magazine is to bring producer and consumer into common knowledge for their mutual benefit.

Moreover she will have a chance to exchange ideas with other housewives in the "clearing house." If she is an expert in some branch of household art she may contribute her knowledge in a special article.

Negligee de Luxe.

The negligee pictured is a luxurious affair that is suitable to be included in the trousseau of the spring bride.

Embroideries done in shades of pink and green on a ground of buff satin give this simply cut boudoir gown an oriental suggestion. The braid trimming and cord at the waist are of dull silver cord. Dainty boudoir slippers of buff satin have pink crystal buttons and embroidered toes.

A Lingerie Help.

When the ribbons have to be replaced in lingerie take a very small hook and eye, sew the eye on the garment where you commence to run the ribbon in and sew the hook on one end of the ribbon. Then when you want to run it in you have only to hook the ribbon in the eye and run it through the holes. It is quite a time saver when one is busy and doesn't have time to sew the ribbon in every time the garment is washed, and if left in it is soon faded.

PUMPED HIM DRY.

No Wonder Lincoln Always Had a Fund of Stories on Hand.

Lieutenant David B. Parker, author of "A Chautauqua Boy of '61," sheds some light on the question of where Lincoln got his stock of stories. Lieutenant Parker was in the office of the provost marshal at City Point when an Irishman presented himself for a pass through the Union lines.

The Irishman was dressed in corduroys, with hobnailed shoes. He had a humorous, ruddy face, and his eyes sparkled with fun. He handed out a card, but held on to one corner of it. The card read: "Pass the bearer, ——, to General Meagher's brigade in the Army of the Potomac and return to Washington, with free transportation. A. LINCOLN."

"All right," said Major Beckwith. "I will give you a pass, but I want you to tell me how you got the card."

The Irishman said: "I had three sons in this counthry who were in the army. One was killed. The others sent me money to come over and visit them. They told me to come t' Washington and I could git a pass. I came t' Washington, but I could git no pass. I wint iverywhere. I pushed me way in to that old Turk in th' war department, and I thought for a minute he would put me in prison for gittin' into his room. Then I hung around the White House and went into the garden and talked with the gardener, who was a kind fellah, and told him me story. He said: 'Come tomorrow morning early, and I will put you at work here. When Mr. Lincoln comes to walk in the garden you can speak to him.'

"So in the mornin' I wint there and fussed wid some plants along the walk. Pretty soon I saw the master comin'. As he saw me he stopped and spoke. He said:

"'New man here?'

"I said, 'I am helpin' the gardener a little.' And he said:

"'Are you a gardener?'

"'I'm just come from Ireland,' said I.

"'But are you a gardener?' said he.

"'I am,' said I, but that was a lie, fr I'm a groom.

"Then he stopped there and talked to me, and I told him my story. 'Come into the office,' he says, 'and I will fix you out.' So the gardener told me what door to go in and what to tell 'im, and I walked past those fellahs as if I owned the place.

"When I come in, Mr. Lincoln said, 'Have a seat, sir, and warm your feet by the fire.' He sat writin' and a man was shovin' papers before him, and he would sign them. He said, 'You must know lots of Irish stories,' and I said:

"'I know some,' and he said:

"'All right; talk to me, talk to me.'

"Well, I could always talk if I hadn't much to say, but I kep' talkin' and talkin', and a man came in to see 'im on business, and he said, 'Never you mind; sit where you are,' and he kep' me there. When dinner time came he told the man to take me down and see that I had some dinner. Then I came back again. I stayed with him day afther day. I was given a dinner of turkey and iverything, but there was no whisky. Finally he said, 'It is time for you to go to the boys,' and I will let you go.' But he had pumped ivery story out of me that I had iver heard."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The International Photographers Convention, which met in Paris the latter part of August, awarded prizes in a series of contests, the most interesting of which was the one awarded for a photograph of the most beautiful woman. There were several thousand pictures submitted and as much was shown as when Helen of Troy won the golden apple. The first prize went to Miss Catherine Tower, of New York city. The photograph which carried off the honors shows Miss Tower in profile. The picture, by the way, that is said to bear a striking resemblance to Mary Anderson. It was posed and taken by Falk. This is the first time that an American girl has won in a contest of this nature. America thus lead in the beauty of its woman and the skill of its athletes. Miss Turner will be seen as Mary Turner in the title role of "Within the Law" at the Plainfield theatre, tomorrow night.

"The woods and the hills are a part of God's handiwork. From this play you may, in some measure, feel their influence ..... Mr. Man is the story of a man who took the trail that leads to the lower ground, and a woman, and how she found her way to the higher sunlit fields." These are Harold Bell Wright's preliminary remarks regarding his dramatization of his celebrated novel, "The Shepherd of The Hills," which comes to the Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and evening. He has written a story of rough times in the Ozarks—days before the coming of the railroads, the period of husking, house raisings, rough and ready settlement of disputes with the fists, laborious farming, highway robberies and so on. It is a "red-blood" virile play, yet one that has a deep message. It is filled with unique characters and incidents. The fact that the novel from which the play was made has held the record for five years as the leading "best seller" is quite proof that it is what the public wants.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

"MAC" SAYS

Wonder if the sudden change in the weather will have any effect on that High School baseball practise called for this afternoon. It looks as though that early opening idea would have to be postponed.

Leal's wallops Somerville! And the private school players did it with a crippled lineup. Looks as though they might have some desire to annex the Interscholastic title.

"Dimp" Nash, the Leal captain, is making a reputation for himself as a foul shooter in the last few games. Against P. H. S. he made good on five of the penalties and yesterday seven was his total besides a quintet of field goals. "Peanut" Steward, probably the smallest High School player in the State, also chalked up a total of five field goals.

Although the Y. M. C. A. team led by a score of 10 to 9 at the end of the first half in their game with N. P. H. S. at Saengerbund Hall last night, the Boroughites came to life in the second period and walloped the association "first team" to the tune of 48 to 27.

It might be well to still consider the Ajax as a first aggregation and let the "has beens" stay in the backfield. A game between N. P. H. S. and Ajax might be a good drawing card about this time of the year. Why not make the thing a reality?

Without the services of "Poly" Love in the last few games the Borough High School would not have made such creditable showings against seemingly stronger foes. The long center scored twenty-two points against Bernardsville on Saturday and came back last night with twenty-one. Some record, forty-three points in two games.

Two games of unusual interest to the basketball loving public are due to be staged the latter part of next week. On Friday afternoon, January 31, the P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. girls will clash for the first time this season on the Saengerbund Hall court, and the next day, Saturday, the P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. male fives will come together in their first Interscholastic League game of the season.

As far as records are concerned the borough maidens appear to rule a popular favorite, but the girls from this side are quite likely to spring the inevitable and bring back a victory.

Another title is due to be landed in this city within the next two weeks although it is practically cinched now. The Nonpariel girls' five, by virtue of their defeat over Paterson, who in turn trimmed the Trenton Y. W. C. A. aggregation, formerly champions, have the best claim for the title.

N. P. H. S. DEFEATS Y. M. C. A. "FIRSTS"

Coming up From the Rear in the Final Half, Boroughites Win by Score of 48 to 27.

Coming up from the rear in the final half, the North Plainfield High School basketball team scored a decisive defeat over the recently organized Y. M. C. A. "first" team by a count of 48 to 27. All through the first half the playing was nip and tuck and the half ended with the score 10 to 9 in favor of the association players. Consistent practise and organized playing were the real causes of the Y. M. C. A. players' downfall, as the Boroughites had these all important departments of the game drilled down to a nicety and easily took the front in the final period, scoring 39 points against their opponents' 17.

Although defeated by a big score, the Y. M. C. A. five put up a good fight at certain intervals and several times during the first half it looked bad for the Boroughites, who were just managing to keep in the running with field goals few and far between. Roy Love, whose sensational work along the shooting line has been responsible for many of his team's victories, had another good night and his evening's contribution was 21 points. So fine have the N. P. H. S. players mastered the art of team work that all Love had to do was to remain under the basket and put the ball in the ring every time his team-mates passed it to him.

ANOTHER BASKETBALL GAME AT THE THEATRE

James A. Thompson, captain of the Company K basketball team, has booked a game with the Jolly Five, of this city, to appear against his men at the Plainfield theatre on Friday night. This will be the second game staged at the theatre. Darling, the star forward of the soldier-boys, will hold down his place and will be assisted by Nolan or Seal on the other side of the basket. Glover and Howell or Harrison will do the best in their powers to keep the opposing forwards from caging goals. Thompson will hold down the center and will see that his players revolve in a manner that will please the witnesses.

For the "Jolly Five's," the team will be made up of Post, Machan, Moore, Bowe, Gullberg, Good and several other stars.

Before the game starts, which will be about 8 o'clock, between the halves and at the close of the contest a special program of motion pictures will be thrown on the screen. These games will be held once or twice a week until the season closes. They will be between teams of good standing in this city and where possible out of town fives will be brought here to compete for supremacy over the local quintets.

INITIAL VICTORY FOR LEAL QUINTET

Local Team Defeated Somerville High School on Y. M. C. A. Court.

For the first time this year, the Leal School basketball team came home on the larger end of a score in their game with the Somerville High School contingent on the Y. M. C. A. court, yesterday afternoon. Not only did the private school players defeat the team that has put p sterling exhibitions against the local and borough High Schools, but they did it by the overwhelming count of 35 to 17. Although somewhat crippled in the scoring department by the loss of Dickerson, who was only able to play the last five minutes, the local five passed and shot like a winning combination and assumed a style of play that has been a missing quantity in their previous games.

For the victors, Captain Nash and Stewart, the midget forward, were the whole show, the former scoring 17 of his team's points and the latter contributing five field goals. In the Somerville lineup Bowlby was, as usual, the shining light, making seven of his team's 17 points.

GIRLS' DEPUTATION WILL PLAY BATTIN

N. P. H. S. Maidens Scheduled to Play in Elizabeth Tomorrow Afternoon.

Feminine basketball will be the attraction at the Battin High School at Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon when the North Plainfield High School girls' five makes the trip to the Union county seat to contest a game with their old rivals of that school. Some idea of the strength of the contingent with which the borough maidens will have to contend can be garnered from the fact that the Battin High School quintet went down to defeat by a margin of one point in their game with Westfield last Wednesday afternoon on the latter team's court. As Westfield is conceded to have one of the strongest feminine aggregations in this section, having played Montclair High School, the team that defeated P. H. S. 30 to 1 last Saturday, to a standstill two weeks ago, it can readily be seen that the boroughites have some task on their hands. This will be the third game of the season for N. P. H. S. and it is possible that Miss Clara Smith, who is captain of the team, will pick a permanent lineup after tomorrow's game.

RAHWAY BASKETBALL TEAM AT Y. M. C. A.

Leal School Representatives Will Line up Against Rahway High School.

Rahway High School will furnish a basketball five to do battle against the Leal School aggregation at the Y. M. C. A. gym tomorrow afternoon. Although the rival teams appear to be of vastly different calibre, as far as season's records go, at any rate, the plucky little Leal contingent is really optimistic as to the outcome, and victory seems to them an assured fact. Rahway has one of the best basketball teams it has turned out in years and the team has been hanging up all kinds of records on the court.

Leal's, on the other hand, has become famous for its plucky uphill battles but the strength of the team is inferior to that of most High School representative fives.

The Leal players are dependent upon their familiarity with the home court and there ability to spring the unlooked for to pull them out on top and will no doubt make things interesting. The game will be called during the school's regular class hours at the Y. M. C. A. about 4:30.

PLAINFIELD FIVE HAS A TITLE CLAIM

Girls' Team, of This City, is Practically Acknowledged the Championship.

Although Paterson is a long way (by trolley) from Plainfield and some think that we have too much basketball of our own to bother with outside teams, a certain faction of local athletes anxiously awaited the outcome of a girls' basketball game played at the silk city last Saturday night. The contest was staged between the Trenton Y. W. C. A. five and the Wesley Methodist church team, of Paterson, on the latter aggregation's court and was heralded as a deciding struggle for the feminine championship of New Jersey. The Trentonians have held the title undisputed all season and went to the suburban town padded up to win, but it so happened that the home quintet had also arranged for extra reinforcements and Trenton was defeated, 16 to 15. It would seem from this unlooked for outcome that the Paterson five ought to be heralded as a State champion, but another team has loomed up during the present season that would have to be considered in awarding the coveted honor.

The third party in the deal is the Nonpareil girls' team, of this city, and the article of basketball this team has put up every time it has appeared on the basketball court has made it a foe always to be reckoned with. While Paterson defeated the Capitol city combination, the conquerors were overwhelmed by the Plainfield team twice this season and therefore would have to lower their title holdings to the invincible Nonpareils if a State title was the consideration. While the silk city five defeated Trenton they did it with exactly the same lineup that was trounced by the Queen City quintet on two occasions and it goes without saying that the local team must certainly stand some chance of conquering an aggregation that has been defeated by one of its easiest opponents. All of this mixup that goes with every championship, whether it be basketball, baseball or football, will be decided to the satisfaction of all interested, however, when the Nonpareils play the Trenton titleholders on the Capitol city court Saturday night, February 1. If they are successful in winning over the Trentonians, the Nonpareils will be justified in laying claim to the State title and all the rest of the honors to go with it.

MT. ARARAT TEAM TO PLAY P. H. S.

First Game of the New Year on High School Court Tomorrow Afternoon.

For the first time in 1913, the Plainfield High School boys' basketball team will engage in a game with a rival scholastic aggregation on its home court, tomorrow afternoon. The affair will be all the more important to the P. H. S. cohorts because of the appearance of the local school's old time rivals, Westfield High School. Every time the Mt. Ararat deputation has appeared in this city to contest any branch of sport a good exhibition has been the issue and the existant rivalry produced has been surpassed only by that of the annual game with North Plainfield High School.

Plainfield High School has a football defeat to avenge on the basketball court, a state of affairs that has not prevailed in years. Westfield chalked up its first defeat in several years against P. H. S. on the gridiron last fall, and as no return match was scheduled the sting of defeat was left over to be settled on the court. Both teams will have their regular lineups on the court and it goes without saying that the battle will be one for blood.

SYMPTOMS OF BASEBALL FEVER APPEAR AT P. H. S.

With the thermometer hovering around the mark that savors of baseball, Charlie-horses, world's series and hold-outs, some rabid baseball advocate at the Plainfield High School issued a call for baseball practise this afternoon. Think of it, baseball in January, when basketball is just beginning to assume an interesting aspect. Nevertheless, a big squad of pitchers were expected to report in the High School gym this afternoon to loosen up their stiffened arm joints by tossing the horsehide back and forth.

SOME SPICY SPORT CHATS

Fighter McCarty Is Irish and Scotch, Says His Father.

IS PROUD OF HIS BOY.

Believes Luther Can Trim All the Heavyweights—Basketball on Skates the Latest—Stovall Takes Big Chance With the Browns.

By TOMMY CLARK.

It seems unkind at this stage of the game to shatter the stories sent broadcast about Luther McCarty, the new heavyweight champion, and his Indian ancestors as being merely dreams, but such is the case nevertheless. The fact is Luther McCarty has no Indian blood in his veins if the statement given out by his father to George A. Thompson at Piqua, O., is correct. Luther comes from good old Irish and Scotch stock and that probably accounts for his splendid fighting qualities. His father, A. P. McCarty, lives at Piqua, O., and has been known for years as an Indian medicine man or doctor, but he is no more Indian than Teddy Roosevelt.

In speaking to Mr. Thompson the other day, Mr. McCarty, father of Luther, said: "Luther is not of Indian descent, nor is there any trace of Indian blood in his family. It is true that I am a medicine vender and have posed as an Indian medicine man, known in many parts as 'White Eagle,' but as far as there being any Indian blood in his makeup, why, it is not true. He came of Irish and Scotch stock. The fact that I have posed as an Indian medicine man caused the error, no doubt. Luther was born in White Horse canyon, in Nebraska, and is only twenty-one years of age." The elder McCarty seemed proud over the great achievement his son had accomplished, and the notoriety he had gained, and he is firm in the belief that Lute can whip all the heavyweights now before the public.

"Basketball on roller skates?"

Sounds a little unusual, but it's a possibility and before long a league may be organized in Cincinnati devoted to this new angle of an old game. Being a genuine novelty, it is a cinch that if the game proves practical it will create interest.

Basketball on skates has had several exponents in Cincinnati for some time, but nothing was done to introduce the sport until a match was staged.

The game was a very lively affair and while it is felt that additional games are needed as a true test of the sport, the majority of the spectators were very much in love with it.

The game is very similar to the present game of basketball, with the regulation floor, ball and officials. But several changes are necessarily called for in the rules, and, according to Hi Baurittel, the referee must be very wide awake and extremely vigilant for fouls. Already he has doped out some alterations to the regular code which is to govern the game on skates. For example, there will be no fault found with the player who, while traveling at swift speed on skates, receives the ball from another and finds it impossible to stop suddenly. But the player must make an effort to bring himself to a standstill.

Intentional rushing also will be construed more strictly, according to Baurittel, otherwise a player might be liable to serious injuries from a skater moving over the floor at dazzling speed. When more games are played Baurittel believes other changes will suggest themselves and alterations to the present code will be made to fit the new basketball on skates.

George Stovall, manager of the St. Louis Americans, is taking a chance few managers would care to run in the matter of his catching department. Stovall, having released everything in the receiver line that savors of the veteran, finds himself with a staff of three men, the only one of whom can boast big league experience being Alexander, who had a few games under his belt last fall.

With a bunch of young pitchers working with colt catchers, the battery end of the game is certain to be in hot water. The misfortune of it all is that the pitching talent is of real promise and would have a 20 per cent greater efficiency under veteran guidance.

Stovall may have something up his sleeve that he has not given out. But unless he sees something more reliable than Agnew, Alexander, Snell and recruit talent, he will have to be marvelously lucky to get by.

T. F. Day, who was successful in crossing the Atlantic ocean in a twenty-five foot yawl, is contemplating another trip across the Atlantic. This time he hopes to break all previous records for small sailing yachts across the "pond" and will essay the trip in a new type of yacht—a three masted yawl.

MURPHY'S SPORTSMANSHIP

Arthur Duffy, Former Sprinter, Tells One on Veteran Trainer.

Arthur Duffy, the famous sprinter, tells the following story of Trainer Mike Murphy's sportsmanship: "At the Amateur Athletic union championships at Riverside back in 1900 I was started for national sprint honors. Mike was coaching Wefers and Kraenzlein for the dash. He thought they were going to win. Before the race he came up to me and said:

"'I am going to beat you today. Kraenz and Wefers are running like the wind. You will have to beat 9 4-5 seconds to trim them.'

"The race was finally held. It was a corker. At the start I was the first to get away. At the fifty yard mark I was leading by half a yard. Behind me I could hear the heavy crunch on the cinders of the Mercury Foot representatives at my heels. It urged me on. Neck and neck we raced the last half of the distance, but in the final burst I managed to gain a scant lead.

"The best part of it all was after the race. One of the first to come over and grab me by the hand was none other than the veteran trainer. 'You ran a great race,' he said. 'I thought we could get you, but you beat us fair and square. You deserved to win. I hope you will win many more races.' This was only one of the traits of the great coach. Murphy is a good sportsman above all. It will be many a day before we will see his equal."

Mathewson Dean of Pitchers.

Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants, who climbed into major league harness in 1900, recently became "dean of the major league pitchers" through the release to a minor league club of Jack Powell of the St. Louis Americans, who began his big league career in 1899.

FOULKE E. BRANDT, BANKER SCHIFF'S FORMER VALET, FREED FROM PRISON, IS TO BEGIN LIFE ANEW IN THE WEST

New York, Jan. 21.—The action of Governor Sulzer in pardoning Foulke E. Brandt is generally commended. While no sympathy is expressed for the former valet who was caught by Banker Mortimer L. Schiff in his home, is was generally conceded that a sentence of thirty years in prison on a plea of guilty was excessive. Brandt served about six years. The judge who sentenced him says he was deceived by perjured testimony. Mirabeau L. Towns, who was Brandt's attorney in the effort to get the pardon, and Senator Knute Nelson, who had become interested in the case, advised Brandt to leave New York, and the ex-convict seemed eager to take the advice. Nelson offered to find work for Brandt in Minnesota, and the ex-valet started for the west after only a few hours in New York.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Proctor's Fifth Avenue theatre offers an exceptional all-star bill this week, comprising an unbeatable program of twelve feature numbers, which includes Kathryn Kidder & Co., in "The Washerwoman Duchess;" Hughie Jennings and Ben Smith, blackface comedians; Violet Lale, the talented imitatrice; Bird Millman and her peerless wire artists; Linden Beckwith, "Honor Among Thievess;" Haviland & Thornton, Billy McDermott, "King of Hobo Comedians," Aerial Shaws, Ralph Smalley, Carson & Brown and The Three Samsons.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson conferred the honor of his presence at the Cort theatre, where he occupied a box on Friday night of last week, and enjoyed tremendously Laurette Taylor's performance of Peg in J. Hartley Manner's comedy of youth, "Peg O' My Heart." It was the first time Mr. Wilson had visited a theatre since his nomination to the highest office in the land, and throughout the entire performance of Oliver Morosco's charming production his interest was centered on the captivating little star. Society is flocking to the Cort these days, and there is not a performance given without the attendance of at least one large theatre party. Miss Taylor will begin the seventh week of her engagement at the Cort tonight.

Mrs. Leslie Carter began her tour in "Zaza," "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and "Camille" at the Shubert theatre Newark, N. J., on Monday night. Mrs. Carter's portrayal of the title role of the first named play was quite as effective as that displayed by the great emotional actress in earlier days while in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" Mrs. Carter brought to light much hidden charm.

28 INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED

Grand Jury Discharged After Presenting Its Report to Union County Court.

THEY INSPECTED JAIL

Rev. W. S. MacRorie's Case Among Those Considered, But It is Not Known Whether a True Bill Was Found.

Elizabeth, Jan. 23.—The Grand Jury concluded its eleven days' labor this morning and returned twenty-eight indictments to Judge Paul Queen, who was sitting in place of Judge Edward S. Atwater. This is the shortest time on record in recent years for a Grand Jury's deliberation. The court discharged the jury, after which the members made the customary inspection of the jail.

Among the cases considered by the Grand Jury was that of Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, the former pastor of the Mt. Horeb, Martinsville and Springdale M. E. churches. Whether an indictment was found against him is not known. It is said that among the witnesses called before the jury during its session were a number of members of the churches which MacRorie formerly served. In view of the fact, however, that the minister has severed his connection with the three churches, may result in his escaping trial. The maximum penalty for conviction on the charge against MacRorie is $50 or six months in jail.

CLERGYMEN SPEAK AT S. S. CONFERENCE

Instructive Talks Mark Sessions of the Plainfield District Association.

The members of the Plainfield District Sunday-school Association, which is composed of the Episcopal Sunday-schools in this vicinity, heard two interesting lectures on subjects connected with Bible instruction at Holy Cross church yesterday. The meeting was called to order by the president, Rev. Arthur S. Phelps, of Bound Brook. The roll call and minutes were read by Rev. William S. McCoy, of Holy Cross, the secretary.

"The Land Where Our Lord Lived," was the subject of the address by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church. The speaker pointed out upon a raised map of Palestine, which he used to illustrate his remarks, that Palestine was uniquely adapted for the nurture of a religion which should be truly universal. The chief points of interest in the life of Jesus, Bethlehem, Nazareth, Bethany, Jerusalem, were shown, and the meanings of some of the passages of Scripture explained in their reference to the country. The maritime plain on the west, the hill country, the gore of the Jordan and the eastern part were the divisions made and described.

Rev. Dr. William H. Neilson, rector of St. James, Piscataway, was called upon to narrate incidents connected with his visit to the Holy Land twenty years ago. He particularly described the flora of the land, saying that it was beautiful beyond words.

After luncheon was served to about 50 in the Parish House, the sessions were again resumed in the evening with a lecture by Rev. Thos. A. Conover, of Bernardsville, on "How to Study the Life of Our Lord." The value of pictures in interesting children in what they are studying was emphasized. He recommended the division of the Life of Christ into five parts, 1, private life; 2, beginnings of the Kingdom; 3, organization of the Kingdom; 4, manifestation of the King; 5, death and triumph.

PLAN FOR ANOTHER CIVIC ORGANIZATION

One for Business Section is the Idea of F. O. Linke and Charles Senger.

Plans for forming what will be known as the "Central Civic Organization," will be discussed at a meeting to be held this evening at the home of F. Otto Linke, 220 West Second street. Mr. Linke and Charles Senger, the latter of West Front street, have invited a few people to attend the meeting, those, as the invitation states, "who would likely be interested in keping our city abreast of the times." Aside from that statement the purpose of the organization has not been disclosed.

It was learned today through inquiry that those who have taken the initiative in the movement are planning to take up some work possibly similar to that undertaken by the West End Civic Association with a view to securing improvements in the business section of the city. Just what particular work the new organization will take up will not be known until the meeting is held.

In addition to the West End Civic Association, which now looks after the interests of the people in that section of the city, there is the East End Taxpayers' Association, and the Netherwood Residents' Association, which is displaying an interest in civic matters in that part of Plainfield, it is said there is an urgent need for some such association for the central part of the town.

SEX HYGIENE TALKS WILL BE GIVEN HERE

Noted Authority Plans to Wage a Campaign in This City in April.

Dr. Winfield S. Hall, junior dean of the Northwestern Medical College of Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, has been secured by the Y. M. C. A. for a city-wide sex education campaign on April 12, 13, 14. Probably no man in the country is more competent to present the fundamental problems of sex-hygiene to young men and women than Dr. Hall. With the intelligence of a trained and experienced physician, with the thoroughness and frankness of an expert teacher, and with the delicacy and motive of a Christian he discusses this most vital of subjects in such a way as to make him one of the most helpful of counsellors to young people on the American platform. His books, particularly "From Youth to Manhood" and "Sex Hygiene" are vereywhere accepted as standard.

For several years Dr. Hall has conducted week-end campaigns similar to the one to be held here in such cities at Detroit, Pittsburgh, Dallas, South Bend, Orange and Erie. An indication of the scope of these efforts may be found in the fact that in several of the recent campaigns he has spoken before twelve distinct groups, representing younger boys, older boys, young men, fathers, mothers, girls, young business women, physicians, ministers, lady teachers, men teachers and public officials.

The program for Dr. Hill's visit to this city will be planned in such a way as to meet the needs of all classes of its people. An opportunity will be afforded any one to hear him who cares to do so.

MISS FLANAGAN'S CHANGE.

Miss Elizabeth C. Flanagan, who has been some years with the White Store, has resigned to take charge of J. J. Varley's millinery department at the Paris. Miss Flanagan's host of friends will be gratified to see her in her new position, where the surroundings are so pleasant and where every facility is to be found for the display of exquisite millinery. All wish a splendid future for Varley's millinery department when in charge of such a competent woman. She enters upon her duties next week and needless to say the women of this entire community will be treated this spring to the most elaborate and exquisite line of head wear that has ever been displayed in this city.

TENANTS MUST PAY THEIR RENT

Landlords' Assn. Members Only to Lease Houses on Presentation of Receipts.

ADOPT CONSTITUTION

By-Laws of Organization Are Also Approved and Meetings Will Be Held on the Third Tuesday of Each Month.

Hereafter, unless a prospective tenant can show a signed receipt for the previous month's rent, he may be unable to lease any property from among the members of the Property Owners' Protective and Civic Association of Plainfield and North Plainfield. This decision was reached at a meeting of the association in Coward's Hall, last night, when a motion to that effect was adopted.

The reason for this action is due to the seeming indifference on the part of certain tenants in paying their rent, some of whom have a habit of vacating premises without paying up. The landlords have had so much trouble from this source that the members of the association agreed to this plan of getting rid of undesirable tenants.

William Newcorn, chairman of the committee on by-laws and constitution, reported that the committee had completed its work and presented for the approval of the association the constitution and by-laws, which were adopted by sections and then as a whole. It was decided to make the annual dues $3, thereby making it possible for all landlords to join.

The body voted to hold its regular meetings on the third Tuesday in each month. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, February 18. There are at present 135 members of the association.

GOOD SPEAKERS AND MENU FOR DINNER TOMORROW NIGHT

The Netherwood Residents' Association will give its first annual dinner at Truell Hall, tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. It will be an informal affair. The list of speakers will include Mayor Percy H. Stewart, of this city; Congressman William E. Tuttle, of Westfield; State Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford; former City Judge William N. Runyon and Paul H. Burns, both of this city, and Ralph Grout, of Montclair. They will discuss civic affairs, the toasts being confined to that general topic. The menu cannot fail to please for Manager Allen has left nothing undone to make the affair a huge success.

It is expected that there will be a few "post entries," no doubt, but 110 tickets have been taken thus far, with fifteen or twenty more promised. With a large attendance, an excellent menu, a fine list of speakers, and in addition the Lotus Glee Club to entertain with songs, a great time is promised all who attend. L. J. Geary, of 1221 Denmark road, is chairman of the dinner committee.

Somerville, Jan. 22.—Surrogate William J. DeMond will retire from his official position in Somerset county on Friday, after which he will be succeeded by Surrogate-elect Calvin D. McMurtry. Owing to the overcrowded condition of the kindergarten department of the Somerset Street School, the borough, Superintendent Vosseler announced today that beginning February 1 the class will be divided and two sessions will be held. Pupils who were five years old on October 1 last will attend the morning session and those under that age will attend the afternoon session. An average of 80 pupils have been attending the kindergarten.

The court suspended sentence.

MGR. STAFFORD GOES TO REWARD

Noted Priest, Formerly of St. Mary's Here, is Summoned by Master.

ILL SINCE DECEMBER 30

Funeral Services at Jersey City on Friday to Be Attended by Many High Dignitaries of the Catholic Church.

Jersey City, Jan. 22.—The Rt. Rev. Monsignor John A. Stafford, rector of St. Patrick's R. C. church, this city, and formerly assistant rector at St. Mary's church, Plainfield, who was stricken with convulsions as he was about to ascend the pulpit to deliver a sermon on Sunday, December 20, died at the rectory yesterday. At his bedside were his brother, William Stafford, of Paterson, and his nephew, John A. Stafford, a lawyer, also of Paterson, with whom he had been conversing but a few moments before he expired.

When it was discovered that the monsignor was dying, the priests present recited the prayer for the dying. The monsignor died before the doctor arrived.

The funeral will take place Friday at 10 a. m. from St. Patrick's church, when a high solemn mass will be celebrated. The office for the dead will be recited at 9:30 a. m., prior to the celebration of the requiem mass.

Among the distinguished clergymen who will be present besides the Right Rev. John O'Connor, bishop of the Newark diocese, will be Bishop Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American College at Rome, Italy, who will be master of ceremonies. Bishop Kennedy is now in Philadelphia. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. William J. Guinon, rector of the Holy Rosary church, New York.

The convulsions with which the monsignor was seized on December 20 were due to gastro-intestinal, or stomach and bowel troubles. A few minutes before the seizure he had been talking to Dr. Keegan in the rectory and complained of not feeling well.

The doctor advised him not to officiate at the services that morning, but the monsignor decided to attempt to deliver his sermon and entered the sacristy, where he was stricken.

Monsigner Stafford was born in Paterson on March 13, 1857. He studied at St. Vincent's College, Pennsylvania, and later at Seton Hall, South Orange. Following his graduation from the latter institution he entered upon his theological studies at the American College, Rome. He was ordained there by Cardinal Parocel on April 8, 1888.

Father Stafford first served as an assistant at St. Mary's church, Plainfield. Later he went to St. Mary's, Jersey City. In September, 1893, he was appointed vice president of Seton Hall College, leaving there to assume the pastorate of St. Augustine's church, Union Hill.

In 1899 he returned to Seton Hall as president, remaining at the college until he succeeded the Rev. Lawrence C. M. Carroll as pastor of St. Patrick's church. This was about three years ago. Father Stafford was made a monsignor by Pope Leo XIII. in 1903.

BANQUET IS ENJOYED BY THE BIBLE CLASS

The Altruistic Bible class of the Netherwood Reformed church held an informal reception and banquet last night at the home of their teacher, O. P. Wahlig, of 1312 Columbia avenue. The banquet was the second of a series of affairs to be given during 1913 and was attended by all the members of the class.

The committee in charge of last night's affair was composed of the Misses Mamie Flosback and Grace Romberg, Horace J. Adams, Jr., and Arthur R. Kienzle. The committee gave the members a pleasant surprise when they were ushered into the dining room of Mr. Wahlig's house last night after a short business session which was held in the parlor.

During the evening plans were made to give a temperance play in the near future which will be entitled, "The Prodigal Son."

MINISTERS CONSIDER CHURCH AFFILIATION

Presbytery of Elizabeth Discusses Important Subject at Its 100th Meeting.

Elizabeth, Jan. 22.—The entire afternoon session of the one hundredth meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth was taken up with a discussion on affiliation with churches of other denominations, in the Westminster church yesterday afternoon. It was pointed out that although people of other denominations unite with Presbyterian churches, they maintain allegiance to their former church. It was further claimed that the Presbyterians support churches where those of other denominations do not exist.

The idea of affiliation met with the approval of many of the clergymen, but others held that before final action, a thorough investigation should be made to avoid complications. The proposed affiliation does not mean that any denomination will lose its individuality, but that members of all denominations will be welcomed by the Presbyterian churches.

The calls of the Rev. L. G. Barrett, of Morrisville, to the Basking Ridge church, and of the Rev. F. W. Johnson, of Washington, N. J., to the Second Presbyterian church, of Rahway, were accepted. It was decided to hold the next meeting of the Presbytery in this city. Toward the end of the session, John T. Kerr resigned as chairman of the Synodical Home Missionary body.

TO LEGALIZE NEW FREEHOLDER ACTS

Two Bills in Legislature to Rid Union and Other Counties of "Rump" Boards.

EXPECT EARLY PASSAGE

Zisgen Measure Favorably Reported and it is Likely to Become a Law Next Week—McLaughlin's Bill Is Introduced.

Trenton, Jan. 22 (Special).—Efforts were made by Assemblyman McLaughlin, of Union, yesterday afternoon to straighten out the Freeholder muddle when he introduced two measures in the House of Assembly. One bill validates, ratifies, approves and confirms all elections heretofore held for the adoption of the provisions of any law for the reduction of the number of the members of Boards of Chosen Freeholders in any county. The other confirms the election of members of Boards of Chosen Freeholders chosen under the small board act.

The Zisgen measure, House 12, legalizing the new small Boards of Freeholders in Mercer, Bergen, Union, Morris and Sussex counties was reported favorably and will be rushed through the Legislature in order to end the muddle in these counties. It is expected it will become a law next week.

U. S. WON'T SUBMIT QUESTION TO HAGUE

We Built Panama Canal and We Will Run It, is Reply to Great Britain.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—The text of the reply of the United States to Great Britain's protest against the free passage of American coastwise ships through the Panama Canal will be made public simultaneously in Washington and London on Saturday, according to present plans of the State Department. Secretary Knox's reply to British Foreign Minister Gray's note, it was learned today, amplifies the United States' reasons for insisting on free tolls for American ships without presenting any additional ground for the administrations position in the matter, but toward the conclusion of the communication is an unmistakable hint to Great Britain that while this country is willing to submit the question to arbitration by a mixed board composed of representatives of the two governments concerned it will not consider any appeal to the Hague. The United States will pledge itself not to discriminate against any foreign ships whatever and will allow the free passage of its own vessels merely because the canal was built by this country and therefore should be regulated by it.

MISTRIAL IS ORDERED IN SUIT ON A BOND

Elizabeth, Jan. 22.—Because Louis V. Fay, the complainant in an action against Isabelle Lyddon, both of this city, who sought to recover $9,100 on a bond given to cover a mortgage, could not prove that the defendant had had dealing with Tapscott Brothers, realty brokers of this city, there was a mistrial of the case before Judge Vail here this morning. Mr. Fay, through his counsel, sought to show dealings between the defendant and Tapscott Brothers, but when called upon to prove it was not able to do so. By consent a juror was withdrawn and a mistrial was declared by Judge Vail.

FROM FIREMEN'S BLOTTER.

The West End Hose Company and the big auto truck at headquarters were called out late yesterday afternoon on a still alarm from the residence of Walter J. Leveridge, 836 Sherman avenue. A maid had been ironing in the kitchen and while at her work was suddenly called into the back yard by the cry of children. In her haste to find the source of the cries she left a hot iron resting upon a dress which she had started to iron. When she returned to the room a few moments later after discovering that the cries only proceeded from a ring of merry youngsters she found the room enveloped in smoke and fearing a fire, telephoned to the department. The smoke came from the slowly burning dress, the loss of which was the only damage occasioned.

NIGHT SCHOOL LIKELY FOR NEW PROVIDENCE

New Providence, Jan. 22.—As a result of a public meeting held Monday night in the Lincoln School, under the auspices of the Board of Education, a night school in this borough is almost positively assured.

The meeting was held under the direction of Mayor Fred R. Rubsamen, a member of the School Board, and was attended by ten applicants for enrollment and a number of citizens, who urged the adoption of the night school system.

Mayor Rubsamen said that the proposition should be a paying one if sufficiently interested people can be enrolled as pupils. The conferees said that there were at least twenty persons, to their knowledge, who were anxious to benefit by the opportunity.

The Mayor decided that the very evident interest in the proposition would warrant the board going ahead and engaging a teacher. He instructed District Clerk John E. Parker to get into communication with County Superintendent Dr. J. J. Savitz and get all the law requirements covering the formation of night school classes, together with a recommendation for a teacher to take charge.

The supervising principal wanted the board to engage a young woman to assist Miss Armstrong in the afternoon in her kindergarten work and take charge of the night school in the evening. A male teacher, however, seemed to be favored for the night school.

Mayor Rubsamen declared that efforts would be made to put the school in operation next Monday night. The hours, in all probability, will be from 8 to 10. It is not settled, however, whether sessions shall be held on four or on five evenings of the week.

MISS HELEN GOULD IS A HAPPY BRIDE

New York, Jan. 22.—With the wedding today of Miss Helen M. Gould and Finley J. Shepard, which took place at the country home of the bride near Tarrytown, all of the children of the late Jay Gould have entered the ranks of matrimony.

When Jay Gould died in 1892 he left four sons, two daughters, a hundred million dollars and a peculiar will. The first great "wizard" of Wall street wanted to keep all his money in the family. He also wanted to keep peace in the family. Accordingly he willed all his wealth to his children and stipulated that no child should marry without the consent and approval of the others. A forfeiture of half the child's share in the estate was to be the penalty for a marriage without this approval. Like many another will drawn under similar circumstances it failed, when put to the test, to fully serve its purpose. For, while the marriage of Miss Helen Gould as well as the marriages of several of the other children could not but be to the liking of the great financier, there have been matrimonial alliances in the family that probably would not have met with his approval were he alive to sanction them.

George Jay Gould, the eldest son, was married some six years before his father's death. Jay Gould was decidedly opposed to his eldest son's choice of a wife. When the son made it known that he was going to marry the beautiful Miss Edith Kingdon, a member of Augustin Daly's company, and a talented actress, the founder of the family protested vigorously. George Gould won the day. Afterward Jay Gould became extremely fond of his daughter-in-law and her interesting children. He was quite reconciled to the match after it was consummated. The Goulds have been married more than twenty-five years and their union appears to be an unusually happy one.

Edwin Gould, the second son, has been happily married for twenty years. His wife was Miss Sarah Cantine Shrady, a stepdaughter of a noted New York physician. Miss Shrady was a beautiful and accomplished girl, not wealthy and not closely identified with the "swell" set. The family advisory committee gave its unqualified approval to Edwin Gould's choice.

The matrimonial bark of Howard Gould, the third son, has not had such smooth sailing. When quite a young man Howard Gould had an affair with Miss Odette Tyler, an actress considerably his senior. It was reported that they were engaged to be married. The family advisory committee was called together and the proposal was negatived. Howard went abroad, where he met another actress, Miss Katherine Clemmons, a California beauty. Once more the advisory committee met and the result was a threat to divert $5,000,000 of Howard's patrimony if he persisted in marrying Miss Clemmons. Howard did persist. In fact, he told the family to keep the $5,000,000 and straightaway he married the actress. The family afterward relented and let him keep all his inheritance. Howard also relented and in 1909 he was divorced from his wife after a sensational suit in which the names of William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) and Dustin Farnum, the actor, were freely mentioned.

Frank J. Gould, the youngest son of the financier, has also figured in domestic troubles that have brought him more than an average share of notoriety. In 1901 Frank Gould was hastily married to Miss Helen M Kelly, granddaughter of the late Eugene Kelly, who was for years Jay Gould's greatest business enemy. The marriage was not a happy one and in 1909 Mrs. Gould obtained a divorce. Almost immediately after the divorce Mr. Gould went abroad and married an actress of the same family name as his first wife, though the two were not related.

The matrimonial troubles of Miss Anna Gould, Jay Gould's youngest daughter, filled columns of space in the newspapers some years ago. Her marriage in 1895 to Count Boni de Castellane, an impecunious scion of a noble French family, was disapproved by the family council, though it gave a reluctant consent. In the fourth year of the union the cables told of the final parting of the Castellanes and that divorce proceedings would be instituted because of the intolerable cruelty and infidelity of the Count, committed while he was squandering $8,000,000 of the Jay Gould fortune which his American wife brought him. The final decree of divorce was granted in 1906 and some two years later the former Miss Anna Gould became the wife of the Duke de Talleyrand-Perigord, Prince de Sagan, a distant relative of Count Boni de Castellane.

FIREMEN FORGET PIQUE WHEN DUTY CALLS THEM

New Brunswick, Jan. 22.—So strong was the call of duty when an alarm of fire was sounded for a blaze in the shoe store of Istvan Szabo, in Upper French street, that the striking members of the New Brunswick Truck Company forgot all about their vow to hereafter let things burn. Instead of standing by and letting the fire fiend do its worst, they turned to with a will and kept the fire damage down to $500.

Not long ago New Brunswick bought a new automobile fire truck and the fire committee appointed three drivers to guide it on its way. Among the three, however, there was but one man from the New Brunswick Truck Company, which piqued the firefighters and caused them to swear that as soon as the truck arrived they would quit fighting fires and become mere spectators.

The truck has arrived, though it has not been placed in the company's quarters, and the firemen's vow of inactivity was ready to become operative. At the tap of the gong, however, all resentment and chagrin was forgotten and the members of the company went to work with vim and vigor.

SHERIFF'S MAN HOLDS "CO-OP" STORE'S MONEY

Summit, Jan. 22.—With a representative of the sheriff's office in charge, consequent upon attachment proceedings brought by former Police Commissioner Fred Castle, of Newark, a creditor, the Co-operative Company of Summit, is doing business at its store here, but the cash paid for groceries is being handled by the sheriff's man.

Meanwhile by reason of the failure of the creditors of the store to give the company more time to meet its indebtedness, which is admitted to amount to about $5,000. Leon M. Johnson, president of the company, is planning a campaign among the women of Summit to raise $3,000 by the sale of stock. Johnson says that a lack of capital at the start is responsible for all the company's troubles.

Twenty-five of the creditors, about half of the total number, met at the Continental Hotel, Newark, Monday afternoon to take action upon the proposed extension of time. Most of them were ready to grant it, Mr. Johnson says, but Wilkinson, Gaddis & Co., of Newark, creditors to the extent of $272 for supplies, wanted their money at once and threatened replevin proceedings, according to Mr. Johnson, if it were not forthcoming.

It is said that the company's expenses for clerk hire were too heavy and only recently cut down this item of expense by $70 a week. The indebtedness is partly secured by a chattel mortgage on the store fixtures.

SAYS OFFICE-HOLDER OWES CITY $10,000

Jersey City, Jan. 22.—A resolution setting forth J. William Griffen, superintendent of this city's water department, as a delinquent, has been tabled by the Board of Street and Water Commissioners. It was offered by Commissioner Frank Hague, who, with Commissioner Rooney, voted for it. President Finke and Commissioners Prout and Doody voted to lay the resolution on the table.

The board will investigate the matter.

According to the Hague resolution Griffen, who draws a $5,000 salary from the city "has owed to the city for more than eight years the sum of $10,000 for water furnished to him for a contracting firm, which firm claims to have paid in full for said water."

The resolution called upon Griffen to make settlement at once, that suit follow his failure to do so and that in that event his suspension from office be imposed pending trial of the action.

Griffen said he would urge that a suit be pushed to trial as he felt confident vindication would result. He would not say whether or not he owed the money.

YEAR-IN-ADVANCE RULE ON WATER RENTS HALTED

Trenton, Jan. 22.—Deciding that the regulation of the Pleasantville Water Company, under which the inhabitants of Northfield, Atlantic county, are required to pay water rents one year in advance is an unreasonable regulation, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners has ordered the company to return to its old system of collecting rentals quarterly.

In its memorandum in the case the Board said it was well established that public utilities may, under certain conditions, require payment for service to be made in advance. This has been held in the case of summer resorts where there is a changing population which sometimes makes difficult the collection of accounts, which are allowed to run until the service has been supplied. At Northfield only about one-fifth of the population is shifting in character. In these circumstances the board held that the city should not be rated as a summer resort.

Pointing out that water companies are afforded an additional security for the collection of rentals in that they usually insist that the contract for service be made with the owner of the premises, the board found no reason for permitting the present practice of the company to continue.

SMALLEY'S APPLICATION.

It will be difficult to make the average citizen believe that the North Plainfield Township Committee was actuated by the loftiest motives in refusing to former Mayor Newton B. Smalley permission to lay tracks from his stone crusher property to connect with the Public Service trolley tracks. His business brings in a goodly amount of revenue and if we mistake not Mr. Smalley is the heaviest taxpayer in the township. To facilitate transportation and to reduce the cost, he has planned to do away with carts and run a private trolley line from his crusher to Somerset street and Interhaven avenue, to the terminus of the Somerset street trolley line. To make the connection, it would be necessary to lay tracks for a distance of about twenty-five feet across the thoroughfare. To say that it would interfere with traffic is absurd and we don't suppose that that silly objection has been seriously considered. The real objection appears to be a matter of mystery but most of us at all acquainted with politics in that section have our own opinions on the subject. Very properly, we consider, Mr. Smalley has appealed to the Public Utilities Commission, and we desire to go on record in favor of the Commission granting him the relief prayed for if it is within its province to do so.

JURY SYSTEM REFORM.

Strange as it may seem New Jersey is one of the two States in the Union where the jury system is controlled by politics, but that condition of affairs will not last long for is is reasonably certain the system will be reformed during the present session of the Legislature. A bill has been introduced in the Senate at the request of the Jury Commission which will take the entire jury machinery out of the hands of the sheriff and place it under the control of commissions to be named by judges.

The bill in question provides that in each county the Circuit Court judge shall name three persons to compose the county commission to be entrusted with drawing all grand and petit juries. Among the duties of such commission is to compile a list of all residents of a given county liable to jury duty and this list must be kept up to date. Before court opens, the judge must issue an order setting forth the number required for grand and petit jury duty and the commissioners will then draw three times the number required. The names of the jurors to serve will be drawn by lot by the commissioners from boxes.

Senator Read, of Camden county, has charge of the bill and it is most probable that he will use every effort to have the measure placed on the statute book as speedily as possible.

As a practical way to advertise Plainfield's advantages as a desirable place of residence and draw New York apartment house dwellers to Plainfield, we suggest that the citizens first raise a fund and that after it is at hand, the Chamber of Commerce confer with the Jersey Central officials for the purpose of obtaining a contribution from the road. What benefits Plainfield, benefits the railroad company for every additional commuter locating here means so much more business for the railroad and we believe that the officials would gladly contribute ten per cent. of any fund to be used for properly making known the advantages of Plainfield as an ideal suburban community.

For the present at least the bills to do away with the State Board of Assessors have been placed in the pigeon holes for it is the purpose of the State Tax Commission to confer with the Governor before asking the Legislature to take the contemplated action. It is well known that Wilson is strongly opposed to the State Tax Board and also to the State Board of Assessors as he stated in his recent message and it is expected that he will recommend to the Commission that it go ahead and present its bills.

The last chapter to the brief history of the "rump" Boards of Freeholders in Union and other counties is about to be closed. Two bills have been introduced in the Legislature providing for the legalizing of the acts of the new small Boards and making them the legal bodies. The day has gone when the people's will can be defied and the members of the large Boards will no doubt be convinced of this fact when they attempt to run for office again.

Wouldn't Tom Platt turn over in his grave if he knew how the people have won their fight for parcels post and how the business of the express companies has fallen off since Jan. 1?

It is natural that there should be underground politics at work on New York's proposed subways.

Do not neglect to read the contributed editorial to appear in next Saturday's issue.

CANAL TRAVELOGUE PACKS THE THEATRE

Burton Holmes' Lecture on Panama Canal Saves Cost of Visit to the Scene.

The Burton Holmes travelogue on the Panama canal at the Plainfield theatre last night netted approximately $300 for the City Union of the King's Daughters. The total box office receipts were about $900.

As might be expected the magic word "Burton Holmes" was sufficient to cause every seat in the Plainfield theatre, which accommodates 1,500 people, to be disposed of a day in advance of the travelogue and had the capacity been double, there would have been no standing room. It is needless to say that Mr. Holmes lived up to his international reputation as a lecturer and that he vividly portrayed by word and moving picture the greatest of all engineering feats in the world's history. It was the next thing to being on the scene of the almost miraculous undertaking. The only criticism that can be made is the length of time he used in explaining by pictures of other great canals, how the vessels are raised and lowered by the locks, something that almost any school-child knows. Had he devoted that precious period to an explanation of the mosquito and yellow fever extermination it would have been more interesting.

ROADS MUST FILE ALL COAL RATE CONTRACTS

Washington, Jan. 22.—An order was today issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission directing the Central Railroad of New Jersey, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, Erie, Lehigh Valley, New York, Ontario and Western, New York, Susquehanna and Western, Northern Central, Pennsylvania and Wilkes-Barre and Eastern Railroads to file copies of all agreements or arrangements showing division of rates between roads on anthracite coal since January 1, 1911.

Two Societies Raise Fund For Statue To Maid of Orleans

After a spirited though peaceful controversy the associations which exist for the purpose of commemorating the life of Joan of Arc chose New York as the place for a $30,000 statue of her.

It had been contended by one large faction that Washington would be the proper place for the big memorial. It is just possible that a monument may also be placed in that city at some future time.

The organizations backing the project are the Joan of Arc statue committee and Le Lyceum Societe des Femmes de France a New York.

Jan. 6 was the five hundredth anniversary of the birth of this famous heroine. Patriotic French people all over the world on that day held commemorative exercises. In recent years belated credit has been developed for the name of the Maid of Orleans, and many cities have established monuments in her honor. Two popular figures of the heroine are presented in the accompanying picture. Rodin will design the New York statue. It will be dedicated to the women of America.

Joan of Arc, or, more properly, Joannetta Darc, afterward known in France as Jeanne d'Arc, the Maid of Orleans, was born Jan. 6, 1412, in Domremy, France. Joan never learned to read and write. Through the influence of her mother, who had made a pilgrimage to Rome, she spent much of her time in solitude and prayer.

When thirteen she constantly talked of seeing visions and hearing angels' voices, which told her to restore happiness to France and give aid to Charles VII., the weak hearted dauphin, whose place was in jeopardy. These visions, together with the prophecy current in Lorraine that the kingdom lost by a woman (Queen Isabella) should be saved by a virgin, helped to define her mission.

Joan put on masculine dress and a suit of white armor, mounted a black charger and bore a banner of her own device, white, embroidered with lilies, on one side a picture of God enthroned on clouds, on the other the shield of France supported by two angels, together with a pennon representing the annunciation. Her sword she declared would be found beneath the altar in the Church of St. Catherine at Fiebois.

Thus equipped she put herself at the head of an army of 6,000 men and advanced to the aid of Dunois, in the relief of hard pressed Orleans. She threw herself upon the English and fired the fainting hearts of the French with a new enthusiasm. The hardened soldiers stopped swearing and gave up their debauchery under her pure presence. After fifteen days' fighting the English were compelled to retreat. The French spirit again awoke, the enemy was swept from the principal positions of the Loire, the village girl urged on the dauphin to his coronation, and three months later she stood beside Charles at Rheims, saluting him as king.

Dunois prevailed upon her to remain with the army, but her victories were over. She failed to carry Paris. Other exploits followed. Left behind by her men, she was taken prisoner and was sold to the English by John of Luxembourg. Carried to Rouen, the headquarters of the English, she was heavily fettered and flung in a gloomy prison. The English, who had carried with them the tale of terror at the strange witchcraft by which they thought they had been overcome, now had their turn. Joan was tried for sorcery and convicted. The papers were sent to Paris, and the verdict of the University of Paris was unanimous that such acts and sentiments as hers were diabolical and merited burning at the stake.

In the market place of Rouen, surrounded by the soldiers and ecclesiastics, Joan of Arc, the spotless Maid of Orleans, martyr to her country and her king, was burned May 30, 1431.

CURRENCY REFORM PLAN; WILSON AND PROGRESSIVES

Washington, Jan. 22.—Congressman Glass, of Virginia, who is likely to be the chairman of the committee on banking and currency of the next Congress to succeed Pujo, outlined to the National Chamber of Commerce last night his plan for currency reform as follows: Provision for re-discounts or sale of commercial paper in a way and to an extent that will enable banks to get fluid resource whenever their customers may require; the issue of a safe and elastic paper currency gradually displacing the bond secured bank notes; regulation of Government deposits of current funds with the banks of the country, and lastly, more stringent inspection of banks.

President-elect Wilson is gradually making it clear to the conservative element in Congress that they need not count upon him to play into their hands when he comes into office. All reports that are brought back to Washington by statesmen who visit Trenton by invitation or upon their own initiative agree that the new President is to be progressive to a decree which deprives the conservatives of all hope of comfort.

WALL STREET NOT SO WORRIED ABOUT WILSON NOW

New York, Jan. 22.—In connection with the decidedly better tone of the stock market and the higher prices yesterday it was pointed out this morning that the extreme dulness in recent weeks was due much more to sentiment and to apprehension than to actual conditions. No one has been certain that the incoming of the new administration and doings of the special congress would prove a menace to the stock market or to general business. It has been feared in Wall Street that such would be the case. The public utterances recently of President-elect Wilson only increased this fear. As soon as the idea began to be expressed that the bills for the regulation of corporations, that were introduced in the New Jersey Legislature on Monday night were not as formidable as the first synopsis of them appeared, the market began to rally. There had been no change in these measures, but only a change in the attitude of Wall Street interests. If Wall Street gets the idea that politics will not interfere seriously with its plans, there is no reason why we should not have a good market for some time.

ROOSEVELT TESTIFIES IN THE STEEL INQUIRY

New York, Jan. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt this morning announced that only two representatives of the press would be admitted to the steel hearing which is private. At the outset of Roosevelt's testimony several letters were introduced, among them one dated November 4, 1907, and signed by Attorney General Bonaparte. This letter was addressed to Mr. Roosevelt and referred to his letter in which he had spoken of a visit paid him by Mr. Frick and Mr. Gray. Mr. Bonaparte's letter also referred to reports of the Bureau of Corporations.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked: "Did the Bureau of Corporations report to you?" "Undoubtedly," replied the Colonel. "I cannot remember its report concerning the Sherman law, but the report was favorable concerning the Steel Corporation and unfavorable concerning the Standard Oil on certain points."

EXPECTS NO OPPOSITION TO ANTI-TRUST BILLS

Trenton, Jan. 22.—Governor Wilson's attention was called today to statements to the effect that the new anti-trust bills would experience considerable opposition. The Governor said:

"The bills do not affect any special interest. They are simply an effort to apply in a businesslike way what the whole country has agreed upon. I do not anticipate any opposition to the bills, notwithstanding stories to the contrary.

MONEY FOR CHINA.

London, Jan. 22.—Advices have been received from the Peking correspondent of the Daily Mail, stating that the dissolution of the six-power group of bankers which has been negotiating a loan of $125,000,000 to China is imminent, owing to internal dissentions.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Thomas Hadley, of Spring Arbor, Mich., will conduct the prayer-meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tonight for Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, who is to have charge of the prayer-meeting at the Temple Baptist church.

Rev. G. W. Bailey, pastor of the Union Baptist church, went to Trenton today to visit Mrs. Emma Chapman and Charles Robinson, both of whom are serving sentences on serious charges.

Reports were received, read and the Christmas committee discharged from its obligations at the regular monthly business meeting of the First M. E. Sunday-school board last night. The monthly reports of the teachers were submitted and showed that the school was in a flourishing condition and that several new members have been added to the rolls since December 1. The various committees in charge of the entertainments which were given during the Christmas season, received a vote of thanks from the board.

Merchants who use the columns of the Plainfield Daily Press deserve your consideration and trade. They represent the best in their respective lines and they spend their money for publicity in order to attract custom to their establishments. It costs money to advertise and the business man who seeks your patronage and makes a public bid for it is going to serve you well. The merchant who establishes a reputation by advertising can not afford to waste this money, and unless you are pleased you'll not go to his store again.

Advertising has become a science, yet anyone can write an advertisement that will pull trade. The readers of the Daily Press will find the advertising column an interesting feature. It contains suggestions that will meet every want and those who use its columns are among the leading and most enterprising business men. Tell them you were induced to come to their store by their advertising in the Daily Press—it is of mutual encouragement. Besides, there is always a more satisfactory service in the store that advertises. Never have merchants made greater efforts to secure trade or have prices been lower, and no city in the country can supply you more comfortably.

We are glad to say a good word for our advertisers. They have been liberal space takers throughout—and they have secured results. They know that the Daily Press is their best medium to reach the buying public and that it has THE right kind of circulation—the hearthstone kind.

The usual clearing sales are held in January and February. The wise merchant continues his store news and makes busy months, clearing out surplus stocks, which Daily Press readers will be glad to take off their hands. The business man who stops advertising at the close of the holiday trade makes a mistake he can not correct. The big stores have become big by keeping their name before the public and "making good" in thier publicity. The money they spend during the so-called dull season is among their best investments. The Daily Press circulation brings their trade.

WOLVES IN RUSSIA

Daring Brutes That Attack Travelers on the Steppes.

EXCITING BATTLE AT NIGHT.

Perilous Plight of a Sleigh Party That Was Surrounded and Set Upon by a Pack of the Ferocious and Famished Animals—A Timely Rescue.

There are still wolves on the steppes of Russia and pretty ferocious ones at that, as appears from this story sent to a Swedish paper by one of its correspondents, who was traveling a winter or two ago through the wastes of what was formerly known as Lithuania.

It was a bright, frosty winter day. The snow was excellent, and the mail sleigh glided forward at great speed. A troika with three Poles in it followed behind. Toward sunset we emerged from the dark pine woods upon the steppe, which stretched away in front of us as far as the eye could reach.

Soon the stars made their appearance, and the moon rose. It was bitterly cold, and the snow crackled beneath the runners. The horses' breath rose in the air like thick smoke. The songs and shouts of the Poles died away, and profound silence reigned.

Suddenly one of the horses whinnied, then another, and a third shied violently, uttering that terrible cry of which the horse is capable only when in extreme fear. I could see by the light of the moon the shadow of an animal about the size of a dog flitting over the frozen surface of a marsh pool which lay some twenty paces from us on one side of the road.

No animal can travel more silently than a wolf when in search of prey, and none can attack so suddenly and unexpectedly. I was slowly raising my gun when a second wolf rose immediately in front of the horses with crest erect and green, phosphorescent eyes. At the same time points of light appeared all over the mere, and the howling of the beasts rang out.

A shot was fired. Revolver in hand, Lescek, one of the Poles, stood on the driving seat of the troika. Then from the mail sleigh I discharged both barrels of my gun, and a savage howl announced that they had taken effect. Two of the most daring of our assailants lay rolling in the snow.

The three Poles kept firing furiously, although the attack of the wolves was directed more against our sleigh, probably because it was drawn by double the number of horses. Our driver had no other weapon than his loaded whip, but with it he dealt tremendous blows.

The horses struggled madly and tried with all their strength to break the harness. At each shot from my gun the wolves scattered, only to collect again immediately and renew their attack on the horses. Suddenly there arose a wild yell behind us.

The three Poles were rolling in the snow by the side of their overturned sleigh. Lescek's badly driven horses had torn themselves loose from the troika in their terror, and were careering wildly over the snow covered steppe, pursued by some of the wolves. They were soon pulled down, and in the stillness of the night their death screams were terrible. The Poles wallowed about in the snow shouting, weeping and lamenting by turns.

Their situation was, indeed, sufficiently serious, for only Lescek had had enough presence of mind to hide himself beneath the sleigh, and the mail driver and I, surrounded by wolves, could give them no help. I looked upon them as doomed and felt sure that we should quickly share their fate.

Suddenly our pursuers disappeared, and although bleeding badly, the horses became calmer. The gleaming eyes of the wolves were seen only here and there out on the steppe. A shot rang out, then a volley, succeeded by yells of pain. A dozen dead wolves lay on the ground, and two huge beasts actually expired beneath the hoofs of the horses as our rescuers came up in their tinkling sleighs.

It was a landed proprietor with his servants whose solitary farm lay only a couple of versts away. None of us was dangerously wounded. The wolves had treated the Poles worst, for their clothes were nearly torn from their bodies. They were bitten, too, but not seriously.

The following morning our host, Hert Stanski, came across the skeletons of the three troika horses scarcely half a verst from the scene of our struggle. The poor creatures were still bound together with the harness. What our own fate would have been were it not for our timely rescue, is not hard to imagine. The thought of it makes me shudder to this day.

USED and SAMPLE PIANOS

Representing a Remarkable Assemblage of Excellent Instruments That Have Lost Far More of Their Original Prices Than They Have of Artistic and Intrinsic Value

The leading feature of the Sale is a fine collection of new and sample instruments that have borne their regular prices until specially reduced for this Pre-Inventory Occasion. Some are slightly varnish-checked, otherwise a very little shop-worn, and others are special purchases of instruments, quite new, that our manufacturers wished to close out at this time. For instance:

28 Brand-New STROHBER Player-Pianos

With the Marvelous Gulbranssen Player Action

To Sell at $375

To our knowledge no similar price for brand-new Player-pianos of such excellence, in perfect condition, has ever been announced in New York.

The reason is simple—these Player-pianos were intended for our Christmas business, but arrived three weeks too late, and are consequently caught in the January Clearance Sale, at a most unexpectedly low price.

The Gulbranssen player with which these instruments are equipped, is famous for its easy action. Its admirable triple finger motor runs with merely a touch on the pedals. The very slight effort required, leaves one free to devote practically all one's energies to the proper interpretation and enjoyment of the music. In fact, the mechanism is so sensitive, that the accent, the shading, the pianos and the fortes can be controlled by the pedals in connection with the tempo-lever to an extraordinary degree.

This marvelous Gulbranssen action, which is found in piano-players costing up to $725, is built into the excellent Strohber Piano, which is compact in design, being not so deep as the ordinary player-piano, but of splendid volume of tone, and in a simple, but handsome Colonial case of mahogany veneer.

At $375 These Player-Pianos Offer a Rare Investment for Music Lovers

Sold for a small cash sum, and EASY PAYMENTS afterward. A dozen other groups deserve special attention, but there is usually but one of a kind. The list speaks for itself:

HIS LECTURE ON CHINA ABSORBINGLY INTERESTING

Alfred Maclay delivered an interesting lecture on "China, Her People and Customs," at Hope chapel last night under the auspices of the Men's Club. He spoke at length on the peculiar habits of the Chinese, discussing their political and religious beliefs before and after the revolution. His portrayal of the original immigration from the northwest about 4,000 years ago through the mountain passes was unusually interesting.

The committee in charge of the lecture consisted of Thomas Hendry, George H. Beiser, John B. Slorah, Henry L. Keen, Frank Rimner and Walter Firstbrook.

DR. MAXSON TO SPEAK AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

In connection with the free public lecture course being conducted in the Washington School auditorium, Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the local public schools, will talk on "Odd Methods of Travel In All Lands," tomorrow evening. His talk will be illustrated with a series of stereopticon views, showing scenes illustrating the strange beasts of burden used in other countries, the queer vehicles, the curious people of the odd corners of the earth, travel in the frozen north, caravan travel in the jungles of Africa, strange conveyances of the Indians, and the novel manners and customs that are not ordinarily depicted in travel films.

Dr. Maxson is an interesting speaker and when he talks he usually has something of unusual interest to deliver to his listeners. The lecture will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Washington School auditorium.

Classified advertising will restore your lost article—unless the finder should be dishonest.

STAGE DEFEATS FRUIT JARS.

Fritzi Scheff, Actress, Would Cast Off Her Novelist Husband.

It is a prodigious task for man or woman to attempt the subjection of temperament. In other words, you cannot domesticate high art. Also you cannot keep your wife imprisoned in a fruit jar.

All of which leads to the case of Fritzi Scheff, the actress, and John

FRITZI SCHEFF, WHO SEEKS DIVORCE.

Fox, Jr., novelist. They were married four years or more ago and for some time defied "temperament" and lived happily, to all intents and purposes. But now they are asking divorce.

SPLENDID CAT WINS MEDAL.

cats drew crowds into a side room. The felines formed a separate little show that rivaled the main event.

About the most spectacular winner of prizes at both shows was a wonderful bushy coated, lustrous eyed, soft purring animal named Argent Glorioso. This cat is the property of Miss Dorothy Champion. It won a gold medal as the best American bred cat.

DUMMIES AID H. G. WELLS.

English Novelist Gets Ideas From Marshaling Toy Figures.

Herbert G. Wells, the English novelist, who is best known here by his weird stories, such as "The War of the Worlds," "The Food of the Gods" and "The War in the Air," delights in working out the plots and details of his tales by the use of toy tin soldiers, toy cannon and little wooden houses.

His home at Hampstead, England, is full of his unique dummies. He places them on a board in front of him and then ponders ever odd and unusual maneuvers, positions and situations.

Every day, some of the people who have been watching the real estate ads closely for sometime make up their minds—and buy!

Make the Best of It.

A merry heart, a merry laugh,
A face with lots of sun in it,
A merry tongue with merry chaff
And quip with lots of fun in it:

If trouble comes—and troubles will—
When others make a guest of it
Keep on a smiling face and still Strive on and make the best of it.

And if the worst comes to the worst
And life has no more zest in it—
Well, there are fewer clouds to burst,
So why not make the best of it?

Then learn to leave behind you care.
A fool but walks abreast of it.
Don't be a victim to despair,
But always make the best of it.

THE CUTTLEFISH.

Its Queer Ink Sac and Its Ability to Change Its Color.

Sepia is a peculiar animal substance obtained from the ink bags or ink sacs of cuttlefish.

The cuttlefish are a group of singular sea creatures allied to slugs, snails, oysters and other so called "shell fish."

The cuttlefish has a sort of shell beneath the skin (sold under the name of "cuttlebone"), a pair of large eyes and a horny beak. Like all mollusks, they have no real limbs at all, but from around the head there spring eight or ten long tentacles, each armed with numerous suckers.

By forcibly squirting out the sea water which it has taken in the sepia can shoot backward through the water with great speed. The sepia is interesting, too, as being able to change its color in a measure so as to harmonize with its surroundings. Just under the topmost layer of skin there are distributed all over the surface of the body a number of cells, containing a dark pigment. When these cells are expanded the surface of the body becomes darkly spotted, but as they are contracted the creature looks paler.

Though best developed in the sepia and its nearest allies, nearly every member of the cuttlefish group possesses an ink sac. The ink sac contains the dark pigment secreted by a special gland. When discovered or pursued by an enemy the sepia discharges some of its ink through a sort of funnel or tube. The pigment mixes with water very quickly and forms a dark cloud of inky water, beyond which the sepia will dart into safety.

Sepias are often caught in nets with fish. The fishermen, despising the cuttles, throw them out upon the beach, and then they may be seen lying in tiny pools of dense black liquid and continually oozing out more ink in a vain attempt at concealment.—Chicago Tribune.

BROKE IT GENTLY.

He Didn't Know Exactly What to Do, So They Came to His Rescue.

A young author and critic, who has come to be an authority upon a certain modern phase of education, went a few days ago to deliver his first lecture at a girls' school. He had lectured before, but never at a young ladies' seminary, and as two white frocked, curly haired ushers led him out to the platform and he sat down beside the matronly principal among the women who made up the faculty and faced a sea of girls' faces he was young enough to feel a bit of embarrassment himself. It was rather difficult at first, but once the lecture was started things went all right.

He finished what he had to say and sat down. The audience and the matronly principal and the women who made up the faculty clapped their hands enthusiastically. Then the applause died down and silence settled upon the lecture hall. The young man sat on waiting for some one to say something, dimly conscious that a move of one kind or another was expected of him. But his lecture was finished. He had said all he had to say. There were no questions from faculty or students. A few of the girls began to fidget, but no one spoke.

The young man became unpleasantly aware that he was expected to do something and to do it at once, but he did not know what to do. He reflected miserably that he did not know the etiquette of a girls' school anyhow. And then there was a signal from the principal and a move in the audience, and the prettier of the two girl ushers approached him, a little embarrassed, a little shy, determined to do her duty.

"I'm so sorry, Mr. B.," she murmured, "but I'm afraid you'll have to—you'll have to start right this minute if you want to make your train!"—New York Times.

Careful With Their Lemons.

"In English inns," said a man who had just returned from a long coaching trip in England, "they do not use lemons in our haphazard fashion. They make the use of one more or less of a solemn rite. I remember asking for a 'horse's neck' in a little inn in the north country. The landlord had never heard of the drink, and I explained to him that it was ginger ale with a lemon peel in it. He went back to the bar and returned presently with an empty tray. 'I'm very sorry, sir,' he said, 'but we haven't got a lemon open just now.'"—New York Tribune.

His Disease.

When Lord Chancellor Campbell, then plain Campbell, married Miss Scarlett and departed on his wedding trip, Justice Abbott observed when a cause was called on in the bench:

"I thought, Mr. Brougham, that Mr. Campbell was in this case."

"Yes, my lord," replied Brougham; "but I understand he is suffering from Scarlett fever."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Would Be Terrible.

"The doctors are going to operate on her."

"What's wrong?"

"Something about the coat of her stomach, I understand."

"I hope they don't find its out of style. She'd never get over that."—Kansas City Journal.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NOVEL BAKED APPLE DESSERTS.

SOME delicious desserts which are as wholesome as they are appetizing may be made with baked apples.

Apples in dumpling are often a trifle indigestible, but if you will try the following recipe you will have no cause to complain on this score:

Culinary Hints.

Baked Apple Dumpling.—Take a cupful of sugar and cream it with quarter of a cupful of butter. Add a beaten egg, one-half a cupful of milk and one and a half cupfuls of flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Half fill a buttered deep earthen dish with sliced tart apples, pour the batter over the top and bake about an hour. Serve with hard sauce.

Apples En Casserole.—Cut the apples in quarters, then put in a buttered casserole dish and cook until you can pierce them. Take out and sprinkle sugar over them. This will melt and run through the hot apples.

Delectable Concoctions.

Baked Apple Pudding.—Take one cupful of sugar and cream it with one-quarter cupful of butter. Add one beaten egg, one-half cupful of milk and one and one-half cupfuls of flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Half fill a buttered deep earthen dish with sliced tart apples, pour the batter over the top and bake an hour. Serve with hard sauce.

An Apple Medley.—Wash and core six apples and boil slowly until the skins can easily be removed. When peeled dip each apple into one-half cupful butter, then into a cupful of sugar and last into some shredded cocoanut. Chop one-half cupful of dates and stoned raisins together and fill the place where the core has been taken out. Bake in slow oven until the sugar shines.

Baked Apples and Nuts.—Take five or six large tart apples, remove the cores carefully, being particular not to break the outside skins. Fill the cavities with walnut meats, then bake in a quick oven. When done place in a dish and pour over them whipped cream or milk. Serve while hot. Do not take the skin from the apples, otherwise they will burst in cooking.

FUR FASHIONS.

Blue Fox and Moleskin Pelts Are Much In Evidence.

The baby has her furs this winter, and very dainty are they with a cunning fur cap with tabs, a dainty and warm little muff and neckpiece, besides fur trimming, possibly on the long coat. Coney and ermine are lined with white for the baby and colored or shaded furs with pink or blue.

That fox fur is fashionable one may judge from the society reports of the furs worn at important functions in New York city this winter. Miss Ethel Roosevelt is wearing a blue fox scarf with a muff to match, while her cousin, Miss Margaret Roosevelt, wears white fox fur. Gray fox furs and black fox fur are also much in favor, it seems from the same reports, as are moleskin scarfs and muffs with hats to match.

The blouse with vest effect is an important one just now. The model pictured has revers that are very smart, and the sleeves are in the very latest style. JUDIC CHOLLET.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Women in the Magazines.

Woman Suffrage has been dealt with quite thoroughly in the magazines during the last year. Following is a list of some of the articles on that subject. It is a small fraction of the whole list and was gathered here and there at random:

Woman at the Door, Lippincott's Nov., 1912.

The Supernatural Policy of Women, Independent, Nov., 1912.

Social Use of the Post Graduate Mother, Forum.

Woman One Word More, Atlantic, Aug., 1912.

Woman One Word Most, Atlantic, Oct., 1912.

Equal Suffrage Tide, Chatauquan

The Awkward Age of the Woman Movement by Zangweil (Fortnightly, Nov., 1912).

Good Housekeeping has some entertaining articles by "Mirandy" on the woman question, and also in Good Housekeeping is an article on "The Feminine Charm of the Woman Militant" that makes one think of the Mother Goose Rhymes recently published which contain the following tale of Little Miss Horner:

Little Miss Horner
Stood on a corner
Making a suffrage speech
"Her logic and brain,"
Said the woman, "are plain;"
But the men just said, "Ain't she a peach!"

To turn from the ridiculous to the sublime, the North American has an article on the Mission of Woman and The World's Work has an article by Selma Logerlof on "Woman the Saviour of the State." Harper's (Feb 1912) gives us an article on the Political Genius of Women by Howells. The Literary Digest has an article on Woman's Work in the Campaign. There are good articles in Current Literature, the Survey and The Outlook. In reading one article in the Outlook the writer had to "pinch herself" to make sure she was not perusing the Woman's Journal (the official organ of Votes for Women).

There were articles in the American by Miss Tarbell, which drew strange conclusions from excellent premises; and, in the Delineator, Mr. Hard has given us some fine articles on Laws Concerning Women. But the final proof—if proof be necessary—that there is public interest in the woman question, was brought to me when I learned that the Ladies' Home Journal has a Woman Suffrage Department in charge of Jane Addams. What the people want Mr. Bok never fails to give them!

The people have wanted to have Woman Suffrage discussed, and it has been discussed from every point of view, one is tempted to say, and ad nauseau one is tempted to add.

After so much discussion are we not ready for the question, "Shall women be allowed to vote on equal terms with men?" Let us hope that the New Jersey Legislature will put it to the vote of the people in 1914. It is gratifying to learn that the Suffrage amendment passed the Legislature in New York. There were 123 assemblymen who voted for it and seven who opposed. Among the speeches against the amendment quoted in yesterday's Tribune is one by Dr. Bush, of Chemung, who says "Only spinsters want woman suffrage." Plainfield people will smile at this assertion. When the writer first joined the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield there was not a spinster in it, and there are very few unmarried women in the ranks today, compared with the grandmothers.

The New York women deserve their victory. They have been going to Albany for over thirty years. The long neglect of the New York women and the insulting treatment of the English women by their legislators is in marked contrast to the courteous reception of the suffragists at Trenton. Last year for the first time a suffrage resolution was submitted to the New Jersey Legislature. It was reported out of committee and voted on. It was not voted on favorably—that honor remains for the present Legislature—but a hearing was granted, and the proponents of the resolution were treated with fairness and courtesy. This point needs to be brought out because many fear that the New Jersey suffragists will become violent like the English suffragettes. New Jersey women are not disposed to violence and moreover they have not the provocation that makes English women desperate.

Woman Suffrage meeting at the M. E. church, Front street, near Grove on January 28, at 3 p. m. Admission 10 cents. A presentation of both sides of the Woman Suffrage Question. Mrs. Feickert and Mrs. Bjorkman in favor, Mrs. Fox and Miss Minnie Bronson opposed.

At the Hartridge Auditorium on February 7, at 8 p. m., W. L. Saunders and Miss Rosalie Jones will speak in regard to Woman Suffrage and How to Obtain It.

SOMERVILLE COUNCIL ROUTINE BUSINESS

Minor Matters Occupied Attention of the Borough's Fathers Last Night.

Somerville, Jan. 22.—A meeting of the Somerville Borough Council was held last night at which the map of the Vanderveer tract, in East Somerville, was again submitted, and some slight changes were suggested, particularly as to the continuation of East High street through the tract and to be so designated. The matter was left in the hands of the street committee. G. A. Van Doren, who recently purchased the property on the corner of South and Division streets, asked that the Council do something toward moving back the encroachments on that thoroughfare, particularly those buildings north of the former Mehlenbeck property. If this was done he would be willing to keep back beyond the building line when the improvements he contemplates are undertaken. Already workmen have begun the alterations on his property, and he asked that the matter be attended to at once. It was referred to the street committee.

A resolution was adopted giving Postmaster J. G. Gaston privilege to extend the eastern wall of the present Gaston building on the corner of Main and Maple streets about 18 feet in a northerly direction. It was stated that the present building just north of the Gaston building is to be moved back to the building line when the improvements are under way in that section. A resolution was also adopted authorizing the employment of an accountant to audit the books of the borough officials.

MRS. WILSON'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Saran A. Wilson will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Kettenring, 60 Race street, the borough. Rev. J. O. McKelvey will officiate and the burial will be at Mt. Bethel.

AND THEN SCOOP WHO WOULD PAY YOUR ROOM RENT ?

"MAC" SAYS

At least two local teams are due to engage in basketball competition today and both of the aggregations are scheduled to stack up against strong opponents. Plainfield High School players will entertain their old rivals, Westfield, while the North Plainfield High School maidens journey to Elizabeth to engage in a conflict with Battin High.

Manager Fountain, of the Leal team, has called off his scheduled contest to be played at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon with the strong Rahway High School five. Injured players are assigned as his reason for the cancellation.

Although the game to be played on February 1 between Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools is still scheduled to be pulled off on the Y. M. C. A. court neither manager appears to be making any noticeable noise over the fact. Earlier in the season Manager Taylor, of the N. P. H. S. five, declared that his team would not meet P. H. S. on the association court, but he seems to have altered his views since that time.

In the event of a strenuous objection to the Y. M. C. A., the court at Saengerbund Hall could be pressed into service as a fit substitute as that floor is better in some ways than the Y. M. C. A.

If the frost king keeps up his threatenings those who called the baseball practise at P. H. S. will have to issue another call for ice hockey. This sport seems vastly more appropriate for this time of year anyway.

Speaking of baseball, Manager Dorflinger is hot on the trail of another signature to add to his playing list. The new prospect is entirely unknown to the baseball public but if family records speak for anything he ought to turn out to be a world beater. Joe Harter, the crack hitter of the Plainfield team, is the proud father of a boy, for the second time.

Manager Thompson, of the Company K five, has booked the Jolly Five, of this city, to contest a basketball game with his quintet on the theatre stage next Friday night.

A basketball game that is due to excite more than passing interest is carded to be played on the Hope Chapel court next Saturday night between the Hope five and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax. Both of these teams are aspirants for the city championship and as the Ajax took the first game the Chapel players are hot on the trail of the second.

Yankee Schwartz and Bat Schultz have been signed to box in Columbus, O., Jan. 29.

The proposed 20-round bout betweent Al Palzer and Jack Johnson resembles a large piece of cheese.

Johnny Coulon, the American bantamweight champion, has passed up the offer of $3,000 to meet Charley Ledoux in Paris.

Jim Jeffries declares that he never learned the couch from Tommy Ryan, but from boxing with big Bob Armstrong.

In earning a draw in his recent bout with Joe Rivers, Leach Cross showed New York fans that he was a real fighter.

Spike Kelly's defeat of Ray Bronson in Memphis the other night has boosted the stock of the Chicago boxer quite some.

Jimmy Walsh, the Boston bantamweight, has been engaged as boxing instructor at the Brookline Municipal Gymnasium, Brookline, Mass.

Abe Attell, Al Kaufman and other boxers who have been declared in the down and out class, will not be allowed to compete in bouts in San Francisco in the future.

It looks as if Jack Dillon had disposed of Frank Mantell as a contender for the middleweight title. Mantell never had a chance with the Hoosier boxer in their recent bout at Providence.

BASEBALL NOTES

Horace Fogel, the former president of the Philadelphia Nationals, has gone into the hotel business in Atlantic City.

Pitcher Larry Pape, of the Boston Red Sox, was recently sold unconditionally to the Buffalo Club, of the International League.

Tom Connery, who managed the Hartford team, of the Connecticut State League, last year, has been signed as scout for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Karl Crandall, brother of Otis Crandall, of the Giants, and field captain of the Memphis team in 1912 has been signed by the Indianapolis club.

A brother of Zach Wheat's will be taken along with the Brooklyn Superbas on the training trip. Zach says his brother is a great catcher and will make good.

With Bresnahan, Archer and Needham the Chicago Cubs have the only Irish-born catching staff in baseball. All three of the backstops were born in Ireland.

Manager Hugh Jennings says he will make many changes in the Detroit lineup for the coming season. One of the moves will be the placing of Sam Crawford on first base.

George Winter, the former big league pitcher, has been engaged to coach the baseball team of the University of Vermont. Winter managed the St. John, N. B., team last season.

Umpire Tom Connolly, of the American League, is of the opinion that the only saving of time in the playing of games can be made by speeding up the working of the batteries.

Sensational pinning was done last night by the Hoboken Elks' League bowlers in an Elks' League match on the local alleys, in which they won three games from the Plainfield antlered tribe. They had totals of 1,067, 1,022 and 943, averaging 1,010-2. The local team also did high-class work, but could not quite hold the pace set by the visitors. The Hobokens are now four games behind the leading New Brunswicks. The visitors started with 943 last night and only won by ten pins. Then they handed in 1,067, Plainfield trailing with the excellent total of 977. In the final contest the Hobokens were there for 1,022 and the home five stopped at 933. Keller rolled 214, 205 and 194 for Hoboken, averaging 204-1. Miller had 222 and 189. Earle, however, was the star performer, with counts of 238, 223 and 203, averaging 221-1. Schneider had 213 and 210 and averaged 203-2. Topser had 207. For Plainfield Kiely scored 226. Blatz 214, Campbell 205 and Stout 201. The scores:

IS MARTIN AFTER THE SECOND BASE POSITION?

In the New York Sun this morning there appears an article credited to Jack Martin, of this city, in which he is said to have notified the New York American League club that he is after an opportunity to play second base. If there is any truth to this statement it is made in direct contradiction to what Jack said when he received his contract. At that time Martin said that he could not do himself justice while playing the keystone sack, as he had always played short and the mid-station would be an unnatural position for him to throw from.

He has evidently changed his mind, however, as "The Sun" says that, in notifying the club of his desires, Martin claims that he could get better results with his throwing arm at second than he could at the short station. Whether or not the Jerseyite plays second, of course, remains to be seen, but local fans are desirous of seeing him shine wherever he holds out.

"WATCH ME STICK" SAYS JACK MARTIN

Local Ball Player, Who Was Shooed to Minor League, Out to Make Good.

If Jack Martin, of this city, shortstop of the New York Americans, does not land a regular berth on the New York team it will not be his fault. He says that he is going to work his level best to stick and to show Frank Chance that he has the "goods." Many of the writers of the New York papers have ventured the opinion that Jack will make good with the New York team.

The New York Mail of yesterday said:

"Jack Martin, midget shortstop, who was shooed to the International League when H. Wolverton decided that the Yankees could not get along without Tommy McMillan, then infielding sensationally for Rochester, has also signed a contract.

"Mr. Martin was probably the noisest person laboring under Wolverton last spring until Walter Johnson beaned him and almost fractured his skull. That nicking made Mr Martin gun-shy; his fielding did not suffer, but his batting fell off to something under .230.

"In the International League Martin hit .279, a mark something like fifty points in excess of the stick average compiled by McMillan while battling for the honorable advancement of the then Highlanders. Martin used to be quite a hitter, it is just possible that he has recovered from the effects of his too intimate association with one of Johnson's choicest offerings.

"In which case he stands well to develop into a serious contender for the shortstop position, a situation that will take a lot of playing for by all the many parties involved. Just at present Claude Derrick is a favored candidate for the place, but if Martin should show good cause it might be possible to shift Derrick to second and keep Cree in the outfield, or move the former Athletic around to third, another rather unsettled corner.

"At any rate Chance's infield isn't weakened any by the reappearance of Martin, and it may be that the young man will furnish just the element needed to make it a strictly high-grade quartet."

NOVEL Y. M. C. A. EVENT WON BY GEORGE M'COMBE

In the running spring broad high jump competition at the Y. M. C. A. last night for the members of the teams in the Color League, George McCombe secured first place with a six foot jump. Ostrom, of the Orange team, gave McCombe a tussle for first place, but through a slight mishap he was forced out of the running when he cleared five feet eleven inches.

The list of men and the height they jumped follows: McCombe, White, 6 ft.; Ostrom, Orange, 5 ft. 11 in.; L. D. Farmer, Green, 5 ft. 9 in.; Murray, Green, 5 ft. 7 in.; Hansen, 5 ft. 6 in.; Stine, Newmiller, Taylor and Trotter, Orange team men; Carouso, Green and Gilmore, Red, tied for 5 ft. 5 in.; Price, Green, 5 ft. 3 in.; Reed, Red, 4 ft. 11 in.; Mead, Green, 4 ft. 10 in.; Welle, Orange, 4 ft. 10 in.; Lockeley, Red, 4 ft. 10 in.

The standing of the teams is as follows: Orange, 596.4; Red, 493.1; White, 486.4; Green, 360.5.

SHEPPARD LONG IN HARNESS.

Although Close to Thirty, Great Sprinter Defeats Best In Country.

Want to be an athlete? Well, don't take it too seriously. At least it was by working out this theory that peerless Mel Sheppard, one of the brightest stars of the athletic constellation, became one of the greatest athletes of his time and stayed on the top rung of the ladder long enough to enjoy many smiles at the expense of youngsters who sought to knock him off his exalted perch.

Mel Sheppard was asked recently how he retains his supremacy. He laughed at the question at first, but a little later he became serious and consented to explain his philosophy of athletics.

"I think," said Mel, "that the most important feature of success in athletics is not taking the game too seriously. I have seen youngsters by the hundred who had all kinds of ability fall by the wayside simply because they became too excited over the game. I have made it a practice to never worry over athletics, and that, I believe, is one big reason for my success. When I find I am going back I shall quit."

Sheppard was asked to give an outline of his training regimen. It didn't take him long to reply. He has no training system. He runs when he feels like it, eats what tastes good and lets it go at that.

The career of Mel Sheppard is one of the most picturesque in present day athletics largely because of his long stay at the top of the pile. He is now nearly thirty years old and has been a success in athletics for more than ten years. Until he was nineteen years old he displayed no interest in athletics. At that age he entered Temple college preparatory school, and a year later he was enrolled in the preparatory school of Brown college. He became interested in running, and at the Olympic games in connection with the world's fair at St. Louis in 1904 he won the interscholastic championship for the half mile and mile.

These victories gave him standing in the world of sport, but because of a dispute with the rulers of the Amateur Athletic union he was not a member of the American team that competed in the Olympic games at Athens in 1906. He was very much on the job in 1908, however, and at the London Olympic games he hung up new marks for the 800 and 1,500 meters as well as being a member of the winning relay team. In 1910 he hung up the world's record for every distance from 500 yards to two-thirds of a mile. Meantime in the years 1906, 1907 and 1908 he won the national metropolitan, military and Canadian championships for the half mile and mile. In 1909 and 1910 he fell down, but last year he came back and won both hands down. Today, a veteran in the game, he is, according to his own belief and according to his performances, just as great a runner as ever.

N. P. H. S. QUINTET HAS GOOD RECORD

Has Out Scored Seven of the Eleven Teams Met to Date.

Out of the eleven games played by the North Plainfield High School basketball team so far this season it has come home on top in seven but was obliged to swallow defeat in four cases, most of which occurred earlier in the season before the Boroughites settled down to their best form. The team was greatly handicapped at the beginning of the season by not having a court to practise on and the rapid development of the team work and basket caging in the last two months reflects with credit on the careful coaching of George Webster, who has had charge of handling the squad.

Injuries have also proven a detriment to the playing records of the N. P. H. S. five this season and in every game played there has been some member of the team incapacitated because of a break, bruise or sprain. All of the players have become valuable to the chances of their Alma Mater on the basketball court either through consistent shooting or close guarding and the team is in a fair way to annex another interscholastic title this year, barring further accidents.

KRAUSSE WINNER BY TWO INCH MARGIN

Godfrey Clay Comes in for a Close Second Honor Over His Larger Rivals.

In connection with their regular class work on the Y. M. C. A. floor yesterday morning, the High School freshmen contested a running broad jump in which thirteen junior jumpers participated. Clarence Krausse came through a winner, jumping a distance of 14 feet, 4 inches. He was closely pressed for first honors by Godfrey Clay, a midget jumper, who missed first place by a margin of two inches. Young Clay's mark was by far the most creditable made in the event as he was the smallest contestant but out-jumped eleven others much larger.

The summaries follow:

COMMISSIONER UPHOLDS DISMISSAL OF TEACHER

Trenton, Jan. 22.—An opinion upholding the action of the Hoboken Board of Education in dismissing Edgar Brandes from his position as teacher has been handed down by Assistant Commissioner J. S. Betts, of the Department of Public Instruction. Mr. Betts holds that Brandes' appointment was not a permanent one, he being named merely as a probationary teacher whose term had been extended on two different occasions; that he was not protected under the teachers' tenure of service act, and that the action of the local school authorities was legal.

Brandes was employed by the Hoboken Board in September, 1908, as a teacher of German in the High School, for a period of one year. After the expiration of the first year, another trial was given to him. The Board again concluded to give him another chance to make good and he was employed for a third year. At the end of the third year, on June 30, 1911, the Board finally decided to dispense with his services, upon the ground of incompetency.

From this action Brandes appealed to the State Board, contending that his dismissal was illegal, pleading protection of the tenure of service act, that he was discharged without a hearing and that he was permanently employed by the Board. Mr. Betts disposed of all of these contentions, and affirmed the decision made by the Hoboken authorities.

MISS HELEN GOULD SUCCESSFULLY DODGES CAMERA MEN WHO SEEK TO GET HER PICTURE

New York, Jan. 22.—Miss Helen M. Gould long has had an objection to having her picture made. Those photographs for which she posed in galleries have always been copyrighted in her name, so that reproduction of them could be prevented. Owing to the interest in her personality cameras have been snapped at her many times, but she has usually seen what was going on and has turned her face or interposed a paper, fan or parasol between her face and the camera. Since she has been preparing for her wedding her vigilance has not relaxed. One of her successful efforts to dodge a camera is shown in the accompanying picture. Her husband-to-be, Finley J. Shepard, had no objection to the camera, and he apparently enjoyed the effort of Miss Gould to prevent the work of the photographer.

MRS. HARRIOT STANTON BLATCH GETS BIRTHDAY CAKE ON TUG. HER GRANDDAUGHTER IS ALSO A SUFFRAGETTE

New York, Jan. 22.—When Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president of the Women's Political League, returned from a trip to Cuba the boat was delayed and she was a day late reaching New York. As a result a celebration planned for her birthday was not carried out according to schedule. A big birthday cake decorated with candles was taken on board the tug which met Mrs. Blatch down the bay, and the cake was presented to her on the tug. Mrs. Blatch is shown in the picture as she was cutting the cake. Baby De Forest is Mrs. Blatch's granddaughter and is an ardent suffragette, though a little too young for strenuous campaigning.

MADE FIRST TEXAS FLAG.

Ft. Valley, Ga., Jan. 22.—The girl who made the first Texas flag, when that State was an independent republic, lies buried in a neglected grave near here. Arrangements have been made by a commissioner sent by Governor Colquitt, of Texas, for the removal of the remains to Austin, where they will be received with all honor. Miss Joanna Troutman, in 1836, then a girl of 18, fashioned the Lone Star flag which is still the State emblem of Texas. The present session of the Texas legislature is expected to appropriate funds for the removal of the body and the erection of a monument over the grave in the State cemetery at Austin, where rest the remains of many famous Texans

FIRM FOUNDATION.

Nothing Can Undermine It In Plainfield.

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been misbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Plainfield residents expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I gave Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement five years ago after receiving a cure through their use and today I confirm all I then said in their favor. My cure has been permanent." (Statement given January 20, 1911.)

On August 28, 1905, Mr. Mattis said: "I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that my trouble was due to a great measure to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases I got a supply at Randolph's drug store. Their use drove away my aches and pains and my experience gave proof of their merits."

METHOLIST CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD IN NEWARK

At the session of the Newark Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church held last spring in Montclair, no place was fixed for the 1913 session, the matter being left to the secretary, the Rev. Frederick Bloom, and a committee.

It has been decided to hold the session in Newark, its central location making it desirable for both the ministers and visitors as well as for the laymen, whose association is becoming increasingly important in the work of the conference.

The date fixed for the opening is Wednesday, March 29, and as usual the conference will continue for a week. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Luther Wilson, D. D., LL. D., will preside.

Many changes in pastorates are expected, a number of them in Union county. It is expected that all Elizabeth Methodist pastors will be returned to their present congregations.

HIGHER TROLLEY FARES UP TO UNION RESIDENTS

Elizabeth, Jan. 22.—At a conference of Morris County Traction Company officials, members of the Township Committee of Union with its counsel, John K. English, and members of the Elizabeth Board of Trade, held Monday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, it was decided to put the matter of increased fares from Union to Elizabeth up to the residents of Union.

The suggestion of increasing the fare from Union to the Central Railroad station in this city from five to seven cents will be discussed at a public hearing of the Township Committee this evening. This was the decision reached at Monday afternoon's session. Charles H. K. Halsey, president of the Board of Trade presided. The increase is necessary, according to Joseph K. Choate, general manager of the traction company. When the cars were stopped at the city line, January 1, the company, it was alleged, was losing money—the loss being due chiefly to the fact that approximately $20 per day had to be paid to the Public Service Railway Company for the use of its tracks. These tracks run from the city line in Morris avenue to the Central station. The additional fare should it be approved by the township residents, will make up for the loss. The traction company representatives say that at a conference held with Public Service Corporation officials the suggestion met with approval.

The traction company cars are running to the depot during the present month under an order of the Public Utility Commission, pending the argument on a complaint made to the commission by the Township Committee.

BUREAU FOR INDEPENDENT CHILDREN IS DEMANDED

Trenton, Jan. 22.—The establishment of a State children's bureau was one of the objects sought by the conference on dependent children held in Trenton at its session this week.

A resolution was adopted urging Governor Wilson to bring about the appointment of a commission to consider the establishment of such a bureau, either as a separate department, or as a part of the work of the commissioner of charities and correction.

The object of such a bureau as set forth in the resolution is to co-operate with the Federal Children's Bureau in Washington and also with the varied public and semi-public agencies of the State working for child welfare. It was also suggested that such a bureau should codify all the laws of the State relating to children and suggest new laws and amendments to existing laws.

Concerning the proposed mothers' pension legislation, a resolution was adopted requiring the appointment of a committee to consider the project and report to a similar conference to be held later. That hasty legislation on pensions would be unwise was unanimously agreed and it was declared that among points which should receive special consideration are the source from which the funds should be derived, whether public or private, and if public, whether municipal, county or State. The regulation of the expenditure and the proper investigation of cases, both before and after pension have been granted, should also be considered.

The committee presenting the resolutions consisted of Mrs. Harold S. Buttenheim, of Madison, chairman of the committee on legislation of the State Federation of Women's Clubs; Ernest O. Easton, secretary of the State Conference of Charities and Correction; C. V. Williams, of Trenton, a member of the New Jersey Children's Home Society, and Miss Frances Day, secretary of the State Board of Children's Guardians.

The committee named to give further consideration to the mother's pension legislation included Mrs. Buttenheim, Mr. Williams, Mr. Stonaker, William A. Doherty, representing the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, and the newly formed branch of the Catholic Children's Aid Society for the southern part of the State, and Mrs. I. Henry Welling, of Trenton, representing the State Congress of Mothers. Others named are to be added to that committee.

P. C. C. MAY BE REINCORPORATED

President Calkins' Suggestion to Be Acted on at Annual Meeting February 4.

WANT MORE TRUSTEES

Committee Reports That Re-Incorporation Would not Affect Certain Privileges Enjoyed by the Club at The Present Time.

On the recommendation of the president, Leighton Calkins, a proposition to re-incorporate the Plainfield Country Club will be submitted at the annual meeting of the club to be held at the Hartridge Auditorium, Tuesday night, February 4. This action is suggested because of a desire to increase the number of trustees from nine to twelve. With a board of only nine members, each trustee must either be an officer or a committee chairman with active duties; and it has been found by experience that it is inconvenient not to be able to elect a new trustee without immediately placing him at the head of an important department before he has become familiar with the details of the club management.

Furthermore the club has gradually grown into a large organization, and it is the belief of the president and trustees that it would benefit the organization if it were possible at times to place one or more trustees on the board from among the older members in an advisory capacity without burdensome duties.

The club was incorporated under the Act approved April 21, 1876, which has since been repealed. There is no legal method of enlarging the board except by re-incorporation under the act of 1898. Anticipating that a question may arise in the minds of some of the members whether re-incorporation will have the effect of removing any statutory restrictions against the sale of liquor at the club, the president appointed a special committee consisting of Henry L. DeForest, Howard McWilliams and William S. Tyler, who have examined the law and report unanimously their opinion that no statutory restrictions of any kind against the sale of liquor at the club will be removed if the club votes to re-incorporate.

If this proposition is favorably acted upon by the members, it will be necessary to authorize the filing of a new certificate of corporation under said Act of 1898 naming twelve trustees, and therafter at a meeting of the club as re-incorporated, the present constitution will be formally re-adopted without change, except that it will provide for a board of twelve trustees instead of nine and will be entitled "by-laws" instead of "constitution." It is not proposed to make any other changes in the constitution of the club, nor to change in the slightest respect the amendment clause of the constitution which requires that no changes therein can be made except by a two-thirds vote on due notice to the members.

AUTO HIT BY WAGON; LITTLE DAMAGE DONE

An automobile, of the large touring type, owned by George Taylor, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Elizabeth, was considerably damaged yesterday afternoon, when a horse and wagon owned by George Zuritsky, of 713 West Third street, crashed into the machine in front of the United Cigar Store on East Front street. Both the oil and gas lamps were wrecked and the front of the car was scratched and marred.

Zuritsky's horse was tied to a post nearby, and Mr. Taylor was attending to an errand when the animal became frightened, broke the hitching strap and collided with the automobile. When Mr. Taylor returned and met Zuritsky and learned what had happened there was a lively war of words. Mr. Taylor's demand for a settlement proved of no avail, but he declared that the owner of the horse would hear from him later. The automobile was a new one, yesterday's trip being the first one the owner had enjoyed in it. He was obliged to have the damage repaired before returning to Elizabeth.

COL. M. W. TYLER'S WAR RECOLLECTIONS

W. F. Merrill Reviews Interesting Volume Edited by the Author's Eldest Son.

A book has just been published entitled "Recollections of the Civil War," written by the late Colonel Mason Whiting Tyler. One of the author's warm personal friends, who by the way was associated with him on the Public Library Board, William F. Merrill, has kindly reviewed the volume and this review is herewith presented:

A great deal has been written about the Civil War, which will always be a topic of absorbing interest, but when a man, whom you have known, admired and respected for many years, writes his Recollections of that War, you take a renewed interest in the subject. As you read these Recollections, you think you are sitting in his library and listening to Colonel Tyler tell the story.

It is the making of the soldier out of the boy, assuming responsibility as it is put upon him, proving himself daily more and more able to stand up under it, gaining discipline over mind and body; the vivid descriptions of great battles, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Spottsylvania, Cedar Creek and Petersburg; abortive campaigns, like the never-to-be-forgotten Mud March, in the spring of '63; tedious marchings and countermarchings in mud and dust, frigid cold and intense heat; the making of camps, only to be ordered away before they have been finished; the tales of lonely and often perilous picket duty; and the daily camp life, with its excitements and its monotonies, its pleasures and its sufferings, its friendships and its hatreds.

The great battles of the Civil War brought out the supremest courage of the soldiers and the greatest genius as well as the great incompetence of the leaders. But it was the times between the great battles that brought out the character of the American citizen soldier as nothing else could. The heart-breaking marching in all weather, often in hunger, for a reason or for no reason, and the often incomfortable and sorbid life in camp—these were the times that tried men's souls. Colonel Tyler went through all these vicissitudes, which he protrays, without a murmur and sustained by a lofty patriotism.

Colonel Tyler died before he could finish his Recollections, but the story is carried on to its completion with the aid of his dairy and his letters to his family and friends. The Historical Introductions to the later chapters were written by his lifelong friend and classmate, Rev. Calvin Stebbins. The book is most ably edited by Colonel Tyler's elder son, William S. Tyler, of this city. This has been both an arduous task and a labor of love, but it has no color of bias, which a close relationship often engenders.

The book contains several photographs of Colonel Tyler, taken during the war and in later life. There are also interesting maps, which show the wanderings of Colonel Tyler's regiment, the Thirty-seventh Massachusetts Infantry, while it was connected with the Army of the Potomac. This is also, in the main, the course traversed by the Sixth Army Corps, of which the Thirty-seventh was a part. The famous "Jersey Brigade" was a part of this same corps and acquitted itself most nobly, and is frequently mentioned in the "Recollections."

I cordially recommend the reading of this book by everyone interested in the Civil War.

W. F. MERRILL.

Charles Hurrey Describes Conditions and Progress in the Southern Republics.

ALL WELL DEVELOPED

At Crescent Avenue Men's Missionary Committee Meeting International Committee Executive Secretary Speaks.

Under the auspices of the Men's Missionary Committee of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Charles D. Hurrey, executive secretary of the Students' Department of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., gave an interesting address, last night, before a large audience, on the work of the association missionaries in that section of South America.

"Not only are there sewing machines, harvesters and cash registers in that part of the country," said Mr. Hurrey, "but a complete network of railways with their connections over the continent. One may go from Buenos Ayres to Chili, a distance of 1,000 miles, in thirty-six hours and en route pass through the famous tunnel under the Andres. The railroads are well-appointed with their coaches, parlor cars, sleepers and dining-cars. The service rivals that of the American railroads in many respects. The entire commercial development of South America is increasing rapidly.

"The educational facilities in the country are the best. There are over 5,000 students attending the University of Buenos Ayres and 3,000 of them are 'medicos' who are doing all in their power to rid the country of its awful plagues. Normal schools are being established everywhere. The school methods in vogue are chiefly from Germany."

Mr. Hurrey said that the Y. M. C. A. was established in Brazil as early as 1890 and for the past fifteen years there has been an association in Agentina. In Buenos Ayres there has been erected an association building at a cost of $200,000, there being an enrollment of 15,000 South Americans. Mr. Hurrey said that the International Committee of the association gave one-half of the amount needed for the building in Buenos Ayres, the other half being raised by the natives.

Attention was called to the third annual conference of the International Students which is being held in Piriapolis, Uruguay, adding that Argentina is paying the entire expenses of thirty representative students from that country. Brazil has sent ten representatives and Chili three. Previous to his latest trip to South America, Mr. Hurrey was for three years traveling secretary for the International Committee of the Y. M. C A. for all of South America, and before that he visited Spain, Portugal and Italy in the interest of the association.

WITHIN THE LAW ACTORS KEPT WITHIN THE LAW

Prosecutor George Demarest and Detective Sergeant Cassidy, known in private life as Neil Moran and Edward M. Dresser, respectively, members of the "Within the Law" company which played at the Plainfield theatre last night, were brought to police headquarters this morning "in the name of the law" by Patrolman Daniel J. McDonald.

The two actors were asked to step into Chief Kiely's office to explain why they had left Truell Inn this morning without settling their board bill. Mrs. John R. Truell, who made the complaint to the police department, was communicated with but refused to appear against the thespians.

According to Moran and Dresser, they spent the night at Truell Inn and had made arrangements yesterday to pay $1.25 each for the privilege. This morning they said when it came time to settle they were asked to pay $1.50 each for their night's lodging, which they refused to do.

Before leaving the station house the actors handed Chief Kiely $2.50 to give to Mrs. Truell.

SHE ASKS BALM OF A CHARMER

Somerville Woman Wants Widow Who Lured Hubby Away to Pay $25,000.

SUIT FOR ALIENATION

Mrs. Mary C. Oldren Seeks Big Sum From Mrs. Beatrice von der Perren and Papers in the Case Are Served on the Latter.

Charging that she was deserted by her husband, John E. Oldrin, five years ago Nov. 20 last, Mrs. Mary Cone Oldrin, of South Somerville, yesterday had papers served on Mrs. Beatrice Madeleine van der Perren, of South Somerville in a suit to recover $25,000 for the alleged alienation of her husband's affection.

Mrs. van der Perren, who is a widow with three adult children, lives on a farm she owns, and is the principal owner of Howard & Company, gold refiners, at 10 John street, New York, which business her father, the late Stephen P. Howard, established in 1887.

Oldrin, who is said to have an interest in the business, being actively engaged in the management of it, is a member of the van der Perren household, it is alleged.

According to Mrs. Oldrin's charges her husband's affection for her seemed to wane two years before he left her, and seeking to learn the cause she played the part of a sleuth and discovered, she alleges, that he frequently accompanied Mrs. van der Perren from 10 John street, to her home at 116 Pacific street, Brooklyn.

One night she further alleges Oldrin detected his wife in the act of following him and the Widow van der Perren, and this circumstance, Mrs. Oldrin says, led to an absolute break, her husband shortly after abandoning her and his two children, Arline Luella, then eight, and Alfred Edwin, six years old, to make his home with Mrs. van der Perren.

Eight months before this Oldrin gave up his position as head bookkeeper for the T. H. Wheeler Company, a branch of the Hammond Beef Company, and entered the employ of S. P. Howard and Company, as the assaying concern was then called. The first and second Christmas after leaving his family, Mrs. Oldrin alleges, her husband sent the two children gifts but in the last three years he has never written to them, visited them or paid any attention to their birthdays.

Once a year in the first two years Mrs. Oldrin took the children to the Howard concern's office, "so he wouldn't forget he had children," she alleges, but each time her husband, abetted by Mrs. van der Perren and her son, she alleges, the oldest of her three children treated her with such contumely in the presence of the children that she never went again.

In July, 1908, being about to go to Christ Hospital, Jersey City, to undergo a serious operation, Mrs. Oldrin wrote to her husband telling him about the necessity of the proposed operation and her fears that she might not survive it. Her husband sent her a curt reply to the effect that he couldn't do anything for her, she says.

Mrs. Oldrin through John E. Helm and Mathew J. Ready, filed a petition for divorce against her husband early in November. She had it in mind then to bring an alienation suit, but refrained out of consideration for Mrs. van der Perren's daughter, Miss Marion Chandler van der Perren, who was preparing for her marriage to Benjamin LeRoy Bragg, Jr., of Springfield, Mass. The marriage took place Oct. 17.

The victim has a brother in Brooklyn, who has been notified and will come here to make arrangements for the funeral.

MILD WEATHER WORRIES ICEMEN

But Two Plants Here Will Be Able to Supply Local Demand Next Summer.

DAY CAPACITY 80 TONS

Not a Pound of Ice Has Been Harvested in the East This Winter—Dealers Discuss Situation and Say Supply for City is Big Enough.

Plainfield and vicinity is not facing the prospect of an ice famine during the coming summer, but there will be a shortage which is not at all pleasing to the local ice dealers nor the consumers either. In past winters, in many sections of the State the dealers have harvested by this time of the winter tens of thousands of tons of ice, but up to the present time not a single pound has been secured in this way.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company men say that its present supply of natural ice will last about a month. This was harvested last winter at Watchung. The company was compelled to expend about $5,000 to build a new dam at the Watchung Lake, and everything is in readiness for the freezing process.

Peter McDonough, of the company, in speaking of the situation today said that according to reports no ice has been harvested either in New Jersey, New York or as far north as Kennebec, Maine, which together with Lake Hopatcong and Pennsylvania are the principal sources of supply for this section. Some six inch ice has been harvested in Pennsylvania, but it breaks very easy, it is reported.

However, with such adverse conditions, Plainfield may not fare so bad after all. There are two ice plants here, the Crystal and the Hygiene, the latter located on North avenue, and the other on West Third street, with a total capacity of between seventy-five and eighty tons a day and if the worst comes these plants can be depended upon to give local consumers sufficient ice to carry them through warm weather. But this brings up the question of price which is sure to be higher than at present. Last summer and at present ice is retailed for forty-five cents a hundred, but if a manufactured supply must be depended upon, the price will surely take a jump. The Crystal Ice Company does not retail ice, selling its entire output to the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company.

Mr. McDonough says that one plant might be able to produce within three of four tons of what would be needed. This would make it compulsory to start up the other plant to manufacture the extra ice needed. The expense of running the plant would be just as great for making four tons as the total capacity of between forty and fifty tons. These things have to be taken into consideration, says Mr. McDonough, and it very naturally would not be possible to retail ice at the present price.

At Lake Hopatcong it is the same story. Brady Brothers are said to have on hand about 50,000 tons of last year's crop, and they are selling some of this to the Dover dealers by the carload lot. It is estimated that last year's crop at the lake amounted to 150,000 tons. Already in Dover, the wholesale price has been increased 10 cents per 100 pounds.

Budd Lake is still clear of ice, and the Waterloo Ice Company has not a pound that is not left over from last year. Budd Lake is of cold, pure water, and it is usually frozen over seevral days before Waterloo and Musconetcong lakes are, but thus far this year no ice crop has been yielded by any of them.

The one optimist among the ice men is J. A. Cary, superintendent of the Mountain Ice Company, of Lake Hopatcong, who says that six years ago the lake was free of ice January 11, but by February 6 a good crop was being harvested.

FROM POLICE BLOTTER.

William Layton, colored, 40 years old, of 144 East Second street, arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning on a serious charge preferred by James Babbitt, also colored, of Somerset street, father of fourteen-year-old Edith Babbitt, entered a plea of not guilty. On the motion of Samuel S. Swackhamer, who represented the defendant, the case will be postponed until Saturday, when further testimony will be presented.

Graham, of the First Presbyterian church, Rahway; 8:15-8:45, address, "The Citizen and the State," S. S. Swackhamer, of Plainfield; 8:45-9, presentation of resolutions; 9-9:30, address, "The Outlook for Equal Suffrage in New Jersey," Mrs. E. F. THIS YEAR LENTEN SEASON BEGINS EARLY

Ash-Wednesday to Be Observed on Feb. 5 and Easter Falls on March 23.

With Ash Wednesday coming the week after next, Lent this year will be rather a winter than a spring season observance. Not until 2008, or ninety-five years hence, will Easter fall so early as March 23. It is fifty-seven years since Easter, in 1856, fell on that date, Lent then beginning on February 6. In 1845 Easter again came on March 23, Ash Wednesday falling on February 5. This was, however, exceeded by the year 1818, when Easter fell on March 22 and Ash Wednesday on February 4, the earliest dates on which they can happen.

In the Roman Catholic and eastern churches abstinence from animal food is required, except in case of sickness or with those engaged in arduous toil, for whom the Episcopal letters at this season generally specify the detail usages of the church. Among Episcopalians Lent is made a season for self denial and special devotion. During this season weddings, dances and other festive events are avoided.

In one way or another from the monastery rectory where greater strictness in plain living and high thinking is enjoined as the abbot from his pulpit reads to the brethren some edifying treatise, as they partake of their light repast, to the busy city man who find a half hour to attend a short service in church, various classes are more or less touched by the religious spirit of the season.

The world of material business will also be affected. The fish markets will be at their busiest and this means salmon by the ton coming in carloads fresh from the water. It means keeping busy the fishermen, and in every way makes an immense demand upon these and kindred sources of supply.

MISS ANNA SHIRLEY.

Miss Anna F. Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shirley, of 330 Manson place, died yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness. She was eighteen years of age. Besides her father and mother, she is survived by one sister, Mrs. Williams, and two brothers, Joseph Shirley and Henry Shirley, Jr., all residing in this city. The funeral service will be held at her late home Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where a high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

AMZI DODD DEAD.

WATER CASE GOES TO HIGHER COURT

Eight Reasons Assigned by Municipality for Appealing Decision of Court.

WATER CO. DEFENDANT

Claim Made That Concern Has no Right to Supply Water to Other Municipalities—Other Exceptions Taken.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—The City of Plainfield has filed in the Supreme Court an appeal carrying to the Court of Errors the recent decision against it in the suit brought by the Plainfield-Union Water Company. The Supreme Court vacated the proceedings brought up for review by the writ of certiorari in the suit, while the city claims the proceeding should have been in its favor. The grounds of the appeal are as follows:

1. The rights of the municipalities who are not parties to the condemnation proceedings, viz.: North Plainfield, Garwood, Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Cranford, and the town of Westfield, are in no way affected by the condemnation proceeding.

2. Any rights acquired by said municipalities by virtue of contracts with the plaintiff, do not in any way affect the right of the defendant to condemn the property of the plaintiff.

3. Any public duty resting upon the plaintiff to supply water to municipalities with whom it has contracted, does not affect the right of the city of Plainfield to condemn.

4. The plaintiff Water Company has no right to supply water to any municipalities except Plainfield and the township adjoining Plainfield in 1869.

5. The act of April 21st, 1876, (C. S. 823), is authority for the condemnation of the Water Company's plant in part as well as in whole.

6. The defendant, City of Plainfield, has the right to condemn the property of the plaintiff.

7. The plaintiff Water Company can acquire no additional rights because, on the eve of the institution of condemnation proceedings, it entered into contracts with the municipalities above referred to.

8. In the Supreme Court, judgment was erroneously awarded in favor of the plaintiff and the proceedings brought up by the writ of certiorari were vacated and set aside; whereas judgment in said court should have been entered in favor of the defendant, dismissing the writ and sustaining the proceedings.

WATER COMMITTEES REVIEWS ITS WORK

The special water committee from the Common Council held its first meeting of the year last night when the chairman, F. E. Mygatt, reviewed for the benefit of the new members, the work of the committee from its inception, giving them a clear and concise idea as to what has been done, the present status of the matter and what is proposed. The latest move, the decision of the Council to take the question up to the Court of Errors and Appeals from the last decision of the Supreme Court, was also explained.

There was no action that the committee could take last night, and the whole meeting was devoted to a review of what has already been accomplished thus familiarizing the members with the situation up to the present time.

The past two months have raised havoc with the roads of this community, especially Springfield, which has been torn up into ruts because of the soft condition and because of the withdrawal by the County Board of Freeholders of the man who was employed to take general care of the road from West Summit to Townley's Bridge. Freeholder Jones reports that the reason that the man's services were discontinued was due to the fact that the appropriation for that purpose had been used up. The mixup in freeholders will delay the resumption of the work indefinitely.

Eight new members have been enrolled in the senior gymnasium class during the past week.

The supply lockers for the Boys' and Senior classes have been entirely exhausted. The lack of accommodations is being felt more and more each day.

Physical Director E. C. Ostlin, of the association, started to clean house this morning on the old fashioned wooden lockers. A dozen of the lockers were made into firewood in the cleaning process.

The Physical Department is expecting two dozen new steel lockers to arrive within a few days.

The locker-rooms of both the Senior and Boys departments have become to small for the number of men and boys registered. To do away with this condition Mr. Ostlin has found it necessary to partition off part of the Business Men's room.

The floor space of the gymnasium has become too small for the assembling of entire classes, and it is thought that the physical department will find it necessary to divide the classes. If this step is taken a number of the men will doubtlessly leave the association, so the only thing that the board of directors can be advised to do is to build a new building.

The Senior gymnasium class picture will be taken next Tuesday night. It is hoped that all the members of the class will be able to attend for the picture if not for the class work.

In the Color League, of the Senior class, the Orange team leads in the new membership campaign. The Greens are running a close second with the Reds following up close, but the Whites are at the bottom of the heap.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco will deliver a short lecture on Sexology before the Senior gymnasium class tonight. The lecture will be given in the parlors of the association building.

Owing to the fact that the Tumbling team is booked to go to Scotch Plains Tuesday night to give an exhibition the taking of the Senior gymnasium class picture will be postponed until next Thursday night, at which time it is hoped that every member will be present.

RELIABILITY.

"Style," wrote Benjamin Franklin to his good friend, John Adams, "wears out more apparel than the man."

Men can move mountains, make huge iron horses travel with hair-raising speed; invent strange birds to carry them thru the air, but—

When Style dictates they must obey.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

It is generally conceded that "Broadway Jones" is the best piece of comedy writing so far contributed to the American stage by George M. Cohan, and that Mr. Cohan's success in the title role is greater and more substantial than any of the many characters he has created. "Broadway Jones" is a great big wholesome American play that appeals to American people because of the human interest it arouses and the genuine American types it visualizes.

Consistently funny and presented by a company of players whose individual and collective work evidences a desire to extract the full value of every line and situation in the play, "Stop Thief" at the Gaiety theatre is proving the greatest laughing bonanza offered to New York amusement seekers in many moons. "Stop Thief" is not a human document, neither is it an attempt on the part of the author to uplift the stage; it is just a farce filled with funny lines and uproariously humorous situations presented for laughing purposes only and that it is fulfilling its mission is convincingly demonstrated by each succeeding audience that fairly laughs itself into hysterics at the thief in the play, who, though the guest at a rich man's home on the day his favorite daughter is going to be married and the house is full of valuable presents, isn't able to steal a solitary thing. "Stop Thief" is a funny play. It will keep you laughing and guessing for two hours and a half.

Edward J. Bowes and Detective William J. Burns signed contracts yesterday whereby the latter will collaborate with a well-known author in the writing of a new play which Mr. Bowes will produce in New York next season. It is not announced whether or not the play is for the use of Miss Margaret Illington after this actress has completed her tour in "Kindling," or for another prominent star with whom Mr. Bowes is now negotiating for her transfer to his management for a number of years.

U. S. SENATE TO SEE MANY NEW MEMBERS

And so Will the House at Extra Session to Be Called by President-elect.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—The special session which is expected to begin soon after the inauguration of President Wilson will be an altogether new Congress, the Sixty-third, of whose members 184, 23 senators and 161 representatives, will be new to their places. The unusually large number of new representatives is the result partly of the reappointment which created many new congressional districts. But the political overturn is responsible almost wholly for the great change in the personnel of the senate.

The new senators will take the place of others, many of them long and widely known. Such, for example, are Senators Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas; Shelby M. Cullom, of Illinois; W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts; Joseph M. Dixon, of Montana; Frank O. Briggs, of New Jersey; Morris Brown, of Nebraska; Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon and Murphy J. Foster, of Louisiana.

The fact that an unusually large number of the States are sending to the senate men well qualified for the place by reason of their previous legislative experience in the lower house of Congress is a subject of much favorable comment in Washington just now. A review of the list shows that a majority of the new men who will sit in the senate after March 4 have already served as representatives.

The toga of Senator Bailey, of Texas, now worn temporarily by Col. R. M. Johnston, an appointee of the governor, will after March 4 fall upon the shoulders of Morris Sheppard, who has been a representative in Congress the past ten years and has been looked upon as one of the Bryanite leaders in that body.

Another prominent member of the lower house who will be seen in the senate is John W. Weeks, who has been named to succeed Senator Crane, of Massachusetts. Mr. Weeks, though a comparatively young man, has represented the Twelfth Massachusetts district since 1905. He is regarded as one of the best informed members of the house on military and naval matters.

Senator Foster, of Louisiana, will be succeeded by Joseph E. Ransdell, who has nearly fifteen years' service in the house to his credit. Mr. Randell is widely known as a leader of the movement for improved waterways. Since 1907 he has been president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

Edwin C. Burleigh, who has been selected by the Maine legislature to succeed Senator Gardner, has had much legislative experience, though he is not now a member of Congress. After fifteen years in the house he fell a victim to the Democratic landslide in Maine two years ago.

Ollie M. James, who is to succeed Senator Paynter, of Kentucky, has had ten years' experience in the lower house. Mr. James first became acquainted with the business of lawmaking at a very early age, when he served as a page in the Kentuckey legislature.

Senator Norris Brown, of Nebraska, will be succeeded by George W. Norris, who for ten years has represented the Fifth Nebraska district in Congress. The new senator gained prominence as one of the original Republican "insurgents" in the house.

Another representative who will be seen in the senate after March 4 is William Hughes, the Democratic choice for the seat of Senator Briggs, of New Jersey. Mr. Hughes has served four terms as the representative of the Sixth New Jersey district.

Several of the States have not yet selected their senators. When the elections are complete it is possible that one or more additions will be made to the foregoing list of present representatives in Congress who will be seen in the senate when the extra session convenes a few weeks hence to take up the work of tariff revision.

WITTPENN'S FORCES HAVE BECOME ACTIVE

Wilson Men Are Working to Get Jersey City Mayor Gubernatorial Nomination.

Trenton, Jan. 23.—Several little conferences of State Democratic leaders at the State House this week have shown that the Wilson men around the State are getting in line to support Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, for the Governorship next fall. In South Jersey things are looking up for the Jersey City Mayor, notwithstanding that former Judge Westcott and Sheriff Joseph E. Nowrey, of Camden, may seek the nomination.

Colonel Thomas H. Birch, of Burlington county, just appointed as personal aide on Governor Wilson's military staff, is actively at work in the interest of Mayor Wittpenn. State Fish and Game Commissioner William A. Faunce, of Atlantic, has aligned himself in the Wittpen ranks and is at work in his county for the Mayor. State Chairman Grosscup, of Gloucester, is campaigning there for Wittpen.

In Middlesex county Congressman Thomas J. Scully and Surrogate Bernard M. Cannon are with Wittpenn, as are former Judge Willard W. Cutler, former Assemblyman Eugene S. Burke, General Edward P. Meany, and others, of Morris county. In Monmouth county Secretary of State David S. Crater and other county leaders have signified that they are for Wittpenn.

General Dennis F. Collins, of Union county, treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, is throwing his influence to the Jersey City Mayor.

In Northern New Jersey the Wittpenn forces are at work, too. United States Senator-to-be Wm. Hughes, of Paterson, is supporting Wittpenn, and the Mayor's friends claim they have the support of other North Jersey party leaders.

TRINITY BIBLE SCHOOL ENROLLMENT NEAR 1,200

Interesting reports were presented at the annual meeting of the Bible school of Trinity Reformed church, last night. Superintendent F. E. Smith presided. These reports showed the school to be in the best condition in its history with a steadily increasing membership. Chauncey F. Colthar, secretary of the school, in his report gave some interesting statistics.

The total enrollment of all departments is 1,151, a gain of 96 over last year. The previous year's gain was only 14. In October at the graduation exercises eighteen members of the school were promoted from the beginners to the primary department, twenty from the primary to the junior department, and thirty-three from the junior to the intermediate department. The average attendance for the year was 365, the highest in the history of the school. In 1911 it was 364. The largest attendance on any one Sunday was 533 on rally day. On twenty Sundays during the year there was an attendance of over 400, and there were only ten Sundays when the attendance was below 300.

The record of classes having perfect attendance for any number of Sundays was as follows: Mrs. L. S. Smith, fourteen Sundays; F. M. Smith, ten Sundays; Miss Minnie Berg and William R. Kring, each five Sundays; A. W. Dunavan, four Sundays. The school has 71 officers and teachers.

The report of Charles M. Dolliver, treasurer, showed the total receipts for the year to be $1,980.78, and the total disbursements, $1,795.09, leaving a balance of $185.69, of which $22.88 belongs to the library fund. During the year $215 was expended for new books, and $13.60 was the amount of the Christmas offering for Muhlenberg Hospital.

The report of the excursion committee showed that all expenses were met and there was a small balance. The revised constitution was presented and signed by all the officers and teachers present.

Whitehouse.

There was a meeting last evening in the chapel of the Reformed church at Lebanon of the newly organized choral society, composed of members of the Sunday-school. The officers are: Conductor, David Rockefeller; assistant conductor, Mrs. William J. Lonsdale; president, Rev. William J. Lonsdale; vice president, Miss Lena Hoffman; secretary, Miss Florence Moffett; treasurer, Austin W. Shurts.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed church will be entertained Saturday afternoon at the parsonage by Mrs. William J. Lonsdale, wife of the pastor. Repairs are being made this week to the rear end of the parsonage by Elias Tiger, contractor. They consist of a new door, which has been cut in, and a small porch.

The prayer meeting of the Reformed church at Pottersville was held last evening at the home of Mr. David Sowers.

Special evangelistic services are being held each night this week in the Methodist church in East Whitehouse by the pastor, assisted by ministers from neighboring churches. Rev. Dr. John T. Scott, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Lamington, preached Tuesday night.

Graham Brotherson returned Tuesday to his home in Newark, after a visit to Mrs. Catharine E. Johnson, at the Willowhurst, East Whitehouse.

At the services in the Reformed church at Whitehouse Station next Sunday evening the children's choir will sing under the direction of Miss Lydia Allen, of High Bridge, who is now the leader of the organization. The prayer meeting of the church was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Jacob L. Hendershot, at Whitehouse Station.

Assessor William T. Hoffman, of Whitehouse Station, is reported to be very ill at his home with grip.

C. H. Trump, superintendent, on the farm of William Ransom, near Whitehouse Station, has recovered the horse which was supposed to have been stolen from the sheds at Whitehouse Station on Saturday. It was found near the railroad tracks at the county line and had evidently been driven there by some miscreants, who boarded the train after robbing the furriery of George Hockenbury, near Readington.

Rev. Dr. John T. Scott, of Lamington, and William Craig, of New Germantown, attended the meeting of the presbytery of Elizabeth in Westminster church, Elizabeth, Tuesday.

The funeral of Charles S. Haver, twenty-six years old, who died Monday at the home of his mother, Mrs. William Haver, in Round Valley, was held yesterday afternoon in the Reformed church at Lebanon. WHAT'S A TRUST?

Law text books define a "trust" but in much more general terms than the comprehensive definition given by Woodrow Wilson. The Governor's idea of what a monopoly is may be found in the first of the bills drawn up and introduced in the Senate at his behest, and here we have it:

"A trust is a combination or agreement between corporations, firms or persons, any two or more of them, for the following purposes, and such trust is hereby declared to be illegal and indictable:

"1. To create or carry out restrictions in trade or to acquire a monopoly, either in intra-State or inter-State business or commerce.

"2. To limit or reduce the production or increase the price of merchandise or of any commodity.

"3. To prevent competition in manufacturing, making, transporting, selling, and purchasing of merchandising, produce, or any commodity.

"4. To fix at any standard or figure, whereby its price to the public or consumer shall in any manner be controlled, any article or commodity of merchandise, produce or commodity of merchandise, produce or commerce intended for sale, use, or consumption in this State or elsewhere.

"5. To make any agreement by which they directly or indirectly preclude a free and unrestricted competition among themselves, or any purchasers or consumers, in the sale or transportation of any article or commodity, either by pooling, withholding from the market, or selling at a fixed price, or in any other manner by which the price might be affected.

"6. To make any secret oral agreement or arrive at any understanding without express agreement, by which they directly or indirectly preclude to a free and unrestricted competition among themselves, or any purchasers or consumers, in the sale or transportation of any article or commodity, either by pooling, withholding from the market, or in any other manner by which the price might be affected.

THE HEBREW RACE.

In paying a tribute to the race, President Taft the other day displayed a remarkable knowledge of the character of the Hebrew. In analyzing his character Mr. Taft emphasized his many virtues.

"The present race of Jews in the United States," said the President, "is the flower and bloom of a much older and sadder race, and this is due to the fact that they have had the opportunity wtihout restraint and under the canopy of freedom to show forth to best advantage their desires for development and progress and make of themselves the greatest race in the world.

"The charity of the Jews has been astounding. A study of the race brings to one a profound admiration. It is against obstacles and where one has to meet injustice and abuse that character is developed. The characteristics of patience, persistence and tolerance and a brotherhood among yourselves that extend toward the whole world at large are the qualities that have made the Jews so important to the American nation.

"What do we get from the Jews? A love of liberty and a love of the guarantee of the rights of equality. We may well take lessons from the Jews, who have felt the injustice in other countries and know the difficulties of preserving these rights which we as Americans enjoy."

MOSQUITO WORK.

Much good has been accomplished by the Union County Mosquito Commission's campaign, but should bills in the Legislature be passed all the work will count for naught. In the Senate and House are measures providing for the abolishment of the county commissions and they are prompted by the fact that in some counties no advantage has been taken of the act creating the commissions. But must Union and some other progressive counties be made to suffer because of the dereliction of others? The people generally in this county are quite well satisfied with the results thus far obtained and would wish to have the campaign continued along the lines mapped out by the commissioners. To stop the crusade now would mean that all the money that has thus far been spent would be wasted.

Governor Wilson is conferring with Progressive leaders today and has already had some private talks with Republican leaders. Wilson has a habit of doing the unusual thing and winning public plaudits, and it would not be so very strange to see him appoint to a Cabinet position a representative of each of the defeated parties.

The contributed editorials published on Saturdays are always of a high standard, for it the constant aim to enlist as contributors representative residents of marked ability. The editorial for next Saturday will prove particularly interesting as it will be written by a man who has long been in touch with public affairs.

The notorious Governor Cole Blease aspires to follow in the footsteps of Senator Benjamin Tillman and go from the Gubernatorial chair to a United States Senate seat. He's a disgrace to his State and should not be permitted to be one to the United States.

INVESTIGATE CAUSE OF A MAN'S DEATH

Union Co. Authorities Puzzled Over Fate of Grisci, Who Was Found on Tracks.

Elizabeth, Jan. 23.—Detectives from the office of Prosecutor C. Addison Swift were detailed late yesterday afternoon to investigate the death of Falatino Grisci, who was found unconscious along the tracks of the Central Railroad near Linden, and who died in the General Hospital, this city. It was at first believed that the man had been struck by a train. Later it was learned that he was supposed to have had a large sum in his pockets. No money was found in his clothing when searched at the hospital.

County Physician Dolan, who was appointed by the small Board of Freeholders, considered the case suspicious and yesterday halted the funeral in order to make a more thorough examination of the body. The body is now at the morgue. It is said that the man's skull is fractured. An autopsy will be performed today to determine if the fracture was caused by the locomotive or was inflicted by a weapon.

This, taken together with the fact that a roommate of the dead man identified the body and told the story of the missing money, leads the officials to the belief that there may have been foul play. The nature of the injuries the man received strengthens this belief, it is said.

A search is being made by the police of this city and those of Linden for the roommate of Grisci's, who, it is said, disappeared immediately after identifying the body. Prosecutor Swift said last night that he will have a report from his detective in the morning. Until then, he said, he would not make a statement.

Man of Mystery In Finance Comes Before Public Eye

If the Pujo congressional probe of the reputed money trust brings no other result, at least one thing is surely accomplished by it—the probe has disclosed the identity of a hidden money giant to the general public. George F. Baker, who is proved to be coruler with J. Pierpont Morgan of the big financial enterprises of the country, is the newly discovered potentate.

Mr. Baker was called as witness before the investigating committee, and his testimony was looked upon as even more significant than that of Morgan, who had preceded him.

He startled the country with two or three statements of facts which tend to show the existence of a trust on money. He admitted that the power of controlling wealth was concentrated in a few hands and expressed his belief that any further concentration of the power would be bad. If the power got into unscrupulous hands, he said, the welfare of the country would be seriously endangered.

There still are many men in Wall street who remember George F. Baker when he was a clerk in the great bank that he now practically owns. Now he is not only the head of one of the biggest financial institutions in the United States, but also one of the four richest men in America.

Not the least amazing thing about this extraordinary career is that he has been able to climb so high without attracting any especial attention or making any noise about it. He is a man of silence. Next to Morgan he is the greatest figure in Wall street. Few persons among the general public know his real power. He is one of the biggest figures in the coal fields and in banking. In the fields of transportation, insurance, rubber and innumerable other great industries he is a commanding force.

GEORGE F. BAKER, MULTIMILLIONAIRE.

Quietly, silently, unobtrusively, he has gone ahead year after year with never a backward step. He has trampled on no one. He has made no enemies, aroused no antagonisms. His name has appeared rarely in the newspapers. Nobody hears of Baker buying any stock, but when one comes to look over the list of the owners of the great properties of America one finds his name, like Abou ben Adhem's, leading all the rest.

Those who know George F. Baker and have a fair idea of the power he wields do not hesitate to say that he is an "irresistible force" and the most silent man among all the great millionaires. Now and then, some one sees him on the street "engaged in conversation" with some one. That means that the other man is doing all the talking and, Baker the listening. A visitor spent six weeks at his country place in Tuxedo one summer and never heard him utter a word in all that time. A nod or a gesture was his usual expression of greeting or of gratification.

He was born seventy-two years ago last March in Troy, N. Y. Because he is sparing of his words most people regard him as cold, but those who know him intimately say that at heart he is a man of warm and generous nature. His father was George E. Baker, who for many years was Washington correspondent for the New York Tribune. George E. Baker died in 1886, leaving two children, George F. and Mrs. Grant B. Schley, whose husband is a prominent Wall street broker. George F. Baker has two children also—a son, named after his father, and a daughter, Mrs. W. Goadby Loew. Although Mrs. Loew is known by her family as "Queenie," as she appears in public she seems to have inherited her father's severe poise. George Baker, Jr., is a pleasant young man, who is a good all around athlete. A summer or so ago he saved a man from drowning on the Jersey coast, risking his own life to do it.

George F. Baker lives in an inconspicuous house in Madison avenue. His country home at Tuxedo is also unobtrusive. Neither place would attract attention by its external appearance, though each is costly and comfortable.

JUSTICE AND JOLLITY.

They Mixed Punishment and Merriment In the Good Old Days.

The milkman who waters his milk and the grocer who adulterates his butter are not, after all, the products of our modern civilization. These men, it appears, have an ancestry of a respectable antiquity. Witness an edict which an antiquary has discovered in the archives of Puy-de-Dome:

"Whosoever shall have sold watered milk, in his mouth shall be set a tube, and into the side tube shall be poured the watered milk till the doctor or barber there present shall assert that the culprit cannot swallow more without being put in danger of his days. Whosoever shall have sold butter containing turnips, stones or any other foreign substance shall be seized and attached in a very curious manner to our pillory of Pontet.

"Then the said butter shall be placed on his head till the sun shall have melted it completely, and in the meantime the children and meaner folk of the villages shall insult him with such outrageous epithets as shall please them, subject to the respect of God and his majesty.

"Whosoever shall have sold evil or rotten eggs shall be seized by the body and exposed in our pillory of Pontet. The said eggs shall be given to the children of the villages, who shall by way of joyful diversion throw them in the face of the culprit, so that all may be full of merriment and laughter."

Justice had a humorous way with it in those good old days.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

A Kindness to the Fish.

Ethel, who was ten years old, was studying her geographical reader and learned that fish are placed in brine before they are dried and prepared for sale. After explaining that brine is very strong salt water the teacher asked why the fish were placed in it. Ethel's face was illumined with sudden understanding, and she promptly replied:

"Because they are used to salt water."—Youth's Companion.

Economizing.

"I think I saw your little boy chewing tobacco as I came in the gate."

"Yes: that was Johnny."

"Mercy! Do you permit him to chew?"

"Well, you see, that was an almost new plug of tobacco his father left when he died, an' it seemed a sin to waste it."—Houston Post.

A Nice Lovable Girl.

REBELS ARE QUIETER.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Notwithstanding the fact that American warships are rushing to patrol duty on Mexican ports, advices to the State Department from the Interior and Southern Mexico today indicate that the rebels are weakening and there are signs of pacification.

IN DISTRICT COURT.

Three contested cases were disposed of this morning before Judge Hetfield in the District Court. Harry Samuels & Bros. Company, of Jersey City, was awarded $150 and costs in a suit against Caroline and Lucy C. McVey for the payment of a note on a contract completed by the plaintiffs. In the suit of Thomas Stonewall Jackson against I. L. Tingley on a note, judgment for $100 was given. Jackson claimed to have sold Tingley a horse for which the latter presented a note. On Tingley's refusal to pay suit was brought against him. Judgment was given in favor of Louis Van Ness in his suit against Martin J. Galbraith for the payment of a note for $200.

C. E. MEETING IS POSTPONED.

Owing to illness, Rev. Robert W. Mark, of Woodbridge, will be unable to speak at the meeting arranged for tonight at Hope chapel under the auspices of the local Christian Endeavor Union, and the committee in charge has decided to postpone the meeting to some date to be announced in the near future.

INFORMER SIPP IS KEPT BUSY BY COURT PROCEEDINGS IN THE HUNT FOR GRAFT IN NEW YORK

HOWARD SIPP G.A. SIPP

New York, Jan. 23.—George A. Sipp, who formerly conducted a questionable hotel in this city and whose stories of payments for protection have resulted in several indictments, is kept busy with his appearances before the grand jury and the police court trial. Patrolman Fox, accused by Sipp, is on trial, and the case has been continued until January 24 because Sipp was called before the grand jury to testify against attorneys he accuses of trying to bribe him to leave New York. Howard Sipp, his son, has corroborated Sipp's testimony in many respects.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

CORNBREAD RECIPES.

CORNBREAD, one of the most useful quick breads of which the housewife can avail herself for winter breakfasts, may be made in a variety of ways. Cornmeal is a cereal that contains a large proportion of fats and is therefore more heating than wheat.

Eggs add to the richness and the nourishing qualities of these hot breads and where it is convenient to do so should be used liberally in making them.

Care of the Pans.

Be sure to grease the pans well before the cornbread batter is poured into them. One of the tragedies of the kitchen is a cornbread that insists on sticking to the pan.

Soufflé Cornbread.—Take a cup of hot milk and stir into it half a cupful of yellow cornmeal and cook until it is a thick mush. Remove from the stove, add a scant teaspoonful of salt and the yolks of four eggs. Beat well, then fold in gently four stiffly beaten whites. Place in a greased baking dish, set in a pan of boiling water and bake in a moderate oven thirty-five minutes.

Steamed Cornbread.—Take a pint of cornmeal and mix it with a scant cupful of flour, a little salt and a teaspoonful of soda. Add to this a cupful of granulated cornmeal and three cupfuls of flour. Dissolve a yeast cake in water, add the remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Let rise, shape, let rise again and bake as entire wheat bread.

In Odd Forms.

Dish Cornbread.—Take a quarter of a cupful of cornmeal and stir it into a cupful of boiling water and steam twenty minutes. Add half a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of butter, a third of a cupful of milk, a well beaten egg and two-thirds of a cupful of cornmeal sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake twenty minutes in a buttered baking dish and serve from the dish in which it was cooked.

Loaf Cornbread.—Take a cupful of cornmeal and a cupful of sifted flour, half a cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; sift all together and mix well. Beat one egg light, add a cupful of milk, pour into the dry mixture and beat well. Then stir in quickly a third of a cupful of melted butter. Bake in a loaf pan in a quick oven about twenty minutes.

SPRING STYLES.

Tulle Neckwear a Favorite of the Season.

Tulle is used for making attractive collars and jabots that add much to an otherwise plain gown.

Smart women are clinging persistently to the short skirt, although quite a number of clinging trained skirts appear bordered with fur.

The waist that is slightly draped at the front is a new and effective one, smart for many different uses. Here

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

THE MYSTERIES.

Once on my mother's breast, a child I crept,
Holding my breath;
There, safe and sad, lay shuddering, and wept
At the dark mystery of death.

Weary and weak and worn with all unrest,
Spent with the strife—
O mother, let me weep upon thy breast
At the sad mystery of life!
—WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS.

"What children need to be taught today is reverence and a respect for authority," said Superintendent Maxwell, of New York, in an address given in Philadelphia before the Association of College and Preparatory Schools.

Just where have mothers erred that such a statement can be made? In trying to be companions to our children, in trying to keep their confidence, have we forgotten the Fourth Commandment which from the child's point of view means honor for authority, while later in life authority means God?

Reverence cannot be taught by knowledge of sex hygiene. The medical students have such knowledge but it has not made them reverent nor moral as a class. We have no real knowledge of death; but we have succeeded in teaching reverence for it. The awe of life is akin to the awe of death. Why smile knowingly at any thought which leads to the one? In teaching nature-study which leads to the coming of life, is the same reverent tone used as in teaching of death? Do we teach that life comes from God or that it just comes?

"The mother in her office holds the key of the soul; 'tis she who stamps the coin of character, and makes the being, who would be a savage but for her gentle cares, a Christian man.—(Mother's Day Book).

It is reported that during December there were 338 schools in the United States used as social centres and that in 101 they were directed by paid workers.

Miss Kirhue Beveridge, the American sculptor, whose studio is in Munich, has just finished the model for a memorial tablet and bust to be erected at the University of Manila in honor of the late Dr. Freer. The background is in stone, on which are relief figures in bronze. These figures represent "Science Aiding Humanity and Future Generations." Science is symbolized by a woman holding out a healing draught to humanity, represented by a mother holding posterity, a sickly child, in her arms.

An agreement has been signed by the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union and the Dress and Waist Manufacturers' Association by which women's wear made under sanitary conditions at living wages, will be marked by a "white protocol label." Women will welcome the appearance of the label not merely for consideration of cleanliness and freedom from infection, but also from a conscientious objection to wearing garments which have been achieved by the shameful grinding of workers.

DIEHL MFG. CO. BUYS LAND FOR FACTORY SITE

The Diehl Manufacturing Company, of which Burnett C. Kenyon, of West Seventh street, this city, is the president, which has been in existence since 1887, then known as Diehl & Company, has taken title to 12½ acres of property fronting on Newark avenue, Elizabethport. The frontage on Newark avenue measures 832 feet with a depth of 630 feet to the Pennsylvania Railroad. In the spring factory No. 2 will be built on the premises.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

Oscar P. Pearson, of 241 Leland avenue, was given a surprise party at his home, Tuesday night, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mr. Pearson. The affair was arranged by his sister, Miss Edith Pearson. Music, dancing and a supper at midnight combined to afford a pleasant time for the fifty or more relatives and friends present.

MANUEL QUEZON, DELEGATE FROM THE PHILIPPINES, WILL DISCUSS THE ISLANDS WITH MR. WILSON

MANUEL L. QUEZON

Washington, Jan. 23.—Manuel Quezon, Filipino delegate to Congress, is an ardent advocate of independence for the Philippines. He has arranged for a meeting with President-elect Wilson some time soon and will at that time give to the next executive his ideas concerning the future of the islands. Mr. Quezon is thirty-five years old and belongs to the Nationalist party. He served during the revolution as a member of Aguinaldo's staff. He is an attorney and served as prosecuting attorney under the American rule before being elected provincial governor of Tabayas, his native province.

ANGRY HUSBAND SHOOTS A MAN

F. W. Stuckle, Claiming This City as Home, Shoots Man at Hotel Wife Runs.

THEN HE SURRENDERS

Separated From His Wife Stuckle and Attacked Him at Montclair and Attacks Him at Montclair Hostelry.

Montclair, Jan. 23.—Samuel R. Aulsbach, who is said to own an intelligence office in New York, was probably mortally wounded last night at the Mountain House. Frederick W. Stuckle, formerly of Westchester, N. Y., but who lately has resided at Plainfield, is held for the shooting, which is said to have been due to Aulsbach's intimacy with Mrs. Stuckle. She is separated from her husband and runs the Mountain House, of which Aulsbach is the lessee.

Stuckle went to the Mountain House shortly before 9 o'clock. Mrs. Stuckle refused to allow him to enter, and when Stuckle saw Aulsbach leave by another door, it is alleged, that Stuckle fired four shots at him, one of which struck the hotel lessee in the throat. Thomas H. Burns, of New York, who had accompanied Aulsbach to Montclair, dashed to the aid of his companion, whereupon the angry husband fired a shot at him but without effect.

Stuckle made no attempt to escape, and he was locked up at headquarters. Aulsbach was removed to the Mountainside Hospital, where the bullet was removed from his neck. Stuckle told Chief of Police Gallagher that he went to the Mountain House to get certain papers from his wife, and that he shot Aulsbach when the latter attacked him.

No Frederick W. Stuckle is known in this city. According to the sergeant of police at headquarters in Montclair, the assailant gave Plainfield as his last place of residence but admitted that he claimed it because he had stopped for some days last month at a Plainfield hotel.

A BUM LIE IS WORSE THAN THE TRUTH

Philosophical Phelix Says:

"MAC" SAYS

Instructor Burnett Brodziak, of the Scotch Plains' Parish House, is organizing a bowling tournament to be held on the Parish House alleys. He is anxious to get into communication with those who follow the popular winter sport with an idea to getting their signatures for admission into the tournament.

A notice has been received from the National Turn Verein Society, of Newark, to the effect that the association will conduct an Amateur State Championship boxing tournament in the latter part of February. Those in charge of the affair want representation from every part of the State and desire to get a line on the material in this city. Further information regarding the tournament can be obtained through the sporting editor of this paper.

Somewhat of a record for foul shooting in girls' basketball was established by Miss Mildred McAuliffe, of the N. P. H. S. five, at Battin High School yesterday afternoon. The borough forward made seven of her team's nine points from the fifteen yard line.

Queries galore have come to light asking for information concerning the whereabouts of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax. The fact that the association players have not played a game in nearly two weeks, may have some effect on their game with Hope chapel Saturday night.

The Hope chapel-Ajax game has been carded for the Hope court and the Y. M. C. A. players will have to put up their best article of basketball in order to win from the speedy chapelites.

When it comes to caging goals, all the other goal shooters in this city will have to hand one to Tommy Heron, the Hope chapel forward. He has not finished a game this year without a fine array of the two point variety to his credit.

Somebody has asked who is going to referee the North Plainfield-Plainfield High School girls' game next Friday afternoon. Now, wouldn't you like to know?

Every day, some of the people who have been watching the real estate ads closely for sometime make up their minds—and buy!

Furnished rooms to rent advertising will restore that pocket-money income to you.

YANKEES TO USE THE POLO GROUNDS

New York National Club Makes Official Confirmation of the Report.

It was officially made public by John B. Foster, secretary of the New York National League Baseball Club, yesterday afternoon, that the Yankees will play all their home games during the coming season at the Polo Ground. The agreement whereby the Yankees are to have the use of the big stadium was signed by Frank Farrell, president of the New York Americans, and Harry N. Hempstead, head of the New York Nationals, in the latter's headquarters just prior to the announcement. The agreement is for one year only and is not to be continued.

The National League Club's offer of the Polo Ground lifted Mr. Farrell from a serious predicament, as the Yankees are now absolutely without a home. The lease on American League Park expired at the end of last season and a renewal was offered on terms which Mr. Farrell regarded as prohibitive. The Yankees' new park, at 225th street and Broadway, is still in its embryonic stage, as a good deal of filling in remains to be done before real work is begun. It is certain that the stadium will be ready for the opening of the 1914 campaign.

By the new arrangement there will be a big league game at the Polo Ground every day of the season except Sundays, beginning on April 10, when the Giants start the ball rolling with the Boston Braves. It is understood that the Giants are to have the use of the ground any time they desire it, even though it inconvenience the Yankees and necessitate the latter's playing double headers. Another stipulation is that the Yankees give up the field to the big varsity nines in case ties in the Yale-Harvard, Yale-Princeton and Princeton-Harvard series require play-offs in New York city.

A new club house will be built for the Yankees, and other American League teams playing here will use the regular visitors' club house. The announcement of the agreement had been expected for some time, but it could not be promulgated until the officials of both clubs examined the schedules of their respective leagues and saw that there were no conflicts of dates. No financial terms were announced.

While Mr. Hempstead, in his announcement, is emphatic in his statement that the agreement is not to extend beyond this year, there are many who regard the move as one that will ultimately lead to the Giants' and Yankees' using one field jointly. The movement is spreading all over the country where cities support two teams. It is understood that the Phillies will soon use Shibe Park with the Athletics', while in Boston the Braves are expected to reach an agreement whereby they will move to the Red Sox's home at Fenway Park. From a standpoint of sensible economy the movement is meeting with general approbation.

ATLANTIC WHIST TOURNEY.

New York, Jan. 23.—Whist players from many Eastern cities gathered at the rooms of the Knickerbocker Whist Club in this city today for the opening of the annual tournament of the Atlantic Whist Association. The three days' program does not contemplate much sightseeing for even the out-of-town members of the association. It calls for whist playing morning, afternoon and night. There will be three progressive events each day in addition to the usual contests for the Atlantic, Utica and Faber trophies.

Classified advertising will find a business backer for any good proposition.

PLAINFIELD HIGH BEAT WESTFIELD

Locals Play a One-sided Scoring Game and Send Opponents Home Defeated.

Putting up one of the greatest shooting games of the year, the Plainfield High School basketball team trounced the Westfield schoolboys to the tune of 56 to 30 in the local gym yesterday afternoon. Numerous opportunities offered the P. H. S. five to cage baskets were generally taken advantage of and the locals obtained a good lead at the jump-off. Westfield was slow on the defense but still slower in finding the goal, making only twelve field goals against their opponents' twenty-eight.

Individual scoring averages took a jump as far as Plainfield stock was concerned and particularly those of Johnny Heron and Bill Peacock, each of whom totaled up eight of the two-point variety. For Westfield, Ewing was about two-thirds of the team in every department of the game and took advantage of six attempts at goal shooting.

P. H. S. OPPONENTS HAVE AN UNBLEMISHED RECORD

The assertion made by Plainfield High School basketball players when they returned from Essex Fells in the early part of the season, to the effect that the Kingsley School had one of the greatest basketball teams ever turned out by a New Jersey High School appears to have some truth to it if season's records count for anything. In the Kingsley School's first game of the season Plainfield went down to defeat, 22 to 14; Westfield proved easy, 65 to 19; Summit High proved the hardest proposition, the final score being, Kingsley 35, Summit 23. The remainder of Kingsley's schedule is: January 25, Clifford A. C., at Essex Fells; January 29, Morristown School, at Essex Fells; February 1, Horace Mann School, at Essex Fells; February 5, Bloomfield High School, at Essex Fells; February 8, New Jersey Military Academy, at Essex Fells; February 12, Moristown High School, at Essex Fells; February 15, Hackley School, at Tarrytown; February 26, Randolph Academy, at Essex Fells; February 28, Montclair Academy, at Montclair; March 5, South Orange, at Essex Fells.

DOUBLE BASKETBALL BILL SCHEDULED FOR P. H. S.

Two games of basketball will be decided in the Plainfield High School gymnasium tomorrow afternoon, the first team meeting the five from Upsala College and the Sophomores will lineup against the Juniors in an interclass league game. The interclass game will be played as a preliminary and the main bill is carded for 4 o'clock.

CLOSE DEFEAT FOR N. P. H. S. MAIDENS

Aggressive Work of the Battin Players Tells the Tale in the Last Minute of Play.

Teamwork was worked to such an extent and advantage by the Battin High School girls' team yesterday afternoon in their game with the North Plainfield High School five, that the Borough basket tossers were completely bewildered and the result proved to be a count of 13 to 9 in favor of the Elizabeth aggregation. Although seven points to the bad at the finish, the N. P. H. S. five was in the running up to the last minute of play when two field goals in quick succession sewed up the game for the home players.

The slippery condition of the floor proved a great handicap to both teams, and the Battin five advocated the side centre idea with which the Boroughites were unacquainted. The reason for Battin's long string of successes on the basketball court this season plainly showed itself in yesterday's game, taking the form of some rapid passing and unusually quick and accurate shooting. The fact that they held the county seat representatives to a quartet of field goals is in itself a decided consolation to the losers, and had it not been for close guarding on the part of the visiting goal preventers, the score might have been even more one sided.

Miss Josephine Green, who has been heralded about the State as the best girl basket cager, had her reputation somewhat blighted by the skillful guarding of Miss Elsie Debele, who held the phenom to four scattered field goals. Miss Ella Nelson, the other Battin forward, was held scoreless by Captain Smith, of the N. P. H. S. quintet. As far as scoring was concerned, Miss Mildred McAuliffe took the upper hand for the visiting delegation, making seven of her team's nine points on penalty throws.

NONPAREIL GIRLS' TEAM PLAYS DUNELLEN TONIGHT

A good game of feminine basketball is scheduled to be played on the court at the Dunellen Presbyterian church tonight between the Dunellen girls and the Nonpareil five, of this city. Both teams have been leaders in their particular line of play all season and while the Nonpareils have yet to encounter their initial deverse the Dunellenites have not been defeated on their home court. This state of affairs makes the shattering of at least one record a certainty and other things may fly besides a basketball.

A few lines of To Let advertising will stop all anxiety about it!

HUNTING AND FISHING

Upward of 200 ducks were killed at Barnegat last Friday and Saturday. All along the bay the shooting was good and many wild geese are now feeding there.

The Wreck Lead boats are doing well with the codfish. Every day last week the captains reported fishing very good. While the codfish were not very plentiful, they run up to twenty-five pounds. Big pollock were also caught and several two-foot hake were taken.

Many ladies fished from the piers at Asbury Park Saturday night and quite a few of them were successful in landing whiting, ling and hake. The Asbury Park Fishing Club keeps open house all winter, and when the lady visitors get through looking at the many fine specimens of mounted fish on the walls they get the fever and want to fish.

A prediction has been made that weakfish will be biting on June. 1. This is fifteen days ahead of the usual season in our bays. At this rate they will come in to spawn about the last of April.

Some few years ago an attempt was made to legalize the killing of flickers, but it was defeated. Another such bill has been introduced, along with one curtailing the season on shore birds. The new bill would open the season on shore birds July 15 instead of May 1. The same introducer seeks to cut March and April out of the English snipe season.

Shall the hunting season open on December 15 instead of December 1? This question should interest every sportsman, and we advise them to put their answer on paper and forward it to any member of the Essex delegation at Trenton, as they are anxious to help the sportsmen in their efforts to keep good laws on the books.

Last year the Legislature passed a law prohibiting the hunting of wood duck until April 1, 1915. The act received the commendation of the many protection associations and was applauded by the National Audubon Society. Now someone wants it repeated. The Essex Fish and Game Protective Association will fight the repealer, but it looks as though it would never leave the Senate.

There has been a demand made for jury trials in game and fish cases, and a bill for that purpose has been introduced in the Legislature. As a rule, and with few exception, the violators are caught "with the goods," and, while an occasional case is fought, that proves such a trial was justified, still under the practises of the present commission everybody gets a square deal.

The guides along the Delaware River and bay are alive to their livelihood. The warm weather has hurt their purses, as the ducks are not coming in shore fast enough to suit. In order to be on the safe side, should we have a cold, late spring, they want the season on wild water fowl extended from March 1 to April 10. The present law coincides with the Pennsylvania law, and the dates were agreed upon by a commission appointed by the Governors of Pennsylvania and New Jersey two years ago. Senator Colgate, of Essex, was a member of that commission, and will probably remember the time and work given by him in helping to place the law on the books.

MISS CLARA EVELAND BECOMES MRS. LUDGATE

Miss Clara Louise Eveland, daughter of Mrs. John Eveland, of Manson place, and Charles Arnold Ludgate, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ludgate, of Evona avenue, were married at 8 o'clock last night at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Rev. C. H. Mallery, the rector, performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The bride wore a gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Eveland, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mothers. After a trip the couple will reside in the West End. Mr. Ludgate is employed at the plant of the International Motor Company and both he and his bride have been attendants at the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

JUST LIKE FAIRY TALE POOR WIDOW GETS MONEY

Bound Brook, Jan. 23.—Fairy stories will never seem improbable to Mrs. Jennie Walshe, a widow, 57 years old, who lives on a small farm near here. Sick and facing eviction, with what seemed a mountain of debts bearing her down, she was relieved of her troubles yesterday by a magic wand in the shape of a check for $200. The check was from Henry W. Gibbs, a farmer of Liberty, N. Y., of whom she had never heard, but who stated that he had borrowed $150 from her late husband fifteen years ago and that the $200 check was payment in full with interest.

Walshe had been his shipmate on the schooner Pyramid, the sender of the check explained, and had given him the money to get married. Just before she got the check Mrs. Walshe received a letter from William Wadsworth, her landlord, telling her that she would have to give up the little farm if five months' rent due on February 1 were not paid. The woman's other debts, including a doctor's bill for $42, amounted to $156. She will now be able to pay her rent and a good part of the outstanding bills.

FIRE AT BOUND BROOK.

Bound Brook, Jan. 23.—Fire which destroyed the pumping station and rendered useless the gas engine installed there, was discovered at the plant of the Bound Brook Water Company, yesterday. An alarm was given from box 26, and although the firemen responded quickly, most of the damage was done before the department arrived. The origin of the fire is not known. The greatest loss was to the engine as it was damaged beyond repair.

DISCUSSES PLANS FOR A CIVIC ORGANIZATION

Plans for the formation of a Central Civic Organization were discussed at an informal meeting held at the home of F. Otto Linke, on West Second street, last night. In response to invitations several persons attended the meeting and arrangements will be made for holding a public meeting soon. Mr. Linke states that there are about two hundred citizens residing in the central part of the town who have signified their intentions of becoming members of the new organization.

The purpose of the association is similar to that of the West End Civic Association and the East End Taxpayers' Association. Those who are responsible for the preliminary plans have felt that there is a need for a wide-awake civic body in the centre of the city, one that can take up the matter of improvements with the Common Council.

As a result of the loss the bank is closed and National Bank Examiner Fowler, of Philadelphia, is in charge of affairs at the institution this morning. The entire town and surrounding country is in a furore, but it is said that the depositors will not lose a cent.

Directors of the bank made public the fact yesterday that the closing of the institution was caused by the confession of Mr. Beavers, who is said to have told the directors in his confession that he had taken $150,000 worth of securities from the safe deposit vaults of the Coal and Iron National Bank, of New York, and had hypothecated them with C. I. Hudson and Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, for $75,000, which he had used as margins for speculations and had lost.

It has been the habit of the directors of the High Bridge Bank to look over the institution's affairs about three times a year. One of these examinations usually comes soon after the first of the year—in January or February.

Beavers knew of this custom and says that with his continued losses and his inability to restore the bonds which he had taken, the fear of discovery grew upon him daily. On Monday night he decided that there was no hope of getting back what he had lost and that discovery by the

EXPERTS EXPLAIN PROBATION WORK

Mrs. Caroline Alexander and John Gascoyne Tell of the Problems They Handle.

TO THE COLLEGE CLUB

Probation Officers of Essex and Hudson Counties Give Instructive Talks at the Home of Mrs. F. G. Mead.

Probation work in Hudson and Essex counties was discussed in an interesting manner by Mrs. Caroline Alexander, of Hoboken, and John Gascoyne, of Newark, at an open meeting of the College Club, of Plainfield, last night at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street. Both speakers talked of their work as probation officers in their respective counties, offering many suggestions.

In describing the probation court, Mrs. Alexander said that it aims to fill the gap between liberty and prison and to return a person to natural surroundings in order to develop character through home influence and honest work. She referred particularly of her work among women and girls in the probation court and gave as reasons for their condition, lack of proper amusements and home influence and general economic conditions.

Emphasizing the fact that the community at large is responsible for these things, Mrs. Alexander showed that preventive measures are the only radical cure. Proper places of amusement should be provided by the community and she strongly recommended the use of the public schools as meeting places for dances and other social gatherings. In this connection Miss Swartz told of the remrakable sucess that had been attained in Elizabeth through the opening of the schools in that city. They are opened two nights each week for clubs and Saturday evening for a dance.

Mr. Gascoyne told of gratifying results of the probation work in Essex county. Out of 4,000 cases detained by the court about 70 per cent. had proved satisfactory. As special help in the work among the children, Mr. Gascoyne spoke of the juvenile court and House of Detention which keep the boys and girls from meeting older associates.

WANTED FOR SHOOTING, CAPTURED IN CHICAGO

Joseph Tate, colored, of West Third street, who shot Mark Lovell, a servant in the household of R. A. Claybrook, of 403 West Seventh street, on Nov. 25 and made his escape, has been captured by the police of Chicago. Arrangements are being made by the Prosecutor's office to have the prisoner extradited. The charge against him is assault with intent to kill.

According to the story told by Lovell immediately after the shooting, Tate lay in wait for him on the evening of Nov. 25, and attempted to kill him as he ascended the rear stairs of the Claybrook home. Tate fired several shots, one of them lodging in Lovell's head near his left temple.

The attempt upon his life Lovell said was the result of ill feeling between himself and his assailant over the affections of Miss Virginia Booker, who is also employed by Mr. Claybrook.

CHANDOR ASKS FOR $150,000

Claims Relatives Entered into Conspiracy to Have Him Incarcerated.

HIS HEALTH INJURED

Harold Chandor, Had Jack Arrested As Insane and Magistrate Discharged Him—Suit in New York Supreme Court.

Jack F. Chandor, formerly of this city, who was arrested upon his arrival in New York from Denver, Col., on December 27 last, upon the complaint of his relatives to the effect that he was insane, yesterday started suit in the Supreme Court in New York against these relatives charging conspiracy and asking damages to the amount of $150,000. Chandor was released from custody by Magistrate McQuade in New York on December 30. The relatives failed to submit enough evidence to warrant the holding of the plaintiff for insanity.

In his complaint Chandor sues Adeline A. Dickinson Chandor, Alice Marie Chandor Dickinson, Harold Alvin Chandor and Reginald M. Chandor, all of whom formerly resided here.

He relates that they wrote to him while he was engaged in business in Denver, asking him to come to New York and from New York to go to London, where they have relatives and business interests. They would give him passage money after he was on board a steamship bound for London.

Chandor says he came to New York city and immediately was placed under arrest upon a warrant obtained by Harold A. Chandor, who is a broker, living at 241 West 102d street, New York.

Chandor then goes on to relate that he was deprived of his freedom, which resulted in loss of health, loss of his business reputation and prevented his entering into and closing deals that would have resulted in great profit to him.

CODINGTON EXPLAINS ADVANTAGES OF B. & L.

Former Judge William R. Codington delivered an address on the methods and conduct of building and loan associations last night before an audience of men interested in an organization to be known as the South Plainfield Building and Loan Association. The proposed association will be started with subscriptions amounting to about $75,000.

Mr. Codington was requested to draw up the necessary legal papers and present them at the next meeting to be held Thursday, January 30.

COUNTY FREEHOLDERS SERVE NOTICE ON BANKS

Elizabeth, Jan. 24.—Notices were ordered sent by the small Board of Freeholders to the banking institutions in which county funds are deposited that Abe J. David is the county collector and that they should base their procedure accordingly. This action was taken at a meeting of the small board yesterday afternoon.

It was said that if the banks neglected to act according to the notice the committee on legislation should be authorized to institute legal proceedings. Mr. David told the board that the accounts were deposited in the name of Nathan R. Leavitt, collector. This, he said, might lead to difficulties. The board was officially notified that quo warranto proceedings had been begun against the old Board of Freeholders.

ALL COURTS CLOSED EXCEPT CRIMINAL

Supreme and Circuit Courts' Sessions Ended Yesterday By Judge Vail.

Judge Vail completed the sessions of the Supreme and Circuit Courts for this county yesterday for the present term. Not all of the cases on the list were tried, but all that were ready were moved and disposed of. There were six cases on the call for yesterday, but the "bottom fell out" of each one of them as called for trial. Several others which if tried would have prolonged the sessions, have been announced as settled, while others by consent have been put over until the May term. All that were not tried because not ready will also be placed on the list for the May term.

As the Grand Jury returned only twenty-eight indictments, it is anticipated that the presnt term of the criminal court will be terminated early in February. Many of those indicted are expected to plead nolo vult to the charges against them, thereby obviating the necessity of a trial, and consequently shortening the term very materially.

NO STEEPLECHASE HERE THIS SPRING

Possible That Watchung Hunt Club May Hold Joint Meet With Monmouth Club.

There is a strong probability that the annual spring meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club will not be held in Plainfield this year, to the disappointment of the large number of patrons of the affair not only in this city, but in nearby towns. That the club may be obliged to abandon their plans for holding the steeplechase here is due to the fact that the Plainfield Driving Park is now a thing of the past, the large tract of land having been cut up into building lots and the grandstand has been razed and there is no other available place for the meet.

The officers of the club are seriously thinking of combining the local meet with that of the Monmouth County Hunt at Red Bank, but as this would take the meet from Plainfield the idea is not much to the liking of the Watchung Hunt.

In discussing the matter, a lover of steeplechase meets said that there should be a sufficient amount of civic pride to preserve at least one place where such races could be held. He deplored the fact that while everybody seems to be crying about the high cost of living there are people who are doing all that they can to drive the farmer out of business by acquiring large tracts of land near Plainfield and cutting them up into building lots which will probably not be occupied for many years to come.

There will be a meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club soon when a decision will be reached concerning the spring meeting, and the question as to whether it will be best to give up the meet or combine with the Monmouth County Club will be settled.

BANQUET DRAWS A BIG CROWD

Netherwood Residents' Assn. Dinner Proves Unusually Successful Event.

SOME GOOD SPEECHES

Mayor Stewart, Senator Pierce, Former Judge Runyon and Others Thrill the Diners—Lewis J. Geary as Toastmaster.

Excellent speeches and a popular program by the Lotus Glee Club, of New York, combined to make the first annual banquet of the Netherwood Residents' Association at Truell Hall last night a marked success. What was first intended to be more or less a neighborhood affair, turned out to be a city-wide event, all sections of the community being represented. A. Clinton Wilmerding, president of the association, after briefly reviewing the civic club's history since its organization in December, 1911, and relating what had been accomplished, introduced Lewis J. Geary as the toastmaster.

These were the speakers and their topics: Mayor Percy H. Stewart, "A Few Remarks;" Senator Carlton B. Pierce, "Suburban Taxation;" William N. Runyon, "What the Association Can Accomplish;" Ralph W. Grout, of Montclair, "Community Effort;" Paul H. Burns, "Our Board of Trade." Congressman William E. Tuttle, who was expected to be present and address the diners, sent his regrets, explaining that his public duties prevented his attendance. To the Lotus Glee Club is due much of the credit for the delightful entertainment. This well balanced quartet made a decided hit and the singers generously responded to many encores.

Mayor Stewart was greeted cordially, and his timely suggestions urging the association and all similar organizations of the city to make a careful study of important questions affecting the city and then take them up with the Mayor and Council were received with hearty applause. The assistance and co-operation that

"WIRELESS" SUBJECT OF HIS DISCOURSE

Prof. McClenahan Describes the Wonder in Telegraphy to Large Audience.

Aided by numerous models, instruments and electrical apparatus, Prof. Howard McClenahan, E. E., M. S., dean of Princeton University, delivered a highly interesting lecture in the High School Auditorium last night on "Wireless Telegraphy." He appeared under the auspices of the Princeton Club and was greeted by a goodly sized audience which was composed to a large extent of local students of wireless and electricity.

Professor McClenahan paid a tribute to Marconi, whom he said commercialized and made wireless practical. He also told of the work of other inventors and exhibited specimens and devices showing the different stages of the period of invention of wireless telegraphy. Continuing the lecturer described the various uses to which wireless is put and gave an account of the sending of the first ocean to ocean message which he said was made possible by the Cohearer type of receiver.

In closing his lecture Prof. McClenahan said the development of wireless telegraphy was the growth of two seemingly useless pieces of apparatus used in sending and receiving messages the distance of several feet, which have been perfected and added to until now a wireless of 1,400 miles across the ocean is a common occurence.

WILSON MUST HANDLE PANAMA TOLL PROBLEM

Washington, Jan. 24.—To President Wilson, his cabinet, and Congress will be left the problem of dealing with Panama tolls. It is not thought at all likely that the subject will be more than discussed at this session. No trouble with Great Britain is feared, however, as Secretary Knox makes it plain in his reply to the British note that this Government is willing to take the matter up for diplomatic negotiation but not for arbitration.

WILSON'S FRIENDSHIP TOWARDS PROGRESSIVES

Washington, Jan. 24.—Further friction between the incoming President and his party in Congress is threatened by Governor Wilson's open trafficing with the Republican Progressives. His friends were busy all day yesterday pouring oil on the troubled waters and explaining that the aid of Progressives must of necessity be sought if Democratic policies are to be put forward. The calling of the extra session is now looked for about March 15, and certainly not later than early in April.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Charles Beckman, manager of the Fairview basketball team, has been elected captain of the junior class team and Frank Dunning will manage the team.

A gold Y. W. C. A. pin was found in the High School and turned over to Miss Turnbull. The owner may obtain the pin by applying at the library.

The Boys' Athletic Association has received its new stationery.

For the first half year the boys' basketball team succeeded in keeping up its fine scholarship record of years past. Three of the first team men, Captain Townley, Carroll Taylor and Ashley Burner received total exemptions from all examinations, while two others, Roy Love and Duclos Van Mater, were required to take only one. Hyman Abrams and Frank Dunning, the other two varsity men, had to take two exams each. This is a record that Principal Phelps is proud of and one that every High School team could not attain.

The girls' team will be very busy next week as they have three hard games to be played in five days. On Wednesday the girls will meet Perth Amboy, and on Friday the first game of the city interscholastic series will be played with the Plainfield High School girls at the Somerset street court. Manager Elsie Debele has yet a long list of games for the girls to play.

The boys are practicing hard every day for their first game with P. H. S., which takes place next Saturday. Those who reported to play against the first team yesterday are Newton Spencer, Addison, Newkirk, Martin McDonough, Lester Chandler, Edson Day, Ronald Conroy and Warren Townley.

Manager Carroll Taylor is trying to arrange a game for next Tuesday evening at Saengerbund Hall.

The State Board also granted its permission to the Elizabeth and Trenton Railroad Company to cross the following roads at grade with its tracks: Sewaren Avenue, Woodbridge Turnpike, Central Avenue, Brewster Place, Marsh Street and Old Road, all in Woodbridge Township.

ASK POLICY HOLDERS TO WORK AGAINST BILL

Measure Introduced at Trenton Would Permit Newark to Tax Dividend Fund.

An adverse decision having been made in the courts, the City of Newark is now attempting to have a law passed by the Legislature permitting it to tax the huge fund apportioned by the Prudential Insurance Company to its deferred dividend policyholders and as the success of this scheme would mean a loss to these policyholders, the company has asked them to write to the legislators to kill the bill. This statement has been made to the policyholders by the company's president:

On January 20, 1913, a bill known as Assembly Bill No. 57 was introduced into the Legislature by Assemblyman Rowe, of Essex county, New Jersey. The effect of this bill is to subject to taxation the funds apportioned by the company to its deferred dividend policyholders, of whom you are one.

In the funds in question the company has absolutely no interest except as your trustee. The funds have been apportioned to the policyholders pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 71 of the Laws of 1907, under the terms of which the company cannot thereafter use them for any purpose other than to distribute them among the policyholders.

The effect of the passage of the proposed bill will be annually to reduce the funds held by the company for you and the other deferred dividend policyholders by the amount which it will be compelled to pay to the City of Newark, which, judging by past experience, will not be less than two per cent. a year.

Should this bill become a law, the amount to be taken out of this fund and paid to the City of Newark for the year 1913 will be more than $600,000.

We feel that such a tax upon you is unjust; that the City of Newark makes no return to you for your funds which it seeks to take from you in this way. We, therefore, resisted the payment of this tax in the courts, and succeeded in obtaining a decision favorable to your interests.

The City of Newark, however, now proposes to so change the law as to permit that to be done which the courts have declared under the present law could not be done.

If the bill becomes a law, the victory gained by the company in your behalf in the courts will be overthrown.

No attempt has ever heretofore been made by any State in the Union to impose a tax of this character, and no good reason can be advanced why you should be compelled to make an anual contribution of this hitherto unheard of kind to the City of Newark. The company will oppose the passage of this bill in every legitimate way.

If this bill becomes a law it will take money unjustly from your pocket. We urge you, therefore, to see your Senator and Assemblymen personally if possible, and if not, to write to them at once asking them to vote against the bill. Letters should be addressed to them at the State House, Trenton, N. J.

For Sale advertising will bring you cash for that unused office furniture.

The want ads will find work today for workers to whom a longer period of idleness would be a serious matter.

SPARKS BY "SKID"

A coast-to-coast and gulf-to-lakes whirlwind tour of education—the most novel and most extensive personal effort ever extended in behalf of any sport—has just been sanctioned and authorized by the board of the Federation of American Motorcyclists.

J. Leo Sauer, of New York, one of the leading figures in the motorcycle world, has been drafted by the F. A. M. and has consented to make the tour, carrying to members of the F. A. M. and the general public in a series of addresses the gospel of motorcycling.

Mr. Sauer's tour is expected to do much to stiffen the backbone of the widespread movement against motorcycle abuses, such as the open muffler, reckless riding and speeding. It will bring the F. A. M. and its members into closer touch and better understanding and it will give to the general public a better idea of the advantages of motorcycling, both in work and play.

Mr. Sauer has not arranged his schedule in detail yet, but tentatively, he is planning to leave New York by the middle of February, going South first. He will probably proceed as far as Jacksonville, Fla., and start West about March 1. He will visit Los Angeles and other coast territory until about March 15, when he will start back East, through Denver and St. Louis. He will reach New York about April 1, and will then spend some time in New York and the New England States. His trip will consume about two months, and he will speak in all the important motorcycle centres of the country.

A motorcycle figured largely in the delivery of what is claimed to be the first parcel post package delivered in the United States. The package was carried by motorcycle from the San Jose, Cal., postoffice to a local newspaper office, arriving there a few seconds after 12 o'clock on the morning of January 1.

Although Milwaukee has but three concerns manufacturing motorcycles, the output from these factories in 1912 amounted to $4,000,000, an increase of 50 per cent. over the output of 1911.

Guy W. Webb and George Hoiseth, of Minneapolis, not daunted by the snow-crusted roads, started the new year right with a 100-mile motorcycle jaunt to adjoining towns.

One of the features of the housewarming program of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Motorcycle Club, given in its new quarters, was a mock court trial, which proved very entertaining.

Miss Bessie Brunner was the first woman to become an active member of the Newark Motorcycle Club.

Though Aberdeen, S. D., motorcyclists find the air a bit too crisp to enjoy hill climbing at this season, the club is keeping up interest and enthusiasm by a series of dinners and entertainments, which are proving very successful.

It is estimated that 8,000 motorcycles are now in use in Los Angeles, Cal.

Members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club visited the motorcycle show in the Central Palace, New York, and learned many new features of this vehicle. Percy Haberle was among the missing, a bowling engagement being the reason. J. Dickhundt while taking in the show joined the Indian Club. Jack Horner, Edward Smith, Robert Townley, "Bud" Kline and Waglow also added their names to the list.

One salesman at the Palace show sold fourteen car loads of Indian motorcycles in one day.

At the games of the Pastime A. C. January 28, in the 22nd Regiment Armory, the one mile handicap should prove a popular entry with the motorcyclists.

W. J. Ruhle, of the Harley-Davidson, was in town yesterday and reported that the stock of 1913 machines has been entirely disposed of.

Signs of Spring—tour talks; J. J. Moore cleaning his machine and Dickhundt looking for a good trade.

Harry B. Martin, one of the best amateur cyclists ever turned out from this State, died January 8, in his home in Asbury Park. He is survived by his widow, who before marriage was Miss Bye.

Jack Horner will have a side car with him this year.

Ernest Meir was elected president of the Jersey City Motorcycle Club at its last meeting.

It is rumored that Ed. Honeyman, who has always been such a strong exponent of the Indian, is to buy a Reading-Standard machine.

A postal from George Adams, of the local club who is touring the Southern States, says he left Savannah, Ga., Tuesday bound for Jacksonville, Fla. He added that the roads were poor.

ROTHBERG BOWLERS WILL ROLL RAHWAY NATIONALS

On the Rahway alleys tonight, the Sam Rothberg bowling team, of this city, will roll the Rahway Nationals and a return match will be played here Friday, January 31. Manager Rothberg has equipped his team with new suits consisting of shirts of blue and white with the letters "S. R." on the sleeves. Manager McCartney, of the Rahway team, has a surprise in store for the Plainfield delegation after the match and while he says it is an idea of his own, he will not disclose the details of the affair.

Those who will make up the Queen City aggregation are Radin, Miller, Mahoney, Thompson, Montross and Britton. Hoffman and Parretti will have charge of the Rothberg rooters and all those wishing to view the match from the sidelines should take the 7 o'clock Main Line trolley from the Watchung avenue station.

DRISCOLL WANTED IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Brunswick Fans Are Hot on the Trail of the Plainfield Team to Play Saturdays.

Those who claim to possess a superabundance of inside information have issued a statement to the effect that Dave Driscoll, who captained the Plainfield baseball team when it played in this city last year, is willing to have his club at New Brunswick Saturday afternoons and Sundays, thus depriving Plainfield of the Saturday afternoon attraction. This information, of course, comes from Brunswick fans and local followers think that Manager Dorflinger comes in for a say before the deal is closed. It is a well known fact that the National sport has been on a decline in the town of New Brunswick for a number of years and the fans in that section are evidently willing to go to extremes in order to bring the Driscoll aggregation there to revive the interest. At least this is the first move of the directors of the Outdoor Amusement Company elected last Tuesday night and they are willing to back the project up with any amount of the long green variety.

All last summer Driscoll and his team played in this city and drew crowds that admitted to be more than paying. The new Brunswick papers seem to have the idea that the attendance at the games was not up to Driscoll's expectations, but if this was so it must have been embarassing to Dave to mention his expectations because he never hinted at any dissatisfaction while his nine was playing ball here. If Driscoll decided to quit Union county it would mean that Manager Dorflinger would have to round together another herd of ball tossers, but this would not be such a hard task for the local pilot as he has been placed in just such a predicament more than once.

The fact that there were no games played in Brunswick last summer on Saturday afternoons was due to the fact that there were no fans to support a team of ball players such as played in this city and if Driscoll moved over into the Brunswick park he would probably fare even worse than the New Brunswick fans think he fared here. When Driscoll brought his team to the Aumsement Park four years ago the games were well attended for a short time but the old weakness of the Brunswick fans, to kick and wan in support soon evidenced itself and Dave packed up and went on his way.

Dave is not ready to throw any light on his next season's plans at present and it is doubtful if anything definite will be done until he returns from his trip to Porto Rico. He will leave for that place next month, returning with his team the early part of March.

MARATHONS PLAY FAST AGAINST HOLY CROSS

Displaying a slashing attack and a defence against which there was little headway the Marathon basketball team, of this city, defeated the fast Hold Cross seconds last night on the latter's floor by a score of 29 to 11. At times the playing of the winners was sensational. Their team work was excellent and on many occasions the forwards worked the ball through the entire opposing team for a basket. Babcock and Dawe, Holy Cross shooters, could not penetrate the guarding of Hummel and Kraussee for any efficient work. When they started Marathon players covered up in speedy fashion and the pivot man in the assault was crushed before the attack was fully launched. Jack Hull was the star of the borough five while Kraussee and Dilts featured for the winners. The lineup of the teams were:

COYLE'S SHOOTING DEFEATS 'PLAINS

Y. M. C. A. Team Annexes a 40 to 31 Victory at Parish House Team's Expense.

With the aid of eleven field goals credited to William Coyle, the recently organized Y. M. C. A. first team defeated the Scotch Plains Parish House five on the latter's court last night by a score of 40 to 31. Coyle's great offensive work had the 'Plains players completely baffled and none of the trio of guards could master his style of play. The game was close and exciting from the outset and neither team had a decided advantage over the other at any stage, the association players always being in the van, but the home five never were lost to view and always had a chance of pulling out on top of the heap.

Lidgate's old injury, sustained to his ankle while he was captain of the Plainfield High School quintet, showed itself again last night and the main point getter of the Parish House aggregation was handicapped in his playing by the injured member. He was replaced in the last five minutes of play by Curte, a new man, who put up a good game in the few minutes he played. The score:

BASKETBALL FIVES IN GAME OF FARCE

With Darling Back in the Game Company K is Certain of Victory.

Another forty minutes of thrilling basketball has been arranged for tonight by Manager Sanderson, of the Plainfield theatre, and he has secured the Company K and Jolly Five basketball teams to furnish the cast of characters. Whether or not the exhibition resolves itself into a tragedy or comedy remains to be seen, but the Company K aggregation will be well supplied with ammunition to check any unusual evidences of merriment displayed by the Jolly Five. The latter aggregation is composed of basket cagers of varied calibres, and although they have had no rehearsals, the manager states that his players have been coached to beat Company K and the show will be a complete fizzle if soldier boys are so inconsiderate as to reverse the climax.

As an added attraction, Manager Thompson has secured "Cutey" Glover, the Ajax strong man, to demonstarte to the public the art of "heavily guarding an opponent" and this in itself promises to be worth the price of admission. All of the Company K players who were injured in the battle last Thursday night, when Company K walloped Company M, have been scratched off the hospital list and will return to the game tonight. If Thompson's wooden leg fails to hold out the entire game, Glover will be shifted to the pivot position, opposing Monroe Good, another champion eater. The feeling of awe that many teams lining up against the sharpshooters have displayed during the past season will not effect the Jolly Five, according to forthcoming dope, and if necessary the latter are willing to go to the expense of furnishing illuminated targets so that Thompson and his cohorts can at least keep in the running by getting a two point target now and then.

The cast of characters:

Company K.	Jolly Five.
Dearling, forward	Grisley
Seal, forward	Machan
Thompson, centre	Good
Nolan, guard	Angleman
Glover, guard	Genorich
Howell, substitute	Moore

TWO GAMES PLAYED IN THE COLOR LEAGUE

Orange Defeats White and Red Wallops Green at the Y. M. C. A.

A double header of basketball was played by the teams in the Color League of the senior class of the Y. M. C. A. last night. The Orange proved to be stronger than the White and defeated it by the close score of 6 to 4. The Red team had a walk-away from the Green and wound up its game with a score of 16 to 2.

The only way the Whites scored in the first game was by throwing four goals. Conger, Berse, Winans and Clarin were the only successful ones in caging the free throws. Seal, of the Orange five, caged a brace of fouls and Thompson scored four points by shooting two field goals, thus showing his sharpshooting ability gained on the Company K basketball five.

In the second game every player on the Red team suceeded in making at least one field goal and two of them scored a brace of field baskets and two fouls. Gunzelman was the only man that scored for his side, thus saving his side from being whitewashed.

WHY WOLVERTON DID NOT SUCCEED AS A MANAGER.

Charley Herzog, the New York Giants' crack third baseman, was asked recently what he thought of Harry Wolverton, who managed the New York Americans last year. Herzog is not a hammer thrower, but he laughingly told this yarn:

"When I was a kid I played in the Tristate league. Wolverton was managing the Williamsport team in that circuit and was a big gun. Of course, I knew about the rules of discipline and was going along without smoking cigars or cigarettes. One day my team played Williamsport. An old time pitcher was in the box for Wolverton and he was doing fine work. But after awhile I noticed that when he reached the bench between innings he lighted a corncob pipe and enjoyed a quiet smoke with Wolverton at his side. That settled Wolverton in my estimation. I knew then that as a disciplinarian he would never succeed, and he proved it last season."

DELICIOUS CARAMELS.

PURE candy can be made at home much cheaper than it can be bought. Caramels are among the most popular of homemade candies, and if one has a thermometer, such as is used by candymakers and which may be bought cheaply where confectioners' supplies are sold, the results are more certain.

To make caramels the sugar is cooked until it reaches 420 degrees and turns brown.

Wholesome Sweetmeats.

Cocoanut Caramels.—Take a pint of fresh sweet cream and put it into a pan with three ounces of desiccated cocoanut and let them boil together for three or four minutes, stirring all the time. Then pour into a basin, cover and leave till nearly cold, when you pass it through a fine sieve. Take one pint of this liquor and two pounds of sugar, put them in a pan and stir them together over the fire till the sugar is dissolved; then add half a pound of glucose, a quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and boil these all to the "crack," keeping them well stirred. Pour on to a buttered pan and when cooling divide in squares and wrap in greaseproof paper.

Vanilla Cream Caramels.—Take half a pint of molasses and put it into a saucepan with four ounces of granulated sugar and half a gill of water and stir these over the fire till the sugar is dissolved; then let it cook without stirring for fifteen to eighteen minutes or until, on dropping a little of the mixture into a glass of water, it becomes hard. Flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla and beat until creamy. If liked, four ounces of chocolate can take the place of the molasses. Pour into well buttered pans and, when cold, cut into squares.

Nut Confections.

Nut Caramels.—Take a quarter of a pound of unsweetened chocolate and put it into a pan with four ounces of butter, one pound of brown sugar, half a cupful of molasses, half a cupful of cream and half a teaspoonful of vanilla. Cook until brittle when dropped into cold water, then add a pound of chopped nutmeats, either of one kind or mixed.

Chocolate Caramels.—Take a cup of molasses, half a cupful of sugar, half a cupful of cream, a quarter of a pound of chocolate cut very fine and a tablespoonful of butter. Boil these together, stirring constantly till it reaches the caramel stage. When it hardens when dropped in cold water, take off the stove, pour into shallow pans and, as it cools, mark off into squares.

Anna Thompson.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Trenton, Jan. 24.—The State Division of the Sons of Temperance has elected new officers as follows:

Grand worthy patriarch, Ross Slack, Trenton; grand worthy associate, Laura E. Bailey, Newark; grand scribe, W. P. Compton, Metuchen; grand treasurer, J. H. Hoagland, New Brunswick; grand chaplain, P. J. Arnold, Trenton; grand conductor, Ella Reeve, Camden; grand sentinel, Samuel P. Staulcup, Camden; grand patriot, Ruth Blessing, Camden; representative-at-large, May Mannifield, Elizabeth; past gand worthy patriarch, Herbert L. Blessing, Camden.

While the reports showed that very little gain had been made during the past year, the division is still holding its own.

During the closing session much time was spent in a discussion of the establishment of the custom of paying funeral benefits to the needy in connection with the benevolent work that is now being done. Nothing definite was done in the matter and the committee to which the matter had been referred was continued.

Every effort will be put forth to secure the meeting of the national division for Camden in 1914.

It was decided that the sessions of the division which are to be held in April and October should be evening sessions instead of day sessions. The future sessions of the State Division and the places of meeting are: April, at Plainfield; July, at Metuchen; October, at Newark, and January, 1914, at Trenton.

INSIDE THE MAGAZINE

The February Lippincott's is a well-rounded, ripe, and rich magazine, full of varied fiction and papers adjusted to the season. As usual, every feature in it is complete, there being nothing continued but the entertainment, which never flags. The novel, "Miss Phoenix," is by a new writer, Albert Lee. While its theme is entirely unlike that of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Seven Days," the reader is reminded of that now-famous story, because of its originality, humor, brisk action, tangled but quite plausible complications, and general brezziness. The plot hinges upon a young wife's well-meaning attempt to deceive her husband in a small matter and thereby avoid a family quarrel. But an untoward fate twists things up, and one prevarication leads to another, till a half-dozen or more people are involved and much trouble is threatened—trouble from which the author adroitly—and very naturally—frees his characters in the end.

The February American Magazine contains a wonderful letter by Allan Pinkerton, never before published, in which the famous detective relates his connection with the first plot to assassinate Lincoln. Lincoln was on his way to Washington in February, 1861, and the plan was to kill him in Baltimore while he was passing through that city on the way to Washington, where he was to be inaugurated. Pinkerton discovered the plot, saved Lincoln's life, and tells the whole story in this letter which was written in 1866 but never reached the public until The American Magazine got hold of it.

An arltticle of great interest and value to women is published in the February Woman's Home Companion. It is an account of the Housewives' League, an organization of 500,000 women, which, in two years, has developed to the point where it is actually assisting hundreds of thousands of housewives in the United States to reduce the cost of living. One of its great contentions is that women should study the market reports in the newspapers in order to get information about prices which will enable them to buy intelligently when they come to deal with tradesmen. The article shows how the plan may be carried out in any town or city in the United States. It also presents a dramatic picture of the origin of the league. Mrs. Julian Health, a New York woman, had an experience which started her to thinking. Out of this experience grew the league. Here is a story of a woman who started great things.

Woman's World for February contains an interesting assortment of fiction, including short stories by A. Conan Doyle, E. R. Lipsett, John A. Moroso and the third installment of Gouverneur Morris' serial, "Under Pressure." Gutzon Borglum, the famous sculpter, in "When the People Spoke," has embodied in very tender and sympathetic prose the conception of the character of Lincoln which he has expressed in his statues and busts of the Great Emancipator. Herbert Kaufman's vivid prose poem, "Imagination," is above rather than below the standard of his past editorials, and his poem, "Atlantis," strikes a new note of sentiment.

WHOLESALE LIQUOR MEN FAVOR "DELIVERY BILL"

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Besides electing new officers, adopting a credit system and favoring the reintroduction of the "delivery bill," defeated in the last Legislature, the New Jersey Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association wound up its conference with a banquet.

The new officers elected are: President, John Fee, Jr., South River; vice president, Charles Loews, Jersey City; financial secretary, W. E. Davy, Atlantic City; treasurer, James J. Lamb, Paterson; secretary, William R. Holmes, Jersey City; assistant secretary, J. H. Buckridge, Jersey City, editor of Justice, the State liquor publication.

The "delivery" bill was known last year as House bill No. 344, and was introduced by former Assemblyman Mortimer Lowy, of Essex county. The bill permits the wholesale dealers to secure a license enabling them to ship to any part of the State, instead of only in their own municipality, as at present.

The credit system adopted is expected to relieve the books of the wholesale of many bad accounts.

Plans were laid for increasing the membership during the present year by the appointment of committees in each county.

A resolution was adopted expressing a kindly feeling toward the retail dealers and offering the co-operation of the wholesale association.

Among the guests and speakers at the banquet were Mayor Donnelly, former Assemblyman Lowy, who was presented with a humidor by Gustave Mayer, chairman of the banquet committee, in behalf of the association; Edward T. Fleming, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Association, and editor of the National Herald, the liquor dealers' organ in the Keystone State; James Trainer, president of the Pennsylvania association; W. A. Taylor, president of the New York State association, and Arthur L. Strasser, secretary of the New York association.

CALLS HUSBAND FORGER AS WELL AS ABDUCTOR

Red Bank, Jan. 24.—The police here are looking for Bruno Raab, who is charged with forging three notes on Adam Mouser, of Lincroft, amounting to $251. The warrant was issued by Acting Recorder Theodore F. Smith here yesterday afternoon. Raab is also wanted for abducting his eleven-year-old daughter and deserting his wife and two other children, Hans, aged thirteen, and Bruno, aged fifteen.

Acording to Mrs. Raab, yesterday morning, her husband unknown to her Wednesday sold for $250 a team of horses belonging to her worth $500, and left his home at Lincroft, saying he was going to take a walk. He did not return for dinner. About 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon he went to the Lincroft school in an automobile and took away his daughter Hilda. Neither has been seen at home since.

On learning of the occurrence Mrs. Raab came to Red Bank and asked the police to aid her in search of her husband and child. She said that before leaving her husband stated to a friend that he was going to sail for Germany yesterday on the steamship Victoria from New York. Yesterday morning Chief of Police Arthur L. Wymbs went to New York in search of Raab.

Mrs. Raab is staying with her sister, Mrs. Blanche Wenzell, of 73 Borden street, here.

ADVICE BY MRS. BOOTH TO REFORMATORY BOYS

Rahway, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, founder of the Volunteers of America, addressed the inmates of the reformatory Wednesday, after viewing the classes at work and witnessing the physical drill.

Mrs. Booth likened the inmates to bulbs, planted in the earth and shut off from the rest of the world," and advised them as to the cultivation necessary, that they may go out "like strong, green sprouts, pushing from the bulb, improving as the flower develops."

As giving her words authority, she mentioned her work among boys for twenty years, and told of her own boy, whose growth she had watched from infancy.

"With you boys," said Mrs. Booth, "there are three periods—past, present and future. Some look back to the past and desire to return to it. The past should not be considered as a discouragement, but as a warning. Each of you should do right, talk right, work right. It will make other people happier and make yourself better.

"You should take advantage of the excellent school facilities provided for you, for many of you have never had an apportunity before to obtain an education, and after you go out you will never get this chance again.

"Develop yourself so as to make a foundation for the future, by doing your best at the physical drills. Put your wishbone where your backbone ought to be. The present is the preparation of the future. If you grow straight in here, you will remain so outside. If you lie in here you will lie outside. If you are lazy here, you will be more lazy on the outside and be turned down.

"You cannot be made by somebody else. You may say it is up to the school teacher and chaplain to teach you and make a man out of you. They may train and direct you, but it is up to you to help yourself. If you do not so improve while here, when you go on parole you will come back, and discourage the other boys and the officers."

Mrs. Booth will go next wek to Texas, where, with the Governor and a board of prison authorities, she will visit the different penal institutions.

TRAPS BIG HORNED OWL.

Budd Lake, Jan. 24.—Frank Sullivan, of Budd Lake, caught a horned owl in a trap set for animals. The bird's wings measured five feet ten inches from tip to tip and it stood nearly two feet high. It is thought to be the mate of one caught in the same manner last week by Frederick Huckster, between Mt. Olive and Budd Lake. That bird's wings were four feet eight inches from tip to tip. Both birds are fine specimens of the large horned hoot owl, and both will be mounted. Sullivan experienced some trouble in killing the larger bird, although it had been badly wounded by being caught in the trap.

NEW JERSEY'S PART IN PRODUCTION OF CEMENT

Figures dealing with Portland cement production in the New Jersey district and other producing sections were made public yesterday by the United States Geological Survey. New Jersey is classed with the so-called Lehigh district, the biggest in the country, and as to it the report makes the following reference:

"Lehigh District—Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, which together form the leading Portland cement manufacturing district of the United States, produced approximately 24,449,523 barrels of Portland cement in 1912, compared with 25,972,108 barrels in 1911. This represents a decrease of 1,522,585 barrels, or 5.9 per cent.

"The shipment of Portland cement in 1912 approximated 25,905,257 barrels, compared with 25,192,464 barrels shipped in 1911, an increase of 712,792 barrels, or 2.8 per cent. There were twenty mills reported as active in 1912, against twenty-four in 1911."

According to the returns received by the survey up to January 15, 1913, it is estimated by Ernest F. Burchard, of the survey, that the total quantity of Portland cement manufactured in the United States in 1912 was approximately 81,941,998 barrels. It is believed that this estimate is within 1.5 per cent. of the exact figures.

This quantity represents an increase of 2,413,361 barrels over the 78,528,637 barrels manufactured in 1911, or 4.3 per cent. The shipments of Portland cement during 1912 are estimated at 84,750,291 barrels compared with 75,547,829 barrels in 1911, an increase of 9,202,462 barrels, or 12.2 per cent. The production in 1912 was thus held in check sufficiently to permit a material reduction in the stocks of cement at the mills at the close of 1911, which amounted to nearly 12,000,000 barrels.

The continued increase in the production of Portland cement is significant in view of the fluctuations in the output of other leading mineral products such as coal, iron and copper. The curve of production of Portland cement, although not now rising at so rapid a rate as during 1909 and 1910, is still pointing upward and has yet to take its first downward drop.

directors of the bank was inevitable. He telephoned that same night to Mr. Besler, vice president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and a director of the bank, and told Mr. Besler that he had important disclosures to make to him. Mr. Besler sent his secretary, Fred T. Dickerson, who lives on East Second street, to see Beavers and to him Beavers told his whole story.

Dickerson reported the disclosures to Mr. Besler, and J. Henry Rose, vice president of the bank, was notified. Mr. Rose, who is a former Mayor of High Bridge, notified other directors, including Knox Taylor, who is president of the Taylor-Wharton Steel and Iron Company, the chief manufacturing concern of the town, and, in an economic way, the town's chief support. On Wednesday morning Beavers and his wife met Mr. Rose, a director, and Alfred Cook, of 111 Broadway, counsel for the bank.

Beavers said he was anxious to make restitution and his wife joined him in this desire. Thereupon the cashier signed over to the bank all his real estate, stock, bonds and his home. Mrs. Beavers at the same time signed over her dower rights. The directors of the bank estimate the total value of the property thus transferred at $25,000.

After the conference Beavers was allowed to leave High Bridge without molestation. He is said to have gone to New York and to be there now. The bank people say they do not know his New York address. No warrant has been issued for him and no effort has been made to have him arrested.

The cashier was under a bond of $10,000, which, with the $25,000 which he has turned over to the bank, makes $35,000 which the bank has against the $82,000 loss.

With the total theft placed at $150,000, the estimated value of the bonds taken and hypothecated, the bank's loss would reach a higher figure. But the bank officials have no doubt of their ability to recover the value of the bonds over and above the loans made on them. They declare also that they may recover from the brokers the cashier may have dealt with the full amount of the bonds on the theory that the Stock Exchange rule regarding the acceptance of business from an employe of a bank will hold good.

One of the directors said that the bank is all right and that the depositors will not lose a cent. The capital, surplus and undivided earnings, he said, would more than make up for any loss.

Beavers is between 45 and 50 years old. He is prominent in church affairs and is treasurer of the Presbyterian church of Glen Gardner, where he lived. He also is treasurer of the Hunterdon Gazette, a newspaper published in High Bridge. He has never been looked upon as a man of extravagant habits of life. George H. Cramer, a director, said that he had always looked upon Beavers as one of the "most upright men he had ever known."

The cashier received a salary of $2,400. He owned forty shares of stock in the bank and his wife owned eleven shares. The stock is valued at $250 a share.

The bank officials say they do not expect to take criminal action against Beavers, but will leave that to the Government authorities or the company in which he is bonded. The last statement of the bank showed deposits amounting to $313,327.05; surplus earned, $40,000; undivided profits, $12,976.02. The directors of the bank are Knox Taylor, John R. Apgar, George H. Cramer, William G. Besler and Samuel J. Surts.

The amount named in the confession included the $75,000 lost on double this amount of the bank's securities hypothecated, according to Beavers, with the brokerage firm, and a note for $7,000 which Beavers negotiated through the bank a year ago and which because he has now turned over to the bank all his possessions to make up for the defalcation he is unable to meet. The various items surrendered by him are estimated by the bank's directors to be worth $25,000.

The First National Bank of High Bridge was organized in 1900 with a capital of $30,000. Directors of the institution give Beavers, who has been cashier since its foundation, credit for much of the success the bank has enjoyed. He was one of its organizers and has devoted more time than any of the other men interested to building up the institution.

The president of the bank is Percival Chrystie. Mr. Chrystie's health became so bad in December last that he went to San Diego, Cal., hoping to regain it. Before Mr. Chrystie left he and Beavers were the only officers of the bank who had access to the safe deposit vaults in the Coal and Iron National Bank, the High Bridge institution's New York correspondent, and where the New Jersey bank kept its securities. All of these, or practically all, were railroad securities.

As the directors of the bank learned from Beavers' confession about three years ago the cashier invested some $8,000 or $9,000 of his own money in a South American venture which proved to be of a wildcat variety. A year ago Beavers became convinced that the investment was lost completely. When Mr. Chrystie, the president, left for the West, Beavers thought he saw a chance for speculation which would recoup his losses in the South American venture.

About January 1 Beavers told the bank directors, according to their story, that he went to the vaults of the Coal and Iron National Bank and took out a $10,000 bond belonging to the High Bridge Bank. This, he says, was the first of his defalcations. He took the bond to C. L. Hudson & Co. at 56 Wall street and borrowed $5,000 on it. This $5,000 he put up as a margin on transactions which he began that day. He lost.

He then took another bond from the vaults, hypothecated it, wagered on the market with the money and lost. Practically every business day since January 1, when he made his first venture into this sort of finance, Beavers said, he had taken a $5,000 or $10,000 bond from the vaults and gambled with what he could borrow on it and lost every time.

BANQUET DRAWS BIG CROWD

might be expected from such organizations, especially as affecting any particular locality, he said, he would welcome at all times. Incidently he referred to the question of lights, police, water, sewage, garbage collection, as well as better fire protection for the Netherwood section as some of the more important questions to be decided. Education along these lines he considered to be most important and he hoped that the citizens would appreciate the scope of the movement they had undertaken.

The subject of "Suburban Taxation" was presented in an interesting way by Senator Carlton B. Pierce, who gave the guests the benefit of his study along these lines. He declared that investigation had shown that instead of the State having an approved system there are as many methods of taxation as there are districts. They are not controlled by the county boards, much less the State, and as for equalization in taxation he said that that feature was sadly missing.

Mr. Pierce cited a few cases in various parts of the State to show how unequal the method of taxation is. He asserted that the commission on taxation, of which he is a member, had recommended the plan of having trained officials under Civil Service, removed from political influence, putting backbone into an approved system, units of value, uniform tax bills, a State assessor as the head, who will be held responsible, a county assessor with assistants, the abolition of the local tax assessor, make the taxing districts large enough to require the whole time of an assessor.

It had also been recommended that the local municipality appoint someone to sit with the county boards, to familiarize the boards with local condition. The assessment of property is not a local proposition, he claimed, but that which affects Plainfield will also affect other municipalities. The commission further recommended the abolishment of a tax on household furniture, as well as the poll tax and the assessment of a tax of one per cent. straight on all banks, deducting real estate, which is done in New York and Pennsylvania.

"Community Effort," the subject assigned to Ralph W. Grout, of Montclair, covered a wide range, the speaker telling what has been accomplished in Montclair during the past few years by the civic associations, women's clubs, the Mountain Society, Board of Trade, which he explained were all working for one common purpose—the best interests of Montclair. He touched on municipal improvements and told the local association that if it went at things in a safe and sane manner it could accomplish much more than through other methods.

Paul H. Burns, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, devoted a considerable portion of his remarks to explaining the plan inaugurated by the Chamber for advertising Plainfield, by offering prizes for the best suggestions. This contest, he said, closes February 1, and he urged all to become interested in the scheme. He also urged the association to first become thoroughly familiar with improvements desired and then take them up in an intelligent manner with the governing body. The betterment of the city should be the aim of every citizen. He also suggested that the city be asked to pay half the cost of advertising Plainfield in an approved manner, and that each civic association appoint a committee to form one central body.

In explaining "What This Association Can Accomplish," William N. Runyon said that there was some potential reason for people living in Plainfield, it being either business, real estate interest or health, but whatever was responsible the people surly want to live here under the best conditions. Mr. Runyon said that one critic remarked to him yesterday, when he learned that he was to speak before the association, that he was going to address a crowd that "knew less and cared less about Plainfield than anyone else in town." Mr. Runyon said that he did not believe that to be true.

The speaker urged the association to get in touch with the whole town and have its views broadened. He said he was reminded of the words of the Psalmist, "I lift up mine eyes to the hill whence cometh my help," and he said he felt sure that the Netherwood section could be of great help to the other part of Plainfield. He said that the association would gain strength in proportion to the way it gave strength to the movement. He said that he was glad to see President Thomas C. Vail and Barton Davis, of the West End Civic Association, present, for all are working for one common good. In conclusion Mr. Runyon urged all to be broad in their viewpoint and join in uniting to boost Plainfield.

There were 150 diners.

CREDITOR GETS JUDGMENT.

PARTY PLATFORM PLEDGES.

The old days of making party platforms to get in on are past. The time has come when a party platform must be kept as made. It used to be that the people did not look closely into the matter of the fulfillment of party pledges, but that day has gone. The Republican party in New Jersey is where it is because it failed to keep its promises made in its State platform in 1907. It was, in its failure to legislate, false to practically every one of the pledges made in that platform. The people of the nation repudiated the Republican party in 1912 because they believed its national administration had repudiated the platform adopted at Chicago in 1908. The electors voted a few days ago and that great party, as a result, only had the pitiable number of eight electoral votes in all the States of the Union.

From 1904 to 1908 the Republican party kept faith with the people and inaugurated great reforms, which were popularly demanded, with the result that it had a great triumph in the election of 1908. What worked the great change in four years? Why did over four million Republicans repudiate the party in 1912? Can any one doubt it was solely because of the fact that the administration at Washington had been false to practically every progressive policy launched from 1904 to 1908 and every promise made as to what it would do from 1908 to 1912, if it continued in power? No one pretends to give any other reason. Surely the victory was not due to greater faith in the people in the Democratic party, judging it by its past history. But it nominated Governor Wilson for President. He had been progressive in New Jersey. He promised to be so in Washington. The people believed he would keep his promises, and he has so assured them since his election. He has their confidence now. If he is true to them, as we have no doubt he will try to be, he will hold their confidence. Can he control his party? That remains to be seen. He will try, and if he fails, they will know that it is its fault and not his.

The Baltimore platform is a progressive one. It is in advance of any party declaration ever made in this country prior to 1912. It covers most of the things which are found in the Progressive platform. Great issues are to be settled in the immediate future. They cannot be shirked or evaded. Nor will subterfuges fool the people. Every promise made in the Democratic platform must be put into law. President-elect Wilson will try to do it. Will the Congress? If they fail, what will happen? It is too early to tell with definiteness. One thing, though, is sure, there will be no backward step by the people. If Democracy fails to enact the political and economic legislation demanded there will be no return to old line Republicans. No party with Penrose, Barnes and their like as leaders, will ever again carry a majority of the American people with them.

Only progressive principles and progressive legislation can carry this nation in the future. The people will demand that there shall be no uncertainty about this before they will follow any party hereafter. And they will not accept the word of leaders in whose sincerity they have no faith. Lip service will not be enough. They want to see special privilege wiped out and equal opportunity established, with the means for acquiring great wealth, by monopoly, forever destroyed in this Republic. If the Democrats fail to do this the people will find a political agency which will do it. Will it be the Progressive party? One thing is sure, if not done by that party it will be done by those now constituting it, aided by Democrats who think as they do, who will unite with them under that name or some other.

The people are determined to rule this country in their own way and for their own benefit and betterment, and not in the interests of any special class or for the benefit of the few. The next four years will be of momentous import in the political and economic life of this nation.

Former Mayor George W. V. Moy will be the contributing editor for tomorrow' issue. He has the reputation of speaking frankly and unequivocally and this custom of his will be adhered to, we venture to say, in his editorial writings.

Now, wouldn't it be too bad should the Common Council decline to restore to A. D. Findlay a retail liquor license when he has gone to all the trouble and expense of fixing up his place in anticipation of being granted a license again.

How much of a part has William Jennings Bryan played in furnishing ideas for Woodrow Wilson's anti-trust measures?

THE FORUM.

AGAINST MORE LICENSES.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I have sent the following letter to the license committee of the Common Council: "Gentlemen—For the following reasons I beg you not to increase the number of licensed places for the sale of intoxicating drinks in Plainfield: First, as one who pays taxes to suppress and prevent crime, that I have not helped to produce, I protest against licensing persons in the liquor traffic who produce that crime and degrade my fellow-men and force others and me to suffer and pay for their wrongs inflicted upon this city.

"Second, as Christians we have no right to place temptation in the path of our weaker brethren. It is immoral to do so. What is morally wrong cannot be lawfully right. Third, in his essay on 'How to Stop Drunkenness,' Charles Buxton, one of the world's largest brewers said: 'The struggle of the church and the Sundayschool on the one hand, with the saloon on the other hand, is but one development of the war between Heaven and Hell.' I am against Hell and in favor of Heaven every time. Please help to 'rescue the Perishing, care for the Dying.' Let us have fewer saloons and more happy homes. God will not overlook your efforts, even to one of the least of our brethren.

"J. W. HARRISON."

WHAT A MAN SEEKS WHEN CHOOSING HOME

An up-to-date, wide-awake man who goes out to select a home is influenced by the various opportunities which the particular community affords for all-around living. He consults the health conditions as a primary requisite; the type of civic administration good or bad does not escape his attention; the opportunities of social life too become a factor, the kind and character of future friends. The possibility of physical recreation is another item. All these conditions will immediately confront the man who is choosing a new place of residence. That the home-seeker finds a satisfactory solution of all requirements in Plainfield is evidenced by the fact of a rapidly increasing influx of newcomers. A favorable climate, a good city administration, admirable educational advantages for the children, wholesome and healthy recreation, are all found and appreciated when tried.

But why eliminate other and greater opportunities? Every enterprising citizen looks beyond the advantages to be received and asks an opportunity to give out a little. The community requires such a man and opportunities are abundant for his activities. Why should any all-round man set aside a consideration of the religious opportunities? It seems the normal thing for a man to think about the claims of God upon his spare time:—what he can get from and turn in to the great religious interests of a community. Few men are openly opposed to religious matters; a good many men don't know much about them. Why not give the religion of Jesus a trial? There may be a good deal more in it for you than you think. There are plenty of our most prominent men in this and other lands who are sure that Christianity provides something for a man's life that he ought not to do without,—cannot do without, except at a tremendous loss. It may be that you are missing the best thing that life offers. It might pay you to look into it. Think it over. Plainfield has some forty different places of public worship. One of them might suit your tastes, all of them would welcome your experiment. The children of your household are entitled to the opportunity of knowing something about their Heavenly Father, and they are more likely to take the matter up if you show them the example. How about it? The church doors are open to you, are you giving yourself a full chance for the best type of manhood and of citizenship if the church never sees you or your family? Are you doing more or are you doing less for the community and for the family if you stay away? **

BOARD IGNORES STOCK INCREASE APPLICATION

Trenton, Jan. 24.—Because the Electric Light, Power and Water Company, of Sea Isle City, has failed, it is said, to comply with the provisions of the law requiring it to file an annual report, the Board of Utility Commissioners has returned without consideration an application for the approval of a proposed increase in capital stock of not less than $15,000.

Of the 315 public utility corporations operating in New Jersey all but eighteen have filed the required annual detailed report of finances and operations.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENT AT ELIZABETH IS THEME

Elizabeth, Jan. 24.—Members of the city council's railroad committee and President Dennis F. Collins, met a representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad at the City Hall yesterday afternoon and went over the company's plans for the improvement of its road through this city.

The plans include the addition of two tracks to the present four-track system. Members of the committee asked the company's representative to consider a plan for the opening of Murray street to Broad street. He said he believed this could be done.

As to the propositions for the opening of Fanny street and Grove street the representative said he would take the matter up with the company. The propositions are not included in the railroad's tentative plans.

As to the establishment of a union station at Broad and East Broad streets and the opening of Morris avenue the representative stated that these were questions that would have to be taken up jointly with the Central Railroad. When the committee meets again a model showing the proposed changes will be on view.

HOLY CROSS PARISH FAIR IS ATTRACTIVE

A fair and supper which opened yesterday afternoon at the Holy Cross Episcopal church Parish House was continued today. The affair which was arranged by the women of the parish, was brilliant and the efforts of the various committees were rewarded by large attendances and profitable sales.

—Among the features were the art gallery in charge of Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. F. O. Ball and Miss Florence A. Stevens. The fortune telling booth, in charge of Miss Margaret Townsend, dressed in gypsy costume, also proved popular. Supper was served at six o'clock, the cuisine preparations being handled by Miss Cynthia F. Davis and Mrs. Frank Allen. The serving of the repast will be repeated today.

The arrangement committee was composed of Mrs. J. O. Stevens, chairman; Mrs. John W. Coddington, Mrs. F. R. Creesy, of Fanwood; Mrs. A. E. Foss, Mrs. Herbert Langford, Mrs. John H. Carman, the Misses Louise A. Davis, Laura Long, Claire Kenworthy, Annette Van Matter, Dorothy Langford, Mary Bower, Ida Davis and Anna Harford. F. B. Ball and George Hallock occasioned considerable laughter dressed as chefs.

SET LIVE MOUSE AFIRE, IS FINED $5 THEREFOR

Bayonne, Jan. 24.—Recorder Hugh H. Mara, in the local police court yesterday fined Andra Sorrentino, thirty-five years old, of 425 Avenue C, $5 for pouring kerosene over a mouse and setting it on fire. Some excitement was created when the animal ran about the street all aflame and narrowly escaped setting fire to dresses of women who were passing.

Miss Emma Keefer, of 27 West Twenty-fourth street, one of the women who was thus endangered, caused Sorrentino's arrest. George McCarthy, head of the Hudson County S. P. C. A., was in court and figured in presenting the case against Sorrentino, who paid the fine after Recorder Mara had censured him for endangering pedestrians and property by his act.

TRENTON'S RICH DOG CATCHER

Christian Stubenaz Is Paid Better Than Mayor Donnelly.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 24.—It has just been discovered here that Christian Stubenaz, the city's chief dog catcher, gets more compensation for his services than does Mayor Frederick W. Donnelly.

Since this fact has become known a number of prominent men have put themselves in line for the position of dog catcher in case there is a vacancy. Stubenaz gets a dollar for every unlicensed dog he captures, and it is said that he is rapidly becoming wealthy.

DR. MAXSON TALKS ON TRANSPORTATION

First Lecture of the Newly Instituted Course Attended by a Large Number.

In the Washington School Auditorium last night, Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of the Plainfield Public Schools, delivered the first of a series of instructive lectures planned by the local Board of Education, taking as his subject "Odd Methods of Travel in Odd Countries." Dr. Maxson dealt with the subject of transportation in general, describing the various means and devices pressed into service by primitive peoples all over the world. He traced the origin of the seven types of burden bearing animals and showed what these particular mammals have done for mankind in general. The speaker also explained the history of the cart taking in detail the various stages of its development and the uses it has been adapted to. The caravan system, one of the most interesting ways of carrying goods was described by the speaker and he explained how people far remote from the modern railroad system put the camel into practical use.

The latter part of the lecture was devoted to stereoptican views thrown on the screen, which pictured the commercial and pleasure routes being used to the greatest extent at the present time. The initial lecture was attended by a large number of people and the lecture course bids fair to become a popular branch of educational work in this city.

Munsey left his home Nov. 17 to go down to Fort Mifflin in a launch. He fell overboard while taking a snapshot of a passing boat. He was a motorman.

30 DIE AS STORE WALLS GIVE WAY

Tragedy In Height of Bargain Sale Rush.

SCORE REPORTED MISSING

Women and Children Entombed by Falling Timbers—Pathetic Scenes as Workers Dig to Recover Bodies. Death Toll May Reach Sixty.

McKinney, Tex., Jan. 24.—Thirty persons were killed in the collapse of Odd Fellows' building, and the two story building adjoining. The killed, many of them women and children, were among the shoppers in the department store of the Mississippi Dry Goods company, on the ground floor of the first named structure. Fire followed the cave-in of the buildings, and firemen and police are searching the ruins for twenty other men and women reported missing and believed to have been burned to death.

At least fifty persons were shopping in the department store when the walls caved in without a moment's warning. The crowd of shoppers in the store and the weakened condition of the building is assigned as the cause. A special sale was taking place at the time, and the victims are chiefly women and children. The upper floor of the department store building was occupied by the local Odd Fellows' lodge. The structure in falling smashed the adjacent implement store. Many of the dead were so burned and mutilated that prompt identification has been made impossible. Several clerks escaped by jumping from the second story, suffering only slight bruises.

Begin Search For Bodies.

The fire department and hundreds of citizens ran to the scene of the disaster and began at once to clear away the debris and drag out bodies. The big pile of debris, of splintered timbers and piles of brick and concrete, together with the flames, made rescue work slow, and the first body was not taken out until an hour after the accident. A mother and year old infant were found dead with their arms around each other. Other women were found covering the bodies of their children. They had expended their dying strength in an effort to save the lives of their children.

The few clerks who escaped from the department store say that the sale was at its height and that women were crowding around the counters. Suddenly the east wall creaked, and clerks and patrons gave it but momentary attention. Fifteen seconds later, however, both walls caved in upon them with a terrific crash. Screams that arose from throats of women were stilled by the blinding crashing avalanche. A half smothered groan, a rising pall of smoke and dust and it was all over.

One of the clerks, Burney Graves, escaped by leaping through the rear window, near where he was working. Miss Mary Kirk, another clerk, was rescued alive. She had been standing near the doorway and saw the walls fall. M. A. Thomas, another employee, was saved, although he was half buried under the ruins. John Hampton jumped from the second story as the walls fell.

May Be Sixty Victims.

The actual number of dead will not be known for hours. The rescued do not wholly agree on the number in the store. Some declare there were at least sixty persons in the building. There is small chance for any of those still buried in the debris to be taken out alive, but rescue work will continue until everything is cleared away.

Doctors and nurses have been sent for from adjoining towns. Many came from Dallas. There is a scene of frenzy and of desolation here. Hundreds are frantically seeking wives and fathers and daughters. An investigation has been ordered. It is believed three of the employees in the Tingle establishment met death. T. M. Tingle, head of the concern, escaped, and he says three of his men were in the office at the time.

Thomas W. Lamont, a member of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., was an important witness before the Pujo money trust investigating committee. He followed Henry P. J., started his business career as a reporter on a New York paper in 1893.

50 FISHERMEN SWEPT AWAY ON AN ICE FLOE

All Are Rescued After Undergoing Terrible Suffering.

Little Sturgeon, Wis., Jan. 24.—Fifty fishermen, more than half of the male population of this village, were swept out into Lake Michigan when a large ice floe on which they were fishing cracked and floated away from shore. All were rescued after terrible suffering.

The cries of the men brought the women and children to the shore, where they stood in terror and watched their loved ones being slowly swept into Lake Michigan.

Small boats were manned by boys, and after a perilous ride through ice cakes some of the men were taken ashore. The boats were too small to carry all, and some of the others discarded their heavier clothing and swam through the icy water to safety.

The wind swept the ice cake farther out with six men on it. Four swam ashore later. Their clothing was frozen stiff when they arrived at their homes.

John Pletier and Peter Olson remained on the ice all night. They burned their fish nets to keep warm and finally reached shore at Pilot island.

SHIELDS ELECTED SENATOR.

Chief Justice of Tennessee Court Selected on Seventh Ballot.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 24.—On the same day on which two years ago Luke Lea was elected to the senate, Judge John K. Shields, chief justice of the Tennessee supreme court, was elected United States senator to succeed the late Robert Love Taylor. It was on the seventh joint ballot, and Shields got 69 votes, while General Charles T. Gates, Jr., received 61. Sixty-six votes were necessary to a choice. Shields was regarded as the candidate of the "regular" faction, while Gates was the candidate of the fusionists.

Judge John Knight Shields is in his fifty-fifth year. Three years ago he took a leading part in the fight for a free judiciary in Tennessee, and he and his followers were victorious. He was born at Clinchdale, Tenn., and is a son of James T. and Elizabeth Simpson Shields. He received a common school education and took up the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1879. Until his father retired, in 1890, Judge Shields practiced law with him.

SENATORS RODE ON PASSES.

Smoot and Guggenheim Took Favors From Rio Grande Road.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 24.—That interstate railroad passes still were being issued by the Rock Island lines in Colorado and that passes generally were issued by the Colorado roads to influence the routing of freight shipments was charged at the hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Harlan and his special examiners. It was brought out that the Denver and Rio Grande had been accustomed to give transportation to Senator Simon Guggenheim of Colorado and Senator Reed Smoot of Utah and to lesser men in politics.

C. W. Martin, general agent of the Rock Island, told Commissioner Harlan that he knew an annual interstate pass over the Rock Island had been issued to a Colorado Springs preacher. Martin admitted that local passes were issued by the road to induce shipments of freight over the line. Of fifty-two passes issued in September, he said, thirty-one were sent to Burlington, on the Kansas border.

Those work seekers who expect to find a job through one publication of a want ad are sometimes disappointed—though not always.

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

390.00 Buys a REAL Player-Piano

We say a "real" piano player because the instrument that we are offering at $390.00 compares, more than favorably, with players selling at $500.00 and $600.00. It is an aristocrat among players—an instrument that promptly commends itself to people of refined taste. And remember, please, this piano was not built for special selling; it is part or the regular Bamberger stock. The case is of genuine mahogany veneer, hand rubbed and polished. The keys are NOT celluloid (as is the case with many player pianos offered elsewhere for less than $400.00), but are white ivory. The player mechanism is built along the most approved lines. The operation is as simple as can be.

$15 Cash and $2.50 a Week

If you wish to buy one of these celebrated players on our extended player plan you may pay $15.00 cash and $2.50 a week. If, after thirty days' trial in your home, you are not satisfied with the piano, you may return it and receive your money back. If you have a piano or a player piano, we will make a liberal allowance for it. Visit the piano warerooms and we will take pleasure in explaining this liberal proposition more fully. (Piano warerooms ,sixth floor).

NOTE—Our $190.00 Schindler & Son piano is the equal of any piano sold elsewhere for as much as $250. This instrument may be bought for as little as $10.00 down and $6.00 per month. Our higher priced pianos are sold on proportionately low terms.

SULTAN A PRISONER; YOUNG TURKS RULE

Ottoman's War Chief Assassinated and Peace Envoys Are to be Recalled.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Vienna, Jan. 24.—Thousands of Asiatic troops were moved from the Adriatic side of the Bosphorus today into European Turkey upon orders from Enver Bey, who has assumed the title of chief of staff. According to a Constantinople telegram, soldiers were stationed about the palace and the Sultan is virtually a prisoner. The Turkish embassy here was authorized to say that disorders at Constantinople had ceased. The radical young Turks have assumed the name of the party of progress.

London, Jan. 24.—A Despatch confirming the assasination of Nazim Pasha was received today at the Ritz Hotel where some of the allies' delegates are staying. The peace envoys of the Balkan allies met today and considered the situation.

Constantinople, Jan. 24.—Following the assassination of Nazim Pasha the former war minister and commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, there was intense excitement throughout the city today. Fighting was indulged in, as a result of which many persons were injured. A number of arrests have been made.

Vienna, Jan. 24.—The Neuf Freie Presse learns that the young Turk ministry will convoke the old Parliament on the ground that it was illegally dissolved.

Vienna, Jan. 24.—A despatch from Constantinople says that Shevket Vachas' Cabinet, whose appointment was confirmed by proclamation in the grand court yesterday, is recalling the London peace delegates. It is reported that the Turkish ambassadors at Vienna and St. Petersburg will be court martialled and deposed from office. Enver Bey is to be appointed chief of the general staff.

ELECT WALTER M. M'GEE SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPT.

Walter M. McGee was elected superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night, for the twenty-second consecutive year, and this fact was commented upon with considerable pleasure by the members of the school. Mr. McGee played an important part with his father, the late James McGee, in establishing the work at Monroe Avenue church, the latter through his generosity making possible the edifice. Mr. McGee has continued to serve the church year after year with unfailing zeal and energy.

The officers chosen last night were: Assistant superintendents, E. H. Beekman and Blanchard E. Randolph; secretary, Fred Jacobs; treasurer, John Gray. It was decided to hold a bi-monthly business meeting, and to hold a special teachers' meeting with the idea of forming a teacher training class. Arrangements for the special services on Easter Sunday were made and it was decided to hold promotion exercises on Rally Day, instead of Easter; also to extend the graded lessons to all departments of the school. The school is constantly increasing in membership, the attendance for last Sunday being 235.

YOUTHFUL THIEF IS PLACED ON PROBATION

Elizabeth, Jan. 24.—Samuel Hennegan, the Plainfield youth who was arrested and convicted on a charge of breaking and entering the home of his employer, Walter E. Lane, the butcher, on Leland avenue, was arraigned in court this morning and placed in charge of the probation officer for three years.

Hennegan, it was learned, entered his employer's home more than a half dozen times and each time had taken something from the house. He is also said to have collected bills from Mr. Lane's customers.

BIGAMIST CHANGES HIS PLEA TO NON VULT

Elizabeth, Jan. 24.—William Reilly, a machinist, formerly of Plainfield, who was arrested recently in Massachusetts on a charge of bigamy, preferred by wife No. 1, when arraigned in court this morning, changed his plea from that of not guilty to that of non vult. The court announced that sentence would be imposed on Wednesday, January 29.

Reilly left his wife in Brooklyn, it is said, and took a position in Plainfield. He is reported to have married the woman with whom he was boarding and later the couple removed to Massachusetts, where they were found by the police.

Somerville, Jan. 23.—Members of the Freedom Castle Lodge, No. 42, Knight of the Golden Eagle, attended a district meeting held last night in the rooms of the Golden Crown Castle. Many prominent Eagles from various parts of the State were present and witnessed the installation of these officers of the Somerville lodge:

NO MURDER, NO SUICIDE ONLY A LITTLE NOISE

Some excitement was caused in the rear of the stores on West Front street between Duer and Grove streets this morning, when Captain Charles A. Peterson and Lieutenant A. R. Phillips took the forty odd rifles used by the Company K men in drills down alongside the brook and shot each one off. This was done as a preliminary step in the cleaning of the rifles for the general inspection which is to be held in the near future.

The firing of the steel jacketed bullets through the bore of the rifles removed in some part some of the metal fouling that had accumulated there when the rifles were used on the Sea Girt range. This afternoon a squad of men went to the armory and finished the cleaning process.

GUARDSMEN'S DRILL FOR THE OLD SOLDIERS

At the close of the session of the commissioned officers' school of the First Battalion, Second Regiment, National Guard, of which Company K, of this city, is a part, arrangements were completed whereby the First Battalion will assemble in the Elizabeth Armory, Tuesday night, February 4, to give an exhibition drill before the Grand Army Republic Posts of Union county.

The local citizen soldier-boys will leave town on the 7:41 o'clock train, arriving in Elizabeth at 8:06 o'clock, and at the armory about 8:15. The Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., of this city, will attend the drill and it is expected that they will accompany the local boys. Orders have not been issued for the battalion drill as yet but if nothing arises to prevent the holding of the drill they will be issued within a few days.

THEY DISCUSS BIG PROBLEMS

Mrs. Feickert Talks On Equal Suffrage and S. S. Swackhamer On Liquor Question.

TO UNION ENDEAVORERS

Brewery Interests Worst Enemies of "Votes For Women," Says Speaker at County Endeavor Union Rally.

Christian Endeavors from all sections of Union county were present at an enthusiastic rally meeting held last night in the First Presbyterian church, Rahway, under the auspices of the good citizenship committee of the union. George W. Mingus, president, conducted the opening exercises, consisting of a service of song and Scripture reading with prayer by Rev. L. Y. Graham, of Rahway.

One of the two principal addresses of the evening was given by Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city. She spoke of the beinefits to be derived from equal suffrage. Her logical arguments made a number of converts to the cause. Among the salient points in her address were the following:

"Crooked politicians are unalterably opposed to equal suffrage for the women vote solidly against corruption. In the State of Washington and in the city of Los Angeles, California, notorious political gangs were ousted from power through the votes of the women. There are nine States in the Union where the women have the voting franchise. The proposition was defeated in Michigan recently, because of the fraudulent counting of ballots in Detroit. In one ward there were forty more votes against suffrage than voters in the ward.

"The brewing interests are the worst enemies of women's suffrage. In Michigan the women were defeated six times through the efforts of the brewers, who have large sums of money at their disposal to subsidize the anti-suffrage propaganda. The militant suffragists do the cause more harm than good. The public lose sight of the fact that in England there are forty-five peaceful societies to one militant. In England women vote for the election of mayors and other public officials, but they have not the right to vote for members of Parliament."

Mrs. Feickert answered many of the stock argnuments against suffrage and at the conclusion of her address she was congratulated for her able presentation of the subject.

S. S. Swackhamer, of this city, the other speaker, delivered one of his characteristic addresses upon the subject of "The Citizen and the State." He said in part:

"The strength of a nation consists not in the revenue or its fortifications, but in the high character of its citizens. In our nation the people are in power now more than ever before and they are insisting that righteousness prevail. The day is coming when the greatest evil of our day—the liquor evil, will be overthrown There is an uprising all over the world against the liquor traffic. The Queen of Madagascar refuses to take revenue from the business and even in China it is outlawed and yet our nation, the country of Washington and Lincoln, tolerates the curse."

Mr. Swackhamer told of the need for a local option law in New Jersey and the necessity for the passage of the Kenyon-Sheppard bill forbidding the shipment of liquor from wet States into dry States. At the conclusion of his address resolutions were adopted authorizing the good citizenship committee to urge the State and National representatives to work for the passage of these bills. A resolution was also passed condemning Assembly bill No. 21, which would permit the sale of liquor in New Jersey on Sunday.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Endeavor society of the home church served refreshments.

TWO HOBO REPORTERS TO COVER CONTINENT

And Like True Newspapermen Neither Has a Cent In His Jeans.

J. R. Russell and Frank Parker, two newspaper reporters formerly of the Boston Globe, who, as told in yesterday's Press, are en route for the Pacific Coast on a wager of $3,000 that they can make the journey there and back within ninety days, spent the night at the Hotel Kensington and left for Trenton this afternoon.

The scribes left Fall River, Mass., January 13, at 7 o'clock in the morning and expect to return April 13, with at least $50 each. On their way to Plainfield they stopped at the city hall in every town and have received letters from the respective Mayors, which they show.

The young men make wagers on the way that they will accomplish what they have set out to do. Since they started out without a cent and have nothing to lose, it is easy to place bets. One of the wagers was made with A. P. McDonald, manager of the Naragansett Hotel, of Providence. The hobos exhibit credentials from Mayor Gaynor and his executive secretary, and while in New York were guests of the New York Press Club, where they were given a cordial reception and wished a speedy return. They also have a letter from Governor William Sulzer, of New York. In Newark and Elizabeth they were guests of the Y. M. C. A.

AUTOMOBILE SPECIALIST RETURNS TO PLAINFIELD

George R. Morris, formerly of the Morris Auto Company, has returned to Plainfield and will again enter into the automobile business having acquired an interest in and associated himself with the Service Motor Car Company, of this city and Newark.

Mr. Morris has been connected for the past three years as general manager with Charles E. Riess and the American-Marion Sales Company, of New York, "Distributors of the American Underslung," and will continue the distribution of this machine together with the Abbott-Detroit, Henderson and Overland lines now being handled by the Service Motor Car Company.

The motoring public will give Mr. Morris a hearty welcome as his work in connection with the establishing of the Morris Auto Company, is well and favorably remembered.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CLASS WINS CUP AND FEASTS

The boys of the Tuckabatchee class of the Congregational Sunday-school, held a banquet in the Sunday-school rooms of the church, last night, in celebration of the winning of the silver lovfng cup, which was offered by J. M. Whiton, superintendent of the school, to the class having the highest average attendance for three consecutive years. Among the guests of the boys were J. M. Whiton, superintendent; Philip S. Suffern, assistant superintendent; Rev. C. L. Goodrich and Stacy Reynolds.

At the close of the banquet all the guests made short after-dinner speeches. J. Leslie Allen, president of the class, and Harold Mundy, who will receive the cup as his personal property for having the best record of attendance during the past three years, were called upon to make a few remarks. After that the boys congregated around the piano and sang their class song and gave the class yells which was followed by a general social time.

FIREMEN'S DANCE.

The Watchung Chemical Engine Company of Watchung held its second annual ball in Sebring's Auditorium, last night, where 400 enjoyed the event. The place was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Music was rendered by Paroubek's orchestra. The arrangements committee consisted of Albert Parret, Jr., chairman; George Mobus, George Gunn, Paul Kelm, M. H. Cleaves, Paul Overbaugh, John Mobus and Henry Allen.

P. H. S. ALUMNI.

The officers of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association met at the home of Charles B. Morse, of Watchung avenue, last night, and discussed plans for the annual meeting to be held on Saturday, February 22; also the annual prize-speaking contest. It is expected to secure a member of the association for a lecture at the annual meeting. The alumni dance will be held on Saturday night, March 29.

PROSECUTOR TALKS ON BROTHERHOOD OF MAN

Its Obligations Cannot Be Argued Away, Says Somerset Official.

Prosecutor Frederick A. Pope, of Somerset county; E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.; S. S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, and Mayor Charles E. Richards, of Dunellen, spoke at the annual dinner of the Baraca class of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, last night. Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the church, was the toastmaster.

Mr. Brown made the interesting announcement that toward the total amount of $500 required to equip a gymnasium at the church he had succeeded in obtaining pledges aggregating $288.75. He hopes to secure the balance within a short time.

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?" was the subject of an interesting talk by Mr. Pope, the first speaker of the evening. He said that men of today were trying to convince themselves that they were not their brother's keeper, but that did not alter the fact that they were and he urged those present to fulfil the divine injunction. Mr. Pope compared the prison system of old with that of today to show what improvements have been made and how many persons are now made useful members of society through numerous agencies established for that purpose.

S. S. Swackhamer spoke on the evils of the liquor traffic and told what is being done toward wiping it out of existence. He felt sure that the time would come when the general sale of liquor would not be permitted as it is today.

"The Perfect Man," was the subject of E. C. Ostlin's talk in which he encouraged the movement which now seems to be spreading throughout the country, that of providing gymnasiums in churches to develop the physical as well as the spiritual side of man. Other speakers included Clarence T. Voorhees, George Apgar, Harry Giddes, Benjamin Howell and H. G. Williams, members of the class, who gave one-minute talks on "How the Class Has Helped Me."

Mayor Richards extended a hearty greeting to the diners and endorsed the work of the class. In conclusion Rev. Mr. Brown gave a brief review of the work of the class. The committee in charge of the banquet comprised Clarence T. Voorhees, chairman; George Apgar, Peter Benson, Harry Giddes, Russell Runyon and H. D. Williams. The young women of the church prepared and served the supper.

MIANTONOMO TRIBE'S DANCE LARGELY ATTENDED

Saengerbund Hall presented a merry appearance last night at the annual reception and ball of the Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men. Banners bearing the inscriptions, "Freedom," "Friendship" and "Charity," were displayed from the balcony; on the stage and forming a back ground for Suhr's orchestra, wigwams, with grotesque figures painted thereon, formed appropriate decorations, and stretched across the stage was a large oil painting of an Indian, the handiwork of David W. Kelly, chairman of the arrangements committee. American flags and bunting were also draped abundantly about the hall.

Included among the dancers were many visitors from Tonaluka Tribe, of Cranford; Menno Tribe, of Westfield, and Iona Council, No. 14, D. of P., of this city. Those who assisted Mr. Kelly were John T. Green, Charles L. Holstein, Charles Meyer, Jr., David W. Allen, David C. Allen, George Ivans, Daniel Mundy, Peter Sheridan, Robert Green, Charles Halliwell, John Foley, Jacob Kenter Frank Stopinski, Michael O'Shea and John Kehough.

M'WILLIAMS BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS TURKEY SUPPER

Under the auspices of the McWilliams Bible class of Hope chapel, a successful turkey supper was given at the chapel last night. About 160 people were served during the evening, and the class expects to net about $75. The entire stock of provisions was disposed of by 9 o'clock. During the serving of supper an orchestra entertained the diners with a popular program.

The supper was prepared and served by the members of the class without any assistance. The committee in charge of the affair comprised James Penny, Benjamin Evans, Clarence W. Mundy, Allen Snyder, Arthur Fluck, Charles Vincent and William Baker.

AGED COUPLE'S LIFE TOGETHER WAS BRIEF

Mrs. Flynn Widowed After Month and a Half—Inherits Fortune.

Under the will of her husband, who died Thursday, Mrs. James Flynn, of Brooklyn, formerly Miss Margaret Sullivan, of West Sixth street, inherits a large fortune. Mrs. Flynn's married life lasted but month and a half. Bridegroom and bride were both 65 years old at the time of the marriage. Their courtship began after both had passed the three-score mark, although they had known each other since childhood.

The couple were married in Brooklyn on November 26 last by Father Rogers, of the Church of the Nativity. The bridegroom had an apartment at 1204 Fulton street, Brooklyn, and he and the former Miss Sullivan resided there until Mr. Flynn's death on January 13, after a three days' illness with pneumonia. He leaves valuable real estate in Flatbush, N. Y., and personal property which was accumulated during forty years as a prominent liquor dealer.

At the time of his marriage to Miss Sullivan Mr. Flynn was a widower, his first wife died three years before. Miss Sullivan resided in this city for many years at 528 West Sixth street. She is an aunt of Patrolman Richard J. Birmingham, who with four sisters, lives on West Sixth street. She frequently visited a sister, Mrs. Sydney Smith, in Brooklyn, whose residence faced that of Flynn. The latter pursued his courtship during those visits.

Neal voiced his pleasure in seeing how many of the members present and suggested that the event be an annual affair.

Musical numbers were provided by Henry Coke, Joe Brown, James Knight, Thomas Roddy, Thomas Childs, Arthur Marsh, Thomas Douglas, Frank Cross, Arthur Martell. Thomas Roddy and Tom Comerford gave a well received duet and James Jamison with his catchy songs kept the members in high glee. The accompanist was Samuel Sutton. SAID "HOWDY" TO SULZER.

F. M. Ward, of Fairview avenue, has just returned from Albany, N. Y., where he attended on Wednesday night the reception given by Governor Sulzer to the members of the Legislature, at the same time renewing an acquaintance of a number of years ago when the Governor and he were boyhood playmates. Mr. Ward found Governor Sulzer just as affable and approachable as he was in the day on the farm.

BULLYING COLLECTOR TRIPPED BY DEBTOR

Rath Brought Back Real Policeman to Face Installment House Impersonator.

Much to the pleasure of the authorities, they bagged this afternoon an installment house collector engaged in the common game of posing as a policeman for the purpose of forcing collections. John Ryan, the prisoner, who says he collects for Schultz & Co., of Brooklyn, was fined $8 or forty days in jail, in the city court, on complaint of Theodore Rath, of 159 East Second street.

Ryan showed Rath a King's county, N. Y., deputy sheriff's badge, in an effort to intimidate him. He said he was a policeman in the local department. Rath asked him to wait while he went after the money alleged to be due. What Rath got was a real policeman in the shape of Roundsman Maurice Higgins.

Ryan, being totally unacquainted with Higgins, tried to intimidate him also with the King's county decoration. He knows Higgins better now.

Higgins took Ryan's assistant, Alfonzo Lorenzo, of 330 Metropolitan avenue, along with him to the station house. Lorenzo was allowed to go under a suspended sentence.

The police say they have grown very tired of the methods pursued by installment collectors in this city. As an instance of the length to which the men have gone the police told today of a collector who after falsely representing himself as a policeman, threatened a woman with a loaded revolver while his assistant carried a sewing machine from the house several months ago. The woman sued the company and got a judgment of $3,000.

NINETY-YEAR-OLD MAN IS INJURED BY A FALL

Patrick Bray, 90 years old, who lives with his daughter, Mrs. John Neylon, at 203 Stebbins place, broke his nose and received numerous bruises about the body, last night, when he tripped and fell while ascending the front steps of his home. He was attended by Dr. Raphael Yood, of 401 Grant avenue.

The injuries caused Mr. Bray considerable distress on account of his advanced years, but no serious results are feared.

NOVEL EXCUSE FOR FALL FROM THE WATER WAGON

"Judge, if I'm ever brought before you again for being intoxicated you can send me to jaid for six months—I'll deserve it." So spoke Joseph Kelly, of 706 West Fourth street, when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of being intoxicated last night. Kelly took the pledge several months ago to abstain from the use of liquor for a period of one year, but said he was suffering from neuralgia last night and decided just one drink would do him good. He took several, hence his arrest. The court suspended sentence.

SERIOUS COMPLAINT IS DISMISSED BY COURT

The serious charge preferred against William Layton, of North avenue, by James Babbitt, of 34 Somerset street, father of Edith Babbitt, was dismissed by City Judge DeMeza this morning. The defendant was represented by Samuel Swackhamer, of the law firm of Swackhamer & Bird.

According to the testimony given by Miss Babbitt she did not know how old she was and her father was also unable to enlighten the court in this respect. Judge DeMeza said that in making his decision he took the good reputation of the defendant into consideration and added that Miss Babbitt and the witnesses for the complainant all bore questionable characters.

Following Layton's dismissal Mr. Babbitt made a charge against his daughter. He claimed she was incorrigable and refused to live at home. The court held her to appear before the Juvenile Court.

HUBBY SPENDS EARNINGS ON HIS RELATIVES

Mrs. Joseph Benczik, of Rock avenue, who lodged a complaint several weeks ago against her husband, claiming he was spending his earnings for the support of his brother and sister who had recently arrived from Europe, instead of supplying for her and their fourteen-months-old son, again appeared in court today claiming her spouse had ordered her from the house.

Mrs. Benczik said she had secured a position, but that the husband insisted upon keeping her child. She asked that her son be left in her charge but that Mr. Benczik be made to contribute toward its support. The court granted the request and ordered Benczik to comply with a notice from the court to that effect.

It is said that Mr. Benczik had planned to take the child, desert his wife and leave this country for Europe with his relatives.

ANDERSON ON TROLLEY PERMIT

Chairman of Township Committee Explains Its Position On Smalley's Application.

DENIES ANY POLITICS

Asserts That Granting Request Would Impose Inconvenience On Community and Increase Risk of Accidents at That Point.

Former Assemblyman William de la R. Anderson, as chairman of the North Plainfield Township Committee, says that that body was justified in declining to grant the Smalley Stone Company a permit to run a spur from its property at Somerset street and Interhaven avenue to the terminus of the trolley line a distance of some thirty feet. He takes exception to the statement that politics was really behind the refusal.

"What may prove to be an important question to Plainfield and North Plainfield as well as to North Plainfield Township," said Mr. Anderson today, "is now placed before the Public Utility Commissioners for decision, namely, that of granting a franchise to the Smalley Stone Company for a short spur of track on Somerset street, connecting with the Public Service main line. The franchise if granted would enable the stone company to deliver to the Public Service stone in so economic a way as would be of great benefit to that corporation in supplying their needs. If the local roadbeds were only to be served the hauling of stone over borough and city streets would not be, in all probability, to an extent that would very seriously inconvenience property owners along the line, seriously impair property values, or discommode the traveling public of our communities but, however, there can be no guarantee that this will be the case.

"The franchise asked for will be for fifty years, a period of time that will see many changed conditions and must be reckoned with in the consideration of this question. The Public Service Corporation, while denying any interest in this matter, has a very considerable interest which is evidenced by the request of certain high officials for its accomplishment; from Mr. Smalley's refusal of a franchise that could not be sold to the Public Service Corporation and from the fact that the corporation would be enabled to obtain stone much cheaper and at a point and in a manner that would allow it, most economically, to ship stone for its uses to the whole central division of trackage in the State. This it would have legal right to do and could only be stopped when it became an absolute nuisance—a considerable undertaking when once established by a powerful corporation.

"Should the franchise be granted there would be no counterbalancing benefits accruing as under our present law the stone for private or public delivery now hauled over our streets in wagons would then have to be hauled in wagons so that we would still have the wagons—plus the stone cars. There might be some indirect comfort secured from the knowledge that the trolley roadbeds were being more economically maintained—a direct benefit only to those of us who are stockholders.

"The Township Committee of North Plainfield has held two regularly advertised public hearings on the question and in the two meetings there was only one man (other than the petitioner) who favored the proposition as presented. The Township Committee refused to grant the franchise on the ground that it would impose great inconvenience to the community, increase the probability of accident, and would decrease property values by increasing the traffic on an already overburdened street—the sole and only approach to the central section of the township.

"A public hearing has been granted to the Smalley Stone Company by the Public Utility Commission to be held on Friday, February 7, at 10 o'clock in the morning, at the Chancery Chambers in Jersey City."

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Extraordinary interest is being shown by New York's theatre-going public in John E. Kellerd's presentation of "The Merchant of Venice," for it is admitted by the critics that Kellerd's interpretation of Shylock and the unusual ability of the other members of the cast in interpretating other parts has seldom been equalled in the production of this greatest of all Shakespearian plays. After a phenomenal run of seventy-five performances in "Hamlet" at the Garden theatre, Mr. Kellerd's company recently moved to the Harris theatre, where it was decided that notwithstanding the clamor of the public to continue the great tragedy, there was still more eagerness to have the noted actor appear with "The Merchant of Venice" and he acceded to the many requests. Since then the crowded houses have been repeated nightly and "The Merchant of Venice" will be on the boards at the Harris theatre indefinitely.

"Joseph and His Bretbren," at the Century theatre, is a vitalized version of the intensely dramatic story found in the book of Genesis. It is developed in four acts, including thirteen scenes, with sixty speaking parts and more than two hundred persons, the big scale giving full play for the producers to realize possibilities in the picturesque setting, which is one reason why so much time has been taken in elaborate preparations. The mere contemplation of the many notable scenes would satisfy some producers and they would dismiss the question of a cast with a wave of the hand. But George C. Tyler believes that the cast is the next most important matter after the play, no matter how great a spectacle he is producing, and consequently it is not surprising to discover that he selected a cast of unusually prominent players. For the part of Joseph he chose Brandon Tynan, who refused several offers to star, in order that he might appear in this play. James O'Neill, famous as "Monte Cristo," plays Pharoah, and Pauline Frederick will play Potiphar's wife. Miss Frederick was one of the best known leading women on the American stage when she retired to private life two years ago, and now the famous beauty was induced to come back on the stage. Dorothy Parker, daughter of the playwright, who achieved such a personal success in "Pomander Walk," has an important part, and Lily Cahill, another beautiful and talented young actress who has lately come into prominence, plays the role of Asenath, whom Joseph marries.

LAST RITES FOR MONSIGNOR STAFFORD

Jersey City, Jan. 25.—Thousands of persons bent on attending the funeral of Monsignor John A. Stafford, formerly assistant rector of St. Mary's church, of Plainfield, waited at St. Patrick's church yesterday more than two hours before the time set for the services.

Preliminary services were conducted at 9 o'clock by Rev. John J. Ryan, rector of St. Bridget's church, this city, assisted by Rev. Eugene Carroll, of Hoboken; Rev. Mark Duffy, of Bayonne; Rev. John J. Murphy, of St. Bridget's church; Rev. John Mulligan, of St. John's church; Rev. John Cullinan, St. Paul's, and Rev. Henry Mahoney and Rev. James F. McDonald, assistants at St. Patrick's, all of Jersey City.

The celebrant at the high mass of requiem was Bishop Kennedy, of the American College at Rome. Rev. Maurice Harrington, of Ithaca, N. Y., acted as deacon, and Father Carroll as sub-deacon. Rev. Charles A. Smith, secretary to Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark Diocese, was master of ceremonies. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. William J. Guinan, of New York.

The body of the monsignor was guarded throughout the night by details of men from the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society in relief squads, each of which was on duty for two hours.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JANUARY 25, 1913.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. George W. V. Moy, a lawyer and former Mayor of Plainfield, is the contributing editor for today.

EDITORS AND EDITORS.

I must confess my feeling of timidity at the mere thought of trespassing, in my amateurish way, upon the field of journalism in the capacity of an editor, but having given my word I must not turn back, I must go on with the task, however awful the result, comforted with the reflection that it cannot possibly meet with more severe criticism than I myself am willing to accord.

The subjects that have been touched upon, treated, dug into, analyzed or otherwise disposed of by the various contributing editors to this column for the past year, have embraced a very wide range; have included almost everything from the "house fly" to the "fire engine."

Each editorial has displayed a charm all its own. Each has been stamped with the individuality of the writer. These written thoughts, these children of the brain have carried the parental trademark—and a fond father is, of course, always proud of his offspring.

Some folks have doubtless liked them all—some folks have liked some of them—and perhaps some folks have liked none of them. This of course could not be charged to the writers of the editorials, who were amateurs like myself, and therefore not perhaps attuned to the delicate needs of public opinion, nor was there any fault in the reader, for it was never intended that everybody should agree with everybody else. It is barely possible that in some isolated spot there may be some one who will fail to appreciate even this production, but such an individual must be regarded as hopeless indeed. To that one let me say, stop, be not hasty in judgment—think it over before casting into outer darkness and oblivion this poor effort, for, no man knows what the morrow brings forth, and it may be your turn next.

Has it occurred to you that editorials are pretty dry unless they be almost or quite libelous? and this suggests editors themselves, I mean the "really" ones, who do that sort of thing for a living. Who, what and why they are?

A newspaper is supposed to exist for the dissemination of news. Its object is to tell one half the world what the other half is doing, and so long as it does this, the result justifies the means; but when it fails in this particular, it ceases to become a newspaper and degenerates into what is called an "organ," viz.: an instrument operated by wind.

Every paper must have an editor, and he must have some brains, not necessarily for use but as an evidence of good faith. He is a sort of literary strainer, used for the purpose of separating the wheat from the chaff; the good from the bad; the gold from the dross; the pure from the impure; the sweet from the bitter (or vice-versa) of all that is passed through his fertile and facile brain. He is a sine qua non of intelligence—a vade mecum of information—irresistible—irrepressible—ubiquitous—ever patient and long suffering. He is perhaps not altogether lovely and yet, we love him, if only for the enemies he makes—we love him for writing the things we want written—and we hate him in the same breath for writing the things we don't want written.

We expect him to feel our mental pulse, diagnose our mental ailments and cure our mental ills. He must divine our thoughts on all subjects, and present them garnished and flavored to suit all palates.

He must be divinely simple and simply divine.

And yet, with all this, a man must live, editors must eat; a paper in order to be successful must please, and while most folks are not averse to having the truth—the whole truth—and nothing but the truth—put into cold type concerning the other fellow, it doesn't seem to read quite so well if the reader himself be the piece de resistance.

And so—I suppose newspapers don't tell the whole truth and all of the truth all the time, and the editor is who, what, and why he is because of the demand of public opinion, which like a mighty wind cannot be seen, yet the compelling force of which none may withstand.

GEORGE W. V. MOY.
